Half-Century In Priesthood

A member of a former well-known Bathurst family, Rev. Bernard C. O'Donnell, CSB, will be celebrating the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood this coming Sunday.

REV. BERNARD O'DONNELL

It was also on a Sunday - December 19, 1926 - that Holy Orders were conferred on Father O'Donnell by Bishop P. A. Chasson in Sacred Heart Church, Bathurst. Ordained at the same time was another Bathurst young man, the late Rev. Harry Wilbur, CSB.

Father O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen O'Donnell, and a brother of such well-known city residents as Miss Mary O'Donnell, Aloysius and Joseph O'Donnell, all deceased, and Mrs. Luke Girard, nuns of Plessisville, P.Q., was educated first at St. Thomas College, Chatham, N.B., and took classical and theological studies at St. Michael's College of the University of Toronto.

Following his ordination, Father O'Donnell served in various Basilian educational institutions and parishes. In more recent years he has been an assistant priest at St. John the Baptist Church, Amherstburg, Ont., where since his retirement he remains in residence at the rectory.

Church organizations in which Father O'Donnell has been particularly active include the Knights of Columbus and the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

He is the only living priest to have a K of C council called after him. It was in 1951, as a gesture of esteem and affection, that the name was changed to Father Bernard O'Donnell Council 2110 in honor of its dedicated chaplain, and much to the delight of this very modest and holy man.

Although he now has no close relatives in Bathurst, Father O'Donnell has kept up an acquaintanceship through periodic visits "home". He therefore has maintained a wide circle of friendship who extend best wishes for many more happy, healthy and fruitful years.

The following is reprinted from a recent edition of the Amherstburg Echo, the weekly newspaper published in the Ontario town in which Father O'Donnell resides:

"About 500 people gathered together at St. John the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon to Honor Rev. Bernard O'Donnell in his 50th year as a Basilian Father.

"The procession was led down the aisle by an honor guard of six 4th Degree Knights of Dean Wagner Assembly in full regalia.

"Two of Father O'Donnell's classmates, also ordained in 1926, Rev. Wilfred Dwyer and Rev. Gerald Sharp were also present and participated in the co-celebrated mass.

"Father Dyer gave an interesting homily depicting some history of the Basilian Fathers and the highlights of Father O'Donnell's life in the priesthood.

"Father O'Donnell himself gave a talk on the history of St. John the Baptist Church and the community, naming many families who were there when the church began.

"The church was beautifully decorated by the Sisters of the Holy Names with the help of Father Brand. There were attractive arrangements of green ferns and seasonal flowers, which were also used in the colorful banner in front of the altar and lecterns. Mary Murray was the organist.

"Following the mass, Father O'Donnell received his guests at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The refreshments and decorations in the hall were prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus.

"The Catholic Women's League was in charge of the guest book. The baked goods were donated by many people of the parish.

"The Ushers' Club, under the direction of Parker Odette, had prepared a "Remember When" bulletin board with snapshots of many events in Father O'Donnell's life in Amherstburg.

"Henry Jones was the chairman of the planning committee. With everyone working together it certainly was a great tribute to our beloved Father O'Donnell."

Another Man's Opinion

(First in a regular series of contributed articles.)

Vandalism is starting to become a way of life in the Bathurst area. To be more blunt about it, everytime you pick up the weekly paper or turn on your radio, the main topic is, "Local businesses in the Bathurst area have been vandalized" - either by breaking windows or theft.

Up to date, nothing is really being done, and I am not criticizing our local police force. I'm sure they are doing their best to stop this crime wave.

However, I do believe that the blame should be forwarded to our City Council. Council is just going to have to forget about other issues for a while, sit down, and see what can be done. Sure, it's okay to do a study on the matter, but while this so-called study is being carried out, a period of approximately three weeks, about $5,000 in glass has to be replaced. Who pays for this glass? I'm sure the City doesn't, nor the person or persons who are responsible for the damage. The only person who pays is the businessman.

For example, if I were to open a new business in the Bathurst area, I might make $200 profit in a week. But when some irresponsible person or persons come along and decide that my window should be broken, it costs me $300 to replace it. If this happens five or six times in two months, I might just as well declare bankruptcy because I sure won't be able to pay $1800 for glass. And when I do close, it causes more unemployment in an area where the jobless rate is high enough already.

At any rate, I think everyone, including City Council, knows what I'm talking about. Approximately two months a clergyman brought the suggestion to City Council that Bathurst should form a voluntary police force, with responsible adults patrolling the streets. But what does City Council do? They hum and haw and say they will study the matter.

I'm sure there are a couple of responsible people in the Bathurst area who would be willing to put some of their valuable time into this matter. Why not let them try? It won't cost the City anything. About the only thing it could do is prevent the closing of businesses and make Bathurst a more responsible and safer place to live in.

Nannygate: The Unique Scandal

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

I have never been able to define the ingredients that provide any particular newspaper story with longevity, but whatever it is, Nannygate has it.

You know Nannygate, that's the mini-scandal that wheezed up-as opposed to blowing up-when Transport Minister Otto Lang tried to send his Scottish nanny home on an armed forces aircraft. Not in the proportions of a real Watergate, we all admit, but since the auditor general's report hadn't come out, we clearly needed something to enrage us.

You see, it's difficult to come by an all-Canada scandal. Just when you think you have one in your typewriter - like Mr. Trudeau's swimming pool - it drains out. We still don't know who contributed money to that controversial pool, but the fact is no one seems to care anymore.

Back in the mid-1950's, we didn't know exactly who put those horses on the Liberal payroll, but after a month or so, no one seemed to care about that either.

That's been the trouble with all-Canadian scandals. They had no sense of continuity. In order to maintain any kind of scandal, you have to be fed little nuggets of information every couple of days.

The Langs know how it's done.

Considering all that's happened in Canada over the last few weeks, it's remarkable that stories are still being written about Nannygate. But not even the election of a separatist government in Quebec, or the revelation about possible kickbacks and bribery on behalf of our trusty Crown corporations can keep our minds off those nannies.

SCANDAL SONGS

I am sure Mr. and Mrs. Lang don't mind it very much - I wouldn't - but it's so uniquely Canadian to have a scandal you can sing about when other countries take these things so seriously.

"My nanny lies over the ocean, my nanny flew over the sea, too bad she needed a ticket, we promised to get her home free."

There are many versions which sprang from the pens of amateur composers following a decision by Defence Minister Barney Danson to keep the Scottish nanny off his trans-Atlantic aircraft. He thought it would be "inappropriate to use armed forces planes for nanny shuttling. So the Langs agreed to split the airfare with the nanny, and she flew home by Air Canada.

Normally, the story would end there. But by this time, everyone was so fascinated with the idea of getting a nanny aboard a defence departrment aircraft that every detail took on the importance of a third world war.

The fact that Mr. Lang was still being hammered by the opposition and press for using departmental aircraft to the tune of $740,000 over a three-year period helped create this interest.

MORE COMING

Anyway, no sooner had the returning nanny emptied her sock to pick up half the airfare than we were being treated to new stories. The CBC even managed to find this girl in a railway station in Inverness, to ask her, via long-distance, whether she resented paying for half the ticket.

No, she said, the Langs were very nice to her.

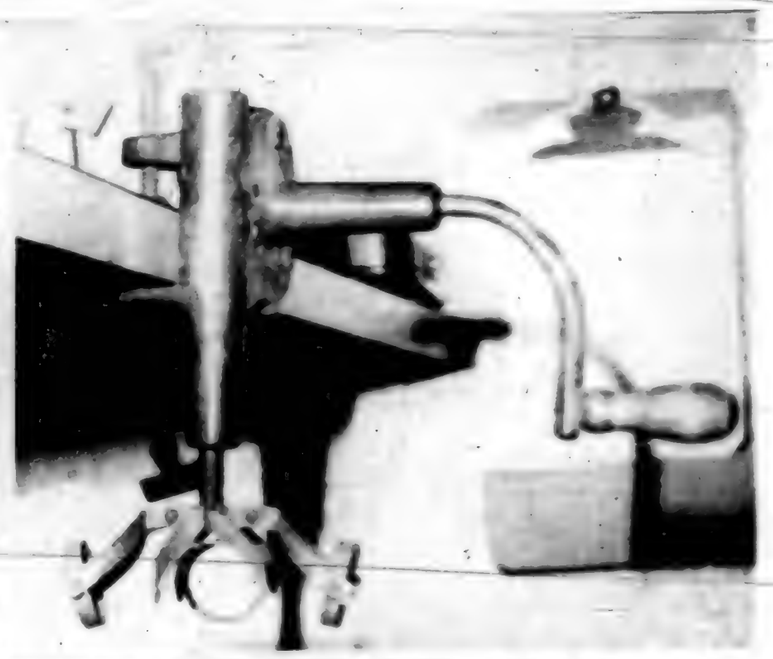
Then some newspaper became fascinated with the idea that the girl, while in Canada, might have been paid at less than the minimum wage. A great deal of research was done before it was established that foreign nannies, in Canada under one-year work permits, are not covered by minimum wage laws.

Another good story shot.

But a new angle developed, and soon Mr. Lang was being criticized in the Commons for employing foreign labor while Canadians were unemployed. It's terrible for a minister to be accused of being unpatriotic.

And now, a New British nanny has arrived at the Lang residence. So we keep Nannygate in the news - this time by the girl's refusal to say how much money she earns. But she did fly by commercial airline.

I don't know where we go from here. I suppose any scandal that is based on little more than a change in flight plans has to end some time. Of course if it turns out this nanny is writing to her parents on government stationary ...



MYSTERY CONTRAPTION: ANY CLUES?

This strange looking object has been in possession of an area resident for some time and he has failed to identify it. Inquiries have been made concerning the item but no one seems to be able to pinpoint its use. It's made of cast iron and "Model 6" is embossed on one side. The strange apparatus is used to a ledge or bench when in use. (In the photo, it might have been photographed upside down and yet it may be right because the photographer knew nothing about its proper use.) It is red in color and operated by a handle (right) and on the main gear box (at top) is a cogged wheel which is connected to a shaft. This in turn rotates the bottom section of the unit. When the object is in motion, it functions almost like an egg beater. If anyone has any light to shed on the subject, The Northern Light's editorial staff would appreciate a call.

CB 10-4 BUTTON CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

The following message is from Mayor John A. Duffy:

"It is my pleasure to bring to the attention of the community that the Bathurst Community Radio Service Club will be holding tag days on December 17 - 18. They will be offering to you their CB 10-4 buttons. This group has been of great service in our community and has been very very helpful and offered their service in many events. They have participated in almost all parades willingly. They participated also in the emergency plan which was an exercise planned by the Chaleur General Hospital. They are also involved in many other community activities. I would ask the citizens of this City and area to donate when approached in this worthy cause." In photo Bathurst City Police Sergeant Etienne Noel presents the first button to Mayor Duffy. Looking on are Committee members Raymond Doucet and Kevin Harper. Missing is Elsa Vienneau, chairman. The Campout, the first to be held on the North Shore, is scheduled for nearby Nigadoo July 1-3. It is expected to bring over 5,000 delegates or visitors to the Bathurst area.

CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT OPENS PUBLIC PRACTICE

Gary J. Lyon, C.A., a resident of Bathurst for six years, has opened a Public Accounting Practice offering a full range of accounting, tax and auditing services to city and area residents and businesses.

Mr. Lyon formerly lived in Kentville, Nova Scotia where he graduated from Kings County Academy in 1969. He received his C.A. designation in 1975 after completing five years' apprenticeship with another firm of Chartered Accountants in Bathurst.

Seek Briefs On Education

The present status and future development of higher education in the Maritimes region will be the subject of briefs being called for by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission.

The briefs will form the framework for a series of public meetings the Commission will hold in the three provinces next April.

In extending the invitation to individuals and groups with an interest in higher education, Commission chairman Dr. Catherine Wallace advised that notice of intention to make a submission should be received by the MPHEC by Dec. 31.

March 15, 1977 is the deadline for the receipt of briefs by the Commission.

"We hope that such advanced notification of our plans to hold hearings will attract submissions from as wide ranging a group as possible," Dr. Wallace said.

Political Fund Drive Underway

The financing of political parties and elections in Canada have been changed since 1974 when the new Election Expense Act was proclaimed.

The Liberal Party of Gloucester has adopted to this new system and has set up a finance committee, the role of which is to raise funds every year rather than just before an election as in the past. With the public disclosure of all contributions over $100.00, political parties can't count on large contributions anymore just before an election.

The objective of the new system is to encourage political parties to finance themselves with smaller contributions from a greater number of Canadians.

In the weeks to come, the members of the finance committee and members of the party executive will organize meetings with some 60 local committees. This is in order to familiarize party members as well as the public with this new mode of financing which opens the political system in Canada and makes it more democratic and sound.

Named To Gov't Posts

Two senior appointments within the Department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources were announced Dec. 9 by the minister, Jean-Pierre Ouellet.

George Fry has been appointed director of Handcrafts for the province and Prof. John Zauhar of the University of Moncton will become director of the department's new Regional Development Branch.

Mr. Ouellet noted that both appointments are part of the reorganization resulting from new responsibilities assumed by this department and the remaining of the department to Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources.

Mr. Fry is a graduate of Goldsmith College, University of London and received a national diploma in design. He did a postgraduate diploma in art education at Leicester University, England in 1972.

A former designer for children's programs on BBC television, Mr. Fry held an appointment for nine years as instructor of head of extramural studies at Ravensbourne College of Art and Design in Kent, England.

He took up residence in Saint John in 1965 and since that time has been closely associated with the cultural and artistic life of that city. He was art coordinator for school district 20. Mr. Fry is co-founder of the Saint John Arts Council and a honorary member of the New Brunswick Handcrafts Council.

He is also past chairman of the Department of Education's curriculum committee on art education and a former ex officio governor of the Beaverbrook Art Gallery, Fredericton as the educatiin representative. Well-known in provincial theatre circles, Mr. Fry has been the designer - director of at least 30 productions.

Prof. Zauhar graduated from the University of Ottawa before getting a masters degree from Columbia University, New York. He pursued his Ph.D work at the same university. The subject for his thesis was on public recreation in Quebec. Before his appointment at Universite de Moncton where he was professor of recreation in the Department of Physical Education, he taught at the University of Ottawa. Mr. Zauhar will carry a leading assignment at Universite de Moncton during the second semester.

He is a former director of recreation and community services in Arvida and Rimouski, Quebec and the author of two textbooks, "Loisir sur le terrain" and "An Approach to Recreational Facility Planning" published this year.

Mr. Ouellet said that the Handcrafts Branch, which was previously within the Department of Tourism, is responsible for the development and promotion of handcrafts in the province. In addition it runs a two year training program at the Handcrafts School in Fredericton. The Regional Development Branch will be responsible for program development in the regions and will coordinate the activities of the department's seven regional offices.

Capitols Win Blake Trophy

Bathurst Capitols travelled to St. Leonard over the weekend and captured the Jap Blake Memorial Trophy by edging the St. Leonard Alpine Aces 1684 - 1677 for a seven-pin victory.

Cowan Glazier paced the Bathurst team with the top triple of the match - a brilliant 383, which also included the game - high single of 146. Judson Roy added a 341 to the Bathurst cause while Gordie Chasson and Herm Thibodeau rolled triples of 337, and 333 respectively.

Ivan Tardif led the Aces with a 368 triple with Aldeo Berube adding a 137 single.

Captain Comeau is congratulated by Governor General Leger.

Receives Military Award

At a recent ceremony held at Government House in Ottawa, Captain Joseph Clarence Comeau was the recipient of the Order of Military Merit presented by the Governor-General of Canada, the Honourable Jules Leger.

The Order of Military Merit, originated in 1972, is awarded to officers during peacetime in recognition of meritorious service. Captain Comeau has the unique distinction of being the first officer in the Air Weapons Controller branch to receive this award.

Capt. Comeau, 40, enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in July of 1953 as an airman in the Fighter Control Operator trade. Following initial training at RCAF Station Clinton, Ontario, he served at several eastern Canadian radar units within the Air Defence system.

While serving in Ramstein, Germany in 1968, Captain Comeau was commissioned from the ranks. Since then, he has completed operational tours at Northern NORAD in North Bay Ontario, and Great Falls, Montana on an exchange posting with the United States Air Force. In July 1976 he was posted to 21 Radar Squadron at St. Margarets.

Captain Comeau is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Comeau and the late Richard Comeau of Belledune.

Mrs. Comeau, the former Francis MacMullin of 130 Townsend St., Sydney, N.S., Captain Comeau and children Richard, Robert and Cathy presently reside at 5 Farading St., James Park, N.B.

New Federal Bill Gets First Reading

A bill to establish a new Department of Employment and Immigration and a new Canada Employment and Immigration Commission, and to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act, was introduced for first reading in the House of Commons Dec. 9 by Manpower and Immigration Minister Bud Cullen.

The following are the major amendments in the bill:

The integration of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration to form the new Canada Employment and Immigration Commission, with a small supporting department.

An increase in the number of weeks required to qualify for UI benefits (the "entrance requirement") from eight weeks to twelve.

An overhaul and simplification of the method used to determine a claimant's entitlement to benefit (the "benefit structure").

Amendments to authorize more productive, "developmental" uses of UI funds, including income maintenance for claimants on training courses, job creation projects, and work sharing programs.

In integration of the Department of Manpower and Immigration and the Unemployment Insurance Commission will produce a new organization capable of providing a one-stop service to clients, and will facilitate a more integrated approach to the planning and administration of employment, unemployment and immigration programs. The well-established policy of close consultation and co-operation between government, labour and business will be continued through the representation of the private sector in the Commission itself and in the newly established Canada Employment and Immigration Advisory Council.

Mr. Cullen said the UI amendments will make the program more effective by increasing incentives to work, removing certain inequities, simplifying the benefit structure, and achieving a greater responsiveness to regional unemployment conditions.

"While those who work for extremely short periods of time will no longer be eligible for UI benefits, adequate income protection will continue for those with longer terms of employment, and for those living in regions of high unemployment" Mr. Cullen said.

Unemployment insurance arrangements for trainees will be streamlined. UI will now pay full income maintenance for claimants handicapped by a lack of, or inappropriate, job skills who are referred to Manpower training courses. The rationalization of financial arrangements could lead to a more effective allocation of resources, and thus potentially free up resources for additional training.

In addition, new experimental programs will be launched on a limited pilot project basis in the areas of job creation and work sharing. Claimants facing long-term unemployment will be offered the alternative of voluntary participation in community-oriented work projects, and business establishments and workers, faced with the prospect of short-term layoffs, will be able to avoid such layoffs through participation in work sharing schemes. In these schemes, all workers would be retained in employment at reduced hours and would have their wages supplemented by UI benefits.

Mr. Cullen emphasized that the increase in the entrance requirement and the new benefit structure will be accompanied by new employment development programs designed to better assist those who are experiencing continuing employment difficulties to establish regular employment. The government has announced the doubling of funds available for the current LIP program, and plans to spend $350 million on an Employment Strategy in 1977-78, substantially more than the estimated $110 million saving to the government in UI costs for the same period.

The employment programs will be concentrated on areas

GOLD HAT PRESENTED TO SAFETY-MINDED EMPLOYEE

Raymond Aubie, an employee at Brunswick Mills escaped serious injury or possible death while on the job September 2. Mr. Aubie was working in the dry kilns when a piece of angle iron fell from a height of 30 feet striking him on the head. Luckily he was safety-minded and was wearing his safety hat at the time. The piece of steel measured 2" x 2" x 3/16" and weighed approximately 100 pounds. Mr. Aubie was awarded a gold hat by the New Brunswick Provincial Safety Council December 2. From the left are: Allan Landry, W.R.I.S.C. representative; Curtis Hoey, mill manager; Mr. Aubie; and Terry Desmond, personnel supervisor.

Party Backs French District

Secretary of the Party leader in New Brunswick, Andre Blanchard, has voiced the party's unconditional support for the formation of a French only school board for District 4.

Mr. Blanchard said statistics show a percentage of 40.28 French speaking students in the district and in view of these facts, he felt there should be no hesitation in making the board's working language French.

The party, Mr. Blanchard said, feels the problems will not be remedied until positive action in this direction is taken.

We said francophones in New Brunswick should not have to Anglicize the proper education of their children.

News Media Helpful In Membership Drive

An expression of thanks to the media in New Brunswick was passed unanimously by a meeting of the executive of the New Brunswick Federation of Home and School Associations meeting recently in Moncton.

Co-chairmen of the membership committee of the federation, Mrs. Robert Hartman of Moncton and Robert Allain of Caraquet reported they had received excellent co-operation from all news media during the membership drive for Home and School that was held in October. Numerous radio and T.V. interviews with personnel from the provincial Home and School body had been effective, they felt, in explaining the role of Home and School to listeners and viewers.

Newspapers also came in for praise for giving in some cases very extensive coverage, to Home and School Activities as well as background information on the philosophy of the Home and School movement.

President Doug Dougherty of St. Stephen chaired the meeting which covered a heavy agenda. New members were welcomed to the executive in the persons of Mme. Gilbert Finn of Dieppe newly elected vice-president of the French-speaking section of the Federation, Rev. C. Edward Pickett of Salisbury, newly elected vice-president of the English-speaking section, and Mme Sheila Roach of Notre Dame-de-Kent, newly-appointed secretary-treasurer of the French speaking Section, as well as Mrs. Dorothea Parker of Grand Bay, secretary - treasurer of the English - speaking section. Other newly elected officers unable to be present were section vice presidents Sylvio Chenard of Fredericton and John Sweeney of Bathurst.

Reports were given by Dr. Blanche Bourgeois on the preparation of a brief to the Task Force on the School Year, by Phyllis Hayes of Moncton and Robert Allain on presentations to the Task Force on School Libraries, by Piera Cormier of Cocagne president of the French-speaking section on a rally held in Memramcook for all French-speaking members; by president Doug Dougherty on the inaugural rally of the newly-formed English-speaking section held in Sussex, and by executive secretary Shirley Dobson on the Home and School Poster Festival planned for the 1976-77 school year on the theme "The Environment and I".

Executive members were informed of a grant received by the provincial federation of Home and School, in conjunction with the national Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation, from the Department of the Secretary of State to assist in financing the bilingual function of the federation which will enable the provincial Home and School body to increase its bilingual capacity considerably. Plans were laid to provide additional translation services and to acquire services of a part-time bilingual stenographer, to assist the executive secretary.

Dr. Blanche Bourgeois in making the announcement stressed that the funds will enable the federation to operate more effectively in furthering communication between the two language groups within the provincial Home and School body, as well as enabling the national Home and School federation to translate a wealth of resource material that has up to the present time been available only in English. The development was hailed as a great step forward for the Home and School movement.

The executive secretary reported that response has been excellent to the survey being conducted on issues in education. A questionnaire prepared by the national organization has been sent to all Home and Schools in New Brunswick and returns are almost complete, she said. A committee consisting of Mme Gilbert Finn and Mrs. Robert Hersman will assist in compiling statistics from the returns for the province before the questionnaires are forwarded to the national

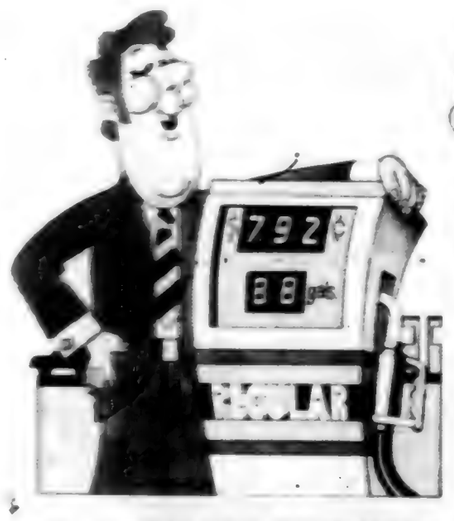
THERE'S TWO WAYS TO LOOK AT HONDA'S TOP MILEAGE NUMBERS.

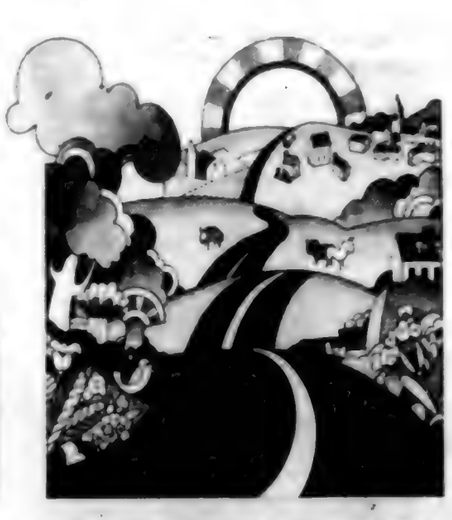


1. LEAST CENTS PER MILE.*

Fill up a Honda Civic CVCC. It'll take Regular gas. The good news is you can probably top the tank for less than $6.00. The bad news: gas prices are going up.

With gas costed at 90¢ a gallon, according to the Transport Canada fuel consumption figures, you can keep the popular Honda Civic Sedan or Hatchback in gasoline for about 2.1¢ per mile. The Station Wagon for 2.3¢ per mile, the best of any 5-door wagon. The CVCC for 1.7¢ per mile, and no body's topped that figure. The remarkable Accord needs 1.9¢ per lovely mile.

Your nearby Honda dealer has some other figures you'll like. Figures that are right for sore eyes. And some eye-popping spare statistics. See him soon.



2. MOST MILES PER GALLON.*

Of all figures released by Transport Canada, the 1977 Honda Civic CVCC and Honda Accord achieved the highest gas mileage. Both are 5-speed hatchbacks, and fifth gear gives them boosts in mileage by dropping rpm's while cruising.

The actual figures

CVCC. 47 city, 62 highway, 53 combined.

Accord. 30 city, 58 highway, 46 combined.

Nobody did better than that.

But that's only one way to look at fuel economy.

HONDA

PUT A SMILE ON YOUR FACE. DRIVE A HONDA.

*Based on Continuous city and highway mileage figures, as supplied by the Ministry of Transport "Fuel Economy Guide." Your actual mileage may vary based on such factors as the type of driving, options fitted to the car, seasonal temperatures, road conditions, the condition of your car and how you drive.

Gifts For Christmas

Sing a song for Christmas,
Help to make somebody glad;
A little cheer can dry a tear
When some one else is sad.

Give a gift of kindness
Where a kind word should belong,
It's what it takes and how it makes
The Christmas spirit strong.

Give a little gift of love
Which later may recall
The little gift that gives a lift
Is the greatest after all.

Just a friendly little visit
For someone who is ill
Who once was gay, perhaps today,
Is waiting for you still.

The gifts that need no wrapping
Ties of love are free;
The little things, the joy it brings,
Will light the Christmas tree.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. K. "Butch" Leger and infant daughter Heather from Nackawic are expected Saturday to spend Christmas week with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elzear Duclos and Mr. Raymond Leger and families.

The many friends of Mrs. Daisy Carson are sorry to learn she is a patient in Chaleur General Hospital and wish her a quick recovery. Only members of her family are visiting her at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Huard and daughter Krista who moved Dec. 1st from Oshawa to Whitby, Ont., are due to arrive Sunday and will spend Christmas week with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Huard and Mrs. Valmond Albert and Mr. Albert and other members of their families including Mrs. Edgar Brown and Mrs. Bruce Jamieson.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Laffoley and their pre-schoolage daughter who recently returned from Montreal to take up residence in the city and had been staying with members of the family here, moved into their new home in Little River during the weekend. Their daughter, Miss Debbie Laffoley who attends university in Montreal, is expected to join them for the Yuletide season. Mr. Laffoley is employed with the city.

Sandwich For Weightwatchers

The national dietary staff of Weight Watchers has recommended the following filling for a nutritious and excellent sandwich for the weight-conscious person. It is made mainly of cottage cheese and chopped egg.

Ingredients: ½ medium dill pickle, ½ cup cottage cheese, 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped, 1½ teaspoons mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of garlic powder, freshly ground pepper to taste, two slices enriched white bread, ¼ medium tomato, sliced, two lettuce leaves (optional).

Method: finely chop ½ pickle. Cut remaining pickle into spears.

Combine next six ingredients in a small bowl. Spread half the mixture on one slice of bread. Top with tomato slices and remaining cheese mixture. Cover with lettuce, if desired, and remaining slice of bread.

"Many Factors" Led To Closure

Commerce and Development Minister Lawrence Garvie has expressed his disappointment over the announcement that Cirtex Knitting Inc. of Cacouna would be phasing out its operations.

The company, which operates a textile plant was employing approximately 100 persons at the time of the announcement.

Mr. Garvie indicated that a number of factors contributed to the closure decision by the company. Weakness in the textile market, continuing start-up difficulties following a prolonged shut-down, and the reluctance of the foreign investors to continue with the project were the major reasons behind the decision, Mr. Garvie said.

The minister indicated that the province's position of $5 million is secured by a first charge over all land, buildings and equipment of the company, and the province is in the process of securing its position on those assets.

Immediate efforts have begun to reactivate the facilities. He indicated that changes in textile import quotas recently announced by the federal government will be a positive factor in efforts to find a new operator.

The plant, constructed in 1973, is a modern, well equipped facility that was designed to manufacture knitted fabric for the Canadian market.

Two major shareholders of Cirtex Knitting Inc., Itochu Company Ltd. and Mitsubishi Rayon Co., both of Japan, had invested heavily in the project. It is expected that both companies will sustain substantial losses as a result of the closure.

The department was advised some time ago by the foreign principals of their intentions to withdraw from the project. Since that time discussions have been held with company officials and the foreign principals to provide for an orderly phase out of the company.

Workers were advised of the circumstances on December 6 and other preparations are currently underway, the minister stated.

Discussions on the continuation of the project are underway with parties interested in the resumption of work at the plant. Mr. Garvie indicated that he was optimistic that such efforts would be successful. He stated that it is an ultra-modern mill with a trained labour force available. A new operator would face an improving market arising out of adjustment to import quotas and a substantially reduced burden of debt.

Bay Won't Be Contaminated

A new sewage treatment plant due to open soon at St.-Anne-du-Bocage on the Bay of Caraquet should present no problems to the bay's shellfish industry, a senior official of the provincial environment department said last week.

David Gillgannon, director of the pollution control branch, told the legislature's select committee on fisheries all the latest safety factors, such as backup power systems, had been built into the new plant.

A lagoon has also been built in front of the plant waste has up to 90 days so that effluents won't be dumped into the bay during the oyster fishing season from September to December, he said.

Mr. Gillgannon also emphasized that there are many sources of possible contamination other than sewage treatment plants in the Bay of Caraquet and elsewhere.

William Ryan, senior biologist in the environmental services branch, said the coliform contamination can also come from tourists' cabins and motor, private septic tanks and fishing vessels that dump untreated wastes while at sea.

He described the problems as "comprehensive" and suggested the use of "flexible" policies, when contamination levels are higher than accepted standards.

The Legend Of The Lamb

By Marguerite Harrison

It was Christmas night, and the little lamb had nothing to give the tiny Christ Child who shared his stable.

Suddenly, the lamb noticed that the Baby's blankets were thin and poor, and the straw upon which the boy shared little warmth. So the lamb very gently, grasped Christ in his furry mouth and sheltered him from the cold.

The Christ Child smiled and touched the lamb's shaggy coat, whereupon it was transformed into soft curly wool.

From that day to this, all sheep wear the warm symbol of Christ's gratitude for the selfless action of one small lamb on that first Christmas night.

Animals are God's creatures, be they cat, dog, horse, cow, or sheep, so consider them in this cold weather. See that they are well-sheltered and have food at all times.

Fish Landings Down In Oct.

Fisheries Minister Omer [illegible] announced Dec. 13 that New Brunswick's commercial fish landings in October totalled 43,638 pounds for a value of $8,394.

[illegible] figures represent a drop [illegible] the October 1975 figures [illegible] per cent for total weight of [illegible] and 31 per cent in dollar [illegible].

[illegible] groundfish catches increased [illegible] value and weight, however, by 40 and 55 per cent respectively. The total average [illegible] for all species registered [illegible] per cent increase while [illegible] landings were up by [illegible] per cent.

Shellfish, scallops and red [illegible] accounted for the largest [illegible] increase while alewives, [illegible] and haddock registered the highest price increase. The highest price per pound in October was for pollock, up 13[illegible] per cent over last October's price.

Cumulative Landings

Mollusks, crustaceans and groundfish accounted for the largest weight increase, by 60, 44 and 37 per cent respectively. However, the total landing of class of sea weeds, viscere and others and the class of pelagics-esturial fish decreased by 21 and four per cent.

Mollusks, groundfish, crustaceans and the class of sea weeds, viscera and others showed the largest value increase, 55, 41, 30 and six per cent respectively. Pelagic and estuarial fish catches decreased by three per cent in value.

The average price paid for the class of sea weeds, viscera and others increased by 73 per cent while the average price was up by two per cent for each of groundfish and pelagic-estuarial fish. However, crustaceans and mollusks showed an average price of nine and three percent respectively.

Scallop accounted for the largest increase in weight. In value, it was squid, and in average price, herring scales.

From January to October, the current cumulative volume of landings showed a healthy expansion in the primary sector. All species landed accounted for a five per cent increase while the value and the average price registered an increase of 17 and 10.4 per cent respectively.

Figures on fish landings were supplied by the fisheries and marine branch of Environment Canada while the percentage variations were compiled by the provincial department of Fisheries.

Maritime Premiers Take Stand On Various Issues

Following is the text of a communique issued Dec. 7 after a two-day session of the Council of Maritime Premiers:

I. Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission.

The MPHEC has presented the council with the commission's financial plan for higher education in the Maritime provinces for the fiscal period 1977 - 78, together with various recommendations which the commission is required to make about the development of new or altered post-secondary courses and facilities.

The commission has also submitted its proposals on:

1. The approach which it feels should be taken on the development of law schools in the region subsequent to its receipt and study of the Soberman report and

2. Some preliminary information on the financial aspects of the veterinary college question.

In all cases the council has explored with Dr. Catherine Wallace and other commission representatives, the general effect of the commission's proposals, and is now forwarding these to the regional treasury board and the respective governments for a detailed review prior to the preparation of formal reactions to the commission's advice.

II. Transportation Development.

The council heard a report on the discussions and negotiations which have proceeded at the official level, following the council's meeting with the Hon. Otto Lang in Saint John at the end of August.

The council reaffirms its commitment to have national transportation policy recognize the role which transportation must play a positive element of the programs of all governments in the fields of economic and social development.

The council is very pleased to note that representatives on behalf of the Maritime region have persuaded the federal government not to discontinue its subsidy of the eastward movement of flour and grain through the ports of Saint John and Halifax. The discontinuance of the so-called "at and east" subsidies was put forward as part of the restraint program under the last federal budget and, if implemented, would have removed an estimated $11,000,000 of subsidy and would have eliminated a very significant portion of overall port business in the region.

III. Maritime Resource Management Service.

The Council met this morning with members of the MRMS board of directors and gave approval in principal to a revised set of objectives for the agency.

Over the course of the past five years, MRMS has been partially funded by the federal government under the terms of an agreement signed in 1972. This agreement has now been concluded and a revised agreement between the council and the provinces will be considered by provincial governments over the course of the next few weeks. The new agreement covering the operation of the agency is expected to be in place by the end of the current fiscal year.

Objective:

The basic objective of the Maritime Resource Management Service is to assist the Maritime provinces in achieving the optimum utilization and development of the resources of the region by providing specialized support services.

Functions:

To maintain and/or develop certain specialized capabilities which are available as a service to all levels of government in the Maritimes.

In particular, these include:

A. An information service that will assist in making available the necessary data for resource management and development.

B. A planning service specializing in the provision of both community and regional professional and technical planning services;

C. An engineering service with specialized capabilities in hydrology, special water control structures, soil mechanics and dykelands;

D. An air photo reproduction service and a cartographic service, each containing highly specialized equipment and personnel to provide "back-up" services to engineering and planning studies;

E. Any other requested service approved by the board of directors.

IV. Regional Police Training

The Atlantic Police Academy, located at Holland College in Charlottetown, will graduate, on Dec. 10, its sixth class of cadets since the program was first established to serve the region's general requirements for municipal police training.

Experience to date indicates that the program of the academy produces well-trained cadet graduates, most of whom are in municipal police forces within the Maritime provinces. In addition it makes available refresher and other training courses to serving members of Maritime police forces.

In view of progress to date, the council has reaffirmed its support for the continued development of this valuable program in association with Holland College. The council looks to all those involved to continue their efforts to make the program succeed, and within this context, the council will make every effort to co-ordinate the measures whereby each government provides financial and other support to the Atlantic Police Academy.

V. Land Registration and Information Service.

The council reviewed the discussions it had recently completed with the Hon. Mr. Lessard, Minister of regional economic expansion, concerning financial measures to support the Land Registration and Information Service operated by the Council of Maritime Premiers.

Discussions will shortly be opened with the department of regional economic expansion to conclude a second agreement for the financing of this program. To this end, the council expects to be receiving a detailed report from officials concerning the benefits and costs that will result from various phases of the program. Work is also proceeding on the legislative measures that are required to implement the program.

VI. The Maritime Energy Generation and Transmission Corporation

The Maritime premiers support the concept of a Maritime energy generation and transmission corporation and request that the three provincial government entities involved and the Government of Canada continue to pursue their present studies in this regard, so that a firm proposal can be made available within the next four months.

BATHURST CITIZEN'S BAND'S CHRISTMAS CONCERT SET FOR SUNDAY DEC. 19

The Bathurst Citizens' Band conducted by Douglas Pineau will be presenting its annual Christmas Concert at the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall on St. Patrick Street Sunday evening December 19 at 8:30 p.m. Featured guests of the band for this concert will be the United Church Senior Choir under the direction of Joseph A. MacDonald and the Bavarian Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Pineau.

The Bathurst Citizens' Band has been in continuous active existence since 1889 at which time many of its members were recruited from the predecessor group known as "The Christian Men's Band Association" (CMBA), which was directed for many years by Jack Gilmore.

Since 1959, the band has steadily increased in membership, particularly in the past 10 years, when in 1960 the usual membership was 15 whereas in 1976 the membership is 38.

Members of the band receive no remuneration whatsoever and give of their time and talent freely each week strictly for the love of music and presentation of musical enjoyment to the community.

The prime objective of this group of dedicated musicians is the continued promotion of band music in the area as well as the recruitment of young members into the band through the presentation of Bathurst Citizens' Band Scholarships which allow qualifying students to spend one session each summer at the Mount Allison University music camp.

The Bathurst Citizens' Band as a non-profit organization, depends entirely on the generosity of the community for donations and also on funds raised through the presentation of concerts to finance its scholarship program as well as to purchase music and instruments.

On November 14, 1976, the annual business meeting of the band was held and the following executive was elected: president, George Robertson; vice-president, Roger LeBlanc; secretary-treasurer, Bill Murroon, directors, Milton Scott, Alcide Mazerolle, Raoul Cormier and Michele Dube.

Any group wishing the services of the Bathurst Citizens' Band or interested in any way in contributing toward the continued success of this valuable community organization, are invited to contact George Robertson at 548-2173 or Roger LeBlanc at 546-8220.

New members are always welcome.

The executive and membership of the Bathurst Citizens' Band extend a welcome to one and all to the December 19th concert and wish everyone a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Cirtex Layoffs Now Underway

Cirtex Knitting Inc. began laying off workers Friday, Dec. 10 and will shut down the Caraquet textile plant by the end of December, company president Paul Itzkovits said last week.

The provincial government, which has invested $5 million in Cirtex, will maintain the plant with a partial staff until a new owner can be found, he said. There are now 100 workers in the plant.

Mr. Itzkovits said in an interview he is uncertain about the plant's future but was hopeful the government would get the operation back in full production as soon as possible.

Depressed textile markets and financial difficulties of Ataka led to the Cirtex closure, he said, adding that Ataka had decided to withdraw from all of its foreign projects after losing $400 million in Come-By-Chance Nfld. oil refinery, which went into receivership more than a year ago.

Ataka and Mitsubishi, which together were 50 per cent owners of Cirtex, invested $8 million in the plant since it opened in 1973, Mr. Itzkavits said.

"Our priorities at the moment are to close the plant, make sure the facilities are safe and sound and make sure the employees are paid."

The company's textile plant in Montreal is also being closed.

Meanwhile, Onil Doiron (L-Caraquet) said he is disappointed by the closure and questioned whether the government had invested wisely in the project.

"If the plant is closed because of lack of markets, I wonder if the government did enough studies of the market situation before putting in money", he said.

Mr. Doiron said the shutdown would have adverse effects on the community because "the economy here just is not capable of absorbing the work force that will now be out of jobs."

Director Is Known In City

The Association of Safety Council Executives has announced that Gladys E. Beattie, Executive Director, N.B. Safety Council Inc., has passed the written examination and has successfully completed all other requirements for certification.

Mrs. Beattie who resides in Fredericton now is eligible to use the letters "C.S.C.E.", Certified Safety Council Executive. She is well known in the Bathurst area through the promotion of safety courses.

Mrs. Beattie is the first Canadian to have received this recognition through the certification program established two years ago by this international organization of Safety Council managers — the Association of Safety Council Executives.

The certification board bases their decision not only on the written examination passmark of over 70 per cent, but also on the candidate's knowledge, experience and effective practice over a period of years in safety council management.

chairman, Mrs. Cathy Schoen of Vancouver.

Reporting on school libraries, Phyllis Dixon urged that strong representation continue to be made to government stressing the need for full-time librarians in school libraries.

With respect to the School Year task force, it was reported that great interest had been created by Home and School's presentation. President Doug Dougherty, in reporting on his role as a member of the Task Force, estimated that an interim report is anticipated by the end of the year. Following this, Home and School associations in New Brunswick will have an opportunity to respond to the recommendations prior to the preparation of the final report.

In reporting on the membership drive in Kent South Council, council president Robert Allain said the membership there had already doubled from that of last year. A vote of thanks was extended to the two membership chairmen Mr. Allain and Mrs. Hermann for the tremendous amount of work they had put into the campaign on the provincial level.

Plans were announced by Dr. Bourgeois also for a leadership training workshop in February for organizers of "Discovery Groups". Discovery Groups are a Home and School project established recently for the parents of pre-school children to assist them in the art of parenting.

MAGICIAN'S TALENT APPRECIATED BY SHUT-INS

John Stuart for the Col. Sanders Magic Show entertained youngsters and senior citizens while in Bathurst December 7 and 8. Mr. Stuart and Company performed for hundreds of city residents who attended his shows at Holy Family Church basement. On Wednesday afternoon he visited the young patients in the pediatric ward at Chaleur General Hospital and then the senior citizens at Foyer Notre-Dame de Lourdes and performed a number of magic tricks. The magician thrilled and amazed both of his audiences who greatly appreciated his visit.

NBEPC Reports Costly Damage

During the past year New Brunswick Electric Power Commission customers were without power for periods of up to 10 hours and over $200,000 was spent to repair wilful damage to Commission equipment.

In the last two weeks extensive damage was caused to two high voltage lines in the Saint John and surrounding area when a large number of insulators were broken by rifle fire. Although service to customers was interrupted for approximately one hour, the supply of power to the Saint John area was weakened during the 34 hours required to repair the damage.

Costly at any time in terms of material and labour required to replace damaged equipment, the major concern is the inconvenience to customers and the danger the employees face when carrying out repairs.

During winter, with its severe weather conditions, power interruptions take on a more serious aspect. Many customers rely entirely on power for all their cooking and heating needs. Power outages can cause loss of revenue, inconvenience and even death.

The general public is requested to help in eliminating wilful damage to Commission equipment.

The Commission has a standing offer of a $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons shooting power pole insulators or wilfully damaging other Commission property or buildings.

The New Brunswick Wildlife Federation has advised they will match the $250 reward as it applies to shooting of insulators.

With the help of each and every citizen we can eliminate these acts of wilful destruction which are causing unnecessary expense and considerable inconvenience and discomfort to power users in the province.

YOUR BUSINESS

Riches Elude Our Inventors

BY VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Strange how inventions can bring out our sense of nationalism but not our risk capital.

In Munich there's a science museum. A guide showing three English-speaking visitors through it pointed out an impressive number of German inventions that are in every day use throughout the world.

The two American women listened with growing disbelief to this unintended challenge to their innate faith that all good things had been invented in the United States.

I just hope he doesn't try to tell us the Germans invented the telephone one of the women said.

"As a matter of fact, I think it was invented in Brantford, Ont." I ventured.

That was too much for their credulity and their national pride - although their sense of courtesy kept them from saying aloud that Canadians were even worse liars than Germans.

Their credulity would be best much more deeply if they were to see a copy of The Canadian Inventions Book by Janis Nauthaniel and Jack Humphries, two Toronto-based television writers, published by Grees de Pencier Publications at $8.95.

The authors quote Alexander Graham Bell's own words placing the invention of the telephone in Brantford in 1874 and rejecting Boston's claim to that honor.

BOBBY'S ORGAN

Bell's brilliance extended not only to science but to business as well; his inventions brought him enormous wealth.

Morse Rand in Belleville was more typical of Canadian inventors. He developed the first electronic organ in 1927, many years before Laurens Hammond of Chicago invented his, which, the authors claim, had an inferior sound.

The "Belleville genius" as the 1927 newspapers described him, was given a generally favorable reception by musicians, enjoyed excellent publicity and had a clear patent lead over his U.S. competitor.

Nevertheless Rand could find no Canadian businessmen to finance the large-scale production and marketing of his organ, and he staunchly refused to sell his patent to Americans.

The way was clear for Hammond to develop his rival organ into a major segment of the North American home entertainment industry, and great personal wealth.

FIRST FROZEN FISH

The authors list dozens of other Canadian inventions and firsts.

Most of us already know about the telephone, the snowmobile, insulin and Standard Time.

Less well known are such inventions as the wirephoto, the halftone (the means by which photographs are reproduced in newspapers), the freezing of fish, the railway sleeping car (pre-dating Pullman's design by eight years), and Pablum, a children's food.

Football was developed in Montreal as an outgrowth of rugby and English rugger. James Naismith of Almonte, Ont., literally invented basketball in 1891, using bottomless peach baskets initially.

Or must we always look beyond our borders for commercially successful scientific innovation?

New Canadian Books Good Family Reading

By EVANGELINE LUNN

Among all the gorgeous and gaudy new books displayed for children this Christmas, don't overlook our more quiet, Canadian ones.

There are three - all new this year - that deserve particular attention.

The Wooden People by Myra Paperny. Illustrated by Ken Stampnick (McClelland and Stewart; 1976 pages, $6.95), a story of a large, happy Prairie family in the 1930s.

The Violin by Robert Thomas Allen with photographs by George Hunter (McGraw Hill Ryerson, 76 pages, $5.95), a picture-book about an old man, two small boys and the love of music.

Kanata, edited by Mary Ruble and Glenys Stow, illustrated by several artists and photographers (Methuen, 240 pages, cloth $10.95, paper $6.95), an anthology of Canadian writing for children that includes a bit of everything from The Cremation of Sam McGee to an excerpt from Anne of Green Gables.

ON A STRING

The Wooden People from whom Myra Paperny gets her title are penguins, and the kids who make them are the four Stern children. The children are lively, imaginative and tired of moving all over the West with their restless immigrant father.

Debby, the eldest, is so tired of it she refuses to make friends in the mean village of Charlie Bully, Alta.

It's his plan to make the wooden penguins. They're going to be his friends and his armour in battle against his father or whatever it is the oppressor of anything that seem vaguely sensible at the time.

This is the skeleton of Ms. Paperny's story. Her first book, it's awkward, lumpy in places and as a story doesn't always come off well.

But the sense of family, of fun and of the excitement that any kind of creative generation is here is abundance, and children who like family stories will likely feel at home with this one.

SOUND OF MUSIC

The Violin has the same kind of gentleness and warmth. It also has a stronger story.

On Wasp's Island, Toronto, two small boys, Chris and Danny, save money all their pennies to buy Chris the violin they've seen in a store window.

The violin is too expensive, but the storekeeper finds them an old, battered one he has tucked away.

Chris doesn't think much of the violin until, when he tries to play it, it doesn't sound at all like the music he hears in his head. He throws it away in a tantrum - or he thinks.

An old man comes along, rescues it and begins to play. He becomes friends with the boys and teaches Chris to play the violin. He tells stories of a far-off homeland.

Then, one day, Chris and Danny are scuffling and break Chris's violin. That same day the old man goes away forever.

He leaves Chris the violin.

The book was developed and photographed from the successful short film also called The Violin and also written by Robert Thomas Allen.

It's a slightly contrived story but rather beautiful. It isn't likely to please the young children who usually read picture books, but it could be a real winner for a family's reading together.

BIT OF EVERYTHING

Kanata is definitely a family book. Set up in three sections - Indian and Eskimo legends, early Canadian writings, and modern stories - it has something in it for everybody over the age of five.

The anthology is a good one, having in it such strong stories as Ernest Buckler's A Man which tells about the love between a boy and his father; John Lahodie's Big Black Dog by Natalie Savage Carlson, a fully tall story from Quebec; and The Journal of a Young Girl, an excerpt from Shizuye Takashima's account of her childhood stay in a Japanese-Canadian internment camp during World War II.

There are poems, descriptions of personal experiences, stories and essays. Included are familiar old favorites like Silverspot by Ernest Thompson Seton, Saved From The River from Sheila Burnford's The Incredible Journey, and less familiar ones like Riel's Farewell, a Saskatchewan song, and Ghersan It Is, a Copper Eskimo poem.

It's fund to see such a collection of old friends under one roof. The only argument that can really be found with the book is its format, which is so dull that no casual shopper is going to stop and look at it.

Its cover is text-book blue; its print is close, its design stingy (all the illustrators, for instance, are listed at the back rather than being given space with their stories) and the book is tight with the earnestness for which we Canadians are so famous.

Please ignore this. Do look the book out - it's a treasure.

Mrs. Lunn is a writer and lecturer who specializes in children's literature.

Door-To-Door Salesmen Legal Although Costly

They come to your door selling encyclopedias and magazines, household appliances and cookwear, beauty aids and cosmetics, windows and aluminum siding... you name it.

Often they offer discounts, prizes or free samples just to be allowed inside to show their wares. Sometimes they make first contact by telephone or mail, seeking an appointment in the comfort of your living room.

In consumer terminology, they are "direct sellers". They may be working their way through school or trying to support a family. Many will be your friends and neighbors. Many others will be complete strangers.

They are usually friendly, polite, confident and persuasive. And like anyone in business, the difference between selling or not selling their product is profit or loss.

While not denying their right to earn an honest living, most consumer experts agree on one basic point - the goods sold by direct sellers are generally higher priced than comparable products sold at the retail level.

And too often, their products are items the consumer would not otherwise have considered buying.

Because some direct sellers are dishonest, New Brunswick became one of the first provinces to regulate this type of business with passage of legislation in 1968.

It followed a period in the early 1960s when the province was "bombarded by fly-by-nighters from Quebec and Ontario who took advantage of the goodnatured New Brunswicker", says Michael Crowther, consumer affairs supervisor for the New Brunswick Consumer Bureau. Originally from Bathurst, Mr. Crowther is based in Fredericton.

Rural residents, often inclined to keep large sums of money under their mattresses, were the hardest hit. Lightning rods were popular then, and some farmers were convinced to buy one or more for every building on their property.

With the legislation now in force, direct sellers in New Brunswick must register with the bureau, maintain a permanent service address, post a bond ranging from $5,000 to $10,000, obtain a licence to sell door-to-door, and comply with a standard sales contract.

The contract provides consumer safeguards, such as a five-day "cooling off period" that allows the customer to return the product and demand a full refund within five days of the purchase.

But even with the tough controls, many New Brunswickers are still being bilked by some door-to-door salesmen, often for hundreds of dollars at a time says Mr. Crowther.

Last year, for example, two out-of-province salesmen sold vinyl-covered electric vibrators were supposed to cure all aches and pains. Shaped like footstools, the vibrators were manufactured in Quebec but banned from the market because the wiring did not meet Canadian safety standards.

Though each was worth no more than $25, about 100 of the vibrators were sold at $250 apiece before the salesmen were arrested for operating without a provincial licence.

Before leaving the province they were fined less than $300, said Mr. Crowther. Their profit: Perhaps more than $20,000.

Another case involves the sale of fire alarms, the kind of smoke-detecting device designed to wake up the entire household should a fire break out during the night.

Some door-to-door salesmen were peddling them for $150 apiece, said Mr. Crowther, through their wholesale value is about $28.

One consumer bought seven for one building - a funeral parlor.

Encyclopedia salesmen have also enjoyed a lucrative business in the province despite the fact numerous types of reference books are available in any school or public library.

Mr. Crowther knows of one salesman who sold 17 sets - at $600 apiece - to 17 different residents of the same apartment building.

While the consumer bureau can regulate direct sellers, it has no control over prices and profit margins. That said Mr. Crowther, is the responsibility of the consumer, who too often is convinced to buy something he or she does not need, cannot afford or could have purchased somewhere else at a lower price.

Despite its public relations program aimed at making consumers more bargain-conscious, the bureau's authority is often misunderstood, he said.

"We get calls and letters here blaming us for not doing something about salesmen who have taken advantage of them. But unless they (direct sellers) have not lived up to their requirements under the act, there's nothing we can really do."

"Consumers too often are like dentists' patients. They wait until they've got a serious problem before coming for help."

Mr. Crowther advises anyone approached by a direct seller to immediately ask to see an identification card or a copy of their licence. If in doubt, call the bureau for verification of the firm's existence and credibility.

Don't buy anything without knowing the price of comparable products sold at the retail or wholesale level. Be suspicious of "cash-only" transactions, particularly those involving a lot of money.

Fears Bleak Future For Canadian Mining

Under present circumstances, Canadian mining will simply not be able to meet the 25-year growth objectives set for it by the federal government, warns Alfred Powis, president of the Mining Association of Canada and of Noranda Mines. He made the comments at the annual McFarland Lecture at the University of Toronto sponsored by Brinco Ltd. in honor of the late Donald J. McFarland, a former president of that company.

The first lecture in the series was given last year by Donald Macdonald, then Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources.

Mr. Macdonald's projections called for a three-fold increase in mineral output which would mean as many new discoveries in the next 25 years as were made during the 1946-1970 period, some 220 of them.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Macdonald, just one year ago, estimated that this will require average annual exploration expenditures of $300 million in constant 1970 dollars, about triple the average in the 1961-1970 period. Capital expenditures were estimated at over a billion dollars per year, or about twice the average over the previous 15 years.

However, stated in 1976 rather than 1970 dollars, these figures must already be doubled, that is, to achieve the objective, we need annual exploration of $400 million plus mine development of $2 billion, explains Mr. Powis.

We are already running well behind with exploration expenditures in 1975 of $130 million, compared with $120 million as recently as 1970, "representing a really alarming decline when adjustment is made for inflation. This figure is only 30 percent of suggested annual exploration expenditures. In addition, new mine development of about $800 million in 1975 was only 25 percent of the amount the government indicates is needed.

Mr. Powis called the government's Mineral Area Planning Study a forecast of what might have been, not what will be. "With tax structures which make a fair rate of return on most new mines almost impossible, a number of known deposits are not being developed. If new mines cannot be developed, there is no point in looking for them," he continued.

Furthermore, the industry just doesn't have the money to mount many large-scale exploration and development programs. Mining companies have traditionally built up their financial strength during periods of high demand and prices to support new projects and to tide them over the difficult times which inevitably follow. However, the combination of high taxes and the debilitating impact of inflation prevented this during the boom years of 1973 and 1974, and has left the industry in a weakened position.

As an example, 15 years ago, in 1961, Canada's 22 largest base metal mining companies had aggregate debt of only $40 million while total working capital amounted to $610 million. By the end of 1975, working capital had about tripled but aggregate debt had grown to a whopping $2.5 billion.

Somehow, mining has been shunted onto the back burner "because it is considered degrading by some to be regarded as hewers of wood and drawers of water." Consequently, we have attempted to foster, through industrial and trade policies an enlarged manufacturing sector "where we have no conceivable comparative advantage," added Mr. Powis.

Another problem is the country's "serious and intractible inflation resulting from loading too many social requirements on too small an economic base. It would appear that Canadians are trying to satisfy all of their wants and needs simultaneously without coordination and with no regard to what we can really afford," he continued.

Then there is the current tendency to view corporations in a vacuum, and to assume that their profits are the immoral rewards of a few greedy robber barons." Business is a creator of wealth, and not a poker game which transfers a fixed pot of money from one player to another. Without the prospects of profits, new investment cannot be undertaken, and without profits from existing operations, it cannot be financed," he explained.

While business may not be a poker game, Mr. Powis said that mineral exploration is "very much like a lottery...the odds against an individual winning are very long and total expenditures may exceed the value of the prizes, but the rewards can be very great for the lucky."

Until relatively recently, investors were eager to enter this "lottery" because they had "confidence in Canada's political setting and in the fairness of its resource policies."

This confidence led investors to accept a lower rate of return on mining investment in Canada than in many other areas. For example, a U.S. government study indicates that U.S. investors averaged a 10 percent return on mining in Canada from 1955 to 1970 compared with 25 percent in South America.

During the 1960s, some 70 percent of private exploration expenditures were made in Australia, Canada, South Africa and the U.S., more so because of a stable environment than due to favorable geology.

Mr. Powis termed "dangerous nonsense" the belief that Canada has some sort of monopoly on natural resources. For example, although Canada is the world's largest producer of nickel and zinc, 80 percent of the world's known reserves of these metals are outside Canada.

The greatest impediment to investor confidence and cash generation is the "jungle" of royalties, super royalties, reserved taxes, variable volumetric taxes and graduated income taxes imposed over the past few years by various provincial governments.

"A reasonable rate of return on all but the richest new deposits is now impossible," emphasized Mr. Powis. "The faith of investors...both domestic and foreign...in the logic and fairness of Canadian resource policies has been destroyed. Any major resource project in Canada now entails a significant degree of political risk as well as the greater-than-normal business risks involved," he continued.

All, in all, it's not a very promising picture and Canadian mining can take consolation, mining can take little consolation from the industry's worldwide situation. According to a recent Business Week article, "the international mining industry is in terrible disarray these days. Confronting it is a multiplicity of intractible problems: limited capital, geometrically escalating development costs, intensifying economic nationalism in nations which own the richest ores, a deterioration in the quality of ores from existing mines and fierce environmental resistance to growth." That seems to say it all.

One of the nine remaining Spitfire airplanes in the world has left Windsor, Ont. for a new home in Rockland, Me. It is one of two in Canada and the only one in working order and was used in the filming of the movie Battle of Britain. The aircraft was purchased by Thomas Watson, Jr., of Armonk, N.Y., formef IBM board chairman, who will learn to fly it himself and use it extensively. It will be placed in a Rockland museum, partly owned by Watson.

Taxation Policy Encourages Move Says Councillor

The Allen task force recommendation could be the "salvation of municipalities but death to the government that puts it together", City Councillor Jean-Paul Lavoie told the legislature's select committee on rural life and land use Thursday, December 9.

Coun. Lavoie said the City of Bathurst has endorsed in principle four proposals for municipalities being outside city boundaries because it has enough trouble financing services of city residents.

He said provincial government policies "encourage" residents to move outside city limits because taxes in unincorporated areas are far below municipal levels.

By refusing to provide services outside Bathurst boundaries, Mr. Lavoie said, the city is in effect "telling the province we're prepared to let them consolidate more and..."

He said 400 people have moved from inside the city to outlying districts in the past few years and that City Council is "stamped" that the province is doing nothing to curb the trend.

By requiring larger lot sizes in unincorporated areas and assessing higher taxes, Mr. Lavoie said fewer residents would be induced to leave the city.

LeRoy Washburn (L-Gloucester) asked the councillor why the city would not be willing to accept provincial assistance in obtaining an additional fire truck which could be used to service neighboring districts.

That would be only a "short-term political solution", replied Mr. Lavoie, which would further encourage city residents to move outside the municipality. "They'd still move out because they would think we'd take care of them."

He said the city has taken an official position on the Allen task force report, which recommends the creation of rural municipalities with taxing powers to encompass the present unincorporated areas.

"But my personal view is that it could be the salvation of municipalities but death to the government that puts it together", said Mr Lavoie.

The report was submitted to the government in January, but government officials have not taken a position on the recommendations.

The tax implications of the report have been strongly criticized by farm-based organizations and the Opposition Liberals say they will oppose any legislation that conflicts with the principles of Equal Opportunity.

Messrs. Bulley and Bastarache

Regional Council For Handicapped Formed

Representatives from different organizations of the handicapped in the Bathurst area met at Bathurst Trade School Nov. 30 to form a regional organization for the New Brunswick Council on Recreation For The Disabled.

Purpose of the organization is to identify common needs of different groups of handicapped people as far as recreation is concerned, in order that a "common front" can be presented to municipalities and government so that these needs can be better met.

Some needs can best be served by specific associations of handicapped persons, while other needs are common to many handicapped groups and will be better served by a united voice.

The meeting was chaired by Clarence Bastarache.

Attending the meeting were representatives from the Chaleur Handicapped Sports and Recreation Club, New Brunswick Association For The Deaf, The CNIB, the Canadian Council Of The Blind, and also from the Department of Youth.

Present as well was Ray Bridson, provincial director of the Council On Recreation For The Disabled.

Purpose of the meeting was to set up a regional council. John Bulley was elected chairman of the council and Clarence Bastarache as representative of the local region at the provincial level.

It is important that as many associations of the handicapped as possible send representatives to meetings of the local council so that the group will truly serve its purpose, it was noted.

Chairman Bulley extended an invitation to each association to attend the next meeting and expressed the hope that at least two representatives from each group would be present. The meeting will be held on a date to be announced.

It was felt it would be a great advantage if associations could decide the needs of their members which could best be met through the regional council. These needs could then be brought forward at a later date in the form of recommendations to be dealt with at the appropriate level of government.

Also present was Louis Comeau, a spokesman from a local volunteer group. Outreach, whose members are specifically interested on designing handicapped groups in their sporting and recreational activities.

In order for the Council On Recreation For The Disabled to achieve its objectives, it must have the support and backing of different organizations in the area so that the unmet needs of many handicapped persons in the field of recreation can be satisfied, the group agreed.

Youth Dies From Burns

A fifteen-year-old Lorne resident, injured in a fire early Friday morning, Dec. 10 died less than 36 hours later in Moncton Hospital.

Joseph Andre Laprairie, son of Leo and Marion (Godin) Laprairie, was rushed to hospital in Moncton from St. Joseph's Hospital in Dalhousie suffering from first, second and third degree burns to 70 per cent of his body.

The youth had returned to the family home early Friday morning to light the kitchen stove. The family had been in the process of moving their belongings from the house to a new dwelling 300 feet away.

A spokesman for Jacques Rivet RCMP explained the youth had attempted to start the fire in a kitchen stove by pouring gasoline over the fuel.

The gasoline in the container ignited when the youth attempted to pour more gas over the stove starting fire, setting his clothes ablaze.

He ran the 300 feet to the second house where both parents extinguished the flames with the help of a blanket. Both suffered burns to their hands in the process.

The victim was reported to have frozen his hands and face in the sub-zero temperature. He had been wrapped in the blanket and had run the snow for about half an hour as the ambulance made its way along treacherous highway conditions to the scene.

He died in Moncton Hospital at about 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

The father was also taken to Moncton where he was admitted to hospital.

The victim's 16-year old brother Arthur who witnessed the accident, suffered no injury.

Coroner Walter Thompson of Campbellton ruled no autopsy or inquest necessary into the death.

Local Company Gets Contract

From the Ottawa Bureau of The Northern Light.

A federal contract worth $34,520 has been awarded to George Eddy Ltd. of Bathurst to provide the Defence Department with insulation, the Department of Supply and Services announced Monday, Dec. 6.

It was one of 225 unclassified contracts worth $10,000 or more that were awarded by the department to Canadian companies during the week ended Nov. 26. Total value of the contracts announced is $10,422,266.

Law Course To Be Added

A faculty of law will be created at the Universite de Moncton campus. That statement was made December 9 by Sister Catherine Wallace, president of the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission.

Sr. Wallace specified that "the Commission accepts the need to provide facilities for study of the common law in the French language within the Canadian context in general and the New Brunswick context in particular. To this end, the Commission recommends the establishment of a faculty of common law at l'Universite de Moncton, providing learning facilities predominantly in the French language."

Following the publication of the Soberman report various acadian organizations and the Universite de Moncton presented briefs to the president of the MPHEC supporting and demanding the creation of a faculty of common law on the Moncton campus.

The Soberman report stated among other things that the number of candidates in N.B. could not justify the creation of a second faculty of law keeping in mind the limited population. More likely, even if a unilingual French faculty was possible on the academic plane, the number of Francophone students would not be sufficient to open a separate faculty of law.

Noted, Sr. Wallace: "that in recommending the establishment of a faculty teaching the common law in French at l'Universite de Moncton, the Commission wants to encourage an effective cooperation between the University of New Brunswick and l'Universite de Moncton".

Rural Development Situation Reviewed

Continuously changing circumstances require the government to devote more attention to new trends in the non-incorporated areas of the province and to focus on rural planning, rural land use and urban sprawl, Municipal Affairs minister Horace Smith told the Sussex Kiwanis Club recently.

The Allen report on non-incorporated areas, together with on-going studies by the Legislature's Select Committee on Rural Life and Land Use and the Task Force on Agricultural Resources are indicative of the concern of government over these rural problems, said Mr. Smith. Developments taking place on the fringes of incorporated municipalities, along the provincial highways and across the most productive farm lands gives rise to real concern, he added.

The preliminary population figures prepared by Census Canada reveal a net decrease in population within all incorporated municipalities of 4,111 people, despite an overall provincial population increase of 30,000 between 1971 and 1976, said the minister.

The population of New Brunswick now totals 684,525.

Cities have shown a population decrease of 10,032, towns 337, while villages have shown an increase of 6,258, which results in the net decrease of 4,111, he said. This is clearly indicative of major population shifts, and in actual fact, the population for the unincorporated areas in the province has increased by approximately 35,000 since 1971.

Mr. Smith said the consequences of continuing population shifts from urban to unincorporated areas on future government's fiscal policy will be a "staggering burden for the province".

In the 12 month period from Nov. 1, 1975 to October 31, 1976, the provincial Planning Committee approved major subdivisions in the non-incorporated areas, the minister noted. This represents 3,700 building lots, only 500 of which are connected to water systems. The remainder have private wells, only 1300 are on sewage systems and the rest have septic tanks.

"Because of the pattern or lack of it for residential development in the non-incorporated areas, provincial highways are rapidly turning into municipal streets. These, in turn, mean increasing numbers of speed limits and accesses to provincial highways. Thus highway safety is prejudiced and the probability of highway accidents increased," he said.

Furthermore as residential development continues in a fragmented pattern, some existing provincial highways are not able to serve their original purposes and costly by-passes will be required around settlement areas.

There will be increasing requirements for better police protection, fire protection, water and sewer services, garbage disposal, recreation and community services, as well as an increase in school transportation costs or demands for new school construction, said Mr. Smith.

Recognizing this situation, the Task Force headed by Mr. Allen reviewed options available for planning and development. All of its 36 recommendations are related to two fundamental objectives as a means of resolving the problems involved in planning and developing community services within the non-incorporated areas.

First, to provide a governing mechanism to allow for public input and acceptance of some measure of financial responsibility for the development, community services, and establish administrative structures that provide the maximum coordination and cooperation between existing municipalities and the unincorporated areas in matters relating to community and land planning use," noted Mr. Smith.

NEW SHUFFLEBOARD CHAMPIONS

The annual Shuffleboard Tournament since the club was formed at Bathurst Curling Club was held November 22. Twelve teams competed for the Club's Trophy and was won from last spring's champs, Jim Donohue and Fernand Roche by Sid Miller (left), and Allen Doucet.

N.B. Unemployment Levels "Intolerable"

The New Brunswick Federation of Labour has sharply criticized the government of New Brunswick for what it termed "intolerable" unemployment levels and called for immediate adoption of a full employment program to create jobs and effectively reduce unemployment.

Devoting the major part of its annual legislative submission to the New Brunswick unemployment situation, the 45,000 member NBFL attacked Premier Richard Hatfield and his cabinet for failing to effectively tackle the jobless problem claiming goverinment "... has yet to reveal a comprehensive program for combatting unemployment but instead has seemingly resigned itself to the acceptance of permanent high unemployment."

Arguing that viable job opportunities could be created and unemployment effectively reduced through the pursual of full employment policies, Federation President Paul LePage proposed a detailed 5-point full employment program involving:

-establishment of economic target objectives,

-development of an adequate transportation system,

-active industrial development,

-effective resource development policies,

-stimulation of economic conditions.

The lengthy federation brief described 1976 jobless figures as "the worst in over a decade."

For the period January-October '76, it noted, average monthly unemployment levels were 29,200 or 11.2 per cent in actual terms compared to 7.8 per cent for the full year 1974 and 9.9 per cent in 1975. This, said the NBFL, represented percentage changes in unemployment of 31.6 per cent and 18.2 per cent from 1974 to 1975 and 1975 to 1976 respectively.

The NBFL suggested unemployment would be considerably worse were the provincial job participation rate not so "unusually low". It calculated that total unemployment in 1975 would have reached 49,000 or 19.8 per cent - twice the publicized rate, had the provincial participation rate been equivalent to the Canadian average.

With the New Brunswick job vacancy rate being among the lowest in Canada - six available jobs for every 1,000 existing positions, employment opportunities are almost nil and as a result "... many workers have withdrawn from the labour force and, consequently, ...are not counted in unemployment statistics," stated the federation.

The provincial labour body termed the social and economic costs of high unemployment "horrendous". It estimated provincial social costs to be in excess of $140 million annually and growing, with lost production costing an additional $264 million per year.

Government anti-inflation polices, noted the federation submission, have served to aggravate unemployment. As predicted, the introduction of wage and price controls and irresponsible budget restraints have proven counter-productive and done nothing to solve the unemployment situation, stated the brief.

Declining business investment, future weakening of consumer spending, and needless layoffs, involving public employees were being fostered by the government anti-inflation program and would be reflected in lower production and higher unemployment, continued the brief.

It claimed government was misleading the public as to the true meaning of government restraint measures. Higher unemployment insurance and welfare costs were inevitable, as was a reduction in the level of public services because of the deliberate manufacturing of unemployment at a time of high joblessness maintained the Federation.

"To deny men, women and youth employment at a time living costs are escalating and government support measures for the unemployed are becoming more restrictive is inexcusable," declared Mr. LePage in putting forward the federation program for full employment.

"First and foremost government must move to stimulate the economy," he said. "In terms of both consumer demand and investment outlook, appropriate measures to spur greater economic activity must be forthcoming including:

-elimination of wage and price controls;

-major housing initiatives;

-fair and responsible budget restraint;

-steps to improve consumer spending through an immediate increase in the minimum wage and social assistance benefits, and introduction of senior citizens financial supplements.

To further generate employment opportunities the NBFL emphasized the need for more efficient use of the Province's natural resources, especially increased local processing. "New Brunswick being a major exporter, government must act to ensure that all value-added benefits to be derived from our primary products, particularly non-renewable natural resource products, fall to New Brunswickers and not to our trading partners," pointed out the labour submission.

It cited the mining industry and zinc production as an example of the "existing sufficient resource development policies provincially."

Statistics showing mining income taxes and royalties totalled only $2.8 million for the years 1971-1975 or, 33 per cent of production valued at $800 million offered indisputable proof New Brunswick is a tax haven for the mining industry, claimed the Federation.

In terms of resource sector jobs, the federation brief was critical of the fact New Brunswick produced and exported raw to be processed elsewhere over 200,000 tons of zinc in 1975. This production, it noted, was sufficient for two standard sized zinc reduction plants operating at full capacity, each of which would employ 200 people directly and another 500 indirectly.

The federations expressed support for government involvement in industrial development and financial aid to private industry as another means of effectively counteracting rising unemployment in the province.

To be successful, the NBFL recommended provincial industrial development efforts involve promotion of supporting industries through investment in those areas where the province has proven expertise or natural advantages. "New or existing industries related to our various natural resources warrant maximum emphasis by government, including both secondary manufacturing and service industry employment," stated the federation.

In addition, the federation called for:

-government equity positions in all financially assisted firms in proportion to the amount of

Settlement of properties under the General Development Agreement worthwhile.

Viewing proper transportation as "essential to the encouragement of provincial economic expansion and job creation" the federation brief urged the government of New Brunswick to take more forceful action to oppose adoption of "user-pay" transportation policies federally.

"Transportation ... must be based on the principal of service before profit. In particular the provision of adequate freight and passenger services at equitable cost must be stressed irresponsible abandonment rail-line and passenger service

Farm Income Forecast Highest In History

The value of farm cash receipts in New Brunswick for 1976 is expected to reach between $110 and $111 million, the highest dollar value ever recorded from provincial farming operations, Agriculture Minister Malcolm MacLeod said last week.

Mr. MacLeod told the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Federation of Agriculture that the level of generating these receipts or net farm income will be between $41 and $42 million, the third highest dollar value ever realized for net farm income in the province.

"One other thing must be considered before we can draw a final conclusion on how 1976 ranks with other years is the effect of inflation of those 1976 dollars. When we adjust all net farm income figures for the last five years, small net farm income is more like $38 - $39 million. This still ranks high, third only to 1973 and 1974, which were exceptionally good years," said the minister.

Although the figures are encouraging, the minister said they do not hide the fact that some sectors of the industry such as beef and hogs, are having problems. And he warned that the potato industry should be cautious in counting too heavily on a continuation of the European drought and other conditions that have kept potato prices fairly buoyant to date.

Mr. MacLeod said it was encouraging, however, to see an increase in the returns to fruit and vegetable growers, signs of growth in the dairy industry, and poultry and eggs holding their own. He noted that in the first nine months of the year the income from the sale of dairy products increased by $6.3 million over the same period last year.

The minister went on to say the department faces the difficult problem of reacting to all the problems faced by farmers while introducing new programs and policies to help farmers retain or improve their position of relative comparative advantage over farmers in other areas.

"The department cannot solve all the problems. It requires a co-operative effort and our most successful programs and policies have been developed by working closely with well organized responsible commodity groups," he noted.

Mr. MacLeod said the fruit and dairy sectors were good examples of what can be achieved through co-operation between the department and commodity organizations.

However, he expressed concern about the potato industry because producers have not developed an organization that permits the type of development enjoyed by the fruit and dairy sectors.

"Why," he asked, "are New Brunswick potatoes consistently returning 25 per cent less on the Montreal market than potatoes supplied by our principal competitor?"

"Why are sales of table potatoes in the Montreal market being reduced at a rate of five per cent per year?"

"What is the future of an industry that fails to respond to this type of problem by establishing a strong, adequately financed organization to work with the department toward solutions that will assure its survival and future development."

"There are opportunities for the industry if it will get itself into a position to respond and to provide dynamic leadership," he said.

Mrs. Leslie Barr (Jeanie) arrived last Wednesday from Bahrain in the Middle-East to spend the Yuletide season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Drysdale and other members of the family. While Mrs. Barr is in Canada, Mr. Barr is in New Zealand visiting over Christmas with his father and other relatives.

Miss Miki O'Kane RN, Halifax, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. John O'Kane, North Tetagouche, and other relatives including her sister, Mrs. Fernand Hache, Mr. Hache, and family in Bathurst.

Mr. Joe Deng and his bride, Mrs. Ivy Deng have returned to their home in Bathurst after spending five days in Edmonton, Alta., visiting his mother and other relatives. They also spent a few days in Montreal before returning here.

Mrs. Eileen Hennessy has returned to Halifax after visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Gilles Olscamp, Mr. Olscamp and children Charles and Cindy at Carron Point Road.

Mrs. Carrie Malott who was visiting relatives in Moncton, has returned to Montreal after spending last week here as the guest of Miss Ruby Smith.

Mrs. A. A. Cumming, Moncton, is expected to arrive Sunday to spend several days with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Cumming and family.

Next Meeting Topic Metrics

The National Secretaries Association (International) Bathurst Chapter held its regular monthly meeting Dec. 1 at Nepisiguit High School at 8 p.m. President Marguerite Mallais presided the well attended meeting.

Minutes and reports from the various committees were read. The monthly news bulletin, prepared by Phyllis Stothart was distributed to all members.

Miss Linda Furlought, eastern representatives, Chapter Formation of Canada Divison, Fredericton, was forwarded a gift in recognition of the obtainment of her Certified Professional Secretary designation.

Study books were ordered for members interested in CPS courses. It is the intention of the chapter to obtain reference books for use with these courses.

Mr. A. Heckel was contacted and agreed to speak at the Jan. 5, 1977 meeting which will concern the metric system.

Copies of news letters, questionnaires, etc., were forwarded to interested secretaries to infogm them of the activities of the Bathurst Chapter, with the aim of having more secretaries join the association.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served.

ENROLLMENT CEREMONIES HELD

Nine Tweenies were enrolled in the 1st South Bathurst Brownie Pack during ceremonies held in the basement of St. Theresa Church Dec. 3. Ceremonies were conducted by Brown Owl Jeannine White. Holding their certificates which indicate they now are official Brownie members, left to right, are: Angela Stack, Carolyn Lecouter, Loretta Cotton, Natalie Branch, Donna Simmonuch, Elvira Aube, Monique Goyette, Nancy Branch and Stacy Breckenridge. A program of action songs and skits was presented by the girls after which lunch was served. Many parents were present as were the other pack leaders, Tawny Owl Shirley DeGrechie and Snowy Owl Celia Glendenning. Small cakes for the lunch were made by the mothers of the new Brownies.

Many Remembered Through IODE Services Projects

The success of the annual Christmas sale was of great interest to members of Nicholas Denys Chapter I.O.D.E. at the Dec. 7 meeting held at the home of Mrs. I. Tower.

Reports of this annual project were heard from the November committee and Mrs. F. Elliott, in charge of knitting.

Appreciation was expressed for the interest of the public, and to the manager and staff of Loumsbury's Motor Division, Bathurst Shopping Mall and the K-mart Mall.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with the regent, Mrs. G. P. Milton, presiding. The minutes of the November meeting and Provincial Echoes were read by the secretary, Miss E. V. Ellis. Treasurer, Mrs. H. E. Peterson gave her monthly report.

Both recent projects, the sale of tickets on the ceramic Christmas tree and annual sale were very successful projects, the conveners reported. Winner of the tree, drawn by Nancy Tower, was Mrs. Robert Carroll, 1815 Brideau Ave.

The December committee, assisted by the regent and several other members, provided lunch to the Canadian Council of the Blind Bathurst Club for their annual Christmas party the evening of Dec. 6.

The standard bearer Mrs. Robert Sullivan reported the flags were present at the Remembrance Day service Nov. 11, also at the annual sale and monthly meeting.

In her report as educational secretary, Mrs. Donnitt Blair said the I.O.D.E. 1977 calibendars had been received and will be delivered to the adopted schools.

Magazine convener Mrs. B. Branch reported packet novels and magazines had been taken to Chaleur General Hospital and the Payne Nursing Home. Christmas treats will be taken to local nursing home patients and others.

An article on "Learning Disability" was read by Mrs. Fred Comeau, and the Crown and Canada report was given by Mrs. Sullivan.

A nominating committee for 1977 was appointed. Those accepting the nominations were Mrs. Douglas Johnson, Mrs. R. Sullivan and Mrs. Joan Stairs.

Through "services", a box of caps and tops is to be forwarded to Saint John to support the Junior Chapters' project, "Lesotho."

The mystery box donated by Mrs. R. Sullivan was then donated towards the Christmas treats.

The committee for January includes Mrs. C.C.L. Gammon, Mrs. David Brown and Mrs. Joan Stairs.

The meeting closed with prayer for Queen and Country after which lunch was served by the appointed hostesses.

Maple Leaf Club Report

There were ten tables in play at the December 7 weekly card party of the Maple Leaf Club of the Denis S. Fournier complex for senior citizens, reports the president, Linda Cripps.

The first prize for the ladies was won by Mrs. Louise Best while the men's prize went to William Cochrane.

Members were very enthused about the donation of two extra tables and eight chairs for their recreation room from the Bathurst Richelieu.

Regular weekly card games will continue on Thursday, Jan. 6, after the holiday recess, following the Dec. 16 party.

The evening ended with the serving of lunch which was in the charge of Mrs. Dorina Cormier and Mrs. Alfred Campbell.

MR. AND MRS. AMOS DOUCETTE

Former Bathurst Residents Observe 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Doucette, natives of Bathurst, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Nov. 16 at Plaster Rock where they have resided most of their married life.

Amos Doucette, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Doucette, and Priscilla Melanson, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Melanson, were united in marriage at Sacred Heart Cathedral on Nov. 14, 1916. The late Msgr. John Whelen officiated.

Their attendants were the bride's brother, the late Bennie Melanson, and the groom's sister Nellie Doucette, the late Mrs. J. A. Kennah.

The anniversary occasion was marked with an "open house" function during which many friends, neighbors and relatives called to extend best wishes and congratulations and present numerous gifts including a substantial sum of money.

Mr. and Mrs. Doucette also received numerous congratulatory messages such as a telegram from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, Prime Minister P. E. Trudeau and Premier Richard Hatfield.

Among officials and dignitaries calling to pay their personal respects were N. B. Opposition Leader Robert Higgisn, and Rev. Louis Pearson, I.V.D., of and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kenny. Mrs. James Kenny (Frances) Roger Pelky; the parish priest, Rev. Leo Gregoire, I.V.D.; Rev. Louis Pearson, i.v.d., of New Denmark, the local Anglican minister, Rev. Garth Maxwell; and the Mayor of Plaster Rock, all adding up to a day of cheer, happiness and wonderful re-union for the honored couple to remember.

Present as well were eight of their children. They have five sons and four daughters. The daughters are: Mrs. Dorothy Senechal, Estcourt, Que., Mrs. Pat Foster, Skowhegan, Maine; Mrs. Marion Goodine, Moncton; and Mrs. Freda Greer, Plaster Rock. Their sons are: Gordon of Ottawa, Andrew of Bathurst, the only one of the children unable to be present, and Hubert, Robert and Francis of Plaster Rock. There are 38 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren. A son, Eloi, was killed in action in Italy during the Second World War.

RECEPTION

To receive their guests, Mrs. Doucette was wearing a floor-length gown of floral design and a corsage of yellow 'mums.

Lunches were served continuously throughout the afternoon and evening by the family, and included a two-tier anniversary cake appropriately decorated in the anniversary theme and flanked by tall tapers and vases containing roses.

Mr. Doucette was employed throughout his years at Plaster Rock with Fraser Lumber Company, until his retirement. In his younger years, he had worked as a shingle sawer for The Bathurst Company, now Consolidated Bathurst Ltd.

Those present for the celebrations from Bathurst included two brothers of Mrs. Doucette, Arthur Melanson, and Louis Melanson and wife Odille, and Mr. and rs. Byron Kenny. Others who attended came from Arrostook, Woodstock and Chandler, Que.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Doucette have many relatives residing in the Bathurst area. They include his sisters, Mrs. Joe Watson (Evelyn) and Mrs. Napoleon Hache (Cecile).

Mrs. Doucette's immediate family, besides those already mentioned, are three sisters, Mrs. Leona Roy, Mrs. Carmie Mullan and Mrs. Melvina Doucet, all of Bathurst, and a brother, Thomas Melanson of Quebec City. Another sister, Mrs. James Kenny (Francis) died several months ago.

CWL Groups Hear National Officer

The December meeting of Holy Rosary Council Catholic Women's League was a very special one. Six members of Holy Family Council, and Mrs. Frank Hay, the national secretary-treasurer of the CWL were special guests.

Members and guests attended a mass held at 7:30 p.m., after which the meeting opened with the league prayer, and a reading by the church life convener, Anne Legere, on the theme of "patience".

Rev. J. W. Roche, council director, expanded on the theme of "patience", quoting from St. Theresa, that "it's not how you do great things, but how great you do little things."

General business followed with the minutes, treasurer's report and convenors' reports. Mrs. Carmel Furlong was appointed community life convener.

A letter from the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded Bathurst Branch requested assistance to meet expenses for the year. It was agreed that the council send $100 to the association.

Mrs. Natalie DeGrace, council president, asked all members and guests present to introduce themselves to the meeting in order that members of both councils would know each other.

Mrs. Joyce Thibodeau introduced Mrs. Hay to the gathering. The national officer's topic concerned Mary, the Mother of God, and the importance of Mary and the Rosary in today's society.

Following is an outline of the guest speaker's talk.

"Since the early 40's there have been so many changes in social behavior, in manners of expression and in communications, that certain practices of piety or prayer no longer seem suitable because they are linked with the past.

Many are seeking new ways of expressing devotion to God and to Mary. For some people the changes have caused great confusion. But if you trust in God and reflect on these changes, you will see that they are meant to play their part, in the development of piety in general and also the development of devotion to the Blessed Virgin.

"Any development of Christian Worship is necessarily followed by a lasting increase of veneration for the Mother of the Lord." In the Virgin Mary everything is relative to Christ and dependent upon him. Christian piety has never failed to highlight this essential relationship of the Virgin to the Divine Saviour.

"Some unfortunate articles were written and published in the Catholic Press, following Vatican II which misrepresented the Church's teaching and tended to downgrade the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Rosary were sort of relegated to a back room.

"The picture of the Blessed Virgin as it was presented in a certain type of devotional literature could not be easily reconciled with today's style, especially with the way we live today. But if you study Mary of Nazareth, you will see that she is a woman for today. She was not timid or submissive. She was a woman who spoke out for justice. A woman whose piety was not repellent to others.

"Mary has always been proposed by the Church as an example to be imitated (not in the type of life she led) but rather as an example of the way - in her own particular life - she fully and responsibly accepted the will of God. She acted with charity and with a spirit of service. She was the first and the most perfect of Christ's disciples - a disciple who worked for the justice which sets free the oppressed. And above all, the disciple who is the active witness of that love which builds up Christ in peoples' hearts.

THE ROSARY

"When we speak of devotion to the Mother of the Lord we naturally think of the Rosary. The Rosary is a most effective way of promoting Christian life and apostolic commitment.

"Today it is recognized as a general need of Christian piety, that every form of worship should have a biblical imprint. The Rosary has been called "the compendium of the entire Gospel". It is a prayer of both praise and petition.

"From the studies and research made into uncovering the original inspiration and driving

TURKEY ENCORE

Leftover meat from the roast turkey can be skillfully incorporated into a variety of appetizing and exciting dishes for "encore" meals. Choose from soups, salads, casseroles, sandwiches or croquettes. Here's two ideas to try:

TURKEY ASPIC

INGREDIENTS:
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin;
½ cup water;
3½ cups turkey stock or bouillon;
1½ teaspoons salt;
⅛ teaspoon pepper;
12 thin julienne strips turkey breast meat;
5 stuffed olives, sliced;
4 cups chopped cooked turkey;
½ cup chopped green onion;
¼ cup chopped celery;
¼ cup chopped olives.

METHOD: Soak gelatin in ½ cup water. Dissolve over boiling water and combine with stock. Add salt and pepper. Chill until it just begins to thicken. Pour ½ cup jelly into 6 cup mold and swirl mold until jelly coats sides and bottom. Chill until firm.

Press strips of turkey and sliced olives in jelly and decorate mold. Chill until firm. Fold chopped turkey, onion, celery and chopped olives into remaining jelly. Pour into mold and chill until set (about 3 hours). Unmold on lettuce and if desired garnish with tomato wedges and hard cooked eggs. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

TURKEY VEGETABLE SOUP

1 turkey carcass (from 20 - 24 pound turkey);
9 cups water;
1 - 19 ounce can of tomatoes;
1 cup sliced celery;
1 cup chopped onion;
1½ tablespoons salt;
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning;
¼ teaspoon pepper;
½ cup uncooked rice or noodles;
1 - 12 ounce package frozen mixed vegetables.

METHOD: Break turkey carcass into pieces and place in large kettle. Add remaining ingredients except rice or noodles and frozen vegetables. Cover and bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 1½ hours. Separate meat from bones.

Return meat to soup with rice or noodles and mixed vegetables. Cover and continue to simmer until rice or noodles are tender (about 20 minutes). Makes 10 cups.

Duplicate Bridge Results

Lauretta Wedge and Ray Pourier were top scorers in the December 6 Bathurst Duplicate Bridge session.

In runner-up position were Kay Dube and Edgar Hachey. Tied for third and fourth spot were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Chiasson and Mrs. Douglas Shirley and Mrs. Helen Ferguson. Geraldine Theriault, and Mrs. Ivan Stairs and Mrs. Marje McBride scored in the above average bracket.

Congratulations are in order for Ray Pourier who has become an advanced Senior Master having attained 200 master points, including red and gold.

SAVE ENERGY

Toast in your toaster – Not in the Oven. The oven is wasteful for such a minor task. When boiling water for one cup of tea or coffee, don't fill the kettle and boil more than you need.

force behind the Rosary, the Gospel inspiration has appeared more clearly. The gradual unfolding of the Mysteries reflects the very way in which the Word of God brought about the Redemption. It's most characteristic element, the litany-like succession of Hail Mary's, becomes in itself an unceasing praise of Christ. But it must not become mechanical and repetitious. It must have the element of comtemplation. The quick rhythm and the lingering pace helps the individual to meditate and recall the mysteries. The Rosary draws it's motivating force from the liturgy and leads naturally back to it. It does not, however, become part of the liturgy. In other words, the Rosary is a beautiful preparation for the Eucharistic Celebration but it is not part of the Eucharistic Celebration.

The Rosary consists of various elements:

1) The recitation of the Lord's Prayer - which should be grave and suppliant.

2) The uninspid succession of Hail Marys, should be an expression full of praise.

3) The meditation on the Mysteries should be contemplative.

4) The "Glory Be To The Father" - full of adoration.

"No talk to CWL groups on the subject of Mary would be complete without some mention of Mary under the title of "Our Lady of Good Counsel". At the 3rd Annual convention of the CWL which was held in Halifax in 1952 - Our Lady of Good Counsel was chosen as our patroness, by the adoption of a Resolution.

"Pope Leo XIII was devoted to Our Mother of Good Counsel and kept a copy of her picture always near him.

"Pope John XXIII made a special pilgrimage to Genazzano to seek assistance of Our Lady of Good Counsel in making the final decisions to call the Second Vatican Council.

"In the final days of the Council, Pope Paul hailed Mary under a new title "Mother of the Church".

"As a conclusion, although it has no bearing on the subject I would like to tell you a fact that highlights today's world.

The Our Father has 56 words.

The 10 Commandments 297 words.

But a government order setting the price of cabbage has 26,911 words."

Mrs. Hay was thanked by Mrs. Thibodeau for a most interesting and important talk which was appreciated by the members.

The meeting closed with a prayer and a special Christmas lunch was served by the ladies on the lunch committee.

UNICEF Card Sales Reported As Favorable

President Nancy Hanscom chaired the Nov. 24 meeting of Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held at her residence. Present were 13 members and one guest.

Sandra Mercer, service chairman, distributed UNICEF cards to each member to sell. It was noted sales of cards to date, had been favorable.

Membership chairman, Madeline Sirois, stated a pledge ritual would be held Nov. 5 for new pledges, at the Officers' Mess on Murray Avenue.

For ways and means, chairman Mary Davies gave each member a list of names to contact along with season tickets to Theatre New Brunswick for the 1977 season. Chi Chapter will be hosting the first play of the year, "Dollar Women" on Feb. 3.

Flyers for the forthcoming conventions Salmon and Saint John were distributed.

Social chairman Elaine Powers presented a "going away" gift, a beautiful ceramic vase designed by Mrs. Lorne Whalen, to Morgan Atkinson who will be leaving to reside in Ontario in the near future.

The cultural program for the evening was given by Nancy Hanscom, her topic being "Interior designing."

Mrs. Hanscom showed various slides on furniture grouping, and on how to establish a good axis in a room.

The speaker also explained the proper procedure for picture hanging and indicated that different types of furniture could be mixed when one is decorating a specific room, providing one remains within the same era.

Mrs. Hanscom explained the different types of fabric which may be used with certain furniture groupings, and the proper accessories to choose in order to achieve good blending. She said a good interior designer never decorates a home to suit her own personality. The client's personality should be in view at all times.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Hanscom and Rose Mary McGrath.

Twelve Rules For Raising Children

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Will you please reprint your 12 Rules For Raising Children? I was in high school when I read it the first time. Now, ten years later, I have three youngsters and will appreciate it even more. Thank you. – Warren, Ohio.

DEAR OHIO: With pleasure. Here it is:

12 RULES FOR RAISING CHILDREN

1) Remember that a child is a gift from God, the richest of all blessings. Do not attempt to mold him in your image, or that of your father, your brother, or your neighbor. Each child should be permitted to be himself.

2) Don't crush a child's spirit when he fails. And never compare him with others who have outshone him.

3) Remember that anger and hostility are natural emotions. Help your child to find socially acceptable outlets for these normal feelings or they may be turned inward and erupt in the form of physical or mental illness.

4) Discipline your child with firmness and reason. Don't let YOUR anger throw you out of balance. If he knows you are fair you will not lose his respect or his love. And make sure the punishment fits the crime. Even the youngest child has a keen sense of justice.

5) Present a unified front. Never pit you with your youngster against your mate. This can create in your child (as well as in yourself) emotional conflicts. It also produces destructive feelings of guilt, confusion and insecurity.

6) Do not hand your child everything his little heart desires. Permit him to know the thrill of earning and the joy of deserving. Grant him the greatest of all satisfactions – the pleasure that comes with personal achievement.

7) Do not set yourself up as a model of perfection. This is a difficult role to play 24 hours a day. You will find it easier to communicate with your child if you let him know that Mom and Dad can make mistakes, too.

8) Don't make threats in anger when you are upset – or impossible promises when you are in a generous mood. Threaten or promise only that which you can live up to. To a child a parent's word means everything. The child who has lost faith in his parents has difficulty believing in anything.

9) Do not smother your child with superficial manifestations of "love." The purest and healthiest love expresses itself in day-in, day-out training which begets self-confidence and independence.

10) Teach your child there is dignity in hard work, whether it is performed with calloused hands that dig ditches or skilled fingers that manipulate surgical instruments. Let him know a useful life is a blessed one and a life of ease and pleasure-seeking is empty and meaningless.

11) Do not try to protect your child against every small blow and disappointment. Adversity strengthens character and makes us compassionate. Trouble is the great equalizer. Let him learn it.

12) Teach your child to love God and to love his fellow man. Don't SEND your child to a place of worship – TAKE him there. Children learn from example. Telling him something is not teaching him. If you give your child a deep and abiding faith in God it can be his strength and his light when all else fails.

Book Explores Fate Of Romanov Family

By ROBERT STONE

Another book on the fate of Nicholas, Alexandra and their five children?

Exactly, and according to the dust jacket of The File On The Tsar by Anthony Summers and Tom Mangold (Clarke, Irwin and Co. Ltd.; 401 pages; $15.95) what we're supposed to find within its covers is "dramatic new evidence" on the fate of the tsars.

On July 18, 1918, it was announced that the Tsar was executed in Ekaterinburg with the approval of the Central Committee in Moscow chaired by Lenin.

Contrary to an Izvestia article on July 19, 1918, that "the wife and son of Nicholas Romanov were sent to a safe place," an investigation that began after the capture of Ekaterinburg by White forces six days later suggested a mass execution in the cellar of the Ipatiev house.

This theory is widely accepted version of events. The Reds continued it in 1920. No Romanov bodies were ever found.

It is the massacre versions that the authors set out to question.

Both Reds and Whites seem to have clouded the family's fate deliberately - the Reds because of world opinion, the Whites as essential truth because Admiral Kolchak was courting socialist support. The Romanovs alive would have been an embarrassment.

A CLOSED MIND

Captain Malinovsky's and Judge Sergeyev's conclusions were suppressed, and they were relieved in the investigation by Sokolov, upon whose dossier most of the "new material" in this book is based.

It seems that Sokolov approached the investigation with his mind made up in advance.

But in addition to Sokolov's dossier, the authors had access to the file of Miroljubov, who was a professor of criminology, public prosecutor at Kazan during Sokolov's inquiry and therefore Sokolov's immediate superior. The two files tend to confirm each other.

The authors have summarized all the other hypotheses as well, however, including that of the Reds - in such a way that it is not always easy to tell the "new" from the "old" evidence unless they are identified specifically.

And since all the on-the-spot-investigators are long since dead, they are in no position to defend themselves from the authors' criticism.

A KING'S ADVICE

Nor can King George V, who comes in for a royal roasting in a chapter headed King George Shams The Deer.

This chapter, not without interest, fails to address itself even remotely to solving the disappearance of the ex-Imperial family.

It was King George's advice based on an acute appreciation of British public opinion at the time, that opposed providing asylum for the Romanovs in Britain and that led to the British Government to withdraw an earlier invitation.

The authors label this together with the silencing of the British Ambassador to the Kerensky Government, a "shoddy affair," but another judgment comes to mind.

were well aware of prevailing anti-Tsarist public opinion among a war-weary people, and the imminence of the last great German offensive which was about to break somewhere on the Western Front.

The authors' statement that "there is no obvious explanation of the King's behavior" (page 253) seems blind to the political and military realities of the time.

The French Army was incapable of a sustained offensive, riddled with Red sympathizers, and scarcely able to maintain a staunch defence. France offered no haven for the Tsar either, and would have been offended by a British haven.

NO OPEN FILE

After the frustrating leads to nowhere - including 41 pages devoted to the story of and a useless interview with an aged Anna Anderson (Anastasia) - the authors confess frankly on page 354:

"If the remaining facts ever do emerge, they may reveal something less melodramatic than the death in the cellar, and less exotic than survival.

"Until then, the truth about the Romanovs remains a casualty of History. And the file on the Tsar stays open."

The File On The Tsar has a useful bibliography, and is competantly indexed. It is probably as definitive a work on the Romanovs' end as one could wish, but the quantity of "dramatic new evidence" seems slight for so much puffery.

In style the book seems to be caught between to media, TV and literature - the outgrowth of research carried out by the authors when working on a British Broadcasting Corp. documentary in 1971.

It claims to be a product of four years' inquiry using "modern investigative techniques" that "trend on the borderline between dusty history and live journalism."

When in doubt, the authors come down on the side of live journalism.

Attend "Playmate" Session In Capital

Area residents might have gotten the wrong impression recently if they saw the "welcome playmates" banner erected at a Fredericton hotel.

Actually, about 220 participants who work with some 23,000 children in the Atlantic region were attending a Recreation New Brunswick (RNB) conference and workshop.

Sponsored by RNB with assistance from the N.B. Department of Youth, Recreation, and Cultural Resources, the conference was a unique opportunity for recreational and sports-orientated community workers, educators, rehabilitators and other interested individuals from the Maritime to explore and recognize the need in the area of play and basic human rights in the community.

The conference was influenced by a United nations declaration on the Rights of a Child which says that "the child shall have full opportunity for play and recreation society and the public authorities shall endeavour to promote the enjoyment of the right", the conference on play was used by RNB as a tool to explore this 'basic human right' priority.

the Canadian coastal trade to Canadian shipping speeded up," declared the NBFL.

Finally, the federation urged government to establish specific goals and targets for reducing unemployment. This, it claimed, would indicate both the direction for future development and the degree to which objectives are being met.

"As it stands now more and more financial assistance is being allocated toward economic development with no way of knowing whether jobs are being created for sufficient numbers and in the required economic sectors or, if changes in policy are warranted," contended the federation.

There are countless numbers of people in this big wide world who would rather brag about them embarrass opportunities.

HON. JOHN DIEFENBAKER RECALLS HIS FIRST CHRISTMAS

The Right Honorable John Diefenbaker receives a mounted replica of a portion of the press plate used in printing his article "My First Prairie Christmas" which appears in the December Canadian Reader's Digest. Making the presentation to Mr. Diefenbaker in Ottawa are roving editor Robert Collins (left) and Digest editor Charles Magill. In the Digest article Mr. Diefenbaker describes how his first Christmas on the prairies in 1903 reaffirmed the values he was learning day by day: the warmth of family, the loyalty of friends, the special kind of goodwill that reaches out to those less fortunate.

CRIC Concerned About Cutbacks

The Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission is concerned about proposed changes in service currently provided by Canadian National Railways in the Bathurst area, and has registered this concern with the General manager of CN operations in the Atlantic Region.

In a letter to W. R. Mitchell of Moncton, the commission expressed "alarm at the prospect of further deterioration of the transportation and communications services" in northeastern New Brunswick.

"The directors of our commission, being members of the business community and elected representatives from six area municipalities including the City of Bathurst, respectfully request that you either confirm or deny those reports and provide some insight into the plans of the Canadian National Railways for improving services to the Bathurst area", the letter stated.

The commission was referring to reports that CN would be terminating the Scotian run, leaving only one train daily from Halifax to Montreal, and transferring the carload centre from Bathurst to Campbellton. It has also been reported that all sleeping coaches will be removed from the Halifax-Montreal run and that express service may be eliminated.

Copies of the letter were forwarded to Gloucester MP Herb Breau as well as to mayors of the communities within the region covered by the commission.

Gov't Looking For Successor

Commerce and Development Minister Lawrence Garvie said last week immediate efforts are underway to reactivate production at the Cirtex Knitting Mill in Caraquet.

The minister indicated that, should current negotiations with a potential Canadian successor to the Japanese interests controlling the firm prove successful, the transition of ownership could possibly take place without interruption in production.

The facility, constructed in 1973 to manufacture knitted fabric for the Canadian market, employed approximately 100 persons at the time the closure announcement was made.

The minister indicated that among the factors contributing to the closure were the weakness of the textile market, continuing difficulties after more than a year of shutdown because of labor troubles, and the reluctance of the Japanese investors to continue with the project.

"We met with them on numerous occasions", said Mr. Garvie. "At first the attempt was to keep the principals in position, and discussion took place along those lines."

"Finally, the company indicated that its position was firm, that they were going to withdraw", he continued. "Then we entered disucssions to prolong their involvement and it worked out to a period of time, perhaps a month from now."

Simultaneous with the talks with current principals was the attempt to identify prospective successors. Discussions have been proceeding with a prospective Canadian successor, Mr. Garvie said, and the firm has been asked to submit a proposal, including working capital, market feasibility, financial backing, projection of work force, and both short and long term operating plans.

"It will take weeks for them to get it all together", the minister said. "If it meets our criteria, it is possible that we will have a successor already identified. It is also possible that they will be able to continue the facility to very close to the time the present principals abandon it."

Most of the useful gadgets in the world have been invented by people who didn't expect to receive credit for them.

The Canadian Council on Children and Youth, a national voluntary organization which provides a forum for discussion and the presentation of ideas and concerns relating to the well-being of Canada's children authorized a National Task Force on Children's Play.

Established as part of the major study to initiate projects and actions within the area of children's play, the task force met in Fredericton. RNB held their workshop on the subject of play to continue the atmosphere of the task force.

Problem areas in the community were raised with regards to children's play, which also applies for the adult state as well. Community developers are not legally required to set living space aside for recreational use. In play programming, RNB is concerned with the quality of children's programming, maintaining that it is not good enough for parents to send their child to a play program, that "children have a right to a stimulating environment."

At the final plenary meeting one delegate expressed concern with the quality of life for children in New Brunswick. Concerned with the implementation of a public kindergarten program here, the delegate said "inequality of life for five year olds in N.B. as compared with other provinces" with similar programs is different.

The two day session offered workshops on many topic ranging from 'the therapeutic value of play and the role of the teacher in helping children cope" to "running on early childhood program on a shoestring budget."

A June, 1976 report on the National Park Task Force on Children's Play says that the Canadian economy is experiencing a time of inconsistent growth and development. "In our obsession to improve the material standards of living, we often overlook the improvement of the standards of life." The paper adds that "We as Canadians cannot afford to put play, which is basic to human development on a low priority level."

The major goal of the national task force is to work toward the fulfillment of the children's right to play. The paper also says that the basic "right to play" is "being restricted by lack of interest, lack of opportunity and lack of resources. Legislation in the areas of human rights, housing and education, shows little, if any, recognition of the need for the child to play."

Mrs. Wendy Beardall, the director of volunteer services at the Dr. Everett Chalmers Hospital, a spokesman for the conference organizers, said the conference provided knowledgeable resource people giving front-line workers with children exposure to the needs of basic human rights. She said the right to play can be enhanced through educational, recreational, and theraputic programs as well as most other less specifically organized programs in society.

Attending the conference from Bathurst were Christina Tagliapetra, Play Leader and Jessica Ryan, R.N. Head Nurse in Pediatries Dept. of Chaleur General Hospital. Mrs. Ryan has recently been appointed to the National Task Force on Children's Play on Hospitals which will hold its first meeting in Halifax Mar. 25th, 1977.

Fire Levels Mobile Home

A mobile home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Omer Belanger of Shippegan was destroyed by fire Friday night in a blaze which broke out shortly before 8 p.m.

The fire was discovered in the bathroom, and quickly spread to engulf the entire building and its contents.

The Shippegan Fire Brigade, under the direction of Chief Randolph Mallet, fought the blaze for about an hour before bringing it under control. Temperatures at the time hovered at the minus 20 degrees Celsius mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Belanger and their two children escaped unharmed. It was not known if the home was insured.

Businessmen Urged To Fight Own Battle

The Bathurst Chamber of Commerce is upset over the proposed increase in taxes to businesses assessed by the owner, and has appealed to City Council to offer more incentive, to both businesses and residents, to remain within the city tax structure.

In a letter to City Council read at Monday's regular meeting, Chamber President John D. Hazen presented councillors with a "hypothetical summary based on figures and valuations submitted to my attention" in connection with the 1977 tax rate.

"We are uncertain if the proposed 36.5 per cent increase in taxes to businesses occupied by the owner will require approval of the Anti-Inflation Board" Mr. Hazen said, "but I can assure you the city businessmen is receiving little incentive to have his establishment in this locale through such a tax policy.

"We appreciate that the property taxation is a joint provincial-municipal undertaking, but fail to understand why no allowances are made for locked-in leases, Anti-Inflation Board guidelines re landlord and tenant, realty sale costs and falling real estate prices."

Councillor Douglas Williams wondered if Mr. Hazen had the authority to speak for the full chamber, and Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin pointed out the chamber president "appears to be following a path of direct confrontation with council."

Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie remarked that while the letter is against raising taxes and borrowing money and advocates better services, it offers no solutions.

Coun. Terry Lenihan, however, found the point of the letter to be a good one. "This is a crucial point with the business community, and Mr. Hazen is writing on behalf of these citizens. They are very worried about the upcoming assessment and we should do all we can to encourage a favorable change which will benefit these people. Even if we can't do anything about the increase, we can at least make our feelings known on the subject."

Coun. Joe MacNeil stated Mr. Hazen is concerned about the welfare of businessmen in the area, but pointed out the situation is not much different anywhere else in the province. He suggested that downtown merchants as well as those in the malls make contact with other businessmen in the province and make an effort to remedy the situation as the city is not in a position to take action.

Messrs. Boudreau, Merrithew and Duffy.

SCHOOL AGREEMENT SIGNED AT LONG LAST

...n agreement respecting the ...rchase and sale of city-owned ...d for a major addition to ...thurst High School was fi...ned December 15 by repre...tatives of the province, ...hool District 4 and the City of ...thurst.

Education Minister Gerald S. ...rrithew, who signed the 18-...ge document on behalf of the ...vince, described the agree...nt as "unique" in that it ...ovides accommodation for ...ond school and community ...ilities which neither the pro...ce nor the city could erect on ...own.

The agreement provides the ...vince with parkland to the ...r of the present school for ...e new addition as well as with ...e continued use of the city's ...reation Park for school ...yground space.

...n return, the province will incorporate into the new addition theatre facilities combining a greater seating capacity that would otherwise be provided as well as $40,000 towards the relocation of the existing ball diamond and running track.

The agreement, which came after well over a year of negotiations, calls for a theatre with a seating capacity for not less than 800 persons. This is more than double the normal seating capacity allowed. A gymnasium and other facilities will also be provided.

It was agreed both the theatre and Coronation Park would be used by the other party on a "continuing part-time basis" when they are not being used for the priority intended.

Others signing the document were Mayor John A. Duffy and City Clerk Bernard Arseneau on behalf of the city; School Board Chairman Basil Boudreau and Board Secretary Raymond Frenette on behalf of District 4.

Mayor Duffy said it was "a great day in the history of Bathurst although it was long coming".

"I am hopeful we do get on with the job," stated Mayor Duffy in reference to the construction of the addition itself.

Mr. Merrithew said the high school additions would be built as funds become available. He said all parties concerned considered the agreement a good one.

"I can state that our intention is to go to the Treasury Board with two projects for District 4. I have no idea if we can get two," the education minister told the educated and appreciated representatives from the city and school board as well as the presidents of the Home and School Associations who were present.

Mr. Merrithew said two projects were being submitted for every school district in the province.

He said the present and previous governments had been fortunate in that $200 million had been available for new school construction since 1967. He said $90 million, $95 million and $80 million had been spent in the past three years.

His comments came as Nova Scotia, where there has been no new schools built in the past two years, and the Newfoundland where only $20 million has been spent in each of the past two years.

City Supports Bid For Better Highway

A bid by three major resource industries in the Bathurst area for support in acquiring a new road between the city and No. 12 mineshe at Brunswick, Mines received unanimous approval from City Council Monday night.

Appearing on behalf of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. was Assistant Manager George Neumann, while Max Cater spoke for Consolidated Bathurst Ltd. There was no representative on hand from Brunswick Mills Ltd. although that operation has also been involved in efforts to have a new road constructed.

Mr. Neumann pointed out that the proposal had first surfaced in the fall of 1974 when the company had requested, from the provincial government, a direct route from the by-pass to the No. 12 mineshe and a spurline to Brunswick Mills. Such a route would have cut travelling distance by 18.5 miles per round trip and would be very beneficial to the 1500 persons now employed at the mine, a number which is expected to swell to 1800 by 1980.

In addition to saving time and money, a new road would eliminate the safety hazards now being experienced on the Big River Road, said Mr. Neumann. He also pointed out that a better highway would do away with spring load restrictions, making operations for Consolidated-Bathurst more economical.

He estimated the cost of a new road to be $3.5 million, while a half-way route bypassing the more populated section of the Mines Road and merging with the present one would cost $2.7 million. The cost of total ring sealing would be $220,000, he said.

The mines official stated the proposal had been turned down by the provincial government in January of 1975 because of lack of funds.

Asked whether or not his company was prepared to contribute to the cost of the highway, Mr. Neumann pointed out Brunswick is in the middle of a $60-million expansion program and will soon have a $20-million bond issue, "testifying to the company's faith in the future of the industry in the Bathurst area."

Speaking on behalf of Consolidated-Bathurst, Mr. Cater said a new highway would be good for industry as well as for the city.

"We can all benefit from such

City Residents To Pay More In Taxes

Although the tax rate for 1977 dropped to $1.01 per $100 valuation from $1.25, taxpayers in the City of Bathurst can expect higher tax bills according to figures released at the regular meeting of City Council Monday night.

A warrant of assessment in the amount of $2,338,915 was approved by city councillors, an increase of $407,433 over 1976.

Higher tax bills will result from an increase of 54 per cent in the tax base (assessment) to $231,868,720.

Adding the provincial tax rate of 75 cents, the total levy will be $1.26 compared to the 1976 total rate of $2 per $100 of property assessment.

The 1977 budget package totals $4,190,082, an increase of $870,082 over last year. The expenditures, excluding the debt service, has been kept within the guidelines established by the provincial government.

The population, according to the 1976 preliminary census count has decreased by 271 persons, and is established at 16,198. The Unconditional Grant Support calculation, as a result has been reduced by 3,678 and is established for 1977 at 52,838. The Unconditional Grant is therefore $1,705,337, an increase of $110,340 over 1976.

The largest increase in the budget occurs in the fiscal services due to a debenture issue in August, 1976 to repay the capital expenditures in the street paving, and storm sewer improvements. The provincial government has by Order-in-Council, allowed municipalities to exclude the portion of the debt charge in excess of the 15% per cent guidelines resulting from bond issues sold between January 1, 1976 and June 30, 1977.

There is no change in the level of service forecast for 1977 over last year. No increase in personnel is provided and no major improvement is budgeted, it was noted at last Monday night's meeting.

The water and sewage Utility budget totals $1,200,085, an increase of $170,485 or 15.6 per cent over 1976.

A redistribution of charges to reflect the actual cost of treating and distributing potable water, and the collection of sanitary sewers has resulted in a change in the ratio for water consumption and sewer user charges.

The largest increase in the general expenditures results in the city assuming the responsibility of maintaining and operating the sewer collector and lift stations recently completed. These expenditures have increased by approximately $100,000, mainly due to increased personnel and power costs to operate the lift stations.

As a result of these changes, the consumption and demand charges for water have been increased by 26 per cent and the sanitary sewer user charge has been decreased from 64 per cent to 47.5 per cent Jan. 1, 1976.

A comparative summary of the 1976 and 1977 budgets with the 1977 figures in brackets reveals the warrant of assessment at $1,881,482 ($2,338,915); provincial grant $1,513,994 ($1,705,337) for a total of $3,395,476 ($4,044,252).

Appeals For Leadership

Councillor Jean Paul Lavoie has called upon Mayor John A. Duffy to "provide some leadership" in getting the long-stagnant welcome sign committee off the ground and into action.

"The committee was formed 18 months ago, and has never met. I'll reconsider my decision to step down from the committee if you (Mayor Duffy) will put some leadership into it and call some meetings."

Mayor Duffy admitted he "just hadn't thought of it and had received no further word from the Rotary Club, who initiated the idea."

Coun. Joe MacNeil remarked that motels in the area should be willing to co-operate in the project, and that an effort should be made to have welcoming signs up by spring.

In other business, the city will forward a letter of thanks to the local branch of the Royal Canadian Legion for its community-mindedness in supplying free lighting year-round for the outdoor rink behind the Legion building on St. Peter Avenue.

Named to sit on the Planning Advisory Committee were Tom Jamieson, John MacKenzie and Coun. Jim MacLaggan (re-elected)

Non-union personnel were granted a six per cent wage increase for 1977 in accord with the Anti-Inflation Board guidelines.

SHETLAND PONY INSTEAD OF REINDEER

Arismond Chiasson, who was in charge of organizing a visit from Santa Claus is seen arriving with him on a Shetland pony-drawn sleigh at the St. Anne Recreation Centre Dec. 18. The skating rink was also officially opened the same day and Christmas treats were distributed by Santa to all neighbourhood youngsters. Organizers and residents of the area are grateful to all who made donations or helped to make the day a successful one.

"BLACK" DAY IN DECEMBER -- "SMOG" OVER CITY

Black, black smoke covered a section of the city Monday afternoon commanding the attention of many citizens. From a King Ave. viewpoint, it seemed as though a part of the city was on fire. Not so. Three pumpmachines of Consolidated-Bathurst were being started up and with the extra heavy load on the boilers, the excess fuel used to wash flues was transformed to and released as black smoke. This process is much the same as when an oil furnace in a home starts up and a black discharge is released until the furnace picks up its speed to generate heat. Once the starting operation was over and the boilers began functioning normally again, the dark fumes disappeared. Company officials and some citizens claim this is a common occurrence. To the Northern Light's knowledge, however, it has never been so apparent before.

ALLARDVILLE POSTMASTER HONORED ON RETIREMENT

Louis Dupuis (centre) who officially retired December 17 after 26 years as postmaster at Allardville, holds a framed certificate signed by Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau. The award is in recognition of many years of loyal and devoted service.

Also in the picture, left to right, are Marshal Cormier, postmaster at Bathurst, W. J. Morton, of Campbellton, district supervisor for Canada Post, who made the presentation; Mrs. Yvon Cormier, a part-time clerk at Allardville, and Mrs. Gilbert Legacy, the new postmistress at Allardville, replacing Mr. Dupuis.

Originally from Lamèque, Mr. Dupuis was active in his home's leading citizen of Allardville since 1950. He was also a general merchant in the community until he sold his business two years ago to Ulysse Lanteigne and Ellsworth Dupuis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dupuis (the former Madeleine Roche, who died in 1970), had a family of seven, including two teachers: Aurore, on staff at the Allardville School, and Gerard Dupuis, principal at Beresford School in Beresford, and two nurses, Mrs. Lucien Doucet (Paulette), Tracadie, and Mrs. Gabriel Beaudin (Clarisse), Allardville.

The eldest daughter, Mrs. James Mazerolle (Jeannette), a former office secretary, resides in Chateauguay, P.Q., while the youngest daughter, Claire, is in her final year at Nepisiguit High School. Another son, Bernard Caraguet, is associated with the N.B. Social Services Department (Adoptions Branch).

WILLIAM HOPE

Leaves Fine Large Family

The death at Willie C. Bay of Nauwigewauk occurred Dec. 3, 1976 at Chaleur General Hospital following a long illness. He was 67.

Born in Allardville, he was a son of the late Camille and Catherine Godin Bay.

During his early years, Mr. Bay practiced medicine in Robertville, Tide Head and Allardville. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and was instrumental in building a number of the halls of Maria Brothers and had served as a missionary in South Africa in the country that known as Rhodesia. He was with the order for four years.

Mr. Bay graduated in the arts and medicine and was married in 1941 to Blanche Gauvin. Two settled on the family farm where he worked as a farmer for a number of years. He later engaged in pulpwood trucking with his son Damien for about 10 years. He then became employed in the woods and as a laborer in the construction of the Belledune Smelter and the Nigadoo mines for a period of time.

Mr. Bay next took up stationary engineering, his last place of employment being at the Bathurst Hospital in Bathurst where he worked about three years.

Surviving besides his wife are fourteen children, Mrs. Peter (Jeanne) Francois of Maisonnette, P.E.I., Irene of Moncton, Romeo of Edmundston, Alex, Mrs. Alexander (Lucie) of Robertville, Rose of Bathurst, Mrs. Alyre Boudreau, Raymonde of Beresford, Mrs. Bernard Daigle, Yolande of North Tetagouche, Martin of Saint John, and Cletus, Elva, Leonard, Roger, Colette and Jacqueline, all at home.

One brother, Telesphore of Timmins, and one sister Mrs. Philip Boudreau, Palmarolle of Robertville; eight grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews also survive.

Rev. Ziel Soublière and Rev. Yvon Seron officiated at the funeral mass held in St. Therese Church in Robertville Dec. 5.

Attendants for the service were his sons-in-law, Alyre Boudreau and Bernard Daigle. The epistle was read by his son Cletus Bay.

Pallbearers were Romeo, Cletus, Roger Martin, Leonard and Gabriel Bay, the six sons.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault in Robertville pending burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Among those attending were his only surviving brother, Telesphore from Timmins, and his only sister, Mrs. Philip Boudreau of Robertville, and numerous relatives and friends from the surrounding areas and the Maritimes.

Final Rites At Cathedral

The service for Gerald Carter, well-known Bathurst resident, was held at 4:00 p.m., December 16, from Elhatton's Funeral Home to Sacred Heart Cathedral. Revs. Gregory Colligan and J. Emile Fournier co-celebrated the mass.

Hymns sung by Mrs. Ann Legere and Mrs. Norma Theriault were Whatsoever You Do, Lord Jesus (If You I Will Sing and Peace Prayer of St. Francis. The traditional Lourdes Hymn during Holy was lovingly rendered by the organist, Mrs. Helen Hachey, as the recessional.

Honorary pallbearers were Denis DeGrace, Henry Power, Edgar Power, Percy Wedge, Elie Desilva, Malcolm Noble, Harper Vance, Norman Young, Harry [illegible] and Alison Branch.

The active bearers were Frank Thomas, Martin Power, John Calnan, Charles Ross, Hazelock Gemmi and Clarence Carroll.

Entombment was in the King Ave. cemetery pending burial in the spring.

Those from out of town attending the funeral included Mrs. Carter, Blumenfeld, Mrs. Ruth Crawford and Frank Thomas, both of Lamèque, P.Q., Mr. and Mrs. Martin Power, Moncton.

Tribute Paid Evelyn White

The death of Evelyn White of rue Chaleur St. occurred suddenly at Chaleur General Hospital early Dec. 17 at the age of 38.

Born in Montreal, she was a daughter of Omer and Vera Crawford White and moved to Bathurst as a child with her family.

Surviving besides her parents are two brothers, Brian, a student at St. Thomas University, Fredericton, and Michael, at home; three sisters, Donna of Bathurst, Mrs. Stephen Lavigne (Carol) of Bathurst and Brenda, at home; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. E. J. White of Bathurst, and one nephew, Benjie Lavigne.

Miss White rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

Rev. Noel Cormier officiated at the funeral mass held at Immaculate Conception Parish Family Church Sunday at 2:00 p.m. Rev. Gregory Sampson was present in the sanctuary.

The pallbearers were Michael White, Brian White, Stephen Lavigne, Jacques Pelletier, Maurice Hachey and Michael Lavigne.

Among those present from out of town was Brian White, Fredericton.

Taught School For Many Years

The death of Mrs. Mary Emma Wolseley Fairey, 129 Wolseley Drive, occurred Dec. 10 at Chaleur General Hospital after a brief illness. She was 88.

Born in Bathurst, she was a daughter of the late George and Philomene Doucet Wolseley.

Mrs. Fairey was the former Sister Philippe of the Sisters of Charity. She received her early education in Bathurst, and after further studies at Mount St. Vincent University in Halifax, she taught school in Bathurst for many years, as well as in many communities in Nova Scotia and the State of Massachusetts.

Her husband, Patrick Fairey, died in 1962 while they were living in Cambridge, Mass. Mrs. Fairey has been living in Bathurst since that time.

She was a member of the Catholic Women's League and the Golden Age Club in Bathurst.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Agatha Wolseley of Georgetown, Que., a number of cousins including William Christie and Mrs. Henry Gartner both of Bathurst, as well as nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Fairey rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home, from where the funeral was held at St. Theresa Church Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Mrs. J.R. Hachey Dies In 96th Year

The death of Mrs. Joseph R. Hachey of Robertville occurred Dec. 14 in Chaleur General Hospital, Bathurst, after an illness of six weeks. She was 95.

Born April 26, 1881, at Robertville, she was the former Lucie White, a daughter of the late William and Helene Frenette White.

Mrs. Hachey was the last surviving member of her immediate family and spent her entire life in Robertville. Her first husband, Alphonse Verreau, died over 40 years ago.

Surviving besides her husband are one son, Omer of Robertville; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Hachey rested at Verreau's Funeral Home, Nigadoo.

Rev. Ziel Soublière officiated at the funeral mass held at St. Therese Church in Robertville Friday at 2 p.m.

The pallbearers were a grandson, Omer Hachey Jr., and Ernest Gosset, Daniel Saltus, Ronald Melanson, Paul Rutherford and Ben Boudreau.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault in Robertville pending burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Those attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cormier, Baie Comeau, Que.

CITY RESIDENT

a project. We don't necessarily want to dump $10 - $15 million on a road, but this involves one of the richest ore bearers on the continent as well as a vast Crown reserve - and no mean artery exists."

He said mayors are not the answer as "the area is becoming built up and a boundary. "Although this area is outside of city limits", Mr. Cater said, "these people are still citizens of the area and should be protected. A 30 mph speed limit is not the answer."

He added the viability of the Caraquet - Bathurst operation depends on larger loads reaching the mill faster. "Most of the money in Bathurst comes from the miners and the mill. If we are viable, the city will."

He asked council's support to some degree of priority for the proposal.

Some councillors felt the proposal should be discussed at an upcoming meeting with Deputy Highways Minister E. G. Allen on January 3. Others, however, felt council support in principal was sufficient and a motion to this effect was passed.

King Avenue Rezoning Approved By Council

Bathurst City Council gave the green light Monday for rezoning of two lots on the corner of King Avenue and York Street.

Appearing on behalf of the property owners, Sharon and Jack Relph, was Vincent Whelton of Whelton, McGinley, Chiasson and Desjardins.

Mr. Whelton told council his clients had purchased the property about one and a half years ago with the intention of operating a business there. They since purchased property in a more suitable location, Mr. Whelton said, and now wish to sell the lots. However, the prospective buyer wants to use the lots for office purposes as well.

They applied for rezoning early in September", said Mr. Whelton, "but were finally refused on September 20 because the area is primarily residential."

He pointed out that at least three other businesses are located in the immediate area. As well, he noted, no exterior change in the existing building is planned and there would be sufficient parking space.

City Engineer Geoff Greenough, in response to a question, said Munro Street is at present the southern boundary of the business district, and the area in question is zoned residential (three). He added spot rezoning is considered "a bad practice" in municipal planning.

Mr. Whelton pointed out the city is "getting strangled in its own regulations" as there is spot rezoning all along King Avenue.

Councillor Robert Hodgins pointed out he couldn't see the logic in trying to maintain a residential status along a designated provincial highway. "It would be logical to have it zoned commercial."

Coun. Valmond Soulière wondered whether council should wait for the revised community plan. Coun. Joe MacNeil agreed, saying the city had paid $60,000 for the document and should utilize it.

However, other councillors felt the plan should be used as a guide only, with council having the privilege of deciding whether or not to adhere to it.

Voting in favor of rezoning were Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin, Jean-Paul Lavoie, Robert Hodgins, Doug Williamson and Terry Lenihan. Against were Couns. Joe MacLaggan, Val Soulière and Joe MacNeil. Councillor Henry Murphy was not present at the meeting.

ACQUIRES PROPERTY

Dr. Guy Chamberlain, who graduates in dentistry from Dalhousie Univ. next May, has purchased the Dr. D.A. Young law building at 248 St. George St. for both professional and residential purposes. The transaction was handled by Eddy Young.

Dr. Chamberlain is married to the former Nancy Robin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenny Robin, 1303 King Ave., and they have a 3-month-old daughter Jessica Lynne. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Chamberlain, Rough Waters Dr.

SOLD OUT AGAIN

Like senior officials throughout the Maritimes, Peter Lefleur, Atholville Info Centre manager in this area, is finding it difficult to keep his 78 volumes and their thousands of visitors happy.

The demand for tickets could seem to exceed the supply. Those who haven't purchased theirs for the Dec. 29 evening will have to be in the parlor until Jan. 12.

Mr. Lefleur, former owner of Rex's Steak House at Petit-pas-de Hill, who recently sold this business to Alcide Morneault, partner with Raymond Frenette at Maritime Dutch Inns, a local wholesale operation, has a secretary attending from Bathurst to Newcastle. He also covers the entire downshore area, including Tracadie.

NOT HOME FOR XMAS

For the first time ever the Roy Hachey's won't be home for Christmas. Their lovely, completely renovated home at Petitcodiac and new furnishings and appliances, etc., were destroyed by fire Sunday night.

The loss, although partly covered by insurance, included some priceless antiques, many irreplaceable things of sentimental value collected over the years, Christmas clothing, a most packed freezer and a large quantity of vegetables canned in the summer.

It all adds up to a considerable amount of money and heartbreak and they have much sympathy, especially because their misfortune occurs at the happy season of the year.

Living with the Hachey's were their daughter Colleen, a former Miss Bathurst, and her husband Jackie Bourque. The couple were only recently married and their wedding gifts, almost enough to furnish a home of their own, also went up in smoke.

TIPS AND TAXES

Mrs. Donna Valentine, assistant assistant director of nursing at the nursing administration office at Chaleur General Hospital and Christine Mitchell and Alma Jane Pelletier, who recently qualified as registered nursing assistants have joined the technology duty team. Mrs. Kay Jacobsen, Bridge St., owner of the Christmas goose, found home intended for the Irish Transportation Company Hall Assn. Mrs. Margaret Watson enjoying a well-earned vacation with relatives in Southern Shore, but not until after fulfilling her extensive commitments as the city's perennial Santa Claus. Bob Lee will be relieving a new medical practitioner, Dr. Tina Ondaki, a gynecologist, his wife Paula, a social worker, and their daughter Kimi during the upcoming holidays. Who was in the East Bathurst Club's Christmas Cheer Brew over the following: Mrs. Jean Cormier, Belledune Rd.; Laura Gallant, Bathurst; Mrs. Alice Gauvin Hall, Bathurst; etc. The list had outlined by the Pioneers of Hope Training School was by Joyce Mazerolle of Campbellton. A watch had come to be renowned by selling 100,000 and proving popularity. Mrs. Ernest Bowie, R.R. No. 4, Bathurst, winner of The Northern Light Subscription Contest for Dec. 15. Merry Christmas, everyone.

Council Okays Park Proposal

Plans for a recreation park to be used primarily for cross-country skiing and snowmobiling were presented to Bathurst City Council Monday for approval.

Allen S. Polesbourg appeared before council to get authorization for a network of recreation trails to be cut under the auspices of a Local Initiatives Programs grant. Although the city is not expected to share in the cost of construction, a certain amount of maintenance will be expected from the municipality upon completion.

The park is located on city land in the vicinity of the airport dump and off of Carrie Street. The cost is estimated at approximately $1,000 per mile, and plans at present call for 14 miles of trail. Shelters will also be provided in case of blizzards, etc.

Coun. Valmond Soulière wanted to know how much maintenance the city would be responsible for. Mr. Polesbourg replied that upkeep would be a minor item - with trails requiring trimming every three or four years or so.

He added the city would be expected to plow an extra mile and a half on Carrie Street and to clear the city's parking lot.

Council agreed that the park would be a good addition to recreation facilities in the area and gave full support to the project.

Funeral Today For Fire Victim

LADISLAS PROSPER P.C.

Joseph Lawrence Prosper, 2-year-old son of Larry and Jean (Langan) Prosper, died early Sunday in a Bathurst hospital as a result of injuries received in a fire which destroyed the family's south Bathurst apartment early Saturday morning.

The youth was spending the night at the camp, located in the Nine Mile Brook area, with his brother, 17-year-old Wayne Prosper, and a friend, Brian Fisher, also of Bathurst.

The mishap occurred about 12:30 a.m. The three boys had gone up to the camp Saturday and planned to stay until Monday.

The other two boys managed to escape from the burning structure and were treated for shock and hazardous at Chaleur General Hospital.

The provincial fire marshall's office is investigating the possibility of an explosion at the camp, also investigating was the Bathurst RCMP.

An autopsy was performed at Chaleur General Hospital. Coroner County Sheriff and Coroner Roland Lanteigne will decide if an inquest is necessary.

Born in Bathurst, the victim was a Grade 3 student at South Bathurst School and was very active in sports and other activities. He was a member of the Boston All-Star team in the Bathurst Minor Hockey program and participated in the International Peewee tournament in Quebec City several years ago.

Surviving besides his parents are one sister, Mrs. Clifford (Janet) Lyon Murray of Bathurst; three brothers, Anthony of Edmonton, Alta., and Wayne and Jeffrey, both at home; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anse Prosper and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lavigne, all of Bathurst.

The youth is resting at El-

Board Wants Change In Transportation Policy

District No. 6 school trustees are concerned about the safety of young students who must walk along busy highways to and from school, and will request a change in the provincial transportation policy by way of an amendment to the Schools Act.

At the regular School Board meeting held Tuesday night, December 14, Chairman Earl Anderson invited the chairman of the education committee of a letter to all members of the Legislative Assembly. The letter urges that pupils living more than two miles from school be taken out of their classroom by bus, and that the money required for the change in policy be allocated.

In other business, the board granted permission to Bathurst High School to offer physical education as an optional course to all school students over 16 years of age. Students in grades 11 and 12 who have a spare period will have the opportunity to participate in a variety of sports, the first being ice and speed skating.

Due to limited open facilities, the optional course will have two of the five periods per week in the classroom, one of them to be health education.

Superpupil: High School is a de-

Nation's Funeral Home where the funeral will be held in St. Thomas Church for requiem mass at 4 p.m. today (Wednesday). Entombment in the parish receiving vault, King Avenue, will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery in the spring.

The board also asked if English-speaking children could attend Ecole Notre Dame for total French immersion in Grade 1. Statistics were provided to support the request.

The question of priority was referred to the committee presently working on the re-organization of elementary and junior high schools in the city. District Superintendent R. A. Doucette was directed to report to the board's position on the bilingual report.

The letter also asked if English-speaking children could attend Ecole Notre Dame for total French immersion in Grade 1. Statistics were provided to support the request.

Students Present Christmas Concert

An enthusiastic group of parents and friends attended a Christmas concert put on by students of grades one to six at the J. Gordon Chalmers School gymnasium Thursday afternoon, December 16.

A winter scene, created by grades one and two, added a touch of the festive season to the background and set the mood for a widely-varied program.

Principal Rheese Dickie welcomed the large number of guests and introduced each performance.

The program included:

- A gymnastic routine, square dances and carols by Grade Six (teacher, Mrs. Demmings).
- Carols and a flute selection by Grade Five (Mrs. Rogers).
- A play and a very attractive Merry Christmas recitation by Grade Four (Miss McCallum).
- A candlelighting exercise and play performed by Mrs. Scott's Grade Three students.
- A portrayal of "The Christmas Story" and a song by Grade Two (Mrs. McLean).
- "Jolly, Jolly Santa Claus" and an exercise on "Santa's Toys" by Mrs. Chouinard's Grade One class.
- French songs by Grades 3, 4, 5 and 6 under the direction of Mr. Pitre.

In the midst of the event, the elementary students were presented with a record player by Miss Kathy Skaves, president of the Junior High Student Council.

Mrs. Ray Francis, a most appreciated volunteer, capably provided music for many of the presentations.

Both teachers and students were well-rewarded by the applause and favorable comments by those present.

Many thanks to Santa who put in an appearance during the afternoon of entertainment and excitement.

District Teachers Review Programmes

Students of the English schools in District No. 4, recently enjoyed a half-day out of the classroom, while their teachers worked on programs within their respective schools.

Teachers of Grades 1 - 3 had an opportunity to meet with Mrs. Connie Fellows, music coordinator for English schools in District No. 4, to work on the Christmas song collection and its dramatization for classroom use.

Salmon Beach teachers of Grades 1 and 2 worked on the 360 Reading Program and the sorting, correlating and realigning of course materials. Grade 3 teachers attended the music workshop. The Grades 4, 5 and 6 teachers did a follow-up on the Social Studies program begun early in the fall. This type of on-going work allows for a commanding understanding of the course.

At Superior, Grades 4, 5 and 6 teachers met to work on the Social Studies program. They too, found it necessary to re-evaluate and develop the course within the confines of texts and materials available.

Junior High teachers at Superior spent their afternoon studying the grading regulations with a view to recommending changes. Results will be submitted to the District Office for consideration.

Chalmer's teachers worked in their classrooms on personal programs.

Sacred Heart teachers met with their principal to review first progress reports results. A discussion followed as to methods of improving learning skills.

Teachers at South Bathurst School, Grades 4, 5 and 6 worked on a Math Activity Centre. Junior High teachers at South worked on individual programs.

Mary Gosnell teachers heard Chris Surette, School psychologist for District No. 4, discuss students' problems. A lively discussion followed the formal presentation.

Belledune School undertook a demanding and lengthy program. During the afternoon parents met with teachers, to consider the academic progress of their children. School rules and procedures were also discussed. In the evening, as a continuation of the afternoon program, parents and teachers of students in Junior High further developed these pertinent topics.

Bathurst High teachers met in joint sessions to consider the afternoon's topic — The Classroom Teacher — Form and Function. After the establishment of guidelines for discussion the teachers divided into groups headed by teacher-leaders. After lively and opinionated sessions, the groups reunited and reports were given. General notes were taken and teachers will see a feed-back to their ideas.

It is hoped that this type of meeting will continue to produce the desired results for the students of English Schools in District No. 4.

Drawing Held

The children of North Tetagouche gathered at the Community Centre there on Dec. 18 for a Christmas party.

About 40 youngsters received gifts and treats from Santa Claus. A draw on a Timex watch took place, with Santa making the drawing. The winner was Miss Carol Theriault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Theriault.

The project was in charge of the North Tetagouche Recreation Centre group.

Count Your Blessings Liberal Leader Urges

Following is the complete text of the Christmas 1976 message of Robert Higgins, N.B. Opposition Leader.

Christmas is for all of us a time to put aside our daily cares and join in family celebrations.

Midnight church services, the Christmas tree, stockings stuffed with small cement trinkets, the crunch of crisp snow on a cold Christmas Eve. All of these provoke in our minds memories of Christmases past and hopes for future happiness.

"It is difficult to be sad at Christmas, with children anticipating the excitement and joy of Christmas morning. But in our hearts we know that the merriment, the love and the resolutions of the season are fleeting unless we dedicate ourselves to a year-round observance of those ideals on which the celebrations of Christmas is based.

"Concern for our neighbor, whether he lives elsewhere in New Brunswick, or halfway around the world, is an ideal to which we must all strive. Sharing of our prosperity with those less fortunate as a gift of love to our fellow citizens. Turning from adversity to a search for new challenges is an opportunity for us to grasp enthusiastically. We must work for peace within our own society and aspire for a Christmas fellowship to envelop the world.

"How unfortunate it is that as we in Canada prepare for Christmas in the peace and security of a rich land that there are people who are despairing and discouraged, whether by economic setback, mental anguish or physical illness. And as we look beyond the borders of our nation, we see economic and political strife.

"While those of us fortunate enough to be sharing in the benefits of Canada look forward with optimism and confidence to the future and a Christmas warmed by the blessings of friends and family, many people today live in the same abject poverty into which Christ was born nearly 2,000 years ago.

"It would be a credit to us all on this Christmas Day to pause in our merrymaking and give thought to what we as individuals and as citizens of a great country can do to help those who are so much less fortunate.

"May this Christmas 1976 bring joy to your hearts and blessings to your families. On behalf of the Liberal Party of New Brunswick and my family I extend to you the most sincere Best Wishes."

TRAGIC DEATH MOURNED IN AREA

A fire in Nigadoo December 9 claimed the life of a well known Bathurst area resident, Alonzo J. (Smiler) Fournier.

Origin of the early morning blaze in which the 64-year-old man died, was traced to the general area of the victim's bed.

Mr. Fournier, who operated Fournier's Lunch at the front of the two-storey wood frame building, was alone when the mishap occurred. His wife was away at the time, visiting at the home of a daughter where there was a serious illness.

Neighbours in the village noticed the flames shortly after midnight and fire brigades from both Petit Rocher and Beresford answered the alarm. The victim's charred body was found in the ruins several hours later. Nothing was saved and only the shell of the structure remained.

Mr. Fournier was born in Bathurst, a son of the late Joseph and Berthilde (Blanchard) Fournier. He was associated with mining and drilling operations for a number of years and worked in various and isolated parts of Canada. While younger he was employed in local stores and had a particular knack for arranging displays, window dressing etc. Mr. Fournier was also an able writer and frequently contributed articles to The Northern Light.

During periods of his life, Mr. Fournier operated food outlets of the canteen type and it was he who originated the traditional American "hot dog" in the Bathurst area.

Several years ago Mr. Fournier acquired a property in Nigadoo and settled there permanently. He was the proprietor of a very successful grocery store and lunch bar at the time of his death and highly popular in the community with both young and old.

Mr. Fournier's premises were a popular gathering place for the younger element of the community and their attendance in large numbers at his funeral was a token of the high esteem in which they held him.

Another mark of their respect was the floral tribute they sent as a group. It was designed to represent the juke box which they had played and enjoyed so much at Fournier's Lunch.

Mr. Fournier possessed a very congenial personality. He knew everybody and everybody knew him. His always pleasant manner, ready smile, hence his nickname and friendly greeting will be much missed.

Surviving Mr. Fournier are his wife, the former Patrina Hadley; two sons, Denis and Donald, both of Nigadoo; three daughters, Mrs. John Curtis (Dorothy), of Toronto, Mrs. Margaret Lemay and Mrs. Craig McCallum (Anne Marie), both of Montreal.

Six brothers, Eldridge (Al) and James, both of Bathurst; Sylvernus, Newcastle; Francis and Linus, both of Hamilton, Ont., and Jarvis (Jerry) of Toronto, and three sisters, Mrs. Gordon Clarke (Ernestine), Toronto; Mrs. William Kay (Marie), Richmond Hill, Ont., and Mrs. Donald Bainton (Bernice), Mississauga, Ont., and several grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Fournier rested at Verret's Funeral Home, Nigadoo. The service was held at 4 p.m. Saturday in Holy Name of Jesus Church, Beresford, with Revs. J. Emile Bourque, Jean Robert Legere and Lionel Comeau con-celebrating the mass.

Pallbearers were Donald Hadley, Alward Hadley, Albanie Roy, Gregory Frenette, Jack Bowes and James B. Keddie. Entombment was in the parish cemetery pending burial in the spring.

Those from out of town attending the funeral included Sylvernus Fournier, Newcastle; Jarvis Fournier, and Mrs. John Curtis, both of Toronto; Mrs. Margaret Lemay, Mr. and Mrs. Craig McCallum and Paul McCallum, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frenette, Mr. and Mrs. Raynald Fortin and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lawlor, all of Dalhousie; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Theriault, Caraquet; Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Theriault, Val Comeau, Westmount, Que. were guests at the House of Prayer. They joined the music ministry and the group sang at the evening mass on Saturday at the Cathedral.

November Activities At House of Prayer

Another active month at the House of Prayer concluded with final classes of Bible study given bi-monthly by Father Louis Vermeersch. Sincere appreciation is expressed to Father Vermeersch for the excellent instruction.

Bishop Godin celebrated a very joyful mass on the occasion of the Feast of Christ the King and also to commemorate the 25th anniversary of Sister Gertrude S.S.S.'s profession. After mass, all those in attendance were invited to share fellowship and lunch and to meet the Bishop.

On the first Sunday of Advent, the music ministry from the peace, joy and love community from the House of Prayer was invited to sing at mass at Sacred Heart Cathedral. The following week, a group of young people from

Christmas Message

(a Guest Editorial)

It came upon a midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
Of angels bending near the earth,
To touch their harps of gold -
Peace on earth, good will to men,
From Heaven's all-gracious king'
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing. (S.A. Brooke)

Once again it is our privilege to celebrate this great Christian festival and to welcome into our hearts the Prince of Peace.

As we welcome the holy advent - God becoming man and dwelling within us - we cannot but look around at our world and assess our present circumstances and be dismayed.

We see religious wars, civil wars and all manner of strife. We see a rising crime rate on the international scene which - we are told - is unprecedented. We see a complete break-down of moral codes - and those who would stand up for the old standards, which are the basis of our civilization - derided and treated with scorn'. The modern "crown of thorns"? What manner of men are we?

Northern Ireland confronts us with a different problem. Leaders of both factions assure us it is not religious in nature but social - the everyday problems of grubbing a livelihood.

When we look at the problems besetting our own beloved nation, we are amazed at the amount of dissent we find. If we are to be honest with ourselves, we must admit there is much which must be changed.

Historically, there has been much distress - on the part of many of our people - over the way we have treated our native peoples. Our politicians - in this respect - have been wrong in the past! We - the enlightened - must strive to right these wrongs. It is late in the day - but not too late - to rectify the situation!

Our Savior was born into a turbulent world - much as ours is today - but He brought a message of hope - not for the Jews alone but for all mankind. His mission was the divine one of reconciliating mankind with its creator and God. His was a mission transcending all barrier of color and creed or nationality. It was alike for Jew or Gentile! He taught us the concept of the brotherhood of mankind under God, the Universal Father. He taught us to pray: "Our father who art in heaven" - not our Jewish father or our gentile father but our father - the universal father.

A young chap recently asked us the following query which was provocative and we think, worthy of your consideration: "If Jesus came to Bathurst, what would He think of us, individually and collectively? We wonder".

As we welcome this holy season, let us all - with common accord - pray our God, the universal father of mankind, that He give us grace that in the New Year facing us we might find the means to end all fratricide and bring in the rule of God's Prince of Peace.

French Disconnection

We don't know whether you watched the CTV television program about the two alleged secret agents from France helping the separatist cause in Quebec, but it has been bothering us ever since.

It was a real thriller of a program, all about how Philippe Rossillon and Xavier Dunau worked undercover to promote the Quebec independence movement. There was a fascinating suggestion that France is really after Quebec uranium, that demonstrations against the Queen's visit in 1964 were promoted by outsiders, that efforts now are being made to organize the Acadians in New Brunswick, and that we should keep our eyes on St. Pierre et Miquelon.

Those French islands, said the narrator, are "suddenly being transferred into a new naval base, an airbase for jet planes and a powerful radio transmitter to broadcast French culture into Quebec and Acadia."

There was more, much more, as the Toronto-based CTV crew penetrated into darkest Quebec to expose, with breathless excitement, the great conspiracy by France and its secret agents. We were even told the names of separatists who had met the secret agents.

And, as part of France's cultural attack on French-speaking Canada, we were informed that a French newspaper in Moncton was grapped up to the tune of $1 million by France.

If all of the facts, suggestions and suspected motives stood up, that CTV program would be a natural award-winner.

But what bothers us is that this may not be the case. And it is not difficult to imagine the enormous disservice that has been caused and what's left of national unity if Quebecers are insulted by, or laughing at, the English media.

Premier Rene Levesque thought the program was basically insulting.

"It gives the impression that Quebecers are not capable of thinking up the idea of political independence by themselves."

He called the program a "B-rate spy story."

Officially, Rossillon is head of the French government's committee for the defence and expansion of the French language. The travels a great deal, and in 1968 he annoyed Prime Minister Trudeau for his activity among French-speaking Manitobans. Mr. Xavier Dunau is a member of the French Parliament, who has frequently been interviewed during his visits to Canada.

The CTV program showed those mystery-like still photos of the alleged secret agents. You could easily get the impression they are never seen in public.

Yet, two days before the program was telecast, CBC radio interviewed Mr. Rossillon about his efforts to improve cultural links with New Brunswick Acadians. Apparently he was very chatty.

The TV program made much ado about French cultural activity among Acadians, including that alleged $1 million assistance to the newspaper. But it appears, the reporter was actually referring to a $400,000 grant made eight or nine years ago with a great deal of publicity. France contributes generously to French culture in other countries, and such institutions as the University of Ottawa are beneficiaries.

The program also referred to the Queen visiting Montreal in 1964, which she didn't. And a Montreal newspaper has pointed out that the program referred to Judge Robert Cliche as an investigator of the Mafia. Actually, he investigated the construction industry, not crime.

Little mistakes like this bring the whole research project into question.

And there was never any explanation why runway and dockyard extensions in St. Pierre et Miquelon were relevant to the secret-agent story. Viewers could be forgiven for thinking we were going to be invaded by the French Armada.

Actually, the tourist-conscious residents of the islands have been trying for years to get the French government to invest in runways that could accommodate jet planes. Perhaps this is what it's all about.

We can't judge the entire program, except that it made us uncomfortable, and we know that French-speaking journalists are laughing at it. And we know a respected Montreal English-speaking columnist said the program "evinced only the most superficial and simplistic understanding of Quebec."

And at this point in our history, we must do better than that.

QUARTER-CENTURY EMPLOYEES HONORED

Two outstanding employees with Hatheway Ltd. were presented engraved silver trays and each a cheque from the company in recognition of 25 years of service. Glendon Hatheway joined the firm in January 1951 when it was operated under the name of Wilmot Hatheway Motors. When Glendon started with the Company as a body shop foreman, it was in an old school situated on the same location as the present modern mechanical repair and body shop in East Bathurst. Also enjoying 25 years with the company is Eddie Ellis. Mr. Ellis began with Hatheway's as an apprentice mechanic in late August 1951. After obtaining his mechanic's license he was put in charge of the mechanical repair shop. The presentations were made during Hatheway Ltd.'s Christmas party at Danny's Colonial Room December 9. From the left are: Mrs. Wilmot Hatheway, Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Hatheway, Mrs. Eddie Ellis and Mr. Ellis, Mrs. Hayden Hatheway and Hayden Hatheway, the firm's president.

New Thought For An Old Greeting

Bathurst, N.B.
December 10, 1976

Christmas cards are coming in and some are very lovely! Some have special messages from people whose friendship we treasure. Each card, in its own way, is sent to wish us a Merry Christmas.

All around the world people are wishing for each other a Merry Christmas, whether they say "God Jul" in Swedish, "Joyeux Noel" in French, "Feliz Navidad" in Spanish or "Hartelijke Kerstgroeten" in Dutch or even "Noaterin Lui Christus Sa Va Kie de Folos" in Rumanian.

The words differ but the message is the same.

This poem called "I Wish You Christmas" by Jane Merchant expresses a new thought on the old familiar Christmas greeting:

How strangely, thoughtlessly unnecessary
It often seems to me that we should say,
"I wish you Merry Christmas" How can merry
Or any other adjective convey

A wish for greater gladness for our friends
More than the one word, Christmas, all alone,
The ringing, shining word that comprehends
The utmost grace and glory men have known?

I wish you more, much more, than merriment,
All faith and hope and love and holy peace,
All quietness and radiant content
With blessings that continuously increase

And when I say the simple words and small,
"I wish you Christmas", I have wished you all.

Mrs. Robert Knowles

Receive Color Television Set

Residents of the Dennis S. Fournier complex for senior citizens were presented with a color television set at their Dec 16 Maple Leaf Club card party.

The presentation was made by Dr. A. J. Savoie, on behalf of the Bathurst Richelieu Club, during the Maple Leaf Club's closing card party for the year held in the recreation room. Several boxes of chocolates were also presented.

The gifts were accepted by club president, Mrs. Linda Cripps, who expressed sincere appreciation on behalf of the residents.

At the end of the evening of cards, prizes were presented to Mrs. Louise Best, ladies' winner, and Herman Arseneau, prize winner for the men. Lunch was served, under the direction of Mrs. Darisa Cormier.

The annual New Year's party will be held in the Recreation Room and regular weekly card parties will resume Thursday, Jan. 6.

MAYOR JOHN A. DUFFY

Xmas Message To Citizens

Following is a Christmas message from His Worship John A. Duffy, in his capacity as chief magistrate. It is directed to all the citizens of Bathurst:

"Once more we celebrate the birth of Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

"It should be a holy and happy occasion for us all.

"I ask most sincerely of all the people within the reach of this message for their continued prayers to Almighty God for guidance and help for myself as your mayor and for your city council.

"Mrs. Duffy, my family and myself wish each and every one a Holy and Happy Christmas. We do pray that the spirit of Christmas remains in our hearts always.

"Have a Merry Christmas, everyone."

Air Tragedy Is Recalled

Elgin, Illinois
December 7, 1976

Just received my copy of your November 24th edition and although tardy, nevertheless it keeps me well informed of the goings-on in my home town back East.

I couldn't help but think back on that Sunday over 20 years ago when Bathurst was shocked with the news of that T.C.A. accident and the end of one of the North Shore's most promising boxing careers, Harry McLean.

Five years later, I was a flying instructor in Moose Jaw with the R.C.A.F. It was interesting to say the least to hear some local citizens describe how a Harvard trainer, had overtaken and brought down that helpless transport aircraft.

One comment however, wasn't McLean headed for Calgary and the West Coast, not Winnipeg as was mentioned in Just Rambling?

Ray Babineau

(Editor's Note: Yes, McLean was bound for Calgary, not Winnipeg, as stated. We stand corrected).

Cats And Dogs Are People Too

(By Alden Nowlan)

I am a cat. Humans call me Hodge. I have another name in my own language, but probably you couldn't pronounce it. Humans don't learn new languages as quickly as we cats do.

Nor is your hearing as good as ours. I can be asleep upstairs (I like to crawl under the quilts so that even my head is covered up), but I'll still hear the key turning in a can of sardines in the kitchen. A beautiful sound it is, too. It always reminds me of Beethoven's Ode to Joy, as played by Pete Seeger on the banjo.

For a number of years, Aida Flemming has invited Alden Nowlan to write something for the Christmas edition of her Kindness Club Notes. They've been friends for at least a thousand years. He says that when Aida goes to heaven, she'll be greeted at the gates by St. Francis of Assisi, who runs the Kindness Clubs up there.

It happens that I share a house with the Nowlans. I've been with them ever since I was born, in 1965.

I'm not a pet, mind you. A real cat is nobody's pet. On the other hand, the Nowlans aren't my pets, either. We're friends.

When old Nowlan worked the night-shift, I'd jump out the window of our ground-floor apartment when I heard him turn into the parking lot so that I'd be there when he opened the car door to welcome him home.

Still, when I go for a walk with any member of the Nowlan family--Alden, Claudine or John--I always keep a little behind or a little ahead, to show my independence.

Besides, I run into more adventures that way. Especially at night. I can pretend that I'm one of my ancestors, prowling through the jungle, and then go home to lie on the back of the chesterfield and dream.

We cats never stop playing, no matter how old we are. You humans might be happier if you did the same.

I like Aida Flemming, too, although I don't know her as well as old Nowlan does. (I don't call him old Nowlan out of disrespect but because he's older than any cat who ever lived).

I like her because she's a gentle, loving human being who, when we meet, respects my sense of dignity. We cats have a very strong sense of dignity, especially when we get old. You must remember that we're aristocrats. The ancient Egyptians believed that we were gods.

We aren't gods, of course, but we are people.

We hurt, just as you do. We feel hunger and cold and loneliness. Like you, we want to be loved.

Sometimes we're scared and sometimes we're sad and sometimes we're happy.

Like everybody else we want a good home and we want friends.

Since this is the Christmas season, I must admit that dogs are people, too. The truth is I have nothing against dogs. I simply like to tease them a little. But don't tell your dog I said that. It would spoil the fun.

Seriously, God made the world for us as well as for you. Don't forget that Jesus Christ was born among animals.

The human beings wouldn't take Joseph and Mary in--but the animals did.

I bet there was a cat in that stable in Bethlehem. And a dog, too.

Younger students perform as Christmas parcels around the Christmas tree.

Problems Experienced With T.V. Video Games

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs has alerted Canadians to a possible problem which may develop in television sets when used with electronic video games. Prolonged use of the games may cause the game pattern to remain visible as a dark outline during regular T.V. viewing.

The department is already in consultation with the electronics industry to investigate the reported problem.

One major retailer already has begun warning purchasers of video games about the possible problem based on its own experience with T.V. sets used in its stores, over prolonged periods, for demonstration purposes.

This information tends to confirm recent conversations between officials of the department and the Electrical and Electronic Manufacturers Association of Canada. In the circumstances, with a possible increase in the purchase of video games during the pre-holiday season, all consumers should be immediately aware of the reported problem, pending final outcome of discussions underway with the industry. As soon as full technical information is available, consumers will be advised immediately.

It has been suggested that in the meantime, video games should be turned off when not in actual use, the sets should be adjusted to low brightness and contrast when being used with the games. These precautions should be followed with all game and set combinations, at least until full technical information is available.

Retention of a dark outline of the game pattern during regular T.V. viewing is apparently a result of a phenomenon known as "phosphor exhaustion" which normally occurs at an even rate over the entire television screen and is only perceptible, if at all, as a very gradual dimming of the total image and can be corrected by increasing the brightness setting.

Video games, however, produce a constant outline pattern on the screen so that fading of the picture-tube phosphor does not occur evenly. After an extended period of use, there may be a cumulative effect that is noticeable during regular viewing and cannot be corrected except by picture tube replacement. The effect is reportedly more likely to occur with sets that have been adjusted to high brightness or contrast during use with a video game.

Officials of the department have contacted the Electrical and Electronic Manufacturers Association for any further information the industry may be able to provide and to work toward a solution for consumers. They have asked to be advised as soon as possible on the position of both game and set manufacturers regarding warranty and other protection for consumers.

In the meantime, although the department wants to emphasize that the information it has is based on use of the games with demonstration sets over long periods, it would nevertheless urge consumers to take precautionary measures.

MR. AND MRS. AIMÉE DOUCETTE

Former Bathurst Residents Observe 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Aimee Doucette, natives of Bathurst, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Nov. 16 at Plaster Rock where they have resided most of their married life.

Aimee Doucette, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Doucette, and Priscilla Melanson, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Melanson, were united in marriage at Sacred Heart Cathedral on Nov. 16, 1916. The late Msgr. John Whelan officiated.

Their attendants were the bride's brother, the late Jerome Melanson, and the groom's sister Nellie Doucette, the late Mrs. J. A. Hannah.

The anniversary celebration was marked with an "open house" function during which many friends, neighbors and relatives called to extend best wishes and congratulations and present numerous gifts including a substantial sum of money.

Mr. and Mrs. Doucette also received numerous congratulatory messages such as a telegram from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, Prime Minister P. E. Trudeau and Premier Richard Hatfield.

Among officials and dignitaries calling to pay their personal respects were N. B. Opposition Leader Robert Higgins, and Liberal MLA John P. Mooney of Saint John, Liberal Candidate, Roger Poley, the parish priest, Rev. Leo Gregoire, I.V.D., Rev. Louis Pearson, I.V.D., of New Denmark, the local Anglican minister, Rev. Garth Maxwell, and the Mayor of Plaster Rock, all adding up to a day of cheer, happiness and wonderful re-union for the honored couple to remember.

Present as well were eight of their children. They have five sons and four daughters. The daughters are: Mrs. Dorothy Senechal, Estcourt, Que.; Mrs. Pat Foster, Skowhegan, Maine; Mrs. Warren Goodine, Moncton; and Mrs. Freda Greer, Plaster Rock. Their sons are: Gordon of Ottawa, Andrew of Bathurst, the only one of the children unable to be present, and Hubert, Robert and Francis of Plaster Rock. There are 31 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren. A son, Elie, was killed in action in Italy during the Second World War.

RECEPTION

To receive their guests, Mrs. Doucette was wearing a floor-length gown of floral design and a corsage of yellow mums.

Luncheon was served continuously throughout the afternoon and evening by the family, and included a two-tier anniversary cake appropriately decorated in the anniversary theme and flanked by tall tapers and vases containing roses.

Mr. Doucette was employed throughout his years at Plaster Rock with Fraser Lumber Company, until his retirement. In his younger years, he had worked as a shingle sawer for The Bathurst Company, now Consolidated Bathurst Ltd.

Those present for the celebrations from Bathurst included two brothers of Mrs. Doucette, Arthur Melanson, and Louis Melanson and wife Odille, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kenny. Others who attended came from Arrastook, Woodstock and Chandler, Que.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Doucette have many relatives residing in the Bathurst area. They include his sisters, Mrs. Joe Watson (Evelyn) and Mrs. Napoleon Hache (Cecile).

Mrs. Doucette's immediate family, besides those already mentioned, are three sisters, Mrs. Leona Roy, Mrs. Carmie Mullen and Mrs. Melvina Doucet, all of Bathurst, and a brother, Thomas Melanson of Quebec City. Another sister, Mrs. James Kenny (Frances) died several months ago.

Alpines Drop 4th In Row

Campbellton Tigers handed the Bathurst Alpines their fourth loss in a row here last night with three unanswered goals in the final period for a 5 - 2 decision. The win for the Tigers increased their league-lead to eight points over the sliding Alpines.

George Parker led the Tiger attack with a pair of goals while Dave Wisener fired the winner early in the final period. Stirling Legg and George Berube netted the other Campbellton goals while Don Roy and Mike Morton counted for Bathurst.

Parker and Legg sandwiched Donnie Roy's marker to give the Tigers a 2 - 1 first period lead. Mike Morton evened it up with the only goal of the second period. Wisener netted the winner at 1:25 of the final with Berube and Parker adding insurance goals later on.

Tigers now have 24 points atop the league while Bathurst remains with 16 on 8 wins and 7 losses. Dalhousie is closing on the Alpines with 10 points while Chatham trails with 6.

The Ironmen supply the opposition here next Tuesday.

Bathurst Schooner Volleyball League

The Rangers picked up 12 points last Thursday to move into second place in Bathurst Schooner Volleyball League play. The leading Kentucky Fried Chicken team added 8 points to maintain its comfortable lead. Steakhouse managed only 4 points and dropped into third place just 4 points ahead of City Glass who added 10 during the night. Gulf Oil remain in fifth place after winning 8 points while Savoie Meubles, D and R and North East Homes each managed only 2 points and are well back of the leaders.

League play has been suspended for the Holiday season and will resume early in the new year.

Alpines Continue Slide; Tigers Edge Ironmen 4-3

Dalhousie Rangers extended their recent win-streak over Bathurst Alpines as they dumped the defending league champions 4 - 2 over the weekend in Dalhousie. The loss was the third in the last four games for the Bathurst club.

In the other game on the weekend, the front-running Campbellton Tigers nipped the Ironmen 4 - 3 in Chatham Sunday.

In Dalhousie, Serge McLean, Luc Bonneville, Wayne Cameron and Gaetan Duguay counted for the Rangers while Mike Brophy and George Willett found the mark for the Alpines.

The teams failed to score in the opening period but Rangers built a 3 - 1 lead in the second, scoring on three of just six shots on the Bathurst net. McLean scored just 52 seconds into the period and Bonneville made it 2 - 0 before Brophy put the Alpines on the board at 17:18. Cameron's goal with 16 seconds left in the period proved the eventual winner.

Gaetan Duguay scored on a penalty shot at 6:30 of the final period. He was awarded the shot when Alpines' John Lunn threw his stick at him on a breakaway. George Willett converted passes from Brian Chamberlain and Mike Morton for Bathurst's other goal at 12:07 to close out the scoring.

In Chatham, John Wood's second goal of the final period gave the Tigers the nod over the Ironmen who had taken a 3 - 2 lead earlier in the period.

The teams were deadlocked 1 - 1 after the first and 2 - 2 after the second periods. Chatham's Ken Martin and Tigers' George Berube traded goals in the opening period and Danny Lessard put the Ironmen ahead at 8:25 of the second. Jean-Marie Bouchard then evened it up on a disputed goal at the 10:30 mark. Tigers Laurie Gregan clipped Ron Hardy of the Ironmen in a scramble for the puck in the Chatham zone. Hardy fell to the ice and the puck found its way to Bouchard who drove it home. Referee Gerard Allard allowed the goal to stand but gave Gregan a 5-minute penalty for drawing blood.

Ray O'Donnell gave the Chatham club the lead early in the final frame, but Wood tied it up at 6:36 and netted the winner later on.

IN MEMORIAM

WARD — In loving memory of a dear father Duncan Ward who passed away December 22, 1952.
In tears I saw you sinking
We watched you fade away
Our hearts were almost broken
We knew you could not stay
But when I saw you sleeping
So peacefully free from pain
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.
Remembered by family.

GODIN — In loving memory of our dear son Chesley Godin, who was taken from us December 11, 1975.
Dear son there is never a sunset
Or an early morning dawn
That we do not think of you.
The one year you have gone
To some may seem a long time
But to us it is only a day.
So please, dear son,
Wherever, we're lonely and sad
And wonder why you're away,
Please forgive us for the tears
'Til we meet again in God's eternal home.
Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, brothers and sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

DOUCET — In loving memory of Grandfather, Wilfred W. Doucet, who passed away December 7, 1961.
The one I loved has gone to rest,
His soul true heart is still,
The hand that always helped me
Now lies in death's cold chill.
Sadly missed and always remembered, by granddaughter, Diane Doucet.

EMPLOYMENT

ANYONE INTERESTED in having envelopes stuffed and addressed? I would like to do this in my home. Phone 548-3907

SOCIAL WORKERS

This competition is open to both male and female applicants.
The Department of Social Services requires a list of qualified Social Workers available for employment in various locations, primarily in the Northeast, Northwest and Southeast portions of the Province.
In most cases, employment will be initially on a short term basis. However, in some areas, the possibility exists of developing into full-time employment.
Applications are invited from interested persons who are university graduates with major course work in a directly related social science or compatible discipline. Consideration may be given to applicants deemed to possess an equivalent combination of course work and directly related experience. Applicants are required to arrange to have a complete university transcript forwarded to the Civil Service Commission to support their applications.

NOTICE

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW BRUNSWICK
QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION

IN THE MATTER of the Quieting of Titles Act, R.S.N.B., 1973, being Chapter Q-4 and amendments thereto,
and
IN THE MATTER OF the Application of T. S. HACHEY and SONS LIMITED, a body corporate, with head office in the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick for a Certificate of Title
and
IN THE MATTER of a certain piece of land situate, lying and being on the north side of Main Street, in the City of Bathurst, in the county of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that T.S. HACHEY and SONS LIMITED, a body corporate, with head offices in the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, has made an Application to the Supreme Court of New Brunswick for a Certificate of Title under The Quieting of Titles Act, R.S.N.B., 1973, being Chapter Q-4, and has produced evidence whereby the said T.S. HACHEY and SONS LIMITED appears to be the owner in fee simple of the lands and premises described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land situate, lying and being on the north side of Main Street, in the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, more particularly bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a steel survey post set at the intersection of the northern boundary of Main Street with the western boundary of Texaco Canada Limited property thence, by the New Brunswick Grid Azimuth 14 degrees, 22 minutes, 30 seconds along the western boundary of Texaco Canada Limited property for a distance of 164.4 feet to a steel survey post set on the northern boundary of Lot No. 11 granted to the Justice of the peace for the County of Gloucester; thence 287 degrees, 42 minutes, 01 second along the northern boundary of Lot no. 11 granted to the Justice of the Peace for the County of Gloucester and Lot No. 10 granted to William Cormier for a distance of 110.4 feet to a steel survey post; thence 344 degrees, 10 minutes, 30 seconds along the western boundary of Water Lot No. C granted to Richard Cormier for a distance of 35 feet; thence 287 degrees, 42 minutes, 01 second along the northern boundary of Water Lot C granted to Richard Cormier for a distance of 120 feet; thence 164 degrees, 10 minutes, 30 seconds along the eastern boundary of Stedman's Oil Ltd. property and Gerard Levesque's property for a distance of 131.8 feet to a steel survey post; thence 106 degrees, 30 minutes, 30 seconds along the northern boundary of J.L. McNeil's property for a distance of 52.3 feet to a steel survey post; thence 106 degrees, 30 minutes, 30 seconds along the eastern boundary of J.L. McNeil's property for a distance of 93.1 feet to a steel survey post set on the northern boundary of Main Street; thence 286 degrees, 30 minutes, 30 seconds along the northern boundary of Main Street for a distance of 134.5 feet to the place of beginning.

RESERVING out of the above described lot a 15 foot right-of-way to be used in common with J.L. McNeil, his heirs and assigns, said right-of-way running from the northern boundary of J.L. McNeil property to the northern boundary of the Grantor's property.

THE WHOLE as surveyed by W.L. Doucet, New Brunswick Land Surveyor, and shown on Survey Plan dated March 30, 1976.

NOW, THEREFORE, any person or persons having or claiming any title or interest in the said lands and premises or any part thereof is required on or before the 31st day of December A.D., 1976, to file a Statement of Claim verified by Affidavit with the Registrar of the Supreme Court at his office in the City of Fredericton in the Province of New Brunswick, and to serve a copy thereof on Byrne, Riordon, and Lenihan, Solicitors for the said Applicant, at their offices, Suite 1-3, Eddy Building, P.O. Drawer T., Bathurst, New Brunswick.

AND IN DEFAULT THEREOF every such claim will be barred and the title of the said T.S. Hachey and Sons Limited will become absolute and indefeasible in law and in equity, subject to the reservations mentioned in the said Act.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that the said Application will be further dealt with on Friday, the 14th day of January A.D., 1977, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, before me, or such other Judge as then will be sitting in Chambers at the Gloucester County Court House, in the City of Bathurst, County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick.

DATED this 23rd day of November, A.D., 1976.

South Teteagouche UCW Elects Slate

Officers of the South Teteagouche United Church Women were elected at the annual meeting of the group held at the home of the president, Mrs. William Glover, on Dec. 15.

The slate includes Mrs. Kenneth Vance, president; Mrs. Ian Glover, vice-president (re-elected); Mrs. Harvey Murchie, recording secretary (re-elected); Mrs. Sanford Smyth, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Donald MacIntosh will resume her duties as treasurer.

It was agreed that conveners be appointed at the next meeting.

Prior to elections, the retiring president gave her remarks on her two-year period of office.

The regular monthly meeting opened with members repeating the UCW purpose. The devotional period was under the leadership of Mrs. Ervine Good, program convener, and began with singing O Come All Ye Faithful, followed by prayer and Lord's Prayer.

The first scripture reading given by Mrs. Donald MacIntosh was from Matthew Ch. 2:1 - 11 in "Good News For Modern Man". The second reading by Mrs. Harvey Murchie was from St. Luke Ch. 2 : 8 - 20 in the King James version.

A Christmas poem was read and the hymns, O Little Town of Bethlehem and Joy To The World were sung.

After the offering was received and dedicated, a short meditation and prayer closed the worship period.

Bible study on St. Matthew Ch. 18: 23 - 42 was led by Mrs. Wm. Glover.

Roll call was answered by seven members.

The minutes were approved as read and treasurer Mrs. Donald MacIntosh gave the financial report which was accepted.

Mrs. MacIntosh also read a letter from A. A. (Tiny) Bundrum, CNIB district administrator, acknowledging a donation from the unit.

Mrs. Wm. Glover read two letters from Miss Doniitha Jardine, stewardship secretary of Miramichi Presbyterial U.C.W. and another from the Department of Stewardship Services, Toronto.

Flower convener, Mrs. Gordon Vance reported sending a flower to a member who was in hospital.

Mrs. Kenneth Vance turned in money from the sale of an "In Memoriam" and requested on visiting the sick.

Mrs. Wm. Glover, outlook convener, reported on conditions said during the year. Her report was adopted. It was agreed that 25 bills be paid, also that treats be sent to shut-ins of the community for Christmas.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald MacIntosh who, along with Mrs. Hugh Smyth, will be in charge of lunch.

The meeting closed with members repeating the creed after which lunch was served by the ladies in charge.

ANN LANDERS

Too Aggressive Over Jilted Son

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old, Nora, is a high school senior. She went steady for seven months with Keith, also a senior.

Three weeks ago, Nora decided she wanted to go with others and broke off with Keith, making it clear she'd date him from time to time, but not exclusively.

Keith's mother is determined to "patch things up." She immediately wrote Nora a long letter and sent her a beautiful sweater. She phones daily to report Keith is depressed or not "feeling well" and rousses her terribly. All this pressure has made our daughter a wreck.

This evening Keith's mother came to our home and asked to see Nora alone. They visited for an hour. When she left, Nora was in tears. It seems Keith has developed a skin rash. The doctor says it's "emotional." The woman told Nora it is HER fault and she is morally obligated to go back to him "before he does something awful to himself."

Nora is beside herself. I am furious. My husband is fit to be tied. What should he done? — the War Spot in N.J.

DEAR WAR SPOT: A 17-year-old is no match for this aggressive woman. Invite her over and tell her in Nora's presence that you are sorry Keith is ill but Nora is not to be used as a drugstore prescription to cure her son's skin problems.

Explain that Keith's rash is not the result of Nora's rejection of him but rather his inability to accept the realities of the situation. Let her know that Keith must learn how to cope with disappointment and frustration because he is bound to be faced with it time and time again in the future. The boy needs therapy, not a mother who runs interference for him.

Assure Nora privately that she is not responsible for Keith's problems and she must not allow his mother to make her feel guilty — no matter what.

DEAR ANN: Recently a woman wrote to ask whether her sister-in-law was wacky because she wrapped the garbage in newspaper and tied it with a ribbon, sometimes "leaving with the box for five minutes." You told her to relax with the knowledge that her sister-in-law had the most beautiful garbage in town.

You could be wrong. If the letter came from Chicago she has stiff competition. My wife wraps her garbage in gift paper left over from holidays. She also saves bows and ribbon and especially enjoys surprising the trash collector with fancy "packages" from Marshall Field and Co. Any comment? — W.C.H.

DEAR W.C.H.: No. I just wish I had some of that woman's spare time.

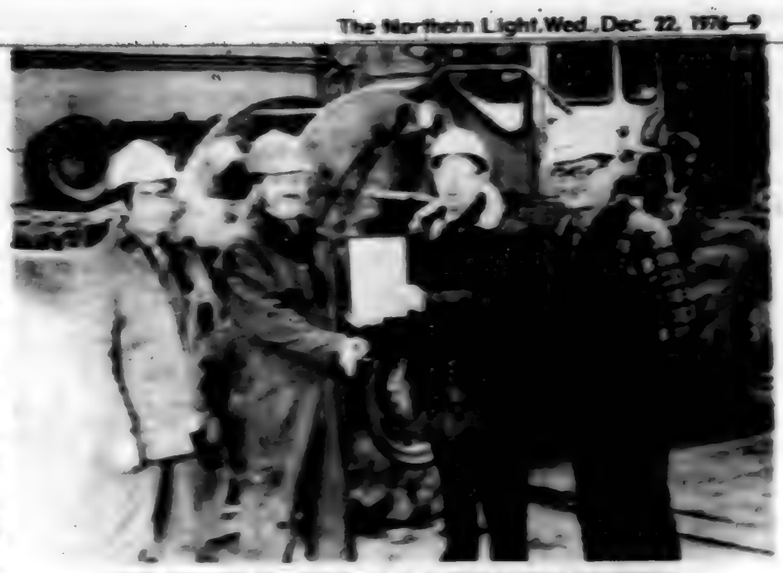
DEAR ANN: My parents were divorced three years ago. It was a bitter parting and the wounds have not healed.

Their only grandson will be five years old next month and I am having a birthday party for him. Mother says she won't come if I invite her ex-husband. Dad is crazy about the boy and I don't feel it would be fair to exclude him. What should I do? — Split Head

DEAR HEAD: Landers' Law: If a person says, "Don't come if you invite So-and-So" — THAT person should be told, "Sorry, see you."

Inform your mother that she can come AFTER the party, enjoy some birthday cake and ice cream and leave the boy all to himself.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers's new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It — A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," gives no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3366, Elgin, Illinois 60120.



TEN YEARS WITHOUT A LOST-TIME INJURY

An employee of The Wallace Handling Department at Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. Smelting Division, William Hudson, was the recipient of a safety achievement award recently upon completion of ten consecutive years without a lost-time injury. From left: D. Arsenault, foreman of material handling, Mr. Hudson, who is a truck driver, P. E. Comstock, department superintendent and G. Fillers, foreman of the auto repair shop.

DRAWS WINNER OF CHRISTMAS TURKEY

Tracy Colwell, Grade 2 student at Superior School, assisted by Co-chairman Allan White, draws the winning ticket for a turkey sponsored by the Superior Home and School Association. Tickets on the turkey draw were sold by Grade 7 and 8 students. Lorette Bertin, 839 Landry Lane, was the lucky winner.

Wins $2,500 Scholarship

The 1976 winner of the Modern Enterprises Limited $2,500 scholarship is Stephen Pyke of Dartmouth, N.S. who graduated from Dartmouth High School with exceptionally high honours. When he completed Grade 12 at the school, he was awarded a High Honor Prize and while attending school, proved himself to be a student with outstanding capabilities.

During his 1975 year, Stephen was awarded the John MacNeil Junior High School Finch Award for the highest academic achievement and the John Martin Junior High School Industrial Arts Proficiency Award for best all-round student. His application for an International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Scholarship received honourable mention out of 5400 applicants from Canada and the United States.

This fall, he will enter Dalhousie University in Halifax to follow a course in Engineering. He also received a scholarship from this university.

Stephen is keenly interested in sports, actively playing in hockey and baseball teams as well as softball. He supplements these activities with hunting, fishing and auto racing. The young man excels at anything in which he puts his mind and body to work.

Kevin Stewart, the 1975 scholarship, is entering the second year in Engineering at St. Mary's University in Halifax on Modern's five-year scholarship plan.

Hazel Hebert of Shippegan, 1974's co-winner, is entering third year studies at the University of Moncton where he is in the engineering course under the five-year scholarship.

Miss Diane Phillips, 1974's co-winner, continues her studies as a junior at the University of New Brunswick. This is her third year of Modern

STEPHEN PYKE

Enterprises Five - Year Scholarship.

Harrold Haugen, the 1973 winner, is entering his fourth year at Acadia University, Wolfville.

David Lynch, who was the scholarship in 1972, is still enrolled at the University of New Brunswick where he is taking his fifth year of the scholarship plan.

All these young people have proven to be worthy winners, and Modern Enterprises Ltd. extends sincere congratulations as they continue in their chosen fields of endeavor.

Dies In Port City

Funeral Here

The death of Nicholas Chamberlain of Saint John, a native of Blue Cove, Gloucester County, occurred Dec. 16 at Saint John General Hospital. He was 51.

Born at Blue Cove, he was a son of the late Edward and Louise (Arseneau) Chamberlain and was a resident of Saint John for over 30 years.

Mr. Chamberlain worked on the kitchen staff of Admiral Beatty Hotel and at other establishments, but was forced to give up work three years ago, due to ill health.

In earlier years, he played hoop with Neil Landry and the Lumberjacks, both on radio and on tour.

Surviving are his wife the former Viola Dempsey, two daughters, Mrs. Susan Jones of Sydney, N.S. and Mrs. Rejean Laforge (Rose) of Bertrand.

Two brothers, Theophile of Bertrand and Clifford of Bathurst, two sisters, Mrs. Delima Gamache and Mrs. Adele Cormier, both of Bathurst and one grandchild also survive.

Mr. Chamberlain rested at Elliston's Funeral Home in Bathurst.

Rev. L. Vermeersch and Rev. R. Legere officiated at the con-celebrated mass held at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church Monday at 11 a.m.

The pallbearers were Rejean Laforge, Roger, Eugene and Leo Gamache, Alex Bertin and Gregory Whalen.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Mary Avenue, pending burial in the spring.

Many relatives and friends from the Blue Cove and Bertrand areas were present.

Appointments Are Announced

Education Minister Gerald S. Merrithew has announced the appointment of two consultants in the Francophone division of the Department of Education.

Jean-Raymond Daigle assumes the position of consultant in the humanities and Pierre Dumas joins the department as a consultant in the special education branch.

Born in Edmundston in 1946, Mr. Daigle holds the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of education from the University of Moncton, master of arts from Laval University. Since 1972 he has been a history teacher at Cite des Jeunes A.M. Sormany d'Edmundston. From 1974 to 1976, he was a member of the school's board of directors and vice president of the National Society of Academy.

A native of Quebec, Mr. Dumas holds a bachelor of arts and bachelor of education degree from the University of Moncton. Since 1974 he has been a teacher at College St.-Louis Maillet and elementary consultant to School District No. 16. Mr. Dumas will specialize in education for physically handicapped children.

ROD BOUDREAU

Joins Real Estate Firm

Bathurst Builders Ltd. has announced the appointment of a well-known city resident, J. P. Rodrigue (Rod) Boudreau as residential sales representative for the company.

Since completing his education at St. Joseph's University, Memramcook, N.B., where he was awarded a commercial diploma, Mr. Boudreau has had a varied and interesting career.

From 1958 to 1964, Mr. Boudreau served with the Canadian Forces (Signal Corps) in the capacity of office manager. For three years following discharge he was associated with Lounsbury Co. Ltd. in the car sales and collections departments.

In June 1967, Mr. Boudreau joined Heatmaster Co. Ltd., remaining two years. His duties there included sales and estimates, planning in heating, plumbing, air-conditioning and electrical installations. He was also connected with appliance sales.

Mr. Boudreau, in July, 1969, purchased Roly's Dry Cleaners (1975) Ltd. and operated it as a successful venture until 1969. At that time he sold the business back to its original owner.

Mr. Boudreau is married to the former Jacqueline Egan of Bathurst, and they have two children, Andre and Nicole. The family resides at 467 Hennessy St.

HOWARD ROSS

Appointment Is Announced

Arthur J. Roy, agent, is pleased to announce the appointment of Howard D. Ross, a licensed and bonded realtor, as salesman for houses built by Bathurst Builders Ltd.

Mr. Ross has been associated with the sales field since 1960, first in insurance and later as an independent manufacturer's agent. For the past year he has served with Keystone Realty Ltd. in the capacity of residential sales representative.

Mr. Ross will be offering quality homes in three sections of Bathurst: Leisure Estates, in the popular North Tetagouche area, Golf St. and Winton Crescent in the city proper, and Brideau Subdivision, where Bathurst Builders is operating under the CMHC Assisted Home Ownership Program.

Pending the completion of new offices on St. Peter Ave., Mr. Ross will be working out of Bathurst Builders' temporary headquarters on Tetagouche Hill.

Real Caouette True Canadian

(By Stewart MacLeod)

Tributes keep pouring in from political leaders to the memory of Real Caouette, who in 1962, when he first burst into Parliament, almost feared as a Quebec nationalist.

"Fiery Quebec nationalist elected," said one newspaper. In these days that's about as close as we came to the word "separatist."

Who would have thought that 14 years later, Prime Minister Trudeau would be paying tribute to the late Mr. Caouette for his great contribution to Canadian unity? "Real Caouette had an unshakable faith in this country that could serve as an example to us all," he said.

REAL CAOUETTE

Mr. Caouette, it should be said, was never a separatist. But back in the early 1960s when the Social Credit MP was spreading his flamboyant oratory across his beloved province, many of us seemed to be highly suspicious of anyone with nationalist tendencies. And when the spellbinding Caouette entered Parliament, there was an air of alarm in some quarters.

Here was a Quebec nationalist, free to speak his mind without being influenced by a Liberal or Conservative caucus. What would he say?

The fact that such fears existed perhaps was an indictment of our two solitudes. We obviously knew very little about the man who would later become national leader of the Social Credit Party.

QUEBEC PROMOTER

He had been a highly vocal opponent of the Canadian National Railways naming its Montreal hotel the Queen Elizabeth. And he persistently attacked the then CNR president, Donald Gordon, for not promoting enough French - speaking executives. He talked about bilingualism in the public service long before it became a government project, and it seemed that his only interest was in promoting Quebec.

In those days, it seems, that made you suspect.

But it didn't take long for the Real Caouette to emerge after he began speaking from a national forum. And few could dislike what they say.

If the Social Credit MP, with his burning belief in monetary reform, was preoccupied with the betterment of Quebecers, it was all advocated with the frame-work of a Canada he obviously loved. As New Democratic Leader Ed Broadbent says, "he based most of his political activity on his profound commitment to the continuation of our more than 100-year history of federalism."

And, to the surprise of many, it turned out that his opposition to the Queen Elizabeth Hotel had nothing to do with his views on the Monarchy.

"Under our gracious Queen," Mr. Caouette said in 1966, "we have freedom and living standards that are the envy of the world."

When the Rouyn, Que., car salesman said that, English-Canadians suddenly listened.

LIKED GORDON

And after all the terrible things he said about Donald Gordon, it was interesting to see the two men meet for the first time in the office of Davie Fulton, former justice minister in the Diefenbaker government. It was after a parliamentary party, and a large group had been invited in for a sing-song.

Everyone wondered what would happen when Mr. Caouette spotted the dreaded Mr. Gordon. Would he walk out?

Not likely. Within minutes, the two men had their arms on each other's shoulders singing "I've been working on the railroad", and "Alouette".

That was typical of the former Social Credit Leader. Those who saw him only while he ranted and raved from a podium, or sent scorching sarcasms across the floor of the Commons, really missed a great deal. He was always much more revealing in his own office, laughing at himself.

"Of course I look indignant much of the time", he used to say. "I am in opposition and we must be indignant about what the government is doing. That applies to any government.

"But that's not the real me. Hell, did you ever see an indignant car salesman who is a success?"

We are all going to miss that successful car salesman.

NOTICE

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW BRUNSWICK
QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION

IN THE MATTER of the Quieting of Titles Act, R.S.N.B., 1973, and being Chapter Q-4 and amendments thereto,
and
IN THE MATTER of the Application of T.S. HACKEY and SONS LIMITED, of the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, for a Certificate of Title,
and
IN THE MATTER of a certain piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the Parish of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick.

NOTICE

NOTICE HEREBY GIVEN that T.S. HACKEY and SONS LIMITED, a body corporate, with head offices in the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, has made an Application to the Supreme Court of New Brunswick for a Certificate of Title under the Quieting of Titles Act, R.S.N.B., 1973, being Chapter Q-4 and has produced evidence whereby the said T.S. HACKEY and SONS LIMITED appears to be the owner in fee simple of the lands and premises described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the Parish of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at a point on the north side of the road to Bathurst as marked on Plan of Grant No. 29579, granted to John W. Bradbrook by His Majesty the King, thence northerly along the eastern side line of lands granted to the Reverend H.J. O'Leary to the southerly boundary of lands of Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited, thence easterly one acre in width along the southerly boundary of Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited, thence northerly following the easterly boundary of Bathurst Power and Paper Company lands to the rear of the lot, thence easterly along the rear of the lot to the westerly boundary of lot No. 56 granted to J.A. Arcineau, thence southerly along the aforementioned westerly boundary of lot No. 56 granted to J.A. Arcineau to the road aforesaid, thence westerly along the said road to the Place of Beginning.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING there out of the above described lands on the north side of the said road one acre in width from said east side line of lands granted to Rev. H.J. O'Leary from the point of beginning aforesaid easterly along the said road and extending northerly one and one-half acres in depth.

NOW, THEREFORE, any person or persons having or claiming any title or interest in the said lands and premises or any part thereof is required on or before the 31st day of December A.D., 1976, to file a Statement of Claim verified by Affidavit with the Registrar of the Supreme Court at his office in the City of Fredericton, in the Province of New Brunswick, and to serve a copy thereof on Burns, Riordon and Lenihan, Solicitors for the said Applicant, at their offices, Suite 1-3, Eddy Building, P.O. Drawer 'K', Bathurst, New Brunswick.

AND IN DEFAULT THEREOF, every such claim will be barred and the title of the said T.S. HACKEY and SONS LIMITED will become absolute and indefeasible in law and in equity subject to the reservations mentioned in the said Act.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that the said Application will be further dealt with on Friday, the 14th day of January, A.D., 1977, at the hour of ten o'clock in the afternoon, before me, or such other Judge as then will be Sitting in Chambers at the Gloucester County Court House, in the City of Bathurst, County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick.

DATED this 28 nd day of November, A.D., 1976.

DR. ANDRZEJ KUBACKI

Certified By Royal College

A local psychiatrist has successfully completed examinations for certification with the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, it was announced December 17 by the N.B. Department of Health.

He is Dr. Andrzej Kubacki, who is associated with Bathurst Mental Health Clinic, a provincial government adjunct of Chaleur General Hospital.

Dr. Kubacki was born in Poland in October, 1940, and received his medical diploma from the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Rzeszowa, Poland, in 1963. Subsequently, he successfully wrote his doctoral thesis in medicine at the University of Warsaw in 1969, after completing his training in psychiatry.

Emigrating to Canada in January, 1972, Dr. Kubacki joined the staff of the Mental Health Division, N.B. Department of Health. He came to Bathurst in 1973.

The following year he was sponsored by the Department of Health in the Dalhousie University residency training program based at Saint John General Hospital. In September, 1975, Dr. Kubacki returned to Bathurst and assumed his present duties.

GORDON PAYNE

With Ontario PaperCompany

The appointment of Gordon Buzz Payne to the position of personnel manager for the Port Frances, Ont. mill of the Ontario-Minnesota Pulp and Paper Company Limited was announced recently by Martin J. O'Brien, resident manager.

Mr. Payne commenced his industrial relations career with Consolidated Bathurst Ltd. in Bathurst. He has held a number of senior IR positions in the Canadian pulp and paper industry prior to joining O-M. His previous post was with MacMillan-Bloedel Ltd., Port Alberni, B.C.

Mr. Payne is married to the former Margot Ottam and they have two daughters, Kirsta and Gwenyth. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Payne, Sr. Rough Waters Dr., Bathurst.

CPL. DON RAMSAY

Wins "Good Show" Award

A former Bathurst resident, Cpl. Don Ramsay, along with four other air traffic controllers, has been decorated by the Department of National Defence.

Cpl. Ramsay and his colleagues are the recipients of Good Show Awards for their outstanding contributions to flight safety.

The incident, which is cited in the award, involved the unexpected descent of 13 United States Air Force fighter aircraft on Goose Bay during a period when extremely limited navigational aids were available.

The precision and improvisation of this team prevented any unsafe situation and controlled the aircraft to the ground in a minimum of time.

Cpl. Ramsay is the son of Keith Ramsay, Saint John, and of Mrs. Rae Taylor, Campbell River, B.C. Since he enrolled in the Canadian Forces in September, 1971, he has served on a number of ships. He is now stationed at Canadian Forces Station Goose Bay, Labrador.

No Conflict Of Interest Involved Says Member

Gloucester MP Herb Breau has defended his decision to accept a trip to Israel at the expense of the Israeli government, saying the journey will be valuable to his assessment of Canadian foreign policy.

Mr. Breau made the comment following a critical story about the upcoming trip in the Toronto Globe and Mail.

"Apparently it is immoral or bad to accept hospitality from a foreign government, but I just don't see how it is", said Mr. Breau. "I hope they (nine other MPs who are also scheduled to take the trip) are not going to be pushed around by the Globe and Mail. I really think there is an awful lot of hypocrisy and phoniness in the whole question of conflict of interest."

He said he wouldn't have accepted the trip to Israel if it were being paid for by a private group or company.

Mr. Breau said his wife will accompany him on the trip but he will pay all his expenses. He said he doesn't know how much the trip will cost the Israeli government or how much it will cost him to take his wife along.

HERB BREAU

He said he will be having dinner next week with an Arab ambassador at which time he will make clear the independence of his views and his willingness to visit Arab countries.

It is the first time he has ever taken a trip at the expense of a foreign government. Mr. Breau said. However, as a member of parliamentary delegations sponsored by the Canadian government, he has visited the United States and Japan, as well as countries in Europe, Africa and the Caribbean.

The trip to Israel is being paid for by the Israeli ministry of foreign affairs. Mr. Breau was asked to go because he's a member of the House of Commons external affairs committee and has shown an interest in Middle East issues.

In defence of the trip, Mr. Breau said that if he were to turn down all invitations from foreign governments, it would mean excluding himself from such things as dinners at embassies.

"If the principle is wrong, and not the amount of money involved, it would mean that I could not accept an invitation from the U.S. embassy to have dinner with the ambassador, unless I pay for the dinners, which is absurd."

Xmas Liquor Store Hours

The New Brunswick Liquor Corporation has announced store hours for the Christmas-New Years period.

Milk Business Sour Says Ex-Dairy Farmer

(By David Malcolm in the plain dealer.)

Ron Mundle quit dairy farming in the Bathurst region early this year and now works at the dairy farm at the Canada Department of Agriculture Research Station on the Lincoln Road, Fredericton. He said, "I've doubled my wage and cut my hours in half."

For twenty years Ron Mundle milked his cows seven days a week, just like all other dairy farmers. During that time he increased his herd to 35 milking cows, but he was not able to buy enough additional land near his own farm to grow the necessary feed. Then the government needed part of his land for a highway, making his farm even smaller. Then the government decided to impose a new milk marketing board.

Ron was tired of working seven days a week for the kind of wages he could pay himself. He also thought he would be crazy to try to move to a larger farm and invest up to $150,000 in a new and larger dairy unit, because he just knew he would never get his money back from it.

Ron believes the country, and the world, are in for a serious food shortage. He believes that farmers must be given greater returns for their products, or young people will not invest the money or time in farming when they can earn more and have a more varied life in other occupations. He said, "Why should a farmer not get a higher income for working seven days, than the person working four or five days?"

Import Quotas Came Too Late

Competition from imports along with financial difficulties experienced by one of the firm's backers have been cited as reasons for the closure of the Cirtex Knitting Inc. plant in Caraquet.

Company president Paul Itzkovits of Montreal said last week that import quotas announced recently by the federal government came "a bit too late for us."

Ataka and Co. Ltd. of Japan, one of the Cirtex shareholders, was a creditor for more than $300 million in the bankrupt oil refinery in Come By Chance, Nfld. which closed last year.

Because of that loss, Ataka is reorganizing and Cirtex is one of the investments the company is withdrawing from, Mr. Itzkovits said.

Cirtex maintains its head office, sampling office and warehouse in Montreal but without the Caraquet facility, the company will be as good as liquidated, he said.

A lawyer acting on behalf of Cirtex said creditors would be paid in full and on time.

The plant, valued at between $7 and $8 million and the most modern of its kind in Canada, employed about 150 workers.

MURPHY'S ESSO

the sign of quality

The signs of winter are starting to appear. Soon you'll be faced with the harsh realities of driving through another Canadian winter — deep snow, slippery roads, mud and slush. But these won't be a problem if you make your first sign of winter the Michelin sign. The blue & yellow sign of quality.

Michelin pioneered the development of winter radials and every Michelin winter radial must meet rigorous quality control standards to ensure total all-round winter performance you can count on for sure start/stop traction and dependable road handling, so crucial to winter driving.

Let us put your car in shape for any kind of winter weather at the sign of quality. MICHELIN.

When it comes to quality... MICHELIN makes no compromises! Isn't that the kind of tire you want?

Belledune Bulletin

By W. C. KILLORAN

Sympathy is extended the Noel family of Jacquet River upon the death of their father, Mr. George Noel on Friday, Dec. 3 at the age of 68.

The Belledune Women's Club held a Pot Luck Supper at the Recreation Centre on Wednesday, Dec. 8 for Belledune senior citizens and invited guests. Gifts were exchanged and Santa and his helper were present. Music was supplied by Mrs. Charles Devereaux.

Third-prize winners in the recent Kindness Club Essay Contest included Thomas Fournier and Rachel Young, grades five and six students respectively at the Belledune School.

The United Church Women of Belledune held a turkey dinner on Dec. 13 for Belledune senior citizens. Twenty members were present at the dinner, which was held at the Belledune Recreation Centre. Among the invited guests were Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Simons of New Mills.

Relatives and friends of Mrs. Hector Lanteigne were happy to learn she has been discharged from St. Joseph's Hospital, Dalhousie.

NBTel Will Be Busy At Xmas

Santa Claus won't be the only one busy on Christmas Day.

While the portly fellow goes about his business on December 25, NBTel expects to be almost as busy handling an estimated 200,000 long distance calls. That's about 12 per cent more than were made on Christmas Day, 1975. About 40 per cent of the calls will be made to the out-of-province and overseas locations.

Traditionally, there are more long distance calls placed on Christmas Day than any other day of the year. To meet these heavy demands, NBTel has installed additional circuits within the province, to other parts of Canada, the United States and overseas. In addition, more than 300 operators and supervisory staff will be on duty in NBTel's eight offices around the province.

Customers can also do their part to ensure their calls are completed.

Call early. Call late. You will have a better chance of getting through by placing your calls before or after Christmas Day.

Obtain telephone numbers before placing your calls.

Check the time differences in other areas of North America and in other countries. It may mean the difference between an answered and unanswered call.

Dial your own long distance calls within North America. It saves both time and money.

Report On 1976 CWL Convention

(Compiled by Mrs. Frank Hay national secretary-treasurer, from notes taken by members of the workshop held during Alumni weekend in Fredericton)

If Mary was living today, what would she say to the conveners, presidents and members of The Catholic Women's League of Canada Chapels Lido

Mary would encourage us to ask us to witness Christ in our daily lives by prayer and frequent attendance at the Eucharistic Celebration. By compassion for our neighbor, whom all mankind. By prayer in our daily lives we will find peace and joy and can then bring those qualities to our meetings with others to create harmony and a bond of fellowship.

There is fear and a lack of knowledge in today's world and Mary would remind us that the apostles were also afraid they prayed and went into the world to bring Christ's message.

Mary would tell us: 1) to be ecumenical and share with others and to have respect for the dignity and the beliefs of others; 2) to be aware of the problems in our own country as the Mission field as well as in the Third World - 3) - to help financially - to change our own materialistic attitude - 4) to become involved in Missions.

Mary would also advise us to have a spiritual program at our meetings in order to develop our own faith and understanding.

Organization

We must offer a program that is spiritual, practical and inspiring. We must show our communities and our members that we are dedicated to serving.

Every member must be given the opportunity to participate.

We, as members, should reach out to every Catholic Woman offering friendship and understanding. We should share with her our enthusiasm for the League, by informing her of our concerns and the action taken. The personal satisfaction of being involved and serving, makes it all worth while. Use as in the poster display as at the workshop.

Happiness is: Being Belonging, Contributing.

Happiness is: Caring, Sharing, Participating.

Happiness is: Being an active C.W.L. member.

Christian Family Life

Before the question could be answered, several points concerning family life today were raised.

Today parents are "forced" to inform their children much earlier about issues such as drugs, abortion, moral questions on sex etc. We thought Mary would say: Take a firm stand!

Parents expect their children to achieve what perhaps they were unable to do. Instead we should encourage our children to achieve goals themselves for a greater sense of personal fulfillment.

Mary would tell us we have lost sight of our values, that perhaps we are more impressed by our materialism by the man star than being as good citizens.

That we don't encourage our children to look to Mary for guidance as we ourselves do.

That we are pushing our young people to the point where they are turned off by our false set of values.

That we ourselves are 'society' and that we must stand up to issues rather than try to casually adapt ourselves to others who are trying to weaken our moral standing.

The women of today have many functions in the church. By being feminine, we can complement and help the pastor in his work without trying to replace him. Mary would have been able to take her place in the church and been secure in her position.

We should use the beautiful words of the Hail Mary "and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus" to teach our young children at an early age how sacred life is. This is the beginning of sound sex information.

Mary would tell us that discipline is needed and discipline with love appreciated by our children.

If she were here perhaps she would ask... where are the ten commandments? Who do you show them in a negative light and not in a positive way?

If she were among us she would see we are trying to follow Christian ideals and she would encourage us in our work as League members.

Cultural Life

Education: Mothers should be more concerned about the Catholic education of their children. Today, too many are shifting their responsibility on to the teachers. Children should learn the basics of their Catholic faith in the home. A return to praying Grace before and after meals and the daily Rosary, were given as examples of practices in the home that would strengthen our faith and the faith of our children.

She would tell us we are preoccupied with other things.

She would tell us to keep alert to School Board activities. Changes are sometimes brought about as a result of an article in a newspaper very carefully to detect a change that might be detrimental to our children's education.

Theology: Under this heading Mary would commend the lay people who are teaching catechism and would encourage these people to take a course in same.

This group wanted to return to Sunday sermons on what is right and what is wrong. Today young people never hear about purity self-restraint etc. They felt the sermons dealing with the readings of the Mass were not giving young people the necessary guidelines. They wanted more spiritual life at Catholic colleges.

Leisure: The group could hear Our Lady telling us to please spend our leisure hours or at least some of them, in helping others. As she was concerned for Elizabeth, let us be concerned for the elderly. Visiting them, and drawing them into the Christian community can be a rewarding experience for giver as well as recipient.

Bursaries: Our Lady would say to keep up the Coady Institute Bursary, especially Because her Divine Son loved the poor.

We feel if we can accomplish all or some of the things Our Lady seemed to be saying to us today, we will truly be 'Living the Mystery of Christ through Mary His Mother'

Resolutions and Legislation

The women in this group, while exceptionally interested Christian motivated members were "Doer's" and had given little thought to Mary in relation to this conveners hip. While participating fully in the workshop they felt that by following the directives and guidelines on resolutions and legislation, they would indeed be fulfilling their obligations and responsibilities under this conveners hip.

Provincial Presidents

One of these groups spent a few minutes, first of all in silent reflection on their individual role in the League, how they were living their lives today, what they were doing was what Mary would expect of them. Some of the sharing dealt with the importance of the spiritual aspect of example of our lives, the great need of prayer, the realization of our own limitations and the acceptance of others as they are.

As a result of the sharing they came up with the following resolutions which they felt would help to make us more Christ like:

Daily prayer for one another and the projects undertaken by all the League members across Canada.

To be kind to others helping those in need and distress and the bereaved.

Promote Leadership courses.

Make monthly meetings more interesting, alloting time for Scripture reading and reflection, educational programs, trying to have the Executive take care of as much business as possible before regular meetings.

Have an occasional Mass at monthly meetings. Make the program enjoyable. We need fun.

Try to bring at least one new member into the League, not by pushing but by example.

Mary would say, keep working, keep growing, and she would join the C.W.L.

My Son lives in you - live in Him. Radiate your joy to draw others. Let your heart be open to the will of the Father. God will speak to you through the ideas and suggestions of your members. Be aware of my Son's presence in them and treat them kindly, courteously and tactfully. Lead humbly, pray much, reach out and touch others - do not be afraid to show your concern.

Develop your sense of humour, stress the positive. Accept people as they are. Be glad you are a woman - accept yourself as you are. Be quick with recognition. Do all in love.

Love my son with your whole being and everything else will fall into place.

She would have encouraged us to communicate with each other which is the first step, open our minds to listen to others and try not to impose our will, but to think of others and help them as we would like to be helped.

She would have encouraged us to give a little more of ourselves in spite of what we think our priorities are or what is convenient to us. Giving a little more, even if it meant more sacrifice on our part.

Mary would urge us as mothers to keep our family together, encourage the individuals of the family to work together and adapt to each other, to love one another more.

Mary would be most understanding of the obstacles in our present hectic modern day living, but her message would be the same - "Love my Son, try to spread that love by example, by sacrificing and working hard to attain the goals you are striving for. My Son will look after you and reward you.

To lead with a decisive and charitable attitude.

To encourage each member to serve to her full capacity.

Obedience to the will of God.

More than ever, a Christian upbringing of family life by example and guidance.

To invite the Director to lead members in a more meaningful spiritual program at each meeting as well as any undertaking chosen by the group.

Mary's life was a balance of work and prayer. We should have purity of intention. Mary's every action was done in the presence of Christ. We should be more prayerful. We should consider ourselves: take time out to pray, family prayer: our family should be a prayerful family. We should try to foster family prayer.

Actions speak louder than words... Thy will be done.

Our minds should be open to God, open to follow.

A leader should have a spiritual life.

We are just beginning to realize that the Lord is speaking to us direct and not just through the Holy See.

Be open and listen and pray.

Pray for one specific thing each day... Make children aware of Mary's protection.

Devotion to Mary, bring back

(See Report, Page 10, Col. 4)

ARTHRITIS

From the birth of her first child, who is now 28, my sister suffered from arthritis. Until she went to see Mr. J. A. Desfosses, that is. Since that time she is well and happy.

As a result of this success, I have discussed a personal health problem with M. Desfosses. This is because I am convinced that he will be as successful with me as he was with my sister. Mrs. P. A. Daigle, 228 Albert St., Fredericton, N.B.

Also, I am very grateful for what Mr. Desfosses did for my sister and want to thank him on her behalf.

MAYOR AND COUNCILLORS

Companies Share Local Prospects

Metallgesellschaft Canada, wholly-owned subsidiary of Metallgesellschaft A.G. of Frankfurt, West Germany, and Terra Nova Explorations, a subsidiary of Price Bros. Pulp and Paper Co., under separate agreements, are participating in the Bathurst area copper-lead-zinc-silver prospects of Sabina Industries, it is revealed in a filing statement to the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

The properties include Sabina's 67-claim Tomogonops and the 119-claim Spring groups, a few miles south and west of the Sabina-United States Steel Nine Mile Brook properties, and the 138-claim North Blocks group, north of the Nine Mile Brook properties.

Terra Nova has the option to earn a 75 per cent interest in the North Blocks by work expenditures of $250,000 and property payments totalling $260,000 by Sept. 30, 1979.

The other deal is more complex, divided into non-funding and funding.

Under an agreement dated July 9, 1976, Sabina pooled its Tomogonops and Spring groups with claims owned by Jamex Explorations and McFinley Mines, a total of 497 claims. They then entered into the usual option arrangement with Metallgesellschaft, the three companies sharing a net profits royalty of 15 per cent for first six years of production and in property payments totalling $320,000 over a period of five years.

Sabina and Jamex will participate with Metallgesellschaft in funding a $600,000 program from Dec. 31 1976 to Dec. 31, 1978, with the former two companies putting up a total of $150,000 in the $600,000 program. This three-company funding group is entitled to 85 per cent of the quoty.

On The Subject Of Santa Claus

Santa Claus has a universal importance. He has an economic role (press, displays, radio, television) ; he has selling power.

He also has a mythological role. Charles Aznavour said: "Should anyone ask me if I believe in Santa Claus, I would answer 'yes'. I am thirty-six years old. I have never stopped believing in Santa Claus.

"Each one has his Santa Claus. One believes in the children's Santa Claus until the age of six or seven and after that one believes in the other Santa Claus. The Santa Claus for adults, one might say, is the personified hope of finding a little joy and happiness, of encountering the miracle of love, the Prince Charming. Men heap upon him what they do not possess, what they desire." It is a productive myth and, what is more, a bearer of incontestable human values.

Is Santa Claus a dangerous rival of Christ Jesus who comes?

A real danger exists psychologically. Santa Claus can become overwhelmingly important for children. The child is easily attuned to the marvelous world of promises and joys that Santa Claus represents.

There is the risk of mix-up between this mythical personage and the person of Christ. At worst it could lead to doubt, to reducing the historical facts of the incarnation to a sort of marvelous myth. The focus of Christmas for children would become Santa Claus and not the Lord Jesus.

What is to be done about this?

It is impossible to make Santa Claus disappear from the radio, from shop windows, from televisions, etc. The Santa Claus of the department stores can coexist with real faith in Christ developed at home and through catechism classes.

Certainly, in family relations it is preferable to eliminate the bearded old gentleman. What chiefly matters is not only to say: "The gifts do not come from Santa Claus".

This is not the whole truth. In catechism class it is explained as follows: "We give presents to one another to express our joy at the coming of Jesus, God's great gift to man."

If you do not want the child to set his heart first of all on Santa Claus coming on Christmas eve, you must develop his personal faith in the living Christ, presented in his true light and from all sentimentality, childishness or legendary marvels.

PET NEWS

Christmas

By Marguerite Morrison

(Copyright)

A star - music of angels from afar,
A stall - a little donkey's soft footfall,
A child - by breathing cattle lullabied.

A Christmas of so long ago,
And still the bells ring sweet and low
Peace, be still, all men of goodwill.

And so for creatures kin we pray,
The furred, the feathered, captive, stray
That peace may come to them today.

Wishing you all a very Merry Christmas, and be sure your pets are warm, well-fed and in your own home at all times.

Gov't Makes Formal Offer

Natural Resources Minister Robert Bendiven announced December 16 that the provincial government through Bathurst Woodland Holdings, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the New Brunswick Forest Authority, has made a formal offer to purchase Brunswick Mills Ltd. and associated New Brunswick companies from the owners. It is expected that the purchase will be finalized on Dec. 30, 1976.

The purchase offer includes $20,000 to the principals for shares, and the assumption of their bank loan and a long term debt guarantee of $2,500,000, said Mr. Bendiven. In addition, $1,500,000 will be made available to Brunswick Mills for the settlement of accounts.

Mr. Bendiven emphasized again that the government decision to proceed was influenced by the desire to retain control over the development aspects of the Pilot Project Program and allow time to secure the longer term stability of the jobs involved. With this in mind, the mill will be offered for sale to a number of interested parties as soon as practicable. The successful purchaser will have the responsibility of making the necessary changes to the mill configuration.

The mill will be closed as of December 31 and key staff retained to secure the plant and assist in the sale. Additional funds will be provided to cover these costs until a sale is concluded, Mr. Bendiven said.

BIBLE DIGEST: "For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit." 1 Peter 3:18.

The purpose of His death was that we might live abundantly here and eternally there with Him. The same Spirit that quickened Him is calling you now. Don't turn Him away. The blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son, cleanseth us from all sin.

Service to others is the true Xmas meaning

The Golden Rule ranks in history with the great pronouncements on the rights of man. It is also the distinguishing badge of ethical greatness. It says in a sentence the whole substance of the teachings of the law and the prophets on conduct between individuals and between groups.

The Golden Rule is also an invitation to take the initiative in giving service. One reason that the world sometimes finds dull and uninteresting is that we are so wrapped up in our own affairs that we do not enter others' lives.

There can be no grander boast, more filled with assurance of personal competence, less barricaded with pretense of guilt, than "I serve."

The teachers of all faiths and the moralists of all schools of philosophy have continually laid their emphasis on every one's duty to others. The codes of ethics of the professions and business lay stress upon service to clients and customers.

Carroll Carroll, who originated and wrote Bing Crosby's "Music Hall" for ten years, said: "I don't think I'm any smarter a person for it. I think I'm obligated to be 'no better.'"

Everyone is under obligation, though everyone's quota of responsibility may be different. Duty is proportionate to one's status and ability. One person's duty may be higher than another's, but no one can opt out of doing what his place in life requires of him.

New techniques and new social views produce a changed environment with responsibilities never before encountered, but the basic duties remain. As Richard L. Evans put it in a radio broadcast from Salt Lake City: "After all, we owe a kind of rent, if we may call it that — or at least an obligation — for the space we occupy on earth, for the tenancy and tenure we have here, for the beauty and the sustenance, and the privilege of living life."

We owe also some expression of gratitude for the insights and inspirations that give sparkle and meaning and sense of accomplishment to our lives. Michael Faraday, who was one of the world's greatest scientists, was showing an experiment to his wife on Christmas Day, 1821, when he got the idea that turned out to be the basic principle of all electric generators and motors. Every year at Christmas time he gave a series of lectures to young people to pay, as he thought, the debt he owed. The great scientists of England, said C.F. Kettering, Vice-President of General Motors, in a radio talk, have continued these Christmas lectures through the years.

The Golden Rule

There is much of the spirit of the Golden Rule in any sort of service, personal or business or social. The essence of practical ethics is found in it. almost every world religion contains an equivalent of the Golden Rule. It is, by and large, the motivating influence in the conduct of all men and women who profess to play the game of life on the up-and-up.

The Golden Rule is practised in societies widely separated in their evolutionary development. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, born in Arnes, Manitoba, made important contributions to the causes of Arctic exploration, archaeology, and ethnology on behalf of the Canadian Government and Harvard University. He wrote an impressive tribute to our Arctic citizens in A Treasury of Science, Harper and Bros., 1943: "On the basis of my years with the Stone Age Eskimos I feel that the chief factor in their happiness was that they were living according to the Golden Rule."

When human society matures to the point where it lives by the Golden Rule it will have started to build a civilization of a very high order.

The idea is not new. The origin of the Golden Rule has been attributed to Confucius, the sage of China. When he was asked, 500 years B.C., to give in a word the principle for the conduct of life, he replied: "Perhaps the word reciprocity will do. Do not unto others what you do not want others to do unto you." The Christian way of saying it is positive: "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Immanuel Kant, German professor of logic and metaphysics, said in his formulation of the categorical imperative in 1781: "Act so that the maxim of your act could be made the principle of a universal law."

Dr. George A. Dorsey of the University of Chicago left no room for doubt about the value of the Rule: "In the whole history of human thought there has been voiced only one rule of conduct of the slightest value as a standard for human behaviour. It is applicable to individuals, families, communities, cities, states and nations: 'As you would that men should do to you, do you also to them likewise'."

However, the Golden Rule needs to be applied with intelligence and good judgment. Other people may not desire the same treatment as you desire. A wise person does not shove what he thinks is good down the other fellow's throat.

The Golden Rule is not something to be looked upon as a profession of faith merely. It is not enough to understand the needs of others as you would have them understand your needs. The emphasis is on the word "do".

Personal service

Service is a creative expression of self. If a person does not give something of himself to others, he dries up, shrinks, peters out. On the other hand, giving of himself adds to his enjoyment of life. It expands his area of interests. It gives him a feeling of participating.

An important question to ask frequently is: what value are we to our friends in their bad times as well as in their good times? Orestes said in one of Euripides' plays: "They have the name of friends but not the worth, who are not friends in our calamities."

There are some services that money cannot buy: kindness, thoughtfulness, courtesy, consideration, tolerance, showing appreciation, and good nature. These are individual services, given according to one's opportunities and the opportunities one can make.

Most people have found that their personal satisfactions are increased when they pay attention to meeting the needs and desires of other people. In his radio broadcast following his coronation the late King George VI said: The highest of distinctions is the service of others. This has been called "The principle of otherness," and it has been referred to as man's noblest task. It is evidenced first in the family, where parents subordinate their self-regarding feelings to other-regarding feelings in the rearing of their children.

The enjoyment derived from almost any possession and from the majority of our activities is magnified by the act of sharing it with someone else. One's pleasure is doubled when communicated to a friend, and one's griefs are halved. Pleasure is gained by giving pleasure.

The application of the Golden Rule makes demands not only upon the will, but upon the reason, the imagination and the feelings as well. Imagination is needed: the mental suppleness and flexibility which enable a person to move his perspective about and to see the situation as it looks through the eyes of others.

The resulting sympathy is the purest expression of social feeling. It regenerates in our minds the feelings of others. It leads to empathy, which is intellectual identification with or vicarious experiencing of the feelings, thoughts and attitudes of another person. It is feeling intensely about a problem outside yourself.

One cannot give service if he shuts himself away from the world. The most rewarding services are the outcome of shared feeling. Here we extend to an afflicted person not only material aid when appropriate but compassionate, personal, supportive warmth.

Type of service

Many people are not self-sustaining. They are not capable of coping with the obligations which society imposes upon them. Just as among creatures living in the state of nature, there are human beings in the most civilized of societies who are weak or slow of fruit or short of "know how."

Service to such persons can take many forms, reflecting one's talents. Everybody has something to contribute: some art or skill, idea, the ability to bring order out of perplexity. It is a service when you aid a person to get something he needs or wants very much. Longfellow said: "Give what you have. To someone, it may be better than you dare to think."

Actions are to be judged by their consequence, not by their intentions. They are to be looked upon as right if they contribute to welfare. It is well, then to plan one's objectives in terms of the need it will serve rather than in terms of the form one would like it to take.

There have been many examples of heroic service. The life of Albert Schweitzer is a living testimony to the high value placed by society on selfless service. The schoolboy who became Lord Byron had a malformation of one foot, and this lameness was the cause of much physical suffering in childhood and of mental anguish throughout his life. When at school, he was unable to fight a bully who was beating another boy. Robert Peel, Byron offered to take half the blows. Recall, too, the courage of Horatio in Shakespeare's Hamlet. Confronted by the ghost, he said, though startled by its appearance, "If there be any good thing to be done that may to thee do ease, and grace to me, speak to me."

Growing up

Every organism, from the lowest to the highest, is normally engaged in some sort of social life. Our status in a group, our reputation, our role, and our conception of our place among our associates, and our contemporaries, all of these grow upon us and expand in importance as we progress toward intellectual maturity.

That advancement is being made in a time of technical, economic and social change. This offers everyone the opportunity to help people to avoid being submerged by the rising tide of a new way of life.

It is just as futile to argue for continuance of things precisely as they have been as to rush into making changes just because we have been doing things for long enough in the old way. Our society is flexible, seeking to adjust its conditions to its changing needs.

People of good will are striving to keep our society responsibly in adjustment to changing life conditions, and herein lies the great power and obligation to contribute voluntarily to the movement of those who find themselves unable to cope.

Not only men and women of business and industry, but businesses also, have been

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, "Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him" . . .

And, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

Quebec - NB Link Studied

Members of the Campbellton-Dalhousie Airport Company met last week with officials of Quebecair to study improved service from Air Gaspe which will link Charlo Airport with Seven Islands and other Quebec centres.

The meeting was the latest in a series with Quebecair and was attended by a full membership of the airport company, headed by President Allan Maher of Dalhousie. Also in attendance was Restigouche MP Maurice Harquail, a former deputy mayor of Campbellton and member of the airport company.

It is urgent that improved air links be established with the Quebec centres, said Mr Maher following the meeting. He said substantial traffic could be generated if an adequate air service could be provided.

At the same time, the Dalhousie mayor said, EPA is being urged to establish "as soon as possible" air links between the major cities of the Maritimes, which would give Charlo direct connections in all major centres of eastern Canada.

Victorians Sent First Holiday Greeting Cards

Sending and receiving greetings of the season is one of the most enjoyable of Christmas chores, and we can all thank Victorian England for this charming custom.

To be more specific, we can thank a Victorian gentleman who was too busy during the holiday season of 1843 to send his customary notes to friends, wishing them the best of the season. So it was that Henry Cole asked a friend to design a printed card that he could send to friends in place of the usual hand-written note.

The friend, artist John C Horsley, illustrated a group of celebrants raising their glasses in a toast, flanked by illustrations of others feeding the poor and clothing the needy. The message read, "A merry Christmas and a happy new year to you."

It wasn't long before the printed greeting card appeared in America, designed by one R. J. Pease, a dry goods merchant from New York state, who sent out cards advertising his goods.

However Louis Prang, a lithographer living in Boston during the 1800's is known as the father of the American Christmas card. Charles Dickens is said to have sent Prang a Christmas card received from a friend. Prang printed the card for his family and friends and later began creating his own cards in 1874.

Greeting cards have changed greatly since that first card sent out by Henry Cole and no doubt that good gentleman would be amazed at the diversity of designs sent through the mails at Christmastime.

the Rosary.

Members not able to be active feel they have nothing to contribute, but they do, in prayers they offer for the League's intentions.

Live each day as best you can and do what you can to fulfill your obligations to help others and have respect for life.

Where we have so much we should share our abundance with the underprivileged of the Third World. Since poverty is the world's biggest problem we should have more "hunger meals" for sharing with the Third World and become more sensitized to their problems.

Our Lady would remind us of the message at Fatima and ask why no one mentions the First Saturday any more... she is glad we are praying a decade of the Rosary with such fervor.

Are we sitting and talking too much instead of visiting the sick, nursing homes? She would emphasize love of neighbour, but you can't love your neighbour if you don't give women their rights.

She would counsel us to accept our roles in the times we live - become more community oriented and 'let our light shine' i.e. not be ashamed to be known as Catholics and C.W.L. members.

She might counsel us to show our leadership by our decisions, serving with confidence. As a result of our leadership we can instill this quality in younger women and benefit them as 'persons'.

'The buck stops here' - you have to make the decision and accept the responsibility.

We should arrange to take leadership in spiritual activities such as mini-retreats, catechism teachers in parishes.

Mary prayed - we too must be women of prayer - pray for guidance in our work.

To summarize:

1. She would join the C.W.L. and would say every Catholic woman should be a member.

2. We should try to reach out to all women with understanding - so they would want to be members.

3. We must offer a program to show we are giving a service to humanity, a program that is spiritual, practical and inspiring.

4. It is important for women to take part in the church in ways that women are uniquely suited to serve.

5. Mary would counsel women not to seek the highest positions but rather to serve humbly.

6. She would ask "Where are the ten commandments? Show them to your children in a positive way".

7. Keep working, keep growing, radiate your joy to draw others, and develop your sense of humour.

8. Accept your roles in the times you live, become more community oriented and 'let your light shine'.

9. Invite the Director to lead members in a more meaningful spiritual program.

10. To witness Christ in your homes, neighbourhood. Observe, judge, and take action.

11. Live each day as best you can to fulfil your obligations to help others and have respect for human life.

12. Provide honest answers to children on matters of sex and morality. Mothers should be more concerned about the Catholic education of their children, do not shift the responsibility to the teachers.

Candle In The Window

(There is an old custom in Russia, still adhered to by Christians, of placing a candle in the window on Christmas Eve to light the Mother Mary to the Inn.)

Shine out, little candle, across the snow,
Lend your humble light,
Mary, the Mother, passes near
Candle lent sings aright.
Mary, the Mother, journeying
On to the Inn.

Shine out, little taper, the night is dark.
I have known her pain
Nurtured a child upon my breast —
Given it back again.
Empty the cradle stands, and more
Empty my heart.

Oh, was it a dream that her shadow stood
As she passed my door?
Or did she pause to heal and bless,
Know Known me as one with her?
Mother of Mercy, gentle soul,
Seeking the Inn.

Shine out, light of heaven, and lead her there.
Thickly falls the snow;
Weary the feet of her, who goes,
Walking in travail slow.
Saving the world by the gift she bore
There to the Inn!

New Bandon Group Makes Commitment

A very special commitment has been made by members of the New Bandon CGIT. The group has joined Foster Parents Plan of Canada and adopted 12-year-old Mariam Ouedraogo of Upper Volta, Africa.

Mariam, her parents, and two cousins live in the village of Songodin. They, along with other villagers, belong to the Mossi Tribe and speak Moore. None of the family can read or write, and Miriam does not enjoy formal education as there is no school in the village.

The Ouedraogos live in a circular mud compound in three huts, one of which is reserved for passing strangers. At night, the compound is shared with the family's 12 goats. If the family's millet supply runs out before the September harvest, it is necessary to sell off some goats to buy more millet. In this way, animals are viewed as a form of savings account.

The family works very hard to eke out an existence. They earn just enough to pay their relatively high taxes ($5.21), feed and shelter themselves, and, if the harvest is good, to buy a few small extras. For the most part, they live outside the money economy and are almost completely self-sufficient.

They cultivate millet, cotton, peanuts, beans and peas. The peanuts, cotton and peas are cash crops raised to pay the taxes whereas the millet and beans are for the family's consumption only.

Farming methods remain unchanged and the short-handled hoe is their principal tool. Crops are poor due to inadequate rainfall and infertile soil. During the dry season (October - May) when lack of rainfall makes farming impossible, Mariam and her mother and cousin make string from cotton. Then Mariam's father, Rimyensian, weaves the string into narrow strips of cloth. Some of these are used to make the family's clothing but the majority are sold at market and later made into clothing or blankets. Rimyensian also makes baskets and mats from millet straw which he sells at market. The proceeds go to pay taxes and to buy kola nuts and tobacco.

MARIAM OUEDRAOGO

The Ouedraogos suffer from the typical tropical African illnesses. Malaria is endemic as are various intestinal parasites and a disease called guinea worm. The latter enters the debilitates the body, making physical movement and work difficult and very painful.

Mariam's father has leprosy which is common in this area, but he has been treated at the local hospital. Mariam and her cousins were vaccinated for measles in 1975. The children walk to the pond once a week to bathe but seem to get just as dirty on the long dusty trip home so good hygiene is almost impossible.

Despite her young age, Mariam plays an important role in the work of the family. She is responsible for watching and watering the goats and taking them to find grazing land. On her way home, she picks wild leaves to use in the evening cooking. She also gathers wood for the cooking fire and helps cook and washes the family's few dishes. Like all children, she enjoys sitting around the fire at night listening to the story-telling.

The Mossi are very good to their children. If their's is a life filled with the physical struggle to survive in an inhospitable environment, it is also a life filled with laughter, close family ties and pride in their culture.

New Bandon CGIT's monthly contribution of $19 brings help not only to the foster child, but to every member of the family.

Always Happens In December

A happy Christmas can change in a few moments into a family tragedy warns Fire Marshal H. J. Fournier in homes where fire safety precautions are neglected.

It always happens in December. Christmas trees, decorations and gift wrappings, they all add up to greater home fire danger.

The Fire Marshal urges the public to exercise special care during the festive season, and draws attention to the following important points in preparation for the Christmas holiday.

If plans call for a natural tree it should be bought fresh and green, and be kept outdoors or in an unheated garage before being brought into the home for decorating. The tree should be set up with the butt in water and should be maintained above the level of the diagonally cut end.

Also special care must be given to checking strings of electric lights for worn installations, broken bulbs or loose sockets. The Fire Marshal urges you to use only CSA approved lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations should be used.

It is also a very good practice to declare the tree a non-smoking area and keep matches out of the hands of children.

Even artificial trees can be serious fire hazards. Metallic trees are conductors of electricity, and should not be decorated with strings of lights but illuminated with flood lights. Christmas trees made of plastic material or styrene material are very flammable and should not be used.

Christmas also brings temptations to many parents, while visiting with neighbours or completing last minute shopping, to leave small children unattended for short periods of time.

The employ of a reliable babysitter is the best insurance of freedom from worry if you plan a get together with friends. Never leave small children alone at Christmas "or at any other time".

Dispose of gift wrappings as soon as the gifts are opened and all trees should be removed from the home as soon as possible after the Christmas celebrations.

A Christmas gambol oft could cheer
A poor man's heart through half the year.

THE STRANGE CREATURE

(Contributed)

There's a new type of creature emerging on earth,
I'll describe him to you for whatever it's worth.
He comes out of hiding in winter, I'm told,
He rejoices in weather that's
"terribly cold."
He leaves the warm fireside,
his wife and his kids,
Climbs onto a motor belt and two skis.
The machine comes to life, he is ready to go,
But he can't cause as yet
there is no sign of snow.
For the past 18 days he's been wearing a suit,
That is covered in zippers from parka to boot,
And mittens, and helmet and mask on his head.
"My god", says his wife, "must you wear that to bed?"
Then it finally happens, the ground has turned white,
He's on his machine and he roars out of sight.
On the flat he'll crouch down,
on a corner he'll lean,
And they tell me his blood is now pure gasoline.
Over hill, over river, through marsh and round trees,
Over rockpile and sandpit, yet down on his knees.
He looks like he's praying as onward he flies,
Is it a monster or man? All we see are his eyes.
He'll go charging ahead when it's 20 below,
Screaming into a blizzard of an rushing snow.
By what demon possessed is this new breed of man
Who finds joy in a snowstorm like no human can?
But what happens in summer
when snows are not there?
Is he out on the porch in an old rocking chair?
No. He's inside the house for the whole world to see,
Sitting there on his snowmobile watching T.V.

Speaker's Topics To Deal With Nutrition And Metrics

Vice-president Mrs. Gary Knowles conducted the Dec. 2 meeting of the Stonehaven Women's Institute Branch in the absence of Mrs. Fred Hornibrook, president.

The meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Daley, opened with singing of O Canada, repeating Mary Stewart's Collect, salutation of the flag and singing of God Save The Queen.

Roll call was answered by 15 members. Several visitors were also present.

The minutes were approved and the financial report given by Mrs. Burton Comeau, treasurer, was accepted, after being seconded by Eric Ellis.

A get-well card to be sent to Mrs. Fred Hornibrook, a patient in Chaleur General Hospital, was signed by all members and visitors.

Discussion on the metric system followed. It was decided to invite Miss Huberte Leger, district home economist, to attend the January meeting to explain the metric system, and also speak on nutrition.

Mitts were turned in at the meeting for distribution purposes.

Mrs. Peter Breau moved that each member bring jams or jellies to be given to Letitia Wiseman, Moncton, as well as several pairs of mitts. The motion was seconded by Mrs. Douglas Daley.

Several pairs of mitts were also sent to Miss Tom Earley and the remaining ones to the Salmon Beach School.

Mrs. L. Dugas gave a reading entitled, Mother Back In America. Mrs. Elsie Ellis read Memories of Christmas and Mrs. Douglas Daley gave two readings, entitled, Gift For Jesus and Stars.

Mrs. E. Ellis conducted a contest and the winner was Mrs. Eldon Scott.

It was decided to send out several Christmas greeting cards.

Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members.

Mrs. Burton Comeau invited the Institute to her home for the next meeting with Mrs. Henry Scott and Mrs. David Scott to be hostesses.

A delicious lunch was served following adjournment.

Air Service Affects Cities Like Bathurst

(An article reprinted from the current edition of North-East Magazine and published as a community service in co-operation with Bathurst Chamber of Commerce)

What does Thief River Falls, Minnesota, have in common with Rhinelander, Wisconsin? Among other things, both of these essentially rural communities have bustling airports served by North Central Airlines, the Midwest regional carrier with corporate headquarters at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport. More importantly, perhaps, these cities offer proof that airline service has a strong, positive economic impact on intermediate-sized cities.

Scheduled flights give these communities what a Minneapolis-based firm of transportation and environmental consultants refers to as "quick and convenient access for management, financial and marketing personnel. That access is essential," David Brasiau Associates, the consulting firm, says, "if they want to remain competitive with these larger centers." (Brasiau Associates filed its report after a two-year research program covering communities of different populations and economic interests at locations both on and off North Central's routes.)

Scheduled air service has both directed and indirect impacts. Primary direct impacts consist of actual airline and airport-related employment, payroll, and purchases by airport-related employment. The recycling of these dollars by employee purchases for food, goods and services, and by the industries from which the direct purchases are made, result in secondary impacts. The additional employment, income and expenditures, then, are generated by a "multiplier" effect of the direct impacts of air service on a community.

In its 1976 report, Brasiau Associates estimated that each dollar spent is actually worth $2 or $3 to the community. Therefore, a regional carrier like North Central Airlines contributes to the day-to-day economy of its cities through payroll and purchases, space rental, and landing fees; and provides impetus for even greater local economic activity.

Thief River Falls, a city of about 9,000 inhabitants tucked away in north-western Minnesota, exemplifies this multiplier effect. Manufacturing and agriculture are important facets of the region's economy: Arctic Enterprises, Inc., the largest U.S. snowmobile manufacturer, is headquartered in that city, and local farmers raise sugar beets, potatoes, wheat and various other grains for processing in the area. Dealers in those products, prospective customers, and marketers of farm or industrial equipment and supplies fly regularly to Thief River Falls to conduct business. In addition, the city's growing educational system - with its junior college and vocational-technical institute - uses air transportation to attract top educators and thereby keep abreast of the latest teaching techniques.

The direct impact of the city's airport and its airline service is $800,000 annually, itself a healthy figure. But more important to Thief River Falls' economy, perhaps, is the indirect impact resulting from this service:

(1) Money spent by air-related visitors in the city, (2) the peripheral value of the airport - based on surveys of air travelers as to how many trips to the city would not be made if air service were not available and the visitor expenditures that would be lost, (3) the jobs and spending in the community that would not exist without the airport.

The estimated peripheral value of the airport to Thief River Falls, according to the Brasiau study, is $91,500. Furthermore, the study stated that without air service at Thief River, Arctic Enterprises would lose approximately 40 per cent of its sales, resulting in a decrease of nearly 15 per cent of the gross output of the entire county.

"One could then say," the report continues, "that even a 10 per cent reduction in sales for Arctic, which uses aviation extensively, could cause an $8-million loss to the economy. So is the airport worth $8 million?" the study asks. "Well, this is not necessarily so. But it could also run much higher, for example, if Arctic were to close entirely because of lack of air service, which is not likely, at least in the short-term. In the long-term however, that could certainly be the case."

Thief River Falls Mayor Bob Carlson says public officials and businessmen have "enjoyed an excellent working relationship with North Central and feel the airline has always had the city's interests in mind with respect to upgrading service". Air transportation has been a key to revamping the city, the mayor adds, and was a stimulant for the construction of a new air terminal, as well as a motivational factor behind a hospital expansion to improve regional health-care services.

While business and education are major generators of airline traffic at Thief River Falls, the city of Rhinelander presents a different picture. This rugged, scenic resort community of 9,000 people receives jet service through Rhinelander-Oneida County Airport - rare for such a small city. However, during the summer months, tourists and vacation traffic boost this total many times over. Currently, North Central's DC-9s fly into Rhinelander from April through October, and Convair 580 prop-jets operate the rest of the year. Even with limited jet service, the impact is apparent. Passenger boardings increased 36 per cent when the DC-9 fan jet was introduced in 1968. Some businessmen even commute to summer residences. A survey by the Wisconsin Department of Transportation in July 1972 indicates that 61 per cent of the departing passengers were on recreational trips, and these visitors spent an average of $730 each during their stay.

The community plans for upgrading its airport to handle jets on an "all-year, all-weather" basis. A research study by Bechter-Hoppe Engineers of Schofield, Wi., an engineering, architectural and planning firm, states that the recreational season is slowly stretching to cover the entire year. North Central, the only airline providing scheduled service to Rhinelander, is a key factor to continued growth of the area's tourist industry, the study points out.

Bechter-Hoppe offered four possible airport improvement plans, all of which would result in expensive construction and higher operating costs to the community. However, the study emphasizes that it would be much more costly to retain an airport which does not meet the standards of full jet operations or to lose airline service entirely due to inadequate airport facilities.

According to a poll conducted by the Rhinelander Chamber of Commerce, 86 per cent of the respondents - representing a cross-section of the community - said they use the airline regularly. A clear majority support further development that would permit even better air transportation. Many new and expanded businesses stated that the existence of the airport and North Central's service were important factors in their decisions to build or enlarge their facilities in Rhinelander. A number of businessmen were concerned that without continued and improved service, the Rhinelander area would not be able to compete and would not grow and prosper. Medical personnel thought recruitment of doctors and other medical professionals was greatly enhanced by the adequacy of airline service, because of the area's remoteness and its lack of other modes of transportation.

Comments from the poll included:

"As regular users of the Rhinelander-Oneida County Airport, we cannot stress enough the usefulness of this facility to our business. Our customers are distributed over the entire United States, Europe and Asia. I estimate that reduction of scheduled airline service available at Rhinelander-Oneida County Airport will result in a 10 per cent reduction in sales." - Carl R. Marschke, president, Marquip, Inc. Phillips.

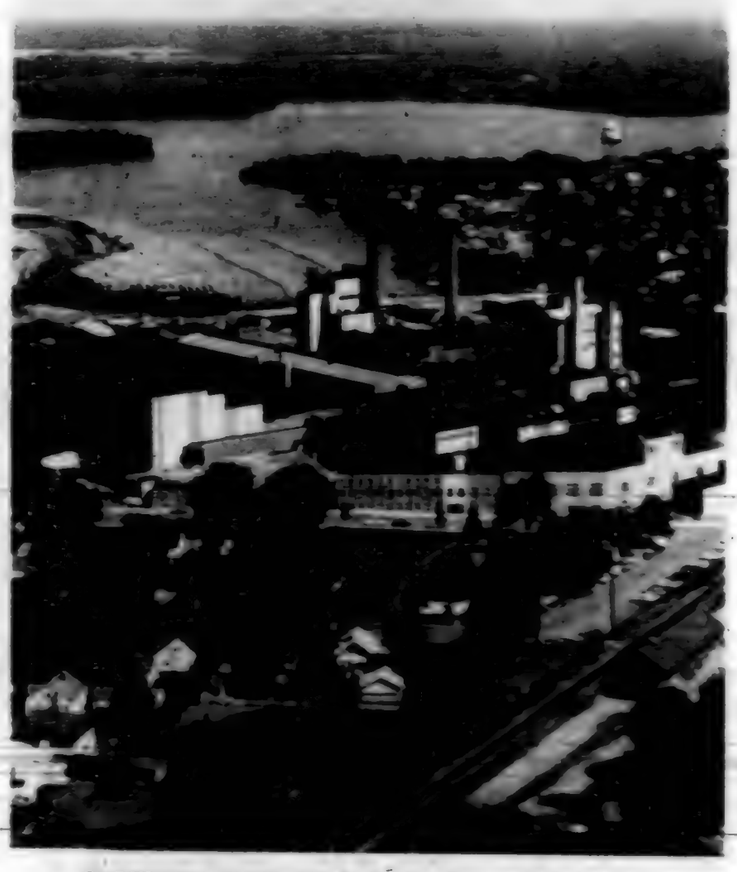
"Rhinelander and Oneida County are at the crossroads. If they do not improve and expand the airport, they will be taking a step backward and will be left behind as the progress that is going to take place in air travel. It is simply a question as to whether Rhinelander will go backward or forward." - Alvin E. O'Konski, president, Northland Television, Inc., Rhinelander.

"The Howard Young Medical Center depends upon North Central Airlines for transportation from this area to other locations where meetings relative to the health field are being held. The hospital also receives supplies and equipment (which is often needed on an emergency basis, and, therefore, good air transportation is of utmost importance to us. We would encourage the development of this facility and the continued and improved service by North Central Airlines." - Martin Anderson, administrator, Howard Young Medical Center, Woodruff.

Should lack of proper facilities force abandonment of scheduled flights, the Bechter-Hoppe study says, the community could lose $30-million worth of business annually. Three-fourths of such a loss would be sustained by the area's recreational industry, but schools, other businesses, and health-care facilities would also suffer.

After considering the alternatives, Rhinelander elected to build a new runway and instrument landing system at the present airport site. Approval has been received from local, state, and Federal Aviation Administration officials. With the allocation of federal airport development funds - accumulated solely from the tax on airline tickets - construction should begin soon.

Rhinelander and Thief River Falls are in different states and have different economic foundations, yet they have reached the same conclusions. They need efficient, modern airports so North Central can provide the best possible airline service to promote the area's growth and economic stability.



Small US centre, not unlike Ourtown, has elected to upgrade its airport.

1. MILEAGE

The Dodge D100 rates competitively on mileage with any other North American full-size pickup. Based on the results of tests approved by Transport Canada, a '77 Dodge D100 powered by the popular 318 V8 with automatic is rated at 25 miles per gallon on the highway, 17 in the city. You can maximize economy by ordering the optional overdrive manual transmission and the 225 Slant Six, a combination that delivers 32 mpg on the highway and 23 in the city. The actual mileage you get will depend on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your truck's condition and optional equipment.

2. PRICE

The Dodge D100 is one of North America's lowest-priced full-size pickups. Did you know that? If you know trucks, you'll know all about the way Dodge builds a smooth riding truck. And how it offers passenger car options like automatic, AM/FM radio, even air conditioning. Now you know Dodge trucks have got it on price too.

3. PAYLOAD

The Dodge D100 has the biggest standard payload of any full-size pickup of the Big Three. The kind of payload that makes small work of the biggest loads. Without beefing it up one bit, you can haul off a whopping 1,510 pounds. With optional equipment, you can go up to 2,535 pounds payload on a D100 pickup. Not bad, eh? Getting to be best is getting to be a habit with Dodge. Catch the habit.

The Dodge D100 shown is equipped with the optional Adventurer SE package, styled road wheels, white side wall tires and pickup box grip rails.

CHRISTMAS IN MEXICO IS MADE FESTIVE WITH PINATA

In Mexico, the celebration of the holiday season begins in earnest nine days before Christmas. During this time the posadas are observed.

Celebrants form a procession behind figures representing Mary and Joseph, and go about from house to house, asking for posada or lodging. Inside the house, other celebrants enact the role of the innkeepers who refused Mary and Joseph lodging in Bethlehem.

After being told that there is "no room at the inn", the celebrants are at last admitted to one of the houses, and the fiesta begins.

The highlight of this celebration is the smashing of the piñata by youngsters. A clay pot, filled with nuts and candies and other trinkets, and imaginatively decorated with papier-mache, is strung up on a rope; each youngster is blindfolded in turn and allowed to take a swing at the piñata with a stick. Since the rope can be pulled each time a youngster swings at it, many blows are usually required, with much shouting on the part of onlookers, before the piñata is finally broken and goodies cascade upon the delighted youngsters.

The tradition of the piñata was actually brought to Mexico during the 16th century by Europeans. Although it is no longer a tradition in Europe, the custom of breaking a candy-filled pot has flourished in Mexico.

Christmas in Mexico is a blend of both religious significance and merry-making, much as it is in the United States. And of all the Mexican customs, currently enjoyed south of the border, none is merrier than the breaking of the piñata.

Christmas Customs From Other Lands

The celebration of Christmas throughout the world takes many forms, but one thing is constant: the joy that pervades this holiday season.

In Italy, the Christmas tree gives way to the Presepio. This is a nativity scene, created with love and devotion by Italians in their homes and in their churches. It is usually constructed from wood, cork, plaster, and papier mache, among other materials. A colorful tableaux depicting the Infant Jesus with His mother, Mary, surrounded by Joseph, the Wise Men, shepherds, angels and even animals, is set in a place of honor during the holidays.

To the north, in Norway, a very charming custom remembers some of God's little creatures. The birds' Christmas tree is a specially gleaned sheaf of grain from the fall harvest, bound to the top of a pole in Norwegian front yards. The cattle are also remembered at this time, with extra fodder, in honor of their presence at the birth of Jesus.

In Sweden, another charming custom opens the Christmas season on December 13th. This is the feast day of St. Lucy, who solves in the holiday spirit. A young girl, dressed in white, with a bright red sash about her waist and a crown of candles upon her head, appears at this time. "St. Lucy," as she is called, carries a tray with coffee and a small cake (baked in honor of the occasion) for the occupants of the house. This festive breakfast signals the start of the Christmas season for Norwegians.

Another repast plays an important part in Christmas celebrations for the Polish. They observe December 24th as a fast day until the first star appears in the evening sky. It is then that the Wilia, or Christmas Supper, begins. Straw is scattered under the table, the dishes, and tablecloth, probably as a reminder of the birth in a manger. A vacant chair is reserved for the Infant Jesus.

The head of the family takes a thin wafer that has been blessed, and that features Christmas characters upon it. He prays for the welfare of his family and then distributes pieces of the wafer to each person at the table. A traditional supper is then enjoyed by the family, after which yet another custom is observed: boys and girls go about the streets singing carols and others go about dressed as strange beasts and other characters.

Christmas in French Canada, as might be expected, is reminiscent of old French customs. The holiday season is commenced with a beautiful midnight mass. After this, French Canadians enjoy a supper at home.

ALMS-GIVING CUSTOM

Giving alms to the poor at Christmas originated in the belief that the Christ child, disguised as a beggar during the holiday season, went from door to door in search of those who were kind and deserving. His test was to plead for aid and, as it was feared that He might be turned away unrecognized, none were refused who so asked.

Light Ye Candles

Then be ye glad, good people,
This night of all the year,
And light up your candles,
For His star it shineth Clear.

Joy & Tears In Mistletoe Myth

From Scandinavian mythology comes a sad tale of a god's envy of the beloved son of the goddess of love. Although seeking the promises of earth, air, fire and water to protect her son, he was slain by the jealous god from a dart of mistletoe, a parasitic plant which attaches itself to trees and does not grow from any of the four elements. The tears of sorrow from the god's mother became the white berries of the plant and she decreed that mistletoe would never again be used as a weapon, but as a symbol of love, and that she would place a kiss on anyone who passed under it!

The legend of kissing under the mistletoe during the Christmas season came from an ancient custom which deemed that the girl who received no kisses under the mistletoe by the end of the year would not marry in the new year!

When we think of good times and happy holidays we think of our dear patrons who have visited us throughout the year. Have the happiest of holidays.

BOXING DAY

The day after Christmas is still celebrated as Boxing Day in both England, where it originated, and Australia.

The holiday goes back to early England, when landlords and employers would set aside gifts that they didn't want, to give to the needy and to tradespeople.

Boxing Day is observed as a holiday from work, giving weary parents a chance to rest from the rigors of shopping and preparing Christmas feasts, and giving youngsters a chance to play with their new toys.

Warm wishes for a Happy Christmas Season.

Santa Has Many Parallels in Other Parts of World

Christmas to American children conjures up visions of Santa in his red suit, with his sack full of gifts, stuffing stockings merrily on Christmas Eve, while reindeer prance upon the roof.

But in Italy, youngsters eagerly await the arrival of an old woman, called la Befana. Because she was told by the shepherds about the birth of Jesus, legend says, but delayed in following the Christmas star, she is doomed to search ever after for the Holy Child. She leaves gifts at each home, in that might be where the Christ Child is staying.

In Holland the gift-giver is Sante Klaas, who fills shoes either with sweets and presents or with birch-rods.

The Christ-Child brings gifts to children in Germany, as a messenger for the new-born Infant Jesus. This role is usually enacted by a female member of the family, or a window is left open and youngsters are told that the Christ Child has just been.

The Christ Child is also reported in Switzerland, but there the representative of the Infant Jesus is drawn through the streets in a sleigh, by small deer.

Swedish youngsters look forward to the gifts brought by Julitomten, a somewhat gnomish figure. However, little elves called Julnissar must be placated with porridge by the young Swedes.

In Spain, little children must wait until the feast of the Epiphany, in January, for their gifts. These are brought by the Three Kings during the night, before the feast. The youngsters put out shoes on balconies or window-sills, and fill them with straw or barley for the camels of the Three Kings. The Kings show their appreciation by leaving gifts in return.

In Syria, the camel that carried one of the Wise Men, brings gifts to children on New Year's Day. The reason for this, so the legend goes, is that the camel, being the youngest of the three that bore the Wise Men, was exhausted by the journey to find the Christ Child. The Holy Infant then blessed it, making it immortal. Thus it is that in Syria little children set out bowls of water and wheat before going to bed. The good youngsters find gifts in the morning but the naughty find only a black mark on their wrists.

Finnish children eagerly await gifts from Father Christmas, who is a man dressed as a yule goat.

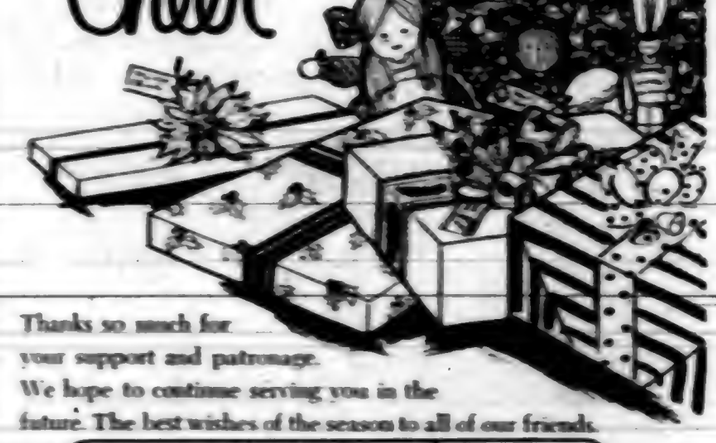
A Bulgarian tradition has the Christmas tree and gifts for youngsters brought by Grandpa Koleda, who is the equivalent of our Santa Claus. The youngsters do not see the tree or the gifts until Christmas Eve, when real candles are placed upon the tree and gifts are joyously opened.

Our own Santa Claus is probably descended from St. Nicholas, who was a bishop of Myra in Asia Minor during the 4th century. He was known as the patron saint of maidens, because of a legend crediting him with having provided dowries for the three daughters of a poor father. Through the centuries, St. Nicholas has become associated with gift-giving and helping little children.

In Holland, we have already noted that he became known as Sante Klaas, and it was under that guise that he was introduced to America, by the Dutch settlers in New Amsterdam. But it was not until 1822 that the figure of Santa Claus as we know him today, really took form.

A professor of divinity, Dr. Clement Clarke Moore, decided to write a poem for his children as a Christmas treat.

Today, thanks to Moore's classic poem and Thomas Nast's illustrations during the 1800s, we see Santa as a jolly, generous old gent.



Thanks so much for your support and patronage. We hope to continue serving you in the future. The best wishes of the season to all of our friends.

Carolling Tradition Has Never Been Broken

In 1882, a writer named William Hone predicted that Christmas carols would soon be an extinct form of music.

Hone's prediction couldn't have been more off-key. For in 1978, millions of carollers will again celebrate Christmas with song.

They will be perpetuating a tradition that has been in existence for many centuries.

What was the first Christmas carol?

Some observers say it was Gloria, the song attributed to the angels when they first saw the Christ child. The formal carolling tradition is said to date back to 128 A.D. when Telesphorus, the first Bishop of Rome, decreed that Gloria be sung in his church each Christmas day.

Others trace the formal birth of carolling to 13th century Italy when ST. Francis of Assisi invited friends to sing nativity songs around his replica of the manger scene.

Yet as early as the 11th century in France, holiday celebrants were gathering in village squares to sing carols, accompanied by lutes and lyres. In the 15th century, oboes were used to accompany carolling minstrels when they entertained nobility during the Christmas season.

PRINT

The dawning of the Renaissance lifted the blanket of austerity that dominated church music through the Dark Ages. Wanting a more joyous expression for their religious views, people linked their Christmas songs with dance - more commonly the circle dance.

However, in some areas of Europe, authorities associated circle dances with witchcraft and banned carolling.

The carolling custom was also considered out of harmony with the times in mid-17th century England. The Puritans there, frowning on the joyous nature of many carols, made it a crime to print or sing carols publicly.

Since many of the early carols weren't written down but were passed along by wandering minstrels and folk singers, they went through so many word and melody changes that their creators probably wouldn't recognize them today.

Joy to the World, for example, crossed many cultures before evolving into its present form.

The words were probably written by an ancient Hebrew. Centuries later, in 1719, the words were paraphrased by Isaac Watts, who wrote some 52 volumes of published carols.

The current music was adapted from George Frederick Handel's Messiah in 1741. In 1830, American composer Lowell Mason rewrote the carol as we know it today.

A sizeable number of carols have been written or sung against a backdrop of war or slavery.

When the English besieged the French in 1428 at Orleans, a truce was set for the duration of the Christmas holidays. The English requested and obtained for a night the services of French minstrels who played Christmas music on trumpets and clarions.

CONVERTS

In 1863, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow expressed war-weary sentiments in his poem, I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day. In the poem, he compared the peace and stillness of a Christmas morning to the war sound around him.

Jesus is Born, said to be the first North American carol, told the story of the nativity in Indian fashion. It was written around 1645 by French missionary Jean de Brebeuf, who sang it in the Huron tongue for his Indian converts.

A number of carols were written in the southern United States in the 19th century. Two such songs, Rise UpShepherd and Follow and Mary Had A Baby were composed by slaves.

Whatever their origin or form Christmas carols have historically been a mainstay for people of all races and nationalities who expressed the Yule spirit through song.

Christmas in Norway

Christmas in Norway is celebrated over a period of 13 days, from Christmas Eve on December 20 to the Day of the Three Wise Men, or the Thirteenth Day of Christmas, on January 6.

Long before Christmas reached Norway with Christianity in the 11th century, the shortest and darkest day of the year was celebrated by the heathen Vikings. In fact, Jul was a pagan feast celebrated all over Northern Europe. The oldest Norwegian Christmas custom seem to be remnants of this feast, representing sacrifices to the gods and the dead.

One such custom is the brewing of the Christmas beer, julol, also produced in modern times by Norwegian breweries. Like their forefathers, the Scandinavians today lift their glasses in the traditional toast. The tradition of eating pork at Christmas also dates from heathen time. A swine was sacrificed to the goddess Freya during the celebrations of Jul.

The Nisse

The belief in the Nisse, the gnome, as a protector of the farm can be traced back to the Iron Age. At Christmas time, the Nisse was believed to come out of hiding to eat and drink. A strange intermingling later took place between the Nordic Nisse and St. Nicholas or Santa Claus of Central Europe.

Besides the Nisse, the dead, too, were believed to travel around in great crowds during this season. The tradition of the Christmas buffet of julebord-dor-Norway goes back to the ghostly banquets of superstition. In the old days, farmers started celebrating on the morning of Christmas Eve with a dram, a drink, for each of the horses in a pig's head — said to be twenty-six.

Indoors, thorough house-cleaning has been going on for days, and the wood for the Christmas fire is chopped. Julenek, sheaves of grain, are hung outside for the birds, and domestic animals get special Christmas fodder. Even the Nisse is given his bowl of porridge.

Finally, when Christmas Eve arrives, there is the decorating of the tree, done by the grown-ups, while the children wait outside.

Christmas Eve

All work ceases at 4 p.m. Before going to church, families will visit the cemetery to put lighted candles on graves of relatives. The chiming of church bells accompanies the families from the church back home to the Christmas table. The dinner is served immediately after church. The fare varies from district to district.

Many people in coastal districts prefer steaming lutefisk, a cured variety of codfish, but most Norwegians still eat lesser ribs of pork for their Christmas dinner. However, almost everywhere the traditional dish of rice porridge is served. A scalded almond is placed in the pot, and the one who gets the almond wins a prize, usually a marzipan pig.

After dinner, the door to the living room is opened, and the children get their first sight of the Christmas tree. Everybody joins hands and walks slowly around the tree, singing Christmas carols. Then, at last, the Julenisse, or Santa Claus arrives with the gifts. Only as the children grow older will they realize that he is really none other than a grown-up relative in disguise.

In Norway, Christmas is the season for visiting. In the countryside it is still the tradition to go visiting in horse and sleigh, with the tinkle of sleigh-bells ringing out over the snow. It is a season of games and merriment, when nobody mentions children's bedtimes.

It is also the time when children are allowed to dress up in fancy-dress and to go around from one house to another, to be treated to cakes and other delicacies. This custom is called to go julebukk (Christmas goat). The origin of it is obscure, but there is agreement among historians that it dates back to the Middle Ages. In some ways it resembles the American Halloween. The remainder of the holiday season is highlighted by New Year's Eve, celebrated with parties and fireworks.

Urban Christmas

In the towns and cities today people are tending to simplify the traditional celebrations. Even so, many of the time-honored traditions are still kept up. The gift packages are still opened on Christmas Eve, and there is the caroling around the tree. The traditional foods, the small cakes and the Julekake are still served, but there is a finer chance that most of the food is bought ready-made. However, the custom of paying visits to friends and relatives during the Holiday Week is still kept up, and on New Year's Eve there are the midnight services in the churches.

As hope is rekindled in hearts everywhere, may you and yours enjoy a happy holiday.

How to care for your Xmas plants

Poinsettias, cyclamen, cacti, Norfolk pine, Christmas cactus and Norfolk pine are the most popular plants for Christmas giving and indoor decoration during the holiday season. With the proper care and feeding, these plants will live on to bloom again and again.

If you are planning to buy Christmas plants, but have not yet done so, be sure to take a large plastic bag with you to the florist or supermarket so that you can cover the plant - and so protect it from frostbite - while carrying it from the store to your car and your home. Once indoors, remove the bag carefully in order not to damage the bracts, blooms, or leaves. Water the plant and place it in a location conducive to its well-being.

Poinsettia should, according to the Ortho book "House Plants Indoors-Outdoors", be set in a cool room and kept out of drafts. After the initial watering, let the soil stay nearly dry until spring. Then, bring the plant to sunny warmth, water well and watch for new growth.

The plant can then be repotted in new soil and the canes cut back to approximately six inches from the pot rim. Poinsettias can be grown in a sunny interior or a protected area outdoors. Pinching out encourages more branches, and thereby more blooms. Bring the plant indoors in autumn when nights begin to cool and keep it in absolute darkness from sundown to sun-up to ensure blooms in yet another holiday season.

Christmas cactus is known botanically as Schlumbergera bridgesi, a complicated name for a very uncomplicated plant that requires a minimum of care. According to "House Plants Indoors-Outdoors", this picturesque cactus thrives in a semi-sunny or semi-shady location at average house temperature. It should be kept evenly moist and enjoys a moderately humid environment. You can propogate this plant with cuttings. Cultivate it in an all-purpose soil mix. Cool nights and short days induce new buds in the fall.

Cyclamen, a thick-leaved plant of silvery green with translucent stems and veins, produces showy butterfly-like blossoms in white and shades of pale pink through vivid reds, some ruffled and variegated. Many people discard the cyclamen after its blooming season, but you may like to keep yours. Place the plant in semi-sun, away from drafts and keep the soil moist at all times, watering it from below to keep the foliage dry. New buds can be encouraged, says this book, by applying liquid fertilizer every two or three weeks.

After the flowers cease to come, keep the leaves in good growth. This will maintain the health of the tuber which will send up next year's flowers. In early summer, begin a dormancy period during which the plant is kept dry or barely moist in a cool, but frost-free, dark storage place.

Norfolk Island pine requires a semi-sunny or semi-shady location in your home. It should be kept evenly moist and will thrive in a cool to average house temperature. It enjoys a moderately humid environment. You can propogate this plant by planting its seeds or by rooting the tops of old plants in an all-purpose soil mix.

"House Plants Indoors-Outdoors" is one of ten volumes in the Ortho garden and food book series which is available at hardware stores and garden centres dealing in Ortho products. Retail price per copy is $3.98.

The true meaning of Christmas

For 20 centuries since the birth of Jesus Christ the Christmas message - Joy to the world, peace on earth, goodwill to men - has tantalized humanity.

Is there anyone who, just below the surface, doesn't hunger for peace from wards and global suffering, peace within families and friendships and peace of mind? This universal longing finds expression at Christmas-time as people look out to the state of the world and their communities and in to their circle of friends and relatives.

In 1976, although the world is not engaged in a formal global war, peace seems almost as far from reach as ever.

Joy! When terrorists erupt like boils on the body of the earth and west become enamour to join the powerful, assembling obscene nuclear bombs to destroy the earth thousands of times over.

Goodwill toward men! When some people cry with hunger while others feed beef and cereal to their pets and man abuses the earth created to nurture all.

Peace! When violence, instead of love, is glorified in film and print and recorded sound, while families disintegreate from neglect and mistrust and others hang together in hatred.

Is it any wonder you hear on all sides, "Christmas is for children", as if its message had become such a mockery that onbly a gullibel child could be expected to believe in it?

There's an almost seductive temptation to despair, give up hope, say "What's the use? What can one person do?"

Some people find scapegoats, say, politicians, or lawbreakers or people who are different in race or color or religion or age.

Others crawl inside a protective cave stocked with cynicism. Many more build an emotional shell, trying to cover their vulnerability and either abuse or stifle with concern friends or kin who claim a place nearby.

All the time, the answers lie close at hand.

Peace, joy and goodwill are not someone else's responsibility. There is no point in waiting for world leaders or national power brokers or the person at the next desk or someone down the street to begin.

Every individual has the potential to achieve miracles, not by sitting back and trying to avoid misbehavior but by actively accepting the challenge to achieve the best in his or her own milieu.

How to begin? By accepting ourselves as we are, acknowledging our potential and then reaching out to others as they are, leaving intolerance behind. People often have impulses to do something for someone else but they suffocate them with "What would the neighbours think?" or "I'm too busy, let someone else do it" or a dozen other rationalizations. Listening to these impulses could be an important first step.

Just as a journey starts with a single step, so can goodwill and peace spread from one individual to another and yet another, to the community, the country and the whole world.

This then is the meaning of Christmas, of why Christians believe that there is a reason for hope, why despair must not blind us to the promise of the Child Jesus. If we believe there is a God and we are made in His image, then that hope must be our living creed.

Christmas legends around the world

The custom of kissing under the mistletoe has its origin in an old Scandinavian myth about Freya, the goddess of love and beauty.

Mistletoe was once considered a healing herb; and wearing it hung around the neck was believed to ward off disease.

December — the winter solstice — has always been a festive time. In ancient Rome, Dec. 17 marked the start of the week-long Saturnalia, a time of festivities in which people gave presents, lighted candles, and adorned their houses with greens.

The Twelve Days of Christmas are a carry-over from Roman times: the festivities of the Saturnalia were followed by Twelve Holy Days, which ended on Jan. 1, called the Calends of January.

In Spain, tradition has it that children's gifts are left by the Wise Men, passing through on their way to Bethlehem. Youngsters leave their shoes on the window sills, filled with straw for the Magi's horses; next morning, the straw has been replaced with toys and sweets.

In Ireland, the church candles lighted at Christmas may be snuffed only by someone whose name is Mary.

Children in Holland and Belgium get their Christmas gifts on Dec. 6, which is St. Nicholas Day.

Decorations of greenery at Christmas were forbidden by the early church fathers, because of its association with Roman customs. It wasn't until the 16th century that greenery began to be used.

The Christmas tree came to England when Queen Victoria married Prince Albert. The Prince brought the custom with him from his native Germany.

Christmas carols were banned by the Puritans in 17th century England. But for 200 years, many carols were kept alive by country people, and finally rediscovered in the 19th century.

French peasants believe that daughters born on Dec. 25 will be wise, witty and virtuous.

Our idea of Santa Claus — the jolly fat man in the red, ermine-trimmed suit — comes from the pen of the famous 19th century American cartoonist, Thomas Nast.

Polish children receive their gifts not from Santa but from Mother Star, who wears a long white dress and veil, and her companion, Father Star.

In Italy, children's gifts are supposed to come from La Befana, an old woman of legend. The children hang their clothes in a conspicuous place on Epiphany Eve, and the next morning find their pockets filled with goodies.

In 1644 under Oliver Cromwell's regime, the observance of Christmas was forbidden by an act of Parliament.

The Pennsylvania Dutch name for Santa Claus is — Prinsichel.

"Christmas" got its origin from "X," an abbreviation of Christ deriving from the Greek letter X (ch) beginning His Name.

In the Philippines, Christmas is known as Santo Nino and children sing carols and parade through the streets behind a band.

Christmas Seals originated in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1904. It was the idea of a postal clerk named Holboell, who dreamed them up as a benefit for a children's hospital.

In Czechoslovakia, fortunes are told after the evening meal on Christmas by pouring melted lead or wax into water and studying the shapes formed.

In Puerto Rico, children at Christmas put boxes on the roof — instead of hanging stockings.

An age-old Christmas custom: Cut an onion in half, peel off 12 layers (1 for each month to come) and fill each with salt. On the next morning, the peelings containing damp salt indicate rainy months.

Crib-not tree true symbol of Xmas

St. Nicholas, the original Santa Claus, really started something when he went about, so legend has it, on Christmas Eve, distributing gifts to poor children. How those ancient legends and customs, including the pagan Christmas tree, have grown to such proportions over the years and to such an extent overshadowed the true meaning of Christmas!

In many European countries the Christmas Crib was the focal point in the home at Christmas time - and how much more appropriate than the glittering Christmas tree.

Many children today think of Christmas mostly, if not entirely, in terms of Santa Claus and "what they are going to get". Housewives and mothers hurry and scurry (and worry) with shopping and the many extra preparations for the big day. Lavish displays and advertising are all around us. Parties, over-indulgence in eating and drinking are the custom. Is this the proper way to celebrate the birth of Christ?

As has been commented upon in the past, nowhere in the Bible is there any mention of celebrating Christ's birthday. The Wise Men brought Him gifts because He was born a King and to do Him honor; it does not mention that they gave gifts to each other. True, we should be happy on this day and rejoice in thanksgiving, but do we do it in the right way? Why don't we leave the lavish entertainment, the fglitter, the parties, celebrating the New Year (which hopefully will be better than last) and approach Christmas with the reverence and deeper understanding of what the day "really means - a day which, next to Easter, is the holiest in the Christian year?

The Christmas tree has been with us for a long time and will undoubtedly remain, but let us not forget the Crib, the true symbol of Christmas. Let's bring it back into our hearts and homes.

What the Sun told Virginia

This was the famous editorial that appeared in the New York Sun on Sept. 21, 1897.

"We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of the Sun.

"Dear Editor: I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says 'If you see it in the Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia O'Hanlon,
115 West 95th Street.

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds.

WILL MENDE, Virginia, whether there be men or women, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him. He should be the more reliant with regard to the existence of things, all the wider is the realm of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus. But even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the strongest of all the combined men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that veil and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

When a carol stopped a war

Over one hundred years ago, on the night of December 24, there occurred at the gates of Paris a strange Christmas carol serenade.

The incident proved that the spirit of Christmas and all it stands for can overshadow even war's hatred and bitterness.

Paris at that time was under siege from the guns of the Prussian Army, this being the final turn of the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 before that nation surrendered to the German conquerors.

Among the Frencg soldiers stationed on the banks of the Seine was young Henri Regnault. He had been hailed as an artist of great promise, but when France declared war, he laid down his brushes and palette to defend his country.

FORLORN

On Christmas Eve, be found himself in the most forlorn of all situations. The air was chilly and a wet snow was falling, enough to dampen the spirits of the entire platoon in that outpost, where they lay, two or three yards apart, in trenches.

Just across the Seine, the heavily fortified line of the Prussian besiegers could be discerned. Continuous small-arms fire was being carried on by the snipers in the French ranks, and their shooting was briskly returned whenever the Germans could make out a target.

No Christmas Eve could have been drearier and more miserable. As the snow continued to fall, the landscape became more wretched for the city's defenders.

Amid all that gloom Regnault had reason to contrast his surroundings with his happy situation of just a year before. Then he had been moving in the most fascinating, cultured society, and in his own field his future seemed assured.

Slowlyt the hours dragged on, bringing a more penetrating chill to those who had to endure the endless vigil in that bleak outpost. Then suddenly a church bell began to toll the hour. In the distance, another began to ring, and another.

BELLS

One soldier groaned as the ringing continued. He was right alongside Regnault. "Midnight! And it's Christmas!" he exclaimedin dismal tones, "But what a Christmas."

But Regnault seemed moved by other thoughts as he heard the church bells. He had forgotten all about his grim surroundings : the lonely outpost, the guns of the Prussians, the horrors of war.

Before his comrades could drag him down, he had climbed up on the barricade - in full view of the enemy. Bullets began to spatter around him, but, undaunted, he began to sing.

HYMN

It was the familiar old hymn of Adolphe Adam - O Holy Night. Regnault had always heard it sung on Christmas Eve, so he knew the words and music perfectly:

"Midnight, Christians, It is the solemn hour ....."

His splendid baritone voice carried far into the darkness. Across the Seine, in their trenches, the Prussians could hear him perfectly.

With those beautiful words, Regnault seemed to be defying the enemy with a different kind of challenge. His song caried the everlasting message of "Peace on earth, goodwill to-freed from the arduous and time-consuming jobs of the last century. While benefiting from this higher level of living and increase of leisure time, everyone owes an obligation to service.

Service To

Some problems stem from conditions in society itself, some from the natural waywardness of human beings, some from physical environment, some from the changes involved in the industrialization of an agricultural society and the mechanization of a manual society.

One aspect of our changing times is the alienation in the family. The family of an agricultural society, like the clan family of primitive society, clung together, giving mutual support. Its members lived in the same house, or built houses near the family home. Today, the close parent/child relationship is preserved only to the point of the child's maturity. This throws more responsibility on society, because old people and children in broken homes are cast adrift. The social security of generations past, provided by large family units closely integrated, cannot be counted upon.

Voluntary service and individual work directed toward family guidance is a challenging and rewarding job. It involves dealing with people individually and reconciling them as groups. There is great satisfaction in helping troubled people to find their bearings.

The interested man or woman who becomes acquainted in a personal way with the problems of a family, may aid it to become secure and free from tension and its sudden bewilderment with confidence. Similarly, the person who cheers the lives of elderly people is going further than providing subsistence and shelter. he is giving companionship, without which the most shelter of existence is barren. The friends of the aged have dropped away one by one. Their telephones seldom ring. A visit and a few minutes chat is a service beyond price. It is living the Golden Rule.

If you have a knack for doing something, then that something, done for others, is something that no one else in the world could do so satisfactorily. There are many duties open to everyone. The blind and the handicapped need friendship, the aged are hungry for companionship, the young need understanding guidance, the gifted are starved for encouragement, and time-honoured traditions cannot be conserved by reaching for your cheque book. Personal service is direct and human. It smacks more of neighbourliness than of institutionalism and charity.

These are some of the reasons why so many people in Canada give time and effort to carry out duties they have assumed willingly.

The Season

Personal service is a good deed done for its own sake. It should be given freely, gladly, and not coldly as a matter of duty. Kindliness means goodness and something more. It means a pleasant way of doing a kind thing.

Many of the most acceptable services are given spontaneously, not after an inner debate about the virtue of being helpful. It is a sign that a person has reached a high point of cultural and intellectual refinement when doing a service comes naturally to him.

Christmas

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.

In him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.

There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe. He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.

That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not. He came unto his own, and his own received him not.

But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth.

Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise. When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Ghost.

Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded to put her away privily.

But while he thought on these things, behold the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins.

Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call him Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.

Then Joseph being raised from sleep did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife: And knew her not till she had brought forth her firstborn son: and he called his name Jesus.

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:) to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem.

SEASONS GREETINGS

Sincerely wishing you all the joys and blessings of the Christmas Season. May they follow you thru all the days of the New Year.

Eugene McGinley
BATHURST CITY M.L.A.

A thought for Christmas and for all of the New Year - -

Service is the rent we pay for the room we take up on this earth - -

Did you ever think of God as a landlord? Well, He is and we are His tenants. He owns the earth and we occupy it. We can't buy the space we take up, no matter how much money we may have, for it's simply not for sale.

But, we can and do rent it. We don't expect to occupy a house or an apartment we don't own and pay nothing for it ... and we can't expect to take up room in this world and pay nothing. Yet, we are not asked to pay money. The rent is paid in the Service we render.

One definition of service is: "Spiritual serving as shown by obedience, good works and love." Some of us think that so long as we don't do wrong we are leading our lives in the right fashion. But, it isn't enough just to passively do no wrong. It is up to us to do good in an active manner.

There are all too many of us who do nothing unless we see some personal benefit. If God were like the average landlord, He would dispossess such tenants. It is fortunate for the sinners of this earth that He isn't like other landlords.

Still, the chances are that when those who have paid no rent in service move from the earth and reach their final destination, they are going to find a long over-due bill for the room they took up and for which they didn't pay.

Let us all hope that the year ahead will present each and every one of us with enough opportunities for service to let us catch up with our back rent.

The High-Pitched Christmas

Jet plane engine noises are pitched so high that they cannot be heard by the human ear. Of course, there is the familiar jet roar that does get through, but most of the sound is beyond our range.

The community is filled with the sound of Christmas carols. Radios, T.V.'s street-corner speakers, churches, school rooms and a thousand common dwellings all vibrate with the sound of familiar Christmas songs. Part of the carol gets through but part of it is beyond our range.

The happy melody gets through. The power to awaken memory of bygone days gets through. The plain homely images of the manger, the star, the shepherds, the wisemen, the mother and the lovely sleeping child are reinforced by our singing of the carols. Almost any ear can catch these sounds. But there is more. At a higher frequency that only the heart can hear there is born in upon us the assurance that only the us the assurance that our world is wrapped in love. But this word is high-pitched and is entirely lost on those who hear only the obvious.

"No ear may hear His coming.

But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive Him, still
The dear Christ enters in."

Perhaps this is why at the first Christmas it is said that the carols were sung by a chorus of angels. The Christian message is more than a group of people chattering theology or school children singing carols. It is the subtle sound of God's compassion. It is assurance at depth that human life has immortal meaning and joy is rooted not in coloured tissue paper and escapist celebrations but in the presence of a hardy, holy love to which we can commit ourselves.

"Joy to the World! the Lord is come." In the occasional moments when any man has the confidence that this is really so, it is as if an angel bending o'er the earth had touched a harp of gold. The higher frequency becomes audible. Confidence in God and his yearning over man is the high-pitched word that sounds in every simple, pleasant carol we sing. Listen for it now.

the spirit of Christmas

The spirit of Christmas has many manifestations . . . it can be the giving of a beautiful diamond, or the gift of a hand-made pot-holder.

It can be the glow of a fireside, welcoming guests to a home for the holidays.

It can be the delight on a child's face as the newly-decorated tree is lighted for the first time.

The Christmas spirit can be the long hours spent by choir members, rehearsing for that special holiday service.

It can be a wreath upon the door, greeting passers-by and visitors.

It can be the careful counting out of pennies at the dime store by a youngster for that special gift.

It can be a mother's loving preparation of fruit cake and cookies for the coming holidays.

Christmas spirit can be shown by a club, organizing baskets of food to give to the poor of the community.

It can be taking a box of cookies to that elderly person down the street.

It can be the act of stopping at a chapel to offer prayers for family or friends.

It can be hours spent addressing greeting cards.

It can be the caroling of young people at a convalescent home or hospital.

It can be a busy father's taking time to read the Christmas story to his children.

It can be a little child, laboriously memorizing lines for the school pageant.

It can be all these things and many more, because the spirit of Christmas is the spirit of love.

How About Those Three Wisemen?

To start with - they were not kings. Nobody ever said they were. Through the years we've glamorized them into kings, dressed them in royal robes and even given them names. But that's all pure myth. They were just three wise men who came from the East and the whole story reads like a Western movie - except that it's an Eastern.

Can't you just see the three good guys riding into town on their dusty camels? They're dog-tired and dirty after their long, hard ride, but they're still very impressive looking - obviously brave men, tough and determined. Straight out they say what they've come for: "Where is he that is born king of the Jews?"

That's laying it on the line! No asking around first to find out whether it's healthy for them to get mixed up in this affair. King Herod isn't going to like this at all, but they can't help that. They've been searching for this child for a long time, and now - "Where is he?" they ask.

But you notice they don't ask any questions about who this child might be, because they know.... "he that is born king of the Jews" they say boldly. Would anybody like to step up and argue that point?

Oh yes - it's true their faith is based on certain signs and portents. They themselves say - "For we have seen his star in the East and have come to worship him".

That's clear enough. These wise men who study the heavens saw a new star - and believed. And how, they believe! They've followed that star all across the desert and through the mountains until now, finally, it comes to rest over this stable in Bethlehem.

So they go right in - and what do they do when they see the child? ... "they fall down and worship him". Just like that. No proof of identity required. No questions asked. They just fall down and worship their king. They give him their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh and then, mission completed, our three Eastern heroes ride off into the sunset.

How about those Three Wise Men! Those very, very wise men!

Christmas Eve Home-Coming,

Approaching home, he sees the windows bloom
With welcome, sees the arms of light reach out
Across the snow, knows that each shining room,
Like love within, will circle him about
With gaiety and gladness. Hastening,
Festive with every symbol of the night,
Knowing the door will open before his ring,
He goes, as if on wings, to meet the light.
The door swings wide. A scent of evergreen,
A lift of music, warmth—all these and more:
Things to be shared as well as heard and seen
And scented—greet him at the open door.
He enters. Windows turn their faces in,
Joining the hearth.
Now Christmas can begin.

and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet, And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Judaea, art not the least among the princes of Judaea: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

ward men."

When Regnault had finished, he discovered that not a shot was being fired on either side. A hush reigned over both sheets of the Seine. His comrades had stopped fighting to listen and so had the Germans.

Then, from across the river, another voice broke that strange stillness. A young German soldier was singing a carol of his native land. As the words of Silent Night rose in the darkness, the French listened as respectfully as their enemies had listened to Regnault.

When the singer's voice finally died away, there was complete silence for several minutes - a reverent hush to commemorate Christmas.

SHOT

Then the guns took up their former exchange.

It was not long after this that a German sharpshooter's bullet found its mark, and the heart of Henri Regnault was stilled forever. When he laid down his life, all France mourned the passing of one of its most gifted artists and one of its most lovable sons.

His comrades never forgot how his noble nature found full expression in that lovely hymn he sang on Christmas Eve. They always remembered how, for that brief time, the fierce passions of war were subdued and he and the young Prussian both voiced the spirit of the year's happiest season. Never had there been such a triumphant serenade.

POLITICAL SCENE

How Senators Adjust Quickly

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

That was a lovely gesture by Prime Minister Trudeau when he appointed Jean Marchand and David Stewart to the Senate. Their new $59,500 annual salaries - some of it tax free - will come in handy for Christmas.

And for the rest of us we now have the reassurance that Mr. Trudeau does indeed have a healthy respect for Senate traditions - that is, the institution is essentially a repository for former out supporters of the party in power.

Surely now we can forget all of this irresponsible talk of Senate reform, which we have been hearing since Sir Robert Borden offered some later-to-be-forgotten proposals in 1921. After worrying in 1962 about Lester Pearson's plans to make the Senate "more relevant" and after being frightened by Mr. Trudeau's brave talk in 1968 about giving the provinces a big say in Senate appointments, I think we now can relax.

An aside to Mr. Trudeau: put it all on the record (rather succinctly, I thought) last week.

"There's only one criterion for appointing senators. They have to be friends of the prime minister."

WANT FRIENDS

Mr. Trudeau, it seems, has a good many friends. Since he assumed office he has appointed 37 new Senators. And, if as the axiom says, the major criterion is friendship, you can easily get the impression from these appointments that the prime minister tends to hang around with Liberals.

There are a half-dozen or so with other political backgrounds, but the Senate still has 40 Liberals as opposed to only 15 Conservatives. And with 17 vacancies, Mr. Trudeau can ensure that most of his friends will remain loyal during the difficult days ahead.

What I particularly liked about these latest appointments was the fact that Mr. Trudeau didn't try and pretend that Mr. Stewart and Mr. Marchand were appointed for non-political or non-friendship reasons. This used to be done with embarrassing frequency, and had the practice survived, we would have been told Mr. Stewart was being rewarded for his great work as president of Stewart Enterprises of Prince Albert, while Mr. Marchand was being recognized for his work with labor unions.

Some people have suggested that Mr. Stewart, as former Liberal leader in Saskatchewan, and Mr. Marchand as an energetic and volatile cabinet minister for 11 years, might find things a bit boring in the sedate Upper Chamber. In fact, there was some surprise that Mr. Marchand would even accept the appointment, since he had previously said he wouldn't.

What these people don't realize is that every active politician, at some time or another, declares he wouldn't accept a Senate appointment. Just ask Paul Martin.

ADJUST QUICKLY

And so far as the boredom aspect is concerned, there is something about the Senate which mysteriously enables hyper politicians to adjust, with amazing rapidity, to a quieter lifestyle. It was been said that even slow learners can within a week, develop the knack of dozing off.

The only person who may be disappointed with these latest appointments is Senator Ray Perrault, the government leader in the Senate. Being a good Liberal himself, he wouldn't normally object to two more party faithfuls joining him, but he is on record as wanting to improve the Senate's image. And a few months ago he said there are "active plans under way to strengthen the opposition".

I guess these active plans will be held in abeyance for a time.

As for improving the image, I doubt whether the additions of Mr. Marchand or Mr. Stewart will dramatically alter things. When the Senate is already being viewed, with justification, as a dumping grounds for the prime minister's political friends, the addition of two more political friends does nothing more than keep the image in focus.

But I still think it was touching of the prime minister to think of his friends in this holiday season. I just wish he would reward them out of his own pocket, not ours.

HOW TO PAINT A ROOM

Q. What is the correct order, if any, of steps when painting a room? I'm sure the right order will result in a better job.

A. Going first, followed in order by walls, woodwork including doors, windows and baseboard, and floor. You can see why this minimizes the job of covering any mistakes.

NEED WATERPROOFING

Q. Last August, I purchased a redwood picnic table and benches. Should I brush on some waterproofing? Would this change the present color, which I like very much?

A. Redwood is so durable you don't need waterproofing. But if you want to keep the new color you can put on redwood stain. Left alone, redwood weathers to beautiful soft shades of silvery and beige. Whether you stain or not, I recommend protecting the bottom of the wood legs with preservative against moisture.

Airline Gets Routes; Wants Subsidization

New air routes for Atlantic Central Airlines have been approved for the Atlantic Provinces, the Canadian Transport Commission announced December 22.

But the Commission has rejected local service air operations proposed by Eastern Provincial Airways, the regional airline in the Atlantic provinces. The service would have been unprofitable and the Commission said there is no source of federal funds for subsidies for the service.

The rulings follow transport commission hearings in Halifax in June on the applications by the Atlantic Provinces airlines.

Atlantic Central will be permitted to operate to the additional points of Grand Falls, Charlo and Moncton and Digby, N.S. But the Commission said Atlantic Central will lose this right if it stops providing service to points it is already licensed to serve—Saint John, Bathurst and Fredericton.

A spokesman for Atlantic Central said following the government announcement, however, that the airline would not resume its Bathurst-Saint John-Bangor run without subsidization from the federal government. The service was terminated on October 31 because of "tremendous losses" and the long delay in the awarding of new routes by the CTC.

Gloucester MP Herb Breau has since stated, however, that the government can in no way subsidize a privately owned airline such as Atlantic Central.

The Commission turned down Atlantic Central's application for permission to serve Shearwater, Trenton, Halifax and Greenwood, N.S., St. Stephen, and Charlottetown and Summerside, P.E.I. as it could see no public need for those services.

The "industry, drive and dedication" with which Atlantic Central has tried to make its existing routes a financial success was a factor in the ruling, the Commission said. If any carrier could make a success of the service to the sparsely-populated New Brunswick centres, Atlantic Central could.

"Nonetheless, the committee has grave misgivings respecting at least the short-term viability of the routes."

In its application, Atlantic Central said it was willing to sustain a further loss of up to $200,000 to show the additional routes could be made an eventual economic success.

Eastern Provincial had sought permission to operate to a host of small centres in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and the Magdalen Islands.

But the Commission said it thought Eastern Provincial over-estimated passenger traffic to some of these points and this would have serious implications on the money the airline would get from serving these centres.

The Commission knew of no federal subsidies for the local service operation with de Haviland Twin Otter aircraft planned by Eastern Provincial. The service was not possible because of lack of airport facilities, financing and federal subsidies.

However, EPA could use Twin Otters for service between the existing centres on the airline's license, the commission said. The Twin Otter is a 17-seat aircraft.

STUDENT NURSES INTRODUCED TO FLOOR DUTY

As a grand finale to the first semester, which ended December 22, at l'Ecole des Infirmieres de Bathurst Nursing School, students were alternately introduced to active floor duty at Chaleur General Hospital and Foyer Notre Dame de Lourdes. After two weeks of intensive nursing experience, classes were then suspended until January 4. Connie Morrison, director of the School, described the opening term as satisfactory in every respect. The program, she said, met all objectives of the program and the students are enthusiastically looking forward to resumption of the training curriculum.

SECRET SERIAL SCHEME

Two Bathurst office secretaries had entire winning ways in this year's Kinsmen Club annual Christmas Cheer Draw held Dec. 20 at Underwriters Investment Bureau Ltd. (over seller's).

Mrs. Marcia Doucet, of CMP Detachment Bilges, upset the $200 first prize, plus the second award of $75, put in Emelia Couture of the Immigrant Insurance Agency.

The lucky tickets were drawn respectively by Debbie McKay and Ann Marie Arsenault.

Chairman Andy Savoie issues the fact that the Kinsmen are most grateful to all those who supported the event.

"MYSTERY CONTRAPTION" IS IDENTIFIED

...ber of calls were received concerning the "mystery Contraption" that ... in December 15's The Northern Light.

...aller was finally Fortin identified the object ... went until to check the ... contained in milk.

... Brown, an employee ... paint department, ... it as a centrifuge, a ... using centrifugal ... separate particles of ... gravity.

... device was seen in ... museum by Jessie ... called and identified ... gauge which was described to him by a museum attendant.

Wilson Carter thought it resembled an old-fashioned bread-mixing machine. The idea was mutual as Mrs. Mary Egan, and Mrs. Howard Wood, 1011 Woodland Dr. had the same idea.

The right answer comes from Herb Hoelke, Youghal Road, who checked his 1903 Sears, Roebuck and Company catalogue which states the instrument is a "standard milk testing outfit, four-bottle size, for milk and cream. These milk testers tell the exact quality of each cow's milk. Price includes bottle of acid, test bottles, brush, acid measure, pipette and simple directions for making tests. Shipping weight, 19 pounds. Price $6.95."

Determining the quality of milk was also the answer given by Fred N. Doucet, Sunset Drive.

Another interesting suggestion called in by Mrs. Victoria Blanchard, 203 Major Lane, a device which may have been used to thread pipes.

The Northern Light is grateful to all those who showed interest and helped solve the puzzle.

Armed Robbery Case Set Over

A 29-year-old Bathurst man, in custody following a thwarted armed robbery attempt at a downtown city store December 23 appeared in Provincial Court at 11:00 a.m. today (Wednesday). He was represented by George Chiasson, a local lawyer, who entered no plea on behalf of his client.

Instead, Mr. Chiasson asked for a week's adjournment pending preparation of the case and this request was granted by Judge Frederic Arsenault.

Raymond Melanson, of Douglas Ave., was charged with armed robbery when he first appeared in the same court before the same judge December 24. At that time he was remanded to jail until today, December 29, for election and plea.

The incident occurred around 9:15 p.m., a quarter of an hour before the scheduled closing time, at the W. J. Kent and Co. Ltd. general store on Main St.

Burns Branch, the company's vice-president and general manager, was walking towards the office located to the rear of the main floor when he noticed a man "with a revolver of some kind" holding up Miss Betty Christie, an accounting department employee.

At first Mr. Branch thought it was a prank. Then he noticed the man was wearing a woolen ski mask over his face and was getting set to leave with a large amount of money. Also, Miss Christie and a co-worker, Mrs. Gerald Lavigne, had signalled him that a holdup was in progress.

Mr. Branch wrestled with the man briefly before several members of the store staff and customers came to his assistance. Simultaneously the city police were alerted and rushed to the scene to take the bandit into custody.

Total take in the robbery attempt was $2,320, all in 20s and 10s since the intruder had reportedly instructed Miss Christie he was not interested in any lower denominations. The total amount of currency involved was recovered.

Poetry Rates Publication

A 14-year-old Bathurst girl Jo-Ann Melanson is among the growing number of young Canadians whose poetry is worthy of a national audience.

Miss Melanson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Melanson, Big River Rd., and a student in Grade X at Bathurst High School.

Her poem, "Sitting by the Fireight" appears in the latest issue of Nous Journal, a national quarterly for, by and about young people, published by All About Us - Nous Autres.

All About Us is a non-profit [illegible] to publicize the creative work of Canada's 6 - 18 year-olds through books, radio and T.V. and public exhibitions, as well as through Nous Journal.

Young people throughout Canada are invited to share their interests and ideas about themselves and their world through original poems, stories, paintings, drawings and photographs. The address is All About Us - Nous Autres, Box 1965, Ottawa, Canada, K1P 5R5.

Following is Miss Melanson's effort:

As I sit by the warm firelight
Staring at the hazy sky.
I listen to the wind moan
Seeking a crack or crevice in which to Enter and break my sleepy calmness.
I watch and sing a meaningless
But soothing song in my mind
I see through the glass, the fluffy,
Quiet snowflakes,
Fluttering against the sill.
The moon shines on the crystal
[illegible]
All this is gone when I fall into
A deep sleep.
But when I [illegible]
Freshly nestled in my heart.

Request To Be Studied

A request from the District No. 4 School Board for security guards to help stem vandalism at local schools will be reviewed at a later date in the matter.

In a letter read at the December 16 meeting of School trustees, Education Minister Gerald Merrithew said he was in full agreement with the sentiments of the board on excessive vandalism costs, and indicated the situation will be looked into.

In other business, the construction committee reported it had made an on-site inspection of Superior School as a result of submissions by the Superior Home and School Association and the public health inspector.

Prelate Issues Message As New Year Approaches

The following year-end message has been issued by Msgr. Edgar Godin, Bishop of Bathurst.

"The New Year is a precious gift from God. A benefactor usually specifies his intentions concerning an endowment. It is the mission of the Church of God to bring the Good News of Christ to our confused world, so it may know the will of God.

"At the beginning of this New Year, the Diocese of Bathurst renews its pledge to proclaim the Good News of Salvation.

"All of us, Bishop, clergy, religious and faithful, share in the apostolate of Evangelization.

"May the Spirit of God guide us all during 1977, and may His teaching always be a lamp to our feet and a light to our path. Ps. 118, 105".

Funeral Held At St. Theresa's

Rev. Yvon Boudreau, parish priest, and Rev. Louis Vermeersch officiated at a concelebrated mass for Mrs. Mary Emma Farrey held at St. Theresa Church Dec. 22 at 9 p.m.

The epistle was read by a nephew Albert Lavigne.

Pallbearers were Lloyd Cameron, two nephews Charles and Albert Lavigne, and three grandnephews Wayne Stever, Joey Lavigne and Darrell Walsh.

C.W.L. members formed a guard of honor at the church.

Mrs. Farrey will rest at the South Bathurst receiving vault, King Avenue, pending burial in the spring.

Attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cameron and family from Gatineau, Que.

The death of Mrs. Farrey occurred Dec. 19 at Chaleur General Hospital, following an accident at home in which she suffered a broken hip. She was 85 years old.

Born in Bathurst, she was a daughter of the late George Wetmore and Philomene Doucet Wetmore.

Many in the Bathurst area will remember Mrs. Farrey as Sister Philippa of the Sisters of Charity order. She entered the congregation in 1911. After her profession in 1914, she spent nearly 40 years in the religious order as a teacher in various communities in Nova Scotia including Amherst, Pictou, Werrington, North Sydney, Chezzetcook and Dartmouth-Halifax. She taught as well in Boston, Mass. and at Sacred Heart School in her native Bathurst.

After leaving the congregation, Mrs. Farrey continued her work of teaching and training youth for many more years until her marriage to Patrick Farrey of Cambridge, Mass. Upon the death of her husband, she returned to Bathurst where she resided at 170 Belmont Dr.

Up until her death, Mrs. Farrey was an active member of the Catholic Women's League, St. Theresa Council. She was also a member of the Golden Age Club.

Mrs. Farrey possessed a cheerful nature and was much loved wherever she lived and taught. She will be greatly missed by her many friends including those in the Sisters of Charity order at Mount St. Vincent where she and her cousin, Sister Cassette had but recently returned from a one-week visit.

Relatives and friends will remember her well and charity, one of her favorite charities being the Missions of Mary Immaculate, a missionary order of priests.

Surviving Mrs. Farrey are one sister, Agatha Middleton of Hillsborough, Nfld., and several nephews and nieces as well as many grandnephews and grandnieces.

Maurice Smith Dies, Aged 47

The death of Maurice K. Smith, Salmon Beach, occurred Dec. 22 at Chaleur General Hospital after a long illness. He was 47.

Born at Salmon Beach, he was a son of Mabel McConnell Smith, Gaspe, and the late Reginald Smith.

Mr. Smith was an employee of NB Tel for 15 years until he became ill about four years ago. His affiliations through the years included service in the Reserve Army.

Surviving are his wife, the former Molly Clark, two daughters, Shirley and Betty, both at home; his mother of Bathurst; two sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Sturges of Bathurst and Mrs. Annie Beattie of Nash Creek; one brother, Robert Smith of Janeville and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Smith rested at Elliott's Funeral Home.

Rev. R. G. MacKenzie, assisted by Canon T. H. Drillen, officiated at the funeral held at Central United Church in Clifton Friday at 2 p.m.

The hymns, Abide With Me and Safe In The Arms Of Jesus were sung. Mrs. James Ellis was organist.

The pallbearers were Percy Smith, Sherman Smith, Ernest Smith, Arthur Beattie, Eric Beattie and James Smith.

Entombment was in the receiving vault on St. Anne Street, Bathurst, pending burial in Spruce Grove Cemetery, Bridge Street, in the spring.

Those attending from out of town included David Lavigne, Toronto, as well as a number of friends from the Caraquet area.

Service Held For Student

St. Theresa Church was filled to capacity for the funeral of Larry Frigault Jr., victim of a fire mishap up river early on Dec. 21.

The service was held at four o'clock the following day with Rev. Yvon Boudreau, parish priest, and Rev Louis Vermeersch as the co-celebrants.

A classmate read the epistle while the teaching staff and students at South Bathurst School formed a guard of honor. Students also sang in the choir and among selections rendered by them was Amazing Grace.

The pallbearers were Ronald Robichaud, Derek Daley, Robbie Garratt, Todd Sherrard, Stanley Aubie and Glenn Rabin, all close friends.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, King Avenue, pending burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Those attending from out of town included David Lavigne, Toronto, as well as a number of friends from the Caraquet area.

Mall Treasure Chest Winners

December 24 winners in the Treasure Chest Draw at the Bathurst Shopping Mall were:

Grand prize winner of a stereo valued at $350: Mrs. Regina Boucher, 850 Vanier Blvd.

15-lb turkeys: Margery McCulloch, 975 Edgewood; Anne Marie Theriault, 1151 St. Peter Ave.; Mrs. Ida O'Toole, 680 St. Camille St.

Service Station Swept By Fire

After a five-hour fire at Roly's Shell Service Station on Bridge Street December 22, a spokesman for the City Fire department stated that "it was pretty much a total loss".

The firefighters received the alarm at 5:42 p.m. and one pumper, a rescue unit, and approximately 30 regular and volunteer firemen were dispatched to the scene.

Much of the area in which the garage is located was engulfed in thick black smoke from burning tires, increasing the difficulty of contending with the flames.

The structure is still standing but part of the roof is caved in and the inside of the building was gutted.

It is believed that the fire started around a furnace that was suspended from the ceiling. One vehicle, which was on the hoist, suffered a limited amount of fire damage and the hanging furnace fell on the front end of it.

It is believed that most of the stock is salvagable.

While the fire was in progress city policy were on duty detouring traffic from the East Bathurst bridge located nearby.

NEVADA BOUND?

Gerry Chamberlain, manager of Northeast Homes, is pleased over receiving friendly season's greetings from Entertainer Bobby Curtola, who performed at his opening earlier this year.

The card, postmarked Calgary, Alta., contained the following message:

"Sticking with Beautiful Things', my new RCA album has just been released. Since I can't be with you, maybe you can join me at the Sands in Las Vegas all thru New Year's and January I'll be lookin' 4 ya. Happy Holidays."

Jerry says he might just accept the invitation.

BEYOND COMPARE

It may not be exactly up to former standards, but what is these days?

However, if you're unhappy with Bathurst's current snow removal program, ask your Fredericton friends about theirs.

They think they're in heaven here, compared with what they have to contend with at home, due to the capital's current austerity program.

DELAYED ACTION

Originally scheduled to close Dec. 26, CN Telecommunications is remaining open indefinitely, on a day to day basis, as it were.

Unofficial reason for the change in plans is to alleviate the situation should a postal strike, reported pending, actually erupt.

APPRECIATIVE

The Chaleur Handicapped Sport and Recreation Club is grateful to all those who took part in the draw for "Christmas Cheer". This helped make it possible for many of the physically handicapped in the community to have a yuletide party.

To all those who supported them during 1976, the group wishes to take this opportunity to extend best wishes for a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Trio Sentenced In Robberies

Participants in a recent heist at Burns Equipment Ltd., Tetagouche Hill, which netted $500 in cash were sentenced in Provincial Court here Tuesday.

Darryl McLean and Theodore (Teddy) Hachey, both 18, each received two years in penitentiary. An accomplice, David Boucher, 20, was assessed two years less a day in provincial jail, plus a year's probation.

In addition, all three were ordered to make restitution of $600 each, or a third of the amount of money still missing.

McLean was previously sentenced to two years in penitentiary and Hachey received four months for a break and theft incident at D. A. Pitman and Sons Music Sales and Service, Main St. Both sentences will now run consecutively in penitentiary, followed by a year's probation.

FUNDS AID IN CONSTRUCTION OF FIRE STATION

The 50—50 draw, sponsored by the Pabineau, Big River, Mines Road (PBM) Volunteer Fire Brigade was held at the Bathurst Fire Hall December 20. Funds raised from the lottery are being used in the construction of a fire station and purchase of fire-fighting equipment for that area. Winners of $183.90 were Peggy Cormier and Emily Young, 138 DeSilva Lane, who shared in the purchase of the winning ticket. From the left, front row are: Marcel Guitontie, representing Brunswick Mining, who are helping financially in the cost of construction, Sidney Sealy, director PBM; City Fire Chief Frank Beeman, drawing the winning ticket; and Norman Paul, president PBM; back row: Omer David, director; and Lee Neal Jr., vice-president. Missing from photo are: Donald Branch, Ian Gray, directors, Theodore David, treasurer, and Ernest Lavigne, recording - secretary.

Mr. Savoie rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Lameque.

The funeral is being held at St. Pius X Church, Pigeon Hill, December 22 at 3 p.m. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Traditional Service Held

A traditional service of Nine Lessons and Carols was held in Saint George's Anglican Church Dec. 9 at 11 a.m. and greatly enjoyed by a large congregation.

Following the opening hymn, O Come All Ye Faithful, the rector, Archdeacon R. H. Murphy, opened the service with a "bidding prayer" for the parish, and a special Christmas prayer, followed by responsive reading of the Benedictus.

Lessons were read by John Furlong, representing the servers; Kathy Skanes for the Girls' Auxiliary; Mrs. Ian Stothart for the Sunday School teachers; Miss Lois Good for St. George's Guild; Mrs. Harrison Ronalds for the A.C.W. and Organ Guild; William Allen for the vestry; and Frank Stokoe for the choir.

The ninth lesson, the Christmas Gospel, was read by the rector and people together.

The carols were sung by the choir and congregation. Anthems by the senior choir, under the direction of Mr. Stokoe, director, were Whence Is That Goodly Fragrance, and Joseph And The Angel.

Selections by the junior choir directed by Mrs. R. H. Murphy included Here In A Manger, with the second verse rendered by Martha Hills and Lynda Gummer, and Winds Through The Olive Trees, with Pauline Carter as soloist. Organist

Northeast Milk Producers Uneasy

(By David Malcolm in the plain dealer)

Some milk producers in the Northumberland and Gloucester County areas are still uneasy about their future under the N.B. Milk Marketing Board. Government legislation passed last winter forced them to join the Board's milk pool marketing system, and to give up the pooling system they themselves had worked years to develop.

Elsie Daley, dairy farmer in the Bathurst area, presented some of the group's views in Fredericton recently. The main concern of some producers is that under the present quota system, there is "no protection of milk production in the north". Since the dairy and agricultural industries are already small in the region, they see any loss of either dairy farms, or milk quotas, as endangering the future of the industry.

Since January 1970 at least seven, and possibly as many as ten, dairy farmers have gone out of business in the Northeast.

Farmers in the region were given one year to increase their production by up to ten percent, thus qualifying for higher future quotas. Many smaller farmers find it most difficult to increase production and meet other new production and handling changes, due to the investment needed. Farmers in senior age levels also find it difficult to decide to invest large sums of money, because they cannot be assured of continuing markets and prices.

Wherever possible, dairy farmers sell their milk quotas (permission to sell certain quantities of milk for the highest priced fluid trade) to other farmers in the region. However, since January, 1970 pounds of daily quota has been sold to producers in other parts of the province, thus reducing local production. Any such drain on local production reduces the future potential of the industry in the region. Quotas sell for $2 to as high as $10 per pound, and farmers must recover the cost from their regular milk sales.

Two reliable sources informed the plain dealer that at least one person from the Northeast offering to buy cattle and milk quotas, then resells them wherever possible. In one reported case, he bought a quota for about $7 per pound, then resold it at a profit to a southern N.B. farmer who had arranged to sell a part of his own quota for over $10 per pound - thus realizing a profit just on the transfer of milk quota.

Elsie Daley says many producers in the region are concerned that their Northumberland Co-operative in Newcastle "faces a double danger. They carry a $500,000 mortgage covering the costs of repairs following a June 1975 fire. Due to the present quota system, the Newcastle Co-op is forced to buy milk from the south, rather than from its own members." However, Bill Vickers, manager of the Co-op, said that he thought both the Co-op and the dairy industry would survive in the region.

The Agricultural Resources Study reviewed the dairy farmers' situation throughout a recent three month period, and concluded that on the average, the farmers were slightly better off than last year. However, Elsie Daley pointed out that averages are not always reliable, because it leaves room for some people to be worse off while others are better off.

Credit Card Pros, Cons

Credit cards have had an explosive growth in the 1970s.

Today, there is one bank credit card in active use for every 10 Canadians.

The chartered banks, naturally enough, swear by them. The cards increase the use of credit as nothing else has done.

Many consumers, as well, obviously consider their credit cards to be the greatest thing that ever happened - instant gratification of material desires.

There's another and much less attractive side to the credit-card picture - the temptation that consumers feel to buy things they can't afford or don't need, because they're available with the wave of a card; the temptation that others feel to steal credit cards from the mail or elsewhere, and to sell them; the temptation that encourages still others to use stolen credit cards to buy everything in sight.

Yet another reason for concern about credit cards is discussed in the current bulletin of the Economic Council of Canada:

"The Council believes that the present system of bank credit cards is not as efficient as it might be.

"Retailers now carry the full cost of the system. They are charged between 1.5 percent and 5.75 per cent of the value of each transaction by the chartered bank operators.

"However, they are not allowed to regain any of this cost by raising prices for those making purchases with credit cards. Hence, prices may be raised for all purchasers in order to absorb the charges.

"Consumers who pay cash may therefore effectively bear the cost to retailers who accept cards, despite the fact that they are not benefiting from the system," says the Economic Council.

Some bankers would argue that credit cards increase the volume of a merchant's business to such an extent that economies of scale are achieved, and everybody benefits.

If it were true that credit cards bring in that much more volume, it would confirm that too many consumers are using credit unwisely, to buy things they don't really need.

The merchant doesn't care if the weak-willed credit-card customer is going overboard and buying too much, because the bank that issued the card has guaranteed that it will stand behind its card and protect the retailer from loss.

As for the consumer, the credit-card holder receives credit without formal interest for a period of several weeks, and therefore is likely to think that the use of the credit is free.

"If consumers were charged the costs to them of using credit," says the Economic Council, "they could decide to accept that cost or use some other method of payment.

"With card holders consequently more conscious of the costs of this type of credit, the illusion of 'free' credit-card use could be dispelled."

A natural consequence would be that consumers who pay cash would at least be entitled to a discount (of up to 5.75 per cent), and no longer be required to pay uniform prices that include a significant element representing the cost of providing credit to card holders.

The Council offers another recommendation, in the interest of efficiency:

Require the chartered banks to admit "near-banks" (trust companies) to their credit-card system, for a fee.

It believes that this would make the credit-card system more competitive in terms of range and price of services.

It would also, unfortunately, make credit-card users out of many trust-company depositors who now pay as they go.

Tax Bills Will Tell Tale

Nobody will know for sure until they receive their tax bills, but property owners have been shocked at the news that assessments next year will average about 40 percent higher than in 1976.

However, the situation may not be as dark as it first appears.

Elmer Cronk, provincial assessment director, takes an optimistic view in assuring that increased assessments will probably be offset by a further cut in the provincial property rate and, in many cases, lower municipal rates.

This may be true for homeowners but certainly it does not apply to business holdings where the provincial property tax phase-out does not apply. The provincial tax rate on homes drops to 37½ cents from 75 cents in 1977.

The higher assessments will average about 40 per cent for homes and about 30 per cent for business properties.

Mr. Cronk said the same trend would be reflected on homes located in non-incorporated areas, with a slightly lower tax bill despite a much higher property assessment.

These words are encouraging but property owners will understandably wait for their tax bills before giving a sigh of relief or a roar of rage.

Business owners, on the other hand, can be almost sure that their property tax will be higher in 1977, considerably higher.

St. George's Concludes 150th Anniversary Year

A well-attended "service of thanksgiving" was held here in St. George's Anglican Church on Sunday, Dec. 5 at 7:00 p.m.

This service brought to a close the celebrations marking the 150th anniversary year of the Parish of Bathurst. Members of the anniversary committee assisted the rector, Archdeacon R. H. Murphy.

The lesson was read by Hadley Wood and the psalm was lead by Mrs. Douglas Branch.

Others taking part were Mrs. Robert Hills, Mrs. Fred Cole and Mrs. Everett Jamieson.

The senior choir, directed by choir director Frank Stokoe, rendered the anthem, What Are These That Are Arrayed In White Robes. The junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. R. H. Murphy and assisted by Mrs. Robert Wood, sang, Bless This Church, the soloist being Karolyn Hills. Organist was Aubrey Miller.

Other anniversary committee members participating included Donald Sergeant, cross bearer, Harper Vance who acted as one of the sidesmen, and churchwardens Edmund Carroll and Carson Daley who looked after commemorative items in the church hall. Mrs. Clarence Furlong convened the lunch.

The rector who drew up the special service, opened with an invocation prayer and pronounced the benediction at the close of the service.

Following the service, the congregation proceeded to the church hall where slides of events of the present year along with past years were viewed. Photo albums and scrap books depicting events of the past and present were also on display, along with two pictures of the church, one taken at the turn of the century, and one in 1855.

A 100-year-old prayer book, on loan from a parishioner, was also on display.

An enthusiastic hymn sing was enjoyed, under the direction of Mr. Stokoe, assisted by Mrs. Robert Brown.

The evening closed with refreshments served by the anniversary committee.

Tribute Paid Raymond Dugas

A largely attended con-celebrated mass was held for Raymond Dugas at Our Lady of the Rosary Church on Dec. 15 at 7 p.m.

Officiating were the parish priest, Rev. J. W. Roche, Rev. Charles Picot, Dalhousie; Rev. David Boudreau, Rev. Albert Landry and Brother Michel Charest, all of the Capuchin Fathers in Bathurst, and student priest Daniel Boudreau. A number of priest were also present in the sanctuary.

The honorary pallbearers were Marc Chiasson, Allan White, Howard Ross and Thomas Moran, co-workers at Keystone Realty.

The active pallbearers were Ray Burke, Al Hebert, Rob Matthews, Wally Haley, Bill Murphy and Conrad Lutes, all radio station CKBC personnel.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Avenue, to await burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Those attending from a distance included Bruce Hay, Russell Newton, Saint John; Mrs. Ida Savoie, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Theophile Dugas, New Richmond, Que.; and many relatives and friends from the Grand Anse, Caraquet and Upshore areas.

Citizens Asked For Viewpoints

Caraquet
Edmundston, N.B.
December 22, 1976

Being appointed intervenor in the matter of an application by the New Brunswick Telephone Company Limited for approval of certain increases in rates and charges and changes of relations, my responsibilities include coming for the board's consideration the viewpoints of any citizens of New Brunswick who wish to have an issue or question or point of view raised at the hearing at Saint John on January 26, 1977.

I would appreciate your assistance in advising your readers of this fact and I am available for newspaper interviews of the like which would further this purpose.

The quality and availability of the telephone service to citizens is an important factor in this application and the government of this province wishes that I make the views of the citizens known. I feel it is part of my duties to seek their comments or viewpoints.

Consequently, as a service to your readers, I would appreciate your assistance in making this known to the public possible in requesting them of my availability and readiness to represent them properly.

Congratulations

Now is the time to start planning for your new baby's future.

Call us anytime to discuss additional protection, savings or an education fund.

CARD OF THANKS

FARREY — The family of the late Mrs. Mary Farrey wish to thank the 3rd floor nurses, personnel in Intensive Care Unit of the Chaleur General Hospital, Father Losier Boudreau and Vermeersch, Elhatton Funeral Home for the care shown to their late aunt while she was a patient. The family also wishes to thank all those who sent flowers, mass cards and expressions of sympathy, also neighbours and the St. Theresa Parish.

DUGAS — The family of the late Raymond Dugas wishes to express sincere thanks to the innumerable neighbors, friends and relatives who showed such deep and kind concern, for their many acts of kindness, and for the mass cards, floral tributes and other messages of Sympathy, for visits to the funeral home and assistance at the funeral. The family always will remember.

IN MEMORIAM

WHITE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father William White who passed away December 26, 1966.

Always remembered by Wife and Family

In loving memory of our dear Father George A. Vibert 15-12-76

"His life was gentle and the elements
So mix'd in him
that Nature might stand up.
And say to all the world
"This was a man"

Wm. Shakespeare

Daddy
It's good to take the dusty road
with daddy,
To shoulder my share of a camper's load
Like daddy.
Flee for a night all coddling care
The dreads and the danger of darkness share,
With the stars in my eyes and the dew in my hair
And daddy

It's fun to sit by the crackling fire
With daddy,
While the flames leap high and the sparks mount higher
For daddy;
To break for once the home food
ban
Eat with my fingers out of a pan
And chatter along as man to man
With daddy.
It's great to stretch on a sweet pine bed
By daddy,
To vision the trails that lie ahead
With daddy,
Gaze for a while at the spangled sky,
Sleepily smile to the man close by
And yield to Nature's lullaby
With daddy

Ever remembered by his son Ronald and daughter Nola.

NOTICE

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF NEW BRUNSWICK
QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION

IN THE MATTER of the Queen's Bench Rules (N.B.), 1973, and more Chapter 24 and amendments thereto;

and

IN THE MATTER of the application of T.S. MACHEY and SONS LIMITED of the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester, and Province of New Brunswick, for a Certificate of Title

and

IN THE MATTER of a certain parcel or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the Parish of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that T.S. MACHEY and SONS LIMITED, a body corporate with head offices in the City of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, has made an application to the Supreme Court of New Brunswick for a Certificate of Title under the Quieting of Titles Act, R.S.N.B., 1973, being Chapter Q-1 and has produced evidence whereby the said T.S. MACHEY and SONS LIMITED appears to be the owner in fee simple of the lands and premises described as follows:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the Parish of Bathurst, in the County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick, more particularly bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at a point on the northerly side of the road to Bathurst as marked on Plan of Grant No. 28478, granted to John M. Smallman, on the Westerly line of the King, thence northerly along the eastern side line of land granted to the Reverend A.J. Bourke to the southerly boundary of lands of Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited, thence easterly and more or less along the southerly boundary of Bathurst Power and Paper Company Limited, thence northerly following the easterly boundary of Bathurst Power and Paper Company lands to the rear of the lot, thence easterly along the rear of the lot to the westerly boundary of lot No. 1 granted to J.A. Arseneau, thence southerly along the above mentioned westerly boundary of lot No. 1 granted to J.A. Arseneau to the road aforesaid, thence westerly along the said road to the Place of Beginning.

EXCEPTING AND RESERVING there out of the above described lands and premises all of that portion of the lands and premises lying to the north side of the road to Bathurst and to the south side of the lands granted to Rev. A.J. O'Leary from the point of beginning aforesaid easterly along the said road and including all that triangular piece of land.

AND THEREFORE any person or persons having or claiming any title or interest in the said lands and premises or any part thereof is required on or before the 31st day of December A.D., 1976, to file a Statement of Claim verified by affidavit with the Registrar of the Supreme Court at his office in the City of Fredericton, in the Province of New Brunswick, and to serve a copy thereof on Burns, Riordon and Lenihan, Solicitors for the said Applicant, at their offices, Suite 13, Enos Building, P.O. Drawer T., Bathurst, New Brunswick.

AND IN DEFAULT THEREOF, every such claim will be barred and the title of the said T.S. MACHEY and SONS LIMITED will become absolute and indefeasible as against all persons subject to the reservations mentioned in the said Act.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that the said Application will be further dealt with on Friday, the 14th day of January, A.D., 1977, at the hour of Ten o'clock in the forenoon, before me, or such other Judge as then will be Sitting in Chambers at the Gloucester County Court House, in the City of Bathurst, County of Gloucester and Province of New Brunswick.

DATED this 22 nd day of November, A.D., 1976.

For and about Teenagers

BY PATRICK EDWARD

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I have a big problem. I'm almost 17 years old and my parents won't let me go out with boys. I like this one guy a lot and he asked me out — but I had to say no. What should I do?

OUR REPLY: First of all, understand that you don't really have a problem. You've got a situation that needs handling. The best way to handle it is to be very clear on what you want to communicate to your parents. For now — at least — you are actually a guest in their home. They pay the bills, they get to make the rules. You've got to accept that. Once you accept things for the way they are you can work to change them. Your parents will recognize when you're accepting responsibility. Then, they'll give you more. Make certain you share with your parents exactly how you feel about going out with boys. Your parents love you, you love them. Learn to listen to what they have to say. Get clear on why they won't let you go out with boys. Be truthful and honest with them on why you think it's time you got to go out with your peers. Together you'll work things out.

(Because of the volume of mail, requests for personal replies cannot be answered. However, selected letters will be answered in this column. Letters should be typed, double-spaced, and of controversial topics (abortion, VD, etc.) are discouraged. Address FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, BOX 430, Bathurst, NB.)

Five Death To Be Investigated

Bathurst Coroner Gerry Aremenia announced over the weekend that an inquest will be held into the death December 11 of a 15-year-old Bathurst youth.

Joseph Lawrence Frigault, son of Larry and Jean Frigault, died in a fire that destroyed his father's camp in the Nine Mile Brook area. The youth had been spending the night there with his 17-year-old brother Wayne and a friend, Brian Fisher.

The victim's two companions managed to escape from the burning building and were treated for lacerations and shock at Chaleur General Hospital.

No date for the inquest has been set.

Five Firms Interested

Natural Resources Minister Roland C. Boudreau has announced that there are five companies seemingly interested in purchasing Brunswick Mills.

Mr. Boudreau mentioned that there were four N.B. Companies and one from Quebec to invested in the sawmill. A presentation already been made by the Quebec company.

Brunswick Mills will close at the end of December as previously announced. Mr. Boudreau stated, "We have to close. We cannot continue to lose money at such a pace."

Mr. Boudreau also added that the proposals from the said companies will have to be based on January.

Brunswick Mills Manager Allan Chambers stated that he had no supplementary information and that the mill is to close at the end of the month. He added that approximately 24 employees were still working for an undetermined period.

Snowmobilers Keep Active

A good turnout was witnessed at the first general meeting of the Bathurst Outdoor Recreational Snowmobile Club December 16 at the Bathurst Fish and Game Lodge. The club elected its officers as follows: John Labreville president, Richard Larrivee, vice-president, Christine Gallant, secretary and Harold Keough, treasurer.

Among the topics discussed were the future of the groomed snowmobile trails in this area, benefits of belonging to a snowmobile club, and the activation of the New Brunswick Snowmobile Federation and the New Brunswick Snowmobile Dealers Association.

The Snowmobile Club will be holding a snowmobile party and supper in the afternoon of December 30. The group is great and everyone is invited to attend. Members are reminded to bring their children, who are sure to enjoy themselves.

Those planning to attend are kindly asked to call 548-3798.

There will also be a New Year's Eve dance and snowmobile party at the Lodge on December 31. 1978. Entertainment is scheduled and a buffet lunch will be served during the course of the evening.

Again the club is asking for all snowmobilers support by coming to help bring about more facilities for the snowmobiling public.

Registrations are available at all snowmobile dealers.

Next general meeting will be held on January 16, 1979, time and location to be announced.

Reproduced below is a letter sent to the Hon. R. C. Boudreau and has been satisfactory response.

Letter from Mr. Labreville

The Bathurst Outdoor snowmobile Club is requesting that the trail grooming in Bathurst Pilot Project winter recreation be maintained this coming winter of 1978 - 79.

"Our group would like to work in close liaison with your Department of Natural Resources here in the Bathurst area to help utilize the trail grooming equipment for areas of higher demand by the people of Bathurst and surrounding areas.

"Our club was organized on November 20 in affiliation with the Bathurst Fish and Game Association. It has 114 members and expects to have approximately 200 by December 31 of this year.

"Our association would like to have a meeting with your Bathurst officials, at the very near future, to discuss this request. We also wish to express our gratitude for the supply of fuels, equipment and personnel for maintenance of the snowmobile trails that were available for the last two years.

Reply from Mr. Boudreau:

"A club for snowmobilers in the Bathurst region is an excellent idea and you and the Bathurst Fish and Game Association are commended for your initiative. My department staff assure me that they appreciate your supportive attitude and will be pleased to accommodate you and your colleagues with budgetary limitations.

"Norman Henry at the Bathurst office of the Department is awaiting word from you as to specific proposals which will be considered in concert with the needs of other similar groups.

"I am particularly pleased to learn of your appreciation of departmental efforts in the past two years and trust that our mutual desires can be realized in the future.

Brunswick Mining: Better Days Ahead

(By John Sagmister in The Financial Post)

The Big Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. complex near Bathurst has hitherto provided far more headaches than pleasant moments for its operators.

First, the W. J. Bayley group discovered the big zinc-lead orebodies in 1952-53 and set off an East Coast mining boom. St. Joseph Lead Co. and the Irving interests also have been involved.

Then Noranda Mines Ltd. stepped into the picture with a massive infusion of cash in 1967 and now has 60 per cent equity in Brunswick Mining.

In terms of earnings there is still not much to show for all the effort and outlay to date. Production started early in 1966. From then to the end of September, 1976, net income has totalled the not-so-grand sum of $18.2 million. That's a total of 53 cents a share on the 34.3 million shares now outstanding.

Overall, there had been more net losses than earnings up to the end of 1972, primarily because of difficulties in the operation of a zinc-lead smelter then owned by a subsidiary. Net income was $9.9 million in 1973, $17.1 million in 1974, and $12.6 million in 1975.

This year it's close to zilch for the first nine months - a very modest $700,000 (two cents a share), vs $12.3 million (36 cents) in the first nine months of 1975.

In fact, there was a net loss for the third quarter of $3.5 million, vs a profit of $3.1 million in third-quarter 1975.

These poor financial results reflect a three-month strike at the mining division (from May 19 to Aug. 18), a six-week shutdown of the smelting division for maintenance, vacations and a working-off of lead metal inventory.

Despite the lackluster financial performance, many investment analysts follow the company. Over the past six months, studies (all basically favorable) have been produced by Craig and Ortiguy Inc., Wood Gundy Ltd., Canadian Business Service, Bache Halsey Stuart Canada Ltd., Bell, Gouinlock and Co., Mead and Co. and Nesbitt, Thomson and Co.

A general theme runs through them all. Brunswick has ore reserves sufficient for 25 years of operations at the (not yet) expanded production rate of 10,000 tons of ore a day. And there's a leverage factor in the swings in base metal prices.

As Craig and Ortiguy said: "Strike-impeded earnings this year are unlikely to exceed 15 cents (per share) but resumption of normal operations should permit an impressive recovery of earnings for 1977." This firm projects 75 cents a share next year.

At a recent $4.55, Brunswick is trading below the midpoint of its 1976 range of $6½ - $3.85. The price has been all over the place over the years - switchbacking from a high of 25¾ in 1969 (initial financing was at $10 per share) to a low of $1.95 in 1958. The best price in the 1970s was $8.50 (in 1973), the lowest was $2 (1971).

There's been a total of 39 cents per share in dividends on the common stock in 1974-76. Most recent was the five cents paid Nov. 15.

So why the most analysts who follow the company like its prospects?

For one thing, Brunswick represents a major ore grade and has a management team (Noranda) with decades of experience in operating zinc-lead mines, concentrators and smelters. It is the third largest mine producer of zinc and lead in Canada and the second largest producer of silver. Brunswick mine is made up of No. 12 underground mine, No. 6 open-pit mine, two concentrators - capacities of 6,300 tons and 3,500 tons respectively - and a lead smelter.

At the start of 1976, total tonnage of zinc-lead ore at the two mines was 100.5 million tons. The grades position at the No. 12 mine was calculated at 48.3 million tons averaging 9.36 per cent zinc, 1.72 per cent lead, .28 per cent copper and 2.74 ounces silver per ton.

In addition, there were 14.1 million tons of copper ore at the No. 12 mine, including 9.5 million tons in the primary category, grading 1.51 per cent copper, 1.13 zinc, .46 per cent lead and .85 ounce silver per ton.

Brunswick currently is engaged in a major, four-year, $65-million expansion program. Capacity of the No. 12 mine is being expanded from 7,300 tons to 10,000 tons of ore a day by 1979.

This will make this mine the second largest zinc producer in the country. After the expansion, the metallic content of new production will be about 35 per cent higher, as the ore grade at No. 12 mine is considerably up on that of No. 6 mine where open-pit production is scheduled to end in 1977.

A company spokesman in Bathurst said recently: "The expansion project is on schedule and quite close to cost despite galloping inflation." That can be read as good news three times.

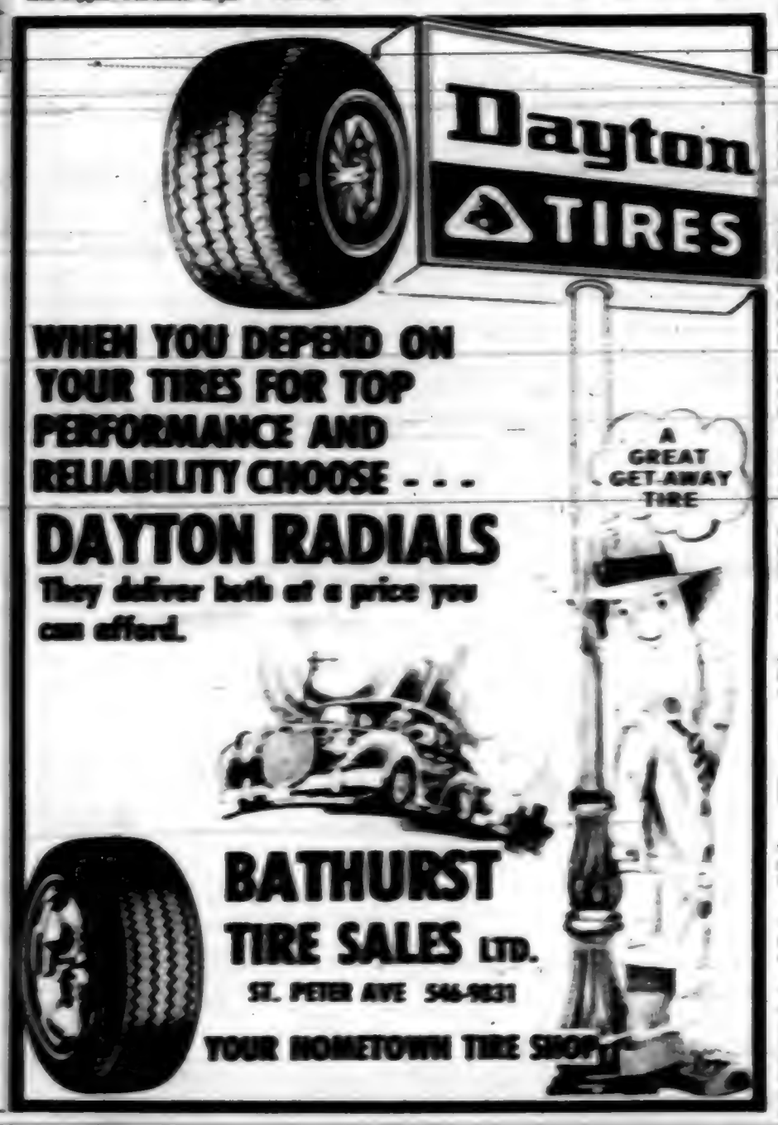
The program, now under way for two years, is expected to be completed in 1979. It includes a new steel-and-concrete headframe which, at 225 feet, will be the tallest building in the Maritimes. The new 36-foot in-side diameter shaft is reported to be the largest in Canada. The contract for the shaft and associated development is believed to be the largest single mining contract ever let in this country.

Noranda manages and supervises the operations and its sales arm, Noranda Sales Corp., is the sales agent. Since the opening of the mines in 1966, Societe Generale des Minerais of Belgium has purchased most of the zinc concentrate (other than that smelted by Brunswick before 1972).

The amount Societe Generale pays is based upon the zinc metal content and the annual average European producer price for zinc after deduction of a treatment charge. Noranda Sales sells the lead at prices prevailing at the time of sale. The copper concentrate is smelted and refined by Noranda; the refined copper and silver is sold by Noranda Sales.

NUT BLITZ CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFUL

Retired Archibald Anderson, past president AOTS, presented J.R. Miller, president CAMR, a cheque for $582 December 21. The money was raised from the six-month annual nut blitz by the United Church AOTS. As One Third Servers Men's Club carried out November 15. The proceeds are equally divided between the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded, Bathurst Branch, and youth work of the church. The latter centres around the extensive use of the Donald Eddy Hall by boys' organizations of all denominations. In addition, the Men's Club have sponsored the Elmtree Youth Camp since 1945 when this project was inaugurated under the direction of Hubert Morris. Mr. Archibald and the late A.I. (Ted) Tower. This year's contribution to CAMR brings the total to $5,356. AOTS volunteer Canvassers sold a total of 3,000 boxes of nuts within two hours in this year's blitz.



Clearlake Loss Was Substantial

Clearlake Sawmills Ltd. of Prince George, B.C. will lose heavily on its investment in the Brunswick Mills Ltd. sawmill, the secretary of the company says.

Wilfred Pattenden said last week that the purchase price of $4,750,000 to be paid by the New Brunswick government for the financially troubled mill includes $570,000 for repayment of shareholders but that "doesn't cover a third of our investment."

The remainder of the purchase price included $2,830,000 to pay a bank loan and $1,350,000 to settle accounts.

The New Brunswick government has purchased the mill and will attempt to sell the operation to another company.

Roland Boudreau, natural resources minister, said the government had lost between $1.1 million and $1.3 million on Brunswick Mills. He estimated the company had lost $3 million.

Mr. Pattenden would not say exactly how much the company had lost but stated it was "a very substantial amount."

Welfare Rates Increase Jan. 1

Changes in social assistance rates effective January 1 were announced by Social Services Minister Leslie Hull.

Basic social assistance rates will rise as part of the department's on-going rate escalation, said the minister.

The single unemployable rate will be increased to a basic rate of $230 per month. The single parent with dependents will be increased to a basic rate of $321 per month; the two person or two parent unit will be increased to a basic rate of $368 per month.

N.B. Cabinet Changes Made

Former Education Minister Gerald Merrithew takes over the commerce and development portfolio in a cabinet shuffle announced by Premier Richard Hatfield December 20.

The former commerce and development minister, Lawrence Garvie, becomes minister of finance.

Brenda Robertson (Riverview) was returned to the cabinet as minister of health. She succeeds G.W.N. Cockburn, who was appointed chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission.

New faces in the cabinet are Charles Gallagher (Carleton North), appointed education Minister, and Harold Fanjoy (Kings Centre), appointed minister of supply and services. Mrs. Fanjoy succeeds Mr. George Horton, who resigned from the cabinet.

In another change, Paul Creaghan assumes the post of provincial secretary while continuing as minister of justice. Omer Leger, former provincial secretary, continues as fisheries minister.

The new members of cabinet, Mrs. Robertson, Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Fanjoy, were sworn in by Lt. Gov. Hedard Robichaud in a ceremony in the legislative chamber. J. Douglas Moore, Progressive Conservative victor in last month's Victoria-Tobique byelection, was sworn in as a member of the House.

Continuing in their portfolios are: Agriculture and Rural Development Minister Malcolm McLeod, Labor and Manpower Minister Rodman Logan, Municipal Affairs Minister Horace Smith, Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau, Social Services Minister Les Hull, Tourism and Environment Minister Fernand Dube, Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard, Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources Minister Jean-Pierre Ouellet and Transportation Minister Wilfred Bishop.

Mrs. J. Chiasson Dies In Lameque

COTEAU ROAD – The death of Mrs. Virginie (nee Duguay) Chiasson, widow of the late Joyeux Chiasson, occurred Dec. 16 in hospital at Lameque. She was 82.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Theo Larocque (Cerena) and Mrs. Raymond David (Helene), both of Coteau Road and Cardelia, at home; four sons, Dollard, Leonard, Donnice and Minto, all of Coteau Road.

Four sisters, Mrs. Marie Lebreton of Ontario, Mrs. Leontine Richard and Mrs. Betsy Duguay of Duguayville and Mrs. Maggie Rimmel, also of Ontario; three brothers, Richard and Adolard, both of Duguayville and Emerite of Kapuskasing, Ont.; 40 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held at St-Pius Church, at Pigeon Hill Sunday, Dec. 19. Entombment was in the parish receiving vault to be followed by burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Media Campaign Underway In NB

"No thanks, I've had enough."

That's the phrase the New Brunswick government is urging on provincial motorists this holiday season.

The phrase is the operative slogan of a media campaign designed to remind drivers of the danger of mixing alcohol and gasoline.

"All too often," says Provincial Secretary Omer Leger, the minister responsible for highway safety, "people tend to over-indulge at Christmas and New Year's parties."

"But the real problem begins when they try to drive home under the influence of too many drinks," he adds.

The campaign is a reminder to use discretion at holiday parties, to refuse that last drink and to use the phrase "No thanks, I've had enough."

Mr. Leger noted that this is the worst possible time of year to become involved in a highway accident.

"Christmas is just too important to be ruined by the consequences of impaired driving," the minister added.

He noted that present laws respecting impairment call for stiff fines, license suspensions and jail terms.

"And the fact that the offence occurs at Christmas time will have little mitigating effect on the courts," Mr. Leger suggested.

"It is said that a word to the wise is sufficient," the minister said. "This year make it a wise phrase . . . 'No thanks, I've had enough.'"

Nominations Are Invited

The Board of Governors invites nominations from individuals, municipalities, sports governing bodies and agencies for the New Brunswick Sports Hall of Fame.

Deadline for nominations is February 15, 1977. The Selection Committee will meet on March 4, followed by a joint meeting of the board of governors and the selection committee on March 5, and the announcement of inductees will be made in the week of March 6.

The annual dinner and induction ceremony will be held on June 24.

It is planned to have the official opening of the permanent home for the Hall of Fame coincide with the annual induction ceremony. The new home is located in the John Thurston Clark Memorial Library building, in Fredericton.

Nomination forms will be available from the regional offices of the department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources and also from the Secretary, N.B. Sports Hall of Fame, Room 424, Centennial Building, Fredericton.

Bill Ritchie of Fredericton was elected chairman of the board of directors at their meeting on December 13. Other board members are Elwood Greenough, St. Stephen; Joanne Thurrott, Moncton; Roger Nadeau, Edmundston; Jim MacLaggan, Bathurst and Dean Brewer, Fredericton.

ENROLED IN 1ST BATHURST GUIDE COMPANY

Left to right are Christine Cormier, Barbara Glazier, Jennifer Mann, Patricia Jacobson, Angelina Kerry, Carol McLean, Linda Kerry and Joanne Spin who were enrolled in the 1st Bathurst Guide Company. Ceremonies were conducted at the Sacred Heart Church meeting room for Guides Dec. 15 by the company captain, Mrs. Ronald Gauthier. The assistant leaders are Mrs. Jeannine Duguay, lieutenant, and Mrs. Brenda Gignac, and a junior leader Shelley Gauthier. Present as special guests were Mrs. Pat Meehan, Gloucester Division Commissioner, and Mrs. Margaret Petersburg district commissioner. A fun program which included breaking the "pinata" and singing took place. A lunch was served at the conclusion of the evening. Several girls were working towards achieving their hostess badges.

Enrollment Ceremonies Held

LOTA Group Holds Party

The annual Christmas Party of the Ladies of the Assembly of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus was held Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. Danny DeGrace which was appropriately decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

Games with prizes, an exchange of gifts and a sing-song were included in the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Louise LeBlanc performed the duties of Santa Claus for the gift exchange.

Lunch, towards which all members had contributed was served, bringing the enjoyable function to a close.

Assistant leaders are Mrs. John Fagan, Mrs. Paul Tremblay. Helpers are Nicole Boudreau and Michele Basque. The Brownies sang a special Welcome Song for the many parents present. The program also included several action songs.

Are Television Fires Threat?

A consumer in Burlington, Ontario asked us about television fires and the "economic value in instant on televisions".

Mark Canadian Standards Association cannot comment on the economic value of TVs because their testing deals mainly with fire and shock hazards but they can say that the household television set is not the time bomb that some people fear it is according to CSA statistics.

A report released to the federal Department of Consumers and Corporate Affairs indicates that only three television fires resulted in extensive damage to the home during a three year period.

CSA's Audits and Investigations Section is carrying out an ongoing survey of fire incidents involving appliances. A questionnaire is sent to Fire Marshals across the country and the results are tabulated by CSA's computer. During the meeting of the Advisory Council on Fire Safety, CSA presents an annual report to the various provincial Fire Marshals.

CSA's report on television fires was taken from May 1973 to December 1974. During that time the number of fire incidents reported to CSA in which TV sets were involved totalled 1,188. Of this number (1182) lightning was present in 502 at the time of the incident. Of the balance (680), 38 reported as having fire and smoke damage external to the TV set. Of these 38 incidents, 16 were attributed to definite causes within the TV set. Of the 16 cases, only three fires resulted in extensive damage to the home.

It should be noted that many of the incidents resulted after some service to the sets had been done at a prior date. As an example of 16 sets involved in incidents, seven were reported as having previous service, including two of the three reported as extensive damage.

Also, CSA records do not indicate that sets with the "instant-on" feature are more susceptible to fire.

Social and Personal

Miss Violet Regan who attends Concordia University in Montreal and Mr. Jim Regan, a student at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, arrived last week to spend the Christmas season with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Regan.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Arthanon of London, England, are vacationing over the Yuletide season on Tenerife Island, one of the Canary Islands group. Mrs. Arthanon is the former Christine Regan of Bathurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Hachey and family of Dyer, formerly of 235 King Ave., are occupying their new home at 1256 Centennial Street. Mr. Hachey is employed as a foreman at the Smelter in Belledune.

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Lovegrove, Greenfield, Miami, have been spending the holidays with relatives in Bathurst and Campbellton. Mr. Lovegrove is attending Hallmark Institute of Photography at Turner's Falls, Mass.

Mr. Hugh Ellis who attends Dalhousie University, Halifax, is visiting over Yuletide with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ellis, Jacquelin.

NEW JOBS FROM COMMUNITY PROJECTS. THINK ABOUT IT.

Canada Works
Young Canada Works

Canada Works is a new job creation program that will be launched in January.

This new year-round program is designed to get needed work done by people not employed in the private sector.

Canada Works will accept applications from groups and organizations including private businesses who wish to develop, sponsor and administer worthwhile community projects. Funds will mainly be allocated to areas of high unemployment and projects will be tailored to special employment needs of your local community.

Canada Works will generate employment for more than 40,000 Canadians who are presently unemployed. Applications will be considered twice a year — in Winter and Summer.

Think about your projects now. Early in the new year, your local Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" with full details on the program. Canada Works for your community. Make your worthwhile projects work next year!

A second program is for students. Young Canada Works will create jobs for more than 25,000 students next summer. The emphasis will be on projects of solid community value. It has many of the same features as the year-round program, except projects will be limited to 16 weeks during the summer months.

At the same time, Young Canada Works will enable students to gain valuable work experience and test their career aspirations.

Like Canada Works, your Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Young Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" early in the new year.

So, think about what your organization would like to do for students. Young Canada Works for students in your community.

A Tribute To Uncle George

(George A. Vibert, mail courier for 40 years on the Islands of Miscou and Shippegan, who died Dec. 15, 1976.)

He was so tall when I looked up
His face a tender crag;
No harm could come when he was near,
From man or beast or plague.
Then time doled by and I grew some
To see into his eyes,
Though not so tall and a bit less strong
But my, how he was wise.
Disrespectful time flew by
And I looked down to see
The balding head of the giant man
That once held me on his knee.
Timidly he reached for me,
My coat or hand to touch
But tall, wise me avoided him,
For grown men seldom touch.
He's gone away, he won't be back,
Some even think he died,
But I know he still lives in me,
And I relish it with pride.
Before he left, I felt it all,
His height, his strength, his brain,
With dignity, I think of him.
With respect, I feel no pain.
And I look down at a boy below,
And this is what I see,
A little boy who once I was,
And one day will be me.

Serve Quiche Lorraine

The quiche is a versatile item that feels at home on the menu anytime from brunch through dinner. Quiches come in a variety of flavours so there is one to please just about everybody. You can make them better than ever and less expensive, too, if you use Carnation evaporated milk in them instead of cream.

Ingredients: 8 slices fried bacon, 9 inch unbaked pastry shell, 1½ cups (6 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard, 1⅞ cups undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk, 4 beaten eggs, Paprika.

Method: Crumble bacon in unbaked pastry shell. Cover with cheese. Combine flour, salt and dry mustard. Gradually add evaporated milk. Add beaten eggs to milk mixture, blend well. Pour into pastry shell. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in moderate oven (375°) 30 to 35 minutes or until knife inserted halfway between centre and edge comes out clean. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Duplicate Bridge Results

Members of the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club will be playing in an ACBL membership game in January, on a date to be announced.

Anyone wishing to participate in this event must have a 1977 membership card. New members wishing to join the ACBL are eligible to play on that night.

At the regular weekly bridge session on Dec. 20, Mrs. Phil Chiasson and Mrs. M. C. Hachey placed first, followed By Mrs. Lauretta Wedge and Ray Pourier. In third spot were Mrs. Helen Ferguson and Mrs. Douglas Shirley. Above average scorers were Mrs. Stella Bertin and Mrs. Pius Theriault.

Social and Personal

Due this week to spend New Year's with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGraw and Mr. and Mrs. Ronaldo Olscamp are Mr. and Mrs. John Olscamp and daughters Lynn, Carol and Bonnie from Moncton.

Mr. Glendon Ellis, a student at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ellis, Janeville, over the Yuletide recess.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bujold and children Michelle and Chris from Campbellton spent Christmas Day with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Hachey and family, Thornton Avenue.

The many friends of Mr. G. E. "Gerry" McLellan are pleased to learn he was discharged from Chaleur General Hospital in time to spend Christmas at his residence with members of the family. Mr. McLellan had been a patient for several weeks.

Miss Cynthia Carson and Mr. Leigh Carson, students at Mount Allison University, Sackville, are spending the Christmas break with their father, Dr. J. D. Carson and family, and visiting with their mother who is a patient in Chaleur General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benoit and daughters Joanne and Rachelle from Campbellton spent Christmas with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stever and other members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Quinn, Vancouver, have been visiting her mother, Mrs. George Doucet, Main Street, and other relatives in the city. En route, they spent a week at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and also visited at Hull, Quebec, with Mrs. Quinn's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Doucet.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Poulette and their 11-year old daughter, formerly of Montreal, now are residing at 386 St. Simon Street. Mr. Poulette is a sales representative.

Miss Rose-Marie Hachey, Ottawa, left to resume work Tuesday after spending Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Omer Hachey, Elm Court, and other members of the family.

Rev. Gregory Sampson plans visiting for a few days this week at St. Peter's, Richmond County, Cape Breton, with his mother who is 90 years old, and other relatives in the area.

Rev. Andre Deschenes, Montreal, has been visiting over Yuletide with his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Deschenes and family. Also here over Christmas weekend were a son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deschenes and daughter Michelle, Saint John. The latter also visited with her relatives, the Bill Hayes family in the Jacquet River area.

Mr. Charles Day is spending Yuletide with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Day, Young St. Day is a first-year student at St. Thomas University, Fredericton.

Safety Can Avoid Mishaps

Some of the cheapest life insurance you can buy is on sale at your local hardware store. The following are some inexpensive safety gadgets that could save you and your family from injury or even death, advised Canadian Standards Association:

A tiny 7-watt night light will help prevent tripping over furniture, pets or cords in darkened rooms and hallways.

To prevent tripping over a cord, use a cord shortener. Simply wind the lamp or appliance cord around the shortener to keep the cord out of harm's way.

Electric wall sockets, when not in use, can be child-proofed with plastic sheets that snap into each socket. Kids then can't insert metal objects.

Fix adhesive-backed decals to the bottom of the bathtub. These give a non-slip surface when the tub is wet or soapy.

Adhesive-backed treadme strips for stairs and slippery surfaces give a non-slip footbold.

Keep children out of medicine chests and off-limit cabinets by attaching safety catches to the doors. To open the door fully, the safety catch must be released.

On icy, snowy surfaces, prevent falls by using grippers that fit over shoes or boots.

Carry emergency flares in your car. If you have an accident, they can prevent a second collision.

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "I am the Lord: that is my name, and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images." Isaiah 42:8

Love and appreciate others and even love yourself, but all the glory and the praise plus the greatest of our love must go to Him. All that we are, have, or will be is because of Him. "He hath made us and not we ourselves." Oh God, our Heavenly Father, we praise you and give honor and glory to your name. Thank you for Jesus, and the Holy Spirit and your Word. We praise you for abundant life here and eternal life in Heaven through Jesus Christ your Son. Amen.

CSA is mentioned about 3x times a week in newspapers across Canada in connection with such items as kettles, septic tanks and a variety of safety tips.

However, recent Canadian Standards Association was written up in the Toronto "Globe and Mail" for cooking.

No, CSA doesn't have standards for cooking and we don't have tasters in the labs, but we do have an imaginative chief who has the job of feeding over 400 employees at CSA's headquarters in Rexdale, Ontario. He's known as George McQuarrie at CSA, but on weekends he takes the name "Muskie" McQuarrie when he joins the Islington Sportsman's Club for cookouts.

This year, at the Burlington provincial Pack outdoor Oshawa, "Muskie" McQuarrie prepared turtle soup and venison for 500 hungry people, using canoe paddles to stir the tasty delicacies. You may not be cooking for 500 people, but, "Muskie" McQuarrie has scaled his recipe down to make it suitable for a family of four:

Venison ragout

Ingredients: 2 pounds venison stewing meat, cubed; 2 tablespoons fat or cooking oil; 1 teaspoon tarragon; 1 teaspoon sweet basil; salt and pepper to taste; Pinch MSG (monosodium glutamate); 3 medium size carrots, thinly sliced; 1 large onion, slivered; 4 sticks celery, diced; 1 small turnip cut in small cubes; Bit stock or water

In a dutch oven heat fat or oil and brown the meat well on all sides. Add seasonings and MSG. Add boiling water to just cover the meat, cover tightly and braise over low heat until meat is almost tender, turning the meat with a spoon during cooking.

Add vegetables and hot water or water to cover and cook gently until vegetables are tender.

Rub one tablespoon flour in one tablespoon cooking oil until mealy in texture. Sprinkle over the stew and stir until evenly blended. Let simmer for 10 minutes and serve.

NEW BRUNSWICK BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF the Application (the "Application") now before this Board and submitted by The New Brunswick Telephone Company, Limited (the "Company"), for an Order approving changes in the Company's rates, charges and regulations for Exchange and Long Distance Services and Equipment.

As a result of the Pre-Hearing Conference held on December 13, 1976 in the offices of this Board, 110 Charlotte Street, Saint John, New Brunswick, at which the Company presented Memoranda embodying portions of the evidence, or summaries of evidence, which the Company intends to adduce at the Hearing of this matter, this Board has determined the following procedure:

a) The Board will receive, on or before January 15, 1977, written interrogatories about the Application from intending interveners. Such questions shall be submitted in writing and addressed to the undersigned. All questions received will be directed to the Company which may respond directly to the enquirer, or include the information as part of its evidence to be presented at the Hearing into the matter.

b) The Board will receive on or about December 21, 1976, a report covering the Company's financial statements and related data prepared by the auditors appointed by this Board as its advisors. This report will be available for public examination at the office of the Board during normal business hours and be made available to intending interveners on request in writing.

c) The Company will make available to the Board, on or about December 21, 1976, copies of additional evidence which it intends to submit at the Hearing. This material, as well as the Memoranda of Evidence filed at the Pre-Hearing Conference, and the Application as amended at the Pre-Hearing Conference, will be made available by the Board to intending interveners on request in writing. Copies will be on file in the office of the Board and in each Company Business Office for examination by interested parties during normal business hours. The Company's Business Offices are located throughout the Province as follows:

270 King Avenue, Bathurst
13 Andrew Street, Campbellton
32 St. Francis Street, Edmundston
4th Floor, Kings Place Fredericton
9 Peel Street Saint John
Mary Street, Newcastle
Water Street, St. Stephen
Main Street, Woodstock
Highfield Square, Moncton

The Hearing into the Company's Application will be held in the Office of the Board, 110 Charlotte Street, Saint John, New Brunswick, commencing at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon on January 24, 1977, when all intending interveners interested in supporting, opposing or modifying the said Application may attend and be heard.

Official Languages Enactment Next July

Premier Richard Hatfield has announced that five sections of the Official Languages of New Brunswick Act which had not been given proclamation will be made effective July 1, 1977. The five sections are:

Section 4, which deals with the printing in both languages of Records of proceedings of the Legislative Assembly and committee thereof.

Section 8, which deals with the printing in both languages of notices, documents, instruments or writings required by law to be published by the Province or any of its agencies.

Section 9, which requires that notices, advertisements, and documents appearing in the Royal Gazette be printed in both official languages.

Section 10, which requires that the services of any Department and Agency to the public (and communications concerning these services) be made available in either official language requested.

Section 12, which requires that the chief language of instruction in public, trade or technical schools be the mother tongue of the pupils unless the Minister of Education decides that it is not possible by reason of numbers.

The Premier mentioned that the decision to proclaim these sections was in accordance with commitments made by the government during the election campaign and statements he had made in the legislature last spring.

During the summer and fall studies were done to ascertain the costs and other effects of implementation. Although no such study can be absolutely precise, the government is now of the opinion that it can properly implement the whole of the Official Languages Act, the Premier said. "A set of regulations governing the process of implementation will be issued lated," the Premier added.

"I would like to emphasize that this program is an improvement over the one that Ottawa has tried with such difficulty to put into practice."

"Our program does not introduce quotas. It does not use designated positions and it does not apply bonuses of bilingualism. Nobody will lose his job as a result of the implementation of the Act and nobody will see his classification or his pay scale changed as a result of the Act", the Premier stated.

The Government will establish a pool of financial resources and positions in the central agencies and these supplementary funds and positions will be allocated to the various departments and agencies as the need for bilingual personnel arises. In this way, the general public will have access to government services in the language of their choice.

New Jr. High Program In Math: It Can Be Fun

(By Sister Yvonne Devison, Sacred Heart School)

This year Grade Seven classes throughout New Brunswick are being exposed to a new math program. Next year the Grade Eight classes will be adopting a new program and the following year a new program will be introduced into Grade Nine. The question might well be asked — Why introduce a new program?

One reason for a new program (and not new math, by the way) is that Canada has gone metric. We are fortunate to have Canadian authors producing metricated math books so soon after the announcement of the pending adoption of the metric system by Canada. The program has been approved by the Metric Commission and the books display the Metric logo. The programme is contemporary and Canadian.

Further questions that might come up are — Why not teach math the old way? We were taught the old way and we know math? Should children be having fun — shouldn't they be learning basics?

Many learned math in the past, but how many liked it? The new program brings to the student everyday living experiences. Every problem is relevant to the pupil and is not artificial or fictitious. He sees that math is an everyday occurence in sports, in newspapers, magazines, catalogues and in sale advertisements to mention a few.

The program is designed in such a manner that the following traits are developed:

i) Intuition — A feeling of what is the right answer.

ii) Imagination. Primarily aimed at preparing the student for the world and helps develop his investigative skills.

iii) Logical thinking: get children to reason intelligently.

iv) Acquisition of basic skills.

v) Hard work — As the child learns to think logically and intuitively he can do math — add interest then he can solve problems. This training in the problem solving process is not just for math but hopefully will transfer to the everyday life problems.

Should the children be having fun? Shouldn't they be learning basic skills? Shouldn't it be drill drill drill? the new program does maintain basic skills it does develop problem solving skills and it does provide relevance in the math classroom. The child is getting drill while discovering palendromic numbers.

While doing puzzles his interest is stimulated he is getting review in a new way - he is being enriched. By means of skill quizzes, chapter reviews, cumulative reviews etc he is getting continual review and practice. By means of games and puzzles which provide math with much laughter and fun he is getting drill in computations, fractions, equations and integers.

The projects set up in class are motivational and arouse the student while bringing about learning.

A summary of the objectives of the program in math are as follows:

- develops a foundation in Math for everyday use
- establishes a basis for further study
- Provides applications of mathematics
- provides for varied abilities and interests
- continual maintenance of computational skills
- encourages mental calculations
- develops estimation skills
- develops ability to check answers
- develops problem solving skills in a variety of ways
- to give practical and relevant problems
- to provide an opportunity to be creative

The teachers throughout the province are enthusiastic about the programme and are no doubt passing their enthusiasm on to the students. It was not the intention of the authors of the programme to downplay basic skills. Instead they have tried to combine basic skills with an interest approach so that MATH CAN BE FUN.

WINS DEEP-FREEZE BEFORE SPRING THAW

The boys at Lounsbury's Truck Centre were playing Santa Claus before Christmas. They were offering a Hitachi Microwave oven or your choice of any other appliance to the value of $400. All a person had to do to win was purchase any used or new vehicle at Lounsbury's. Ray Riordon (left), salesman, congratulates the winner, Edward Pitre of Beresford, who chose a deep-freeze.

PETER WHITE

YVON OUELLETTE

BATHURST BOYS BOLSTER BEAVERS

Two products of the Bathurst minor hockey program are making points for the Moncton Beavers these days when that club is playing drastically short due to injuries.

They are Peter White, son of Mr and Mrs. Bernie White, Jr and Yvon Ouellette, son of Mr and Mrs. Emile Ouellette. The latter is the kid brother of Paul and Lulu of Bathurst Alpine Papermakers.

In addition to their association with the Beavers, both are holding down jobs with Simpsons in the hub city.

Staff Sgt. Laurie Belliveau, formerly stationed in Bathurst and now with Moncton Detachment RCMP, has made the family home a centre of hospitality for the pair of local lads. Incidentally, two of his own sons are also in the Beaver's lineup.

In the case of the latter, the ticket was part of a Christmas gift to a client from Andy Savoie of Underwriters Adjustment Bureau Ltd.

FROM EAST TO WEST

Sixteen-year-old Paul Phee, who moved from Bathurst to Western Canada with his family last August, is marking up records in schoolboy hockey there.

Following is an excerpt from the Dec. 10 edition of the Calgary Herald. "Paul Phee put on a one-man show Monday night in Midget AA action, sparking his team to victory with a multiple-goal effort. Phee scored all four goals in Cardwell Bruins' 4-1 triumph over Cowley and Keith Rangers."

And from the Dec. 14 issue of the same newspaper: "Paul Phee scored twice as Bruins downed Plumbers 5-3 in city midget AA hockey action."

Paul and his 14-year-old brother, who is also playing well with the same team, were formerly with the Bathurst Minor Hockey League All-Stars.

The youths are sons of Mr. and Mrs. A.E. (Buddy) Phee, originally from Chatham, N.B. While in Bathurst their father was first with Cassidy's Soft Drinks Ltd. where Joe Walsh, also well-known in hockey, is general manager, and later with Kenny's Trucking Ltd. Their mother was on the staff of Kent's shoe dept.

Telephone Bertin Dies Suddenly

Bathurst and the Upshore communities were shocked by the sudden death of a long-time city resident, Telesphore Bertin which occured Jan. 1 at Petit Rocher.

Mr. Bertin who was 72, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Laurent Bertin in Petit Rocher where he moved in June.

Born in Robertville, he was a son of the late Pierre and Marian (Ray) Bertin.

Mr. Bertin was custodian at the George Eddy Co. Ltd. here and then at Bathurst Trade School prior to his retirement about eight years ago.

His wife, the former Catherine Hache, died in 1968.

Surviving are one son, Arthur of Bathurst; three daughters, Mrs. Clifford Boucher (Geraldo of Moncton, Mrs. Emery Aube (Argentine) of Barrie, Ont. and Mrs. Laurent Godin (Claudette) of Petit Rocher.

Two sisters, Mrs. Melvina Comeau of Montreal, Mrs. Lionel Hache (Brigitte) of Bathurst and 11 grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Bertin rested at Varrett's Funeral Home, Nigadoo.

Rev. Claude Pinet officiated at the funeral mass held at St. Polycarpe Church, Petit Rocher, Monday at 4 p.m.

The pallbearers were his son, Arthur Bertin; two sons-in-law Laurent Godin and Clifford Boucher, brothers-in-law Lionel Hache and Arthur Hache and a nephew Steven Pitre.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault in Petit Rocher to await burial in the family plot in Our Lady of the Rosary cemetery, St. Peter Avenue, Bathurst, in the spring.

Those attending from a distance included Mrs. Emery Aube, Barrie, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Boucher and family, Moncton.

Telephone Bertin Dies Suddenly At Green Point

The death of Philias Lejeune (Young) of Green Point and formerly of Campbellton, occurred Jan. 1 at the home of his nephew, John Lejeune, in Green Point where he had been residing for the past one and one-half years. He was 70.

Born at Green Point, he was a son of the late John and Elizabeth (Lagasse) Lejeune.

Prior to his retirement about five years ago, Mr. Lejeune's life occupation was a chief cook, first in lumber camps, then in the Canadian Army and for 20 years at the Provincial Hospital in Campbellton.

Mr. Lejeune was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion.

His wife, the former Marguerite Bossé, died two years ago.

Surviving are three brothers, Clement of Campbellton, Que., Frank of Green Point and Paul of Lorne Settlement and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Lejeune rested at Varrett's Funeral Home, Nigadoo, from where the funeral was held to St. Vincent de Paul Church, Green Point, for requiem mass at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Entombment will be in the parish receiving vault to await burial in Campbellton in the spring.

Trophy Retained For Twelfth Time

Bathurst Capitals easily survived the 12th challenge for the Bathurst Propane Trophy Sunday afternoon by defeating the Bathurst team to John McMullan 3, 648 - 3, 482.

Herman Thibodeau, with a high single of 130 and a high triple of 332, led the way for the Capitals while Cliff Daigle with 122 and 310 was top bowler for the challengers.

A team of Chatham bowlers will be here next Sunday to challenge the Capitals in a 2 p.m. contest at Capital Lanes.

YULETIDES IN NEW MILIEU

Among those not home for Christmas for the first time in his life was Cst. Timothy White of the RCMP, who is stationed with the force in Spirit Wood, Sask. It's a small community near North Battleford and Prince Albert. It, other words, he's posted to John Diefenbaker country.

While unable to spend the holidays with his folks, Cst. White has been in touch with them several times during the season via telephone. On one occasion he called at 4:45 a.m. 7:45 Bathurst time). But, why such an unearthly hour? Well he was just coming off a night shift assignment, embarrassing to round up a group of cattle rustlers. That's cowboy country he's in now, man.

Timmy did have a reunion with his family, however, not too long ago. That was in the latter part of August and early September when he graduated from the RCAF Academy in Regina, Sask. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom White, 281 St. Patrick St., his sister Mary, and brothers, John, Michael and Brian all flew out West for the occasion.

The eldest of the White clan, Timmy graduated from Bathurst High School in June, 1975. He was associated with his father's wholesale confectionery business, Albert Melanson and Co. from then until he joined the RCMP in March of last year.

BLAKENY STILL

COMBO TO PERFORM IN CITY

"A most delightful and refreshing couple" who can perform anything from top-40 tunes to boisterous sing-a-longs." This best describes Blakeny Still, a young couple from Nova Scotia who will headline the entertainment at the Golden Nugget, January 10 - 22.

Pam and Mike Blakeny have been in the entertainment business for about three years, and the husband-wife duo have been well-received in their home province as well as in various parts of the United States.

Pam is a graduate of modeling school and a one-time professional model. She prefers a Karen Carpenter style of music and works to keep her singing unique and flexible. Mike has performed with larger groups but finds more flexibility in a duo set-up. With open-chord guitar playing and an emphasis on strong rhythm, plus the electronic stereo drummer, he manages a unique sound. His voice has been likened to Neil Diamond.

The duo's repertoire ranges from the soft Carpenter style to boisterous sing-a-longs or swinging rock, depending on the mood of the audience. Country tunes are big with them - as they are in Nova Scotia, according to Mike - and they include such numbers as "Country Roads", "Help Me Make It Through The Night", "Delta Dawn" and "Bobby Magee". In the contemporary vein, they perform "I Believe in Music", "Tie A Yellow Ribbon" "Killing Me Softly", "Laughter In The Rain", "Close To You", "Let Me Be There" among others. They also include Beatle hits such as "Hard Day's Night", "You won't See Me", "Ticket To Ride"; a medley of 10 - 15 tunes from the 1950s and 1960s rock era; and sing-a-long numbers such as "Those Were The Days", "When The Saints Go Marching In", and Battle of New Orleans".

Increase Due in Old Age Pension

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in January, 1977, were recently announced by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

Increases in Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments represent the thirteenth quarterly escalation based on the cost of living, as provided for in the Old Age Security Act.

The new monthly total at the single rate for persons receiving both the basic Old Age Security pension and maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement will be $340.47.

For a married couple, both pensioners, the combination of the basic pension and maximum supplement will provide a payment of $458.74 for the couple monthly.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise in January to $141.34 from the present $139.30.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to the amount of income.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will go up in January to $99.13 from its current $97.76. The maximum supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $88.03 each from $86.81. Added to the basic pension, this will give each married pensioner $229.37 monthly, or a total of $458.74 for the couple.

The Spouse's Allowance is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to Old Age Security pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a Spouse's Allowance, and amount paid, is based on yearly income.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $229.37 from $226.20. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement at the married rate.

Edouard Ross, of Paquetville (who also accepted for Lennox Albert, of Notre Dame des Erables), congratulated by L.C. Douglass, Department of Economic Growth, and member of the Advisory Council of CFA of NB, for placing well in the Provincial Christmas Tree Competition.

COUNTY CHRISTMAS TREE GROWERS WIN AWARDS

A sheared, densely foliated Balsam Fir won the grand championship award for Christmas tree competition, staged by the Canadian Forestry Association of New Brunswick. The event was held this year at the Champlain Place Mall in Dieppe.

Grower of the winning tree was Lloyd Rosborough of Cork Station, York County, exhibiting with the St. Croix Christmas Tree Association. A farmer who operates a 6 acre woodlot, Mr Rosborough began serious Christmas tree cultivation five years ago. He also placed first, under the Association banner, this month at a Nova Scotia competition in Bridgewater.

The Dieppe showing drew a continuous crowd of shoppers asking the exhibitors and Association personnel where similar trees could be purchased for their homes.

The well-shaped trees in both the sheared and unsheared classes conformed to Atlantic grades set last year. Previously, four good faces were required. Now, three faces are allowable, because of a new consumer demand for "corner" trees.

The grades are Select, Fancy and Standard, named chosen because people are familar with those terms in their grocery store shopping. Trees with grade tags will be available at stands throughout the province, through the various Christmas tree associations.

The reserve champion in the sheared class went to Edouard Ross of Paquetville, exhibiting with the Northwest Christmas Tree Association.

Third place was won by Jean Roux of Hacheville, Gloucester County. The fourth prize went to Robert Price of Tabusintac.

In the unsheared class for naturally grown Balsam Firs, the first prize was won by William Fullerton of McAdam. Mr. Fullerton was exhibiting with the St. Croix Christmas Tree Association. He began cultivating wild trees on 80 acres in 1968. His winning tree was 10 years old, well branched with long needles of good color, the result of fertilization, pruning and spacing. "The Association hires an airplane for dylox spray that does not harm insects, unless they fly directly into it. We back-pack mist blowers ourselves, but that is hard on the legs," he said.

Second place winner in the unsheared class went to Sheldon Keddy of Harvey Station, York County, showing with the St. Croix Christmas Tree Association.

Mrs. Hella Haun of St. Stephen took third place, also showing under the banner of the St. Croix Christmas Tree Association. Fourth place went to Lennox Albert of Notre Dame des Erables, Gloucester County.

The Judges included: Eric Chapman, Maritime Lumber Bureau, Truro; Dr. Douglas Kinfrew, Canadian Forestry Service, Dept. of the Environment, Fredericton; and Joachim Hermelin, director of Forest Extension Services, Dept. of Natural Resources, Fredericton.

Altogether 23 producers' associations had trees entered in the show.

Sudden Death Shocks City

The death of A. Myles Draper, which occurred suddenly Monday at his residence 1135 Bayview Court, came as a shock to his family and a wide circle of friends. He was 55.

Born in Fredericton, he was a son of Mrs. Pearl (DeLong) Draper and the late John Catharines, Ont. and Mrs. Alice Holland (Joanne) of Fredericton, and four grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Draper has been resting at Elhattan's Funeral Home, St. George Street, where the funeral will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in High Street, in the spring.

More Beds For War Veterans

Health Minister Brenda Robertson and Federal Veterans Affairs Minister Daniel J. MacDonald have jointly announced that agreement has been reached to open additional beds in Fredericton for the domiciliary care of veterans.

The unit will have a total capacity of 37 beds with space for further expansion should the need develop. This will increase the number of beds available in the province for the domiciliary care of veterans from 30 beds to 105.

The board of the Dr. Everett Chalmers Hospital has agreed to accept responsibility for the operation and control of the new unit, which will be housed in a section of the Victoria Public Hospital building.

Mrs. Robertson indicated that architects will be appointed as soon as possible to begin the necessary renovations to provide a high standard of accommodation. The costs of renovating, redecorating and equipping the unit is expected to be almost $300,000, which will be funded by utilizing funds from the transfer grant set up by the department of Veterans Affairs at the time the Lancaster D.V.A. Hospital was transferred to the province in 1972.

Mrs. Robertson said that she believed the unit should be completed for occupancy in late May or early June next year.

A. MYLES DRAPER

Draper.

Mr. Draper served in the dental corps of the Canadian Army during the Second World War both at home and overseas.

Following his discharge at the close of the war, Mr. Draper came to Bathurst and became the community's only dental technician.

A member and active worker at the Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18, Royal Canadian Legion, Mr. Draper was also a charter member of Bathurst Lions Club. He belonged to Lodge St. John No. 27 F and AM and for many years was active in St. John Ambulance.

Possessor of a fine bass voice, Mr. Draper was a one-time member of St. George's Anglican Church Choir and had also sung in various men's and choral groups in the city.

Surviving are his wife, the former Joyce Lawson, originally from Saint John; his mother, of Fredericton, two sons, Ronald of Saint John and John of Moncton, one daughter, Lynn of Bathurst.

One brother, Leith Draper of Fredericton; two sisters, Mrs. Harry Mitcheson (Gloria) of St. Land View Cemetery, Bridge Street, in the spring.

H-S Meeting Stresses Importance Of Reading

The December meeting of the Superior Home and School Association was held on Dec. 14 with President Hugh Campbell in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Correspondence included a letter from Education Minister Gerald Merrithew regarding the brief presented recently to the local School Board. Mr. Campbell felt the group should keep pressing for needed repairs and, if necessary, present a second brief in April.

Mrs. Bonnie McBride read the treasurer's report.

Robert Roussel, president of the Student Council, presented the association with students' views on what is needed at the school. Mr. Campbell noted that a number of the items had been included in the association's brief.

Vadi Radkrishna reported a total of 54 members to date, and Mrs. Cathy Brown reported for the library committee.

Alan White, co-chairman of the Ways and Means committee, reported on the turkey draws being conducted. Mrs. David McLean won the first, while the second was up coming.

Under new business, Mrs. Brown described the volunteer teacher aide program in the district and Superior School, and felt more volunteers could be used.

The program for the evening concerned parent - child reading. Special guest was Mrs. Ann Quigg who outlined the rationale for the Kottmeyer Spellers (Basic Goals for Spelling). Mrs. Quigg, who was the remedial reading teacher at Superior before a budget cut eliminated the position, presented many basic ideas for parents who would like to motivate their children to read.

She noted that introductions to books should begin even in infancy, and stressed that a child will imitate its parents, especially if the parents read and enjoy the reading. The parent is the best person to motivate the child as he knows the youngster's interests, crafts, hobbies, sports interests, etc. Parents can use word games, and Mrs. Quigg described other methods and techniques to help the child.

Mrs. Bernadette McKendy of the staff at Nepisiguit Centennial Library presented a review of the types of books available for children at the library. Mrs. McKendy pointed to the many services available there, and showed examples of books that interest children on different levels.

Mr. Campbell thanked the ladies for the very interesting program. Following the meeting, the student council served a lunch.

Tragic Toll Continues

Again this year, the holiday season brought with it an unusually high number of fires and explosions which took numerous lives and caused thousands of dollars worth of damage across the nation.

And, of course, the Bathurst area was not unused in the holocaust.

The sad tragedy in each of the major disasters on the Christmas weekend is not the loss of life and property but the fact that proper precautions were not taken to avoid trouble in the first place.

While perhaps not exactly applying to the local fatalities, it's more or less a matter of locking the barn after the horse is stolen, as it were. Or at least it seems that way. At any rate, experiences elsewhere should serve as a lesson here and everywhere.

In the case of the nursing home fire in Newfoundland, the building was obviously ill-equipped to cope with fire. The only water supply within easy reach was an ice-covered pond. Moreover, many of the residents of the home were bedridden which made escape from a burning building impossible without trained staff.

As a result, the Newfoundland Government has called for a full inquiry into the blaze. Hopefully the investigation will encompass all such homes in that province and that New Brunswick will profit from the outcome.

In the Hamilton, Ont., hotel fire, a man was seen tossing lighted matches around the lobby just before the fire was noticed. Yet no one seemed concerned and press reports do not indicate that anyone took action to stop the man's insane preoccupation.

In New Waterford, N.S., where three youths died from an explosion in a community centre, carelessness on the part of someone created the situation that caused the blast. An improperly covered can of paint was left where it could be spilled. As a consequence an inexperienced youth used gasoline to clean up the paint. The combination of paint, gasoline and a nearby furnace caused the explosion.

The threat of fire is ever with us but it can be controlled with proper precautions. Unfortunately no one seems to care until tragedy comes.

Then it is too late for lamentation.

N.B. 4-H To Observe Its 60th Anniversary

Head, Heart, Hands, Health: these are the four areas of growth represented by the four leaves in the clover emblem of the 4-H Club. The 4-H pledge given in approximately 80 countries promises a growth in the mental, emotional, social and physical capacity of each member.

4-H Pledge

I pledge
My Head to clearer thinking,
My Heart to greater loyalty,
My Hands to larger service,
My Health to better living,
for my club, my community and my country.

The forerunner of the 4-H Club was Boys and Girl's Agricultural Clubs. The first Club was formed in the Roland municipality in Manitoba in 1913 with a membership of 106. The program quickly spread. In 1918 pig and poultry competition for juniors in New Brunswick, organized on a county basis, were conducted by the Department of Agriculture.

Only 18 boys entered the pig competition which were corn-fed with breeding stock. Each member started with a pure bred sow and each club was supplied with a pure bred boar of the same breed.

Boys and girls (37) entered the poultry contest. Each member started with 50 hatching eggs of the Barred Plymouth Rock Breed.

All the early club work in New Brunswick was linked to the commitments made to Great Britain during these war years. Club members had the task of killing, plucking, drawing, shaping and packing young chickerels. And so while fathers fought, mothers knit and wound bandages, the Maritime youngsters were doing their bit towards providing food for the hungry.

In 1952 the Boys and girl's Agricultural Clubs became 4-H Clubs.

Twenty years ago over twenty per cent of the farmers in Canada were under 35 years of age. By 1971 the percentage had dropped to just under 15 per cent. 4-H Clubs have moved with the times. While its program is still primarily rooted in agriculture, it now extends its high ideals to the lads and lass growth in a responsible member of society, be it rural or urban.

In 1976, the top three favourite projects in New Brunswick were crafts, clothing, and beef.

Craft Clubs are one of the new projects formed to inspire both rural and urban youth.

In 1933, the Home Economics Branch organized the first Home Economics 4-H Clubs, with clothing being the first project.

Calf Clubs began in 1928, and all club members were subsidized by the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture for up to $30 on the purchase of calves. As the statistics show, although this incentive has been dropped, Calf Clubs remain popular.

Horse and pony, woodworking, and citizenship are just three of many other projects offered. Senior 4-H members may be involved in self-determined projects such as poetry, music or nutrition studies.

The federal government finances a portion of 4-H grants, travel assistance, and some educational materials. A national office is maintained in Ottawa by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs.

One of the early workers in New Brunswick was Mr. E. T. Pineau, who was later associated with the Canada Department of Agriculture and was President of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs in 1953. Recruiting took place in the Moncton District in the early years and the Clubs have grown to a total of 61 in 1976 with a membership of 1,579. The age range in these Clubs is 10-21.

In New Brunswick, all projects are supervised by the Extension Branch of the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture and Rural Development. Two Regional Specialists co-ordinate 4-H Club work in their regions. The Assistant District Agriculturist or District 4-H worker oversees the district program.

Now we come to the local Club level where the volunteers leaders prove to be the backbone of the organization. There are 163 of these volunteers in New Brunswick's 61 clubs. Each volunteer receives leadership training by the District 4-H worker, before venturing into various projects with energetic young people. The work must be rewarding. Mrs. Melva Hornibrook from Sussex has been with 4-H Clubs as a leader for 20 years.

The aims of New Brunswick 4-H Clubs are:

1. To help people identify themselves and to relate to each other in areas of common interest.

2. To provide opportunities for people to develop leadership skills and learn how to do things.

3. To develop a better understanding among each other.

4. To think and work together for the benefit of all.

The first club from New Brunswick to take part in competition was a Swine Club team which went to Toronto's Royal Winter Fair in 1924. The Calf Club team followed in 1928. Other teams, such as poultry, didn't venture forth until 1952.

If you would like to have a 4-H Club in your community, get in touch with your local District Agriculturist. If there are enough interested young people, your District Agriculturist will outline the necessary steps and give you any guidance you will need.

Travel opportunities are marvelous for young people, and deserve a quick run-through.

The National 4-H Club Conference in Toronto takes in a trip to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

The National 4-H Club Citizenship seminar in Ottawa takes place to increase an awareness and understanding of the role, rights, and responsibilities of a Canadian citizen.

The National 4-H Conference in Washington has one 4-H delegate from each province.

Interprovincial 4-H Exchange is encouraged so each youth can see the set-up in another province.

Canadian National Exhibition 4-H Scholarships are given to 4-H members who are enrolled in a university or college course that will lead to a degree in Agriculture, Agriculture Engineering, Home Economics, or Veterinary Science. Each province receives one scholarship per year.

The matron and nursing staff of Gloucester Hospital expressed appreciation to all who remembered them at Christmas with donations of food, including hams, turkeys, geese and boxes candy. Christmas cakes and special gifts including boxes of chocolates for the nursing staff, as well a special gifts for the hospital, among them a rug and buffet set from Mrs. Simon Holtdengraber. Others who brought gifts included the Catholic Women's League, Gloucester Hospital Aid, Mrs. Oscar Fenwick, Mrs. Matt Power, Mrs. F. Earton, Fenwick Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Loosen, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Morse, Mrs. Ernest Harper, Dr. and Mrs. W.H. Coffin, Dr. C.J. Venot, Harry Meahan, Mrs. P.C. Austin, Frank Gotain, Mrs. A.B. Dempsey of Silver Centre, Ont., and the Salvation Army who donated reading material.

Interviews very important addresses, one by N.B. Premier, Hon. Dr. J.B.M. Baxter, and the other by Hon. P.J. Venot, Postmaster-General of Canada, delivered at the fifth annual banquet of the Saint John Commercial Travellers Assn., at the Admiral Beatty Hotel last evening, both struck upon common ground when they strongly advocated the sinking of party politics for the common good and advancement of the Maritime Provinces.

Note: It is regretted the Dec. 27 issue is missing from the Northern Light files.

Important changes in the mill organization of Bathurst Power and Paper Co. Ltd. are announced by General Manager Clyde Baggs, effective immediately, as follows: Robert J. Keswick, Mill Manager; C. Vincent Callaghan, Production Manager; Leonard H. Phillips, Control Superintendent; and Herbert W. Budge, Chief Chemist.

The ownership of the Bathurst Grill on Main Street has been transferred from Joe Hello to Eugene LeBlanc, who will operate the restaurant in conjunction with his popular catering service. Mr. Hello operated the grill for many years before moving to Campbellton where he is proprietor of the Chateau Restigouche.

The entire slate of officers of the Bathurst Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society was re-elected at its annual meeting held in the Town Hall. Officers include: J.G. Chalmers, honorary president; Mrs. Wilmot Hathaway, president; Mrs. H.V. Henderson, vice-president; E.G. Worrell, treasurer, and Mrs. Frank Hinde, secretary. Conveners include Mrs. A.J. Arseneau, work; Mrs. Kenneth White, home nursing; Mrs. D.W. Downey, disaster services, and Mrs. Glendon Eddy, loan cupboard.

A Christmas Day storm badly lashed the Eastern U.S. seaboard and the Maritime Provinces, and left destruction and discomfort for many people in its wake. These same disturbed elements which wrecked much coastal damage in the Upshore Gloucester County area also resulted in a variety of crustacean foods in the home of the citizens in the surrounding area for the next few days. Lobster was found on the beaches by the thousands when the waves had subsided, a plain case of help yourself – while mussels could be easily shovelled into containers, as they lay nearly two feet deep on the shore. Even the quahaug found offshore between Peter's River and Beresford yielded their quota to some late-season beachcombers.

The motor vessell of Russian registry, "Enneiles", this week has became one of the latest to dock and leave the Port of Bathurst in the history of the port. The vessel docked Dec. 27, lifted 500 tons of wood pulpboard of Bathurst Paper Ltd, and sailed at 5:00 p.m. Dec. 28, continuing on the New Richmond, Que. to load the balance of its cargo, approximately 2,000 tons of wood pulpboard from the company's mill there. The shipment is designated for the United Kingdom.

Facts On Law School Proposal

430 Dufferin St.
Fredericton, N.B.
December 20, 1976

We are writing this letter to inform the public of the facts and issues surrounding the recent recommendations of the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission that a Faculty of Common Law be established at L'Université de Moncton, providing learning facilities predominantly in the French Language.

In 1974, concern had arisen within the University of New Brunswick Law Faculty concerning the availability of legal education to New Brunswick Francophones. Because of this, it was decided to seek the funding necessary to establish an experimental program of Common Law instruction in French at the University of New Brunswick. Funds were then donated from the Donner Canadian Foundation.

In addition to the University of New Brunswick and Dalhousie University, which were considering expansions to existing law faculties, three other universities in the Maritimes were considering the establishment of law faculties. As a result, the Dean of Law at Queen's University, Dean D. A. Soberman, was requested by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission to report on the "scope of legal education, student demand, staffing, physical facilities, supporting resources and matters of portability and accreditation."

As The Soberman Report eventually mined, concerning the proposed expansion at UNB:

"The primary interest of the Faculty of Law at the University of New Brunswick appears to be a concern about the opportunity to francophone New Brunswickers to obtain a legal education. The University has explored the possibility of adding to the law faculty program by including instruction in the French language."

Since the timing of a number of subsequent events is of considerable importance, they are listed in chronological order:

1. September 1975: The decision was made that an experimental program of instruction in the Common Law in French would commence in September 1976, at the Law Faculty, University of New Brunswick. All parties concerned were aware of this decision.

2. November - December 1975: The Soberman Report was commissioned by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission (MPHEC).

3. April 15, 1976: The Soberman Report was forwarded to the MPHEC.

4. September 7, 1976: Common Law instruction in French for first year law students began at the University of New Brunswick.

5. September 27, 1976: The Soberman Report was made public.

6. November 1, 1976: Deadline for submission to the MPHEC on the Soberman Report.

7. December 6, 1976: The Response of the New Brunswick Barristers' Society to The Soberman Report was finalized.

8. December 7, 1976: The MPHEC announced its decision favoring the establishment of a Common Law Faculty at the University of Moncton. The Maritime Council of Premiers endorsed in concept, the establishment of a Common Law Faculty teaching primarily in the French language.

Several important questions concerning the recommendation of the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission remain unanswered. Dean Soberman had concluded that because of "... important practical constraints of the teaching of the common law in French, it would be much wiser to establish such French language program in an English language law school that had made a commitment to the program on a long-term basis."

There is no doubt as to the willingness of the University of New Brunswick Law Faculty to make such a long-term commitment. What information has led The Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission to disregard this recommendation?

A second important question concerns the question of timing. The Soberman Report was transmitted to the Higher Education Commission on April 15, 1976. It was not made public until September 27, 1976, over five months later.

The statement of the Higher Education Commission invited comments and submissions by November 1, 1976, a date less than five weeks after the release of the report. The New Brunswick Barristers' Society requested an extension to allow them the opportunity to make a submission on The Soberman Report. Why was this extension not given?

The submission of the Law Faculty of the University of New Brunswick arrived at unanimously after considerable discussion and careful compromise merits attention.

"2. Concerning those facets of the Soberman Report which deal with legal education in French in New Brunswick, we would make the following recommendations:

(a) While recognizing the right and responsibility of the University of Moncton to provide education in the French language, we believe that for the foreseeable future legal education in New Brunswick should proceed in the manner outlined hereunder.

(b) It is the unanimous opinion of the members of the Law Faculty Council that there should be one bilingual law school in the Province of New Brunswick and that the University of Moncton and the University of New Brunswick should seek agreement between the two institutions as to the operation and administration of that bilingual faculty.

(c) Should the University of New Brunswick and University of Moncton fail to reach agreement as outlined in (b) above, it is again the unanimous opinion of the members of the Law Faculty Council that there should be two separate faculties of law, one at the University of New Brunswick and one at the University of Moncton."

Why was recommendation (b) of The University of New Brunswick Law Faculty unacceptable to the Higher Education Commission?

A large majority of the Law students of the University of New Brunswick, including many of the Francophone students, also indicated that a bilingual law faculty was in their view desirable in the following submission to the MPHEC:

"2. There should be one bilingual law school in the Province of New Brunswick; this should be the only law school in New Brunswick. This bilingual law school should provide a complete legal program in the French and English languages."

The New Brunswick Barristers' Society submission was not considered by the MPHEC prior to its decision. Their submission adopted unanimously by the Council of the Barristers' Society of New Brunswick was only made available on Dec. 6th, 1976. In part it read:

"The Society agrees with Dean Soberman that:

1. teaching the common law in French is a desirable and feasible goal, provided it is recognized that an entirely unilingual French program is not possible, and

2. a good knowledge of oral and written English is essential in order to become a competent common law lawyer.

It is the Society's position, however, that a French language program can best be mounted in the existing faculty of law at the University of New Brunswick. The program should be within one faculty, courses in either language should be available to all students and such program should be implemented as a result of the agreement and co-operation of the University of New Brunswick and the University of Moncton."

Admittedly, the Barristers' Society submission did not arrive before the November 1st deadline. Practical difficulties made this difficult to meet. But is an issue as important and as directly the concern of the The New Brunswick Bar as the establishment of a new law faculty, surely the MPHEC would have been much wiser to have waited?"

As may be seen from these submissions all of the bodies most directly concerned with legal education in New Brunswick. The Barristers' Society, the University of New Brunswick Law Faculty and the Law students of the University advised the MPHEC that clearly a bilingual law school, utilizing existing resources, was the preferable alternative.

The MPHEC chose to ignore these submissions along with the Soberman Report which it had itself commissioned. That report concluded:

"There would significant capital costs in any substantial increase in legal education facilities. There would also probably be great difficulty in staffing, especially for new small schools. In addition, depending on the size of the pool of qualified law applicants and their alternative career plans, large scale expansion of legal education facilities might adversely affect other programs. There also remains the danger that greatly expanded legal education facilities might be underutilized within a decade.

"The average present size (of law schools in Canada) is between 400 and 500 students in order to mount a modern legal education program. The minimum size required to maintain a high quality program is about 300 students and 20 full-time faculty members.

"New Brunswick does generate a sufficient pool of applicants to justify establishment of a second faculty of law or an increase in New Brunswick enrollment of anglophone students. The number of francophone students would not support a separate law school even if a unilingual francophone school were academically feasible.

"Teaching the common law in French is a desirable and feasible goal, provided it is recognized that an entirely unilingual French program is not possible. A good knowledge of oral and written English is essential in order to become a competent common law lawyer. A French language program can best be mounted in an existing English language school with a long term commitment to cooperation and investment of resources in development of French language courses. The programs should be within one faculty and courses in either language should be available to all students.

"The Faculty of Law of UNB is too small for best use of resources. It has too few students from other provinces to give the diversity of background needed in a Canadian law school. Enrollment of anglophone New Brunswick students should be held steady, but the total enrollment should be increased through the French language program and additional students from the rest of Canada, including if possible a special arrangement with Newfoundland.

"The physical facilities of the UNB law faculty need expansion to accommodate increased enrollment and a much increased library collection."

From the foregoing several facts seem abundantly clear:

To create a new law faculty would be expensive and would involve both high capital costs in the initial phase and substantial operating costs. As Dean Soberman points out, there is no indication that the present pool of applicants would justify the establishment of a second law faculty. There is also some danger that greatly expanded legal facilities would be underutilized within the decade.

Operating costs would also be considerable. The present operating budget of The University of New Brunswick Law Faculty is $300,000 annually.

The University of New Brunswick Law Faculty is too small and physical facilities, including library, are already inadequate. In Soberman's words:

"The minimum size required to maintain a high quality program is about 300 students and 20 full-time faculty members."

UNB has 220 and 16 respectively.

With reference to libraries, Dean Soberman says:

"Today a barely adequate minimum library for a faculty of law would be between 50,000 and 75,000 volumes... The annual cost to maintain such a library would be at least $150,000. Even such a minimum library would be very expensive per capita with a small student body of 300 students - a prohibitive $1,500 per year."

The law library at UNB has less than 45,000 volumes.

What in essence is proposed by the MPHEC is that before UNB can have adequate facilities, a second law faculty at Moncton must be mounted.

In addition, it is not as yet completely clear to what extent it is feasible or desirable to attempt to teach the common law in French although most of us would agree that it is absolutely essential that maximum efforts in attempting to do this must be made. Experience has shown us already that in at least one first year course it has proved impossible with reasonable effort to provide more than 10 per cent or 15 per cent of the required reading materials in French.

The problems faced by legal educators in New Brunswick are already severe. The problems of French legal education is a critical one, but attempts are being made with the financial resources available to meet the demands of Francophone students to the maximum possible extent.

The MPHEC has not followed the advice of the University of New Brunswick, its law faculty and students. It has not followed the recommendations of the Soberman Report which it commissioned. It did not consider the recommendations of the New Brunswick Barristers' Society. Reasons for this course of action were not given. If there are reasons, they ought to be made known so that the public can be informed.

It is our feeling that the haste with which the Soberman recommendations were discarded, is both unnecessary and unconscionable.

We request that the matter be reconsidered by the MPHEC and that at least a postponement of any action is warranted until preliminary results of the present experiment in bilingual education at UNB are available.

The Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission Act states:

"11. The purpose of the Commission is to assist the Provinces and the institutions in attaining a more efficient and effective utilization and allocation of resources in the field of higher education in the region."

The Commission has been repeatedly advised that the most effective and efficient utilization and allocation of resources in the field of legal education would be to create one bilingual law school.

Perhaps there are considerations that dictate otherwise. If this be the case, should the Commission not then acknowledge and explain its reasons so that some judgment of their validity can be made?

FLASHBACK - WHEN SPARES WERE SPARSE

This picture of an early edition of the Bathurst Paper-makers hockey team indicates that second lines were more or less an unknown quantity back in 1925. The regular six players plus one spare and an extra goalie were the order of the day. Of course, a much more subdued version of the game was played then compared with now. Participating in the league besides Bathurst were teams from Chatham, Newcastle and Campbellton.

With the exception of the last mentioned, who is living in retirement in Ontario, all are now deceased. Relatives of Johnny White still residing in Bathurst include a sister, Mrs. Rodolphe White, 355 Bellevue, and Fred White, East Bathurst.

MARCEL VIENNEAU

To Ministerial Post In Ottawa

Hon. Andre Ouellet, who recently returned to the federal cabinet as Minister of State for Urban Affairs, announced last week six key staff appointments.

A Bathurst man, Marcel Viennau is one of them and he has been named Mr. Ouellet's departmental assistant.

Mr. Viennau, who formerly worked with the Ministery of Consumer and Corporate affairs, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Viennau, 2040 Rough Waters Drive.

He was an honours graduate of Hugh LeBlanc High School, Bathurst, in 1969, and while in his final year was chosen to represent the Province of New Brunswick on the Young Voyageur International Exchange Tour to Paris.

Mr. Viennau was awarded a bachelor of arts degree by St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., in 1973, following which he assumed his first post in Ottawa.

While at St. F.X. in 1972, Mr. Viennau received the Birks Award for outstanding contribution to student government. Also, in recognition of his services to the Student's Union and the University Committee, he was named honorary chairman of the Student Council for the 1972-73 academic year.

Early Tax Forms To Beat Strike?

Canada's 12 million taxpayers are getting their income tax forms a little earlier than usual this year. Mailings started last week.

The Post Office is reluctant to say why, but a spokesman admitted that the possibility that another postal strike could tie up the mails "may have had something to do with it."

The Revenue Department delivers the returns to the Post Office each year at the end of November, with instructions to hold them until a specific date. The returns are usually mailed out during and after the Christmas rush, when extra postal workers are on duty.

This year, according to the Post Office spokesman, the Revenue Department asked that the returns be mailed early.

GIONET RINK WINS JUNIOR BONSPIEL

Twelve rinks participated in the Annual Christmas Junior Bonspiel at Bathurst Curling Club December 28 - 29. Students from grades 9-10, 11, 12 and university, competed in the two-day event. The winning rink was skipped by Brad Gionet followed by Carl Lavigne and his rink as runners-up. The top team was presented individual trophies and the second place rink received toques donated by Peter Taillon, manager Steadmans Department Store.

Tigers Nudge Alpines 10-8

Campbellton Tigers skipped by the Bathurst Alpines 10 - 8 last Wednesday night in Campbellton, increasing their first place margin to nine points over the local puckesters.

The Tigers, paced by a three-goal, three-assist performance from John Wood, fired seven goals in the third period to defeat the visitors, who led 6 - 3 after two.

Also scoring for Campbellton were Paul Vautour with three goals and an assist, Dave Winsor with two markers and two helpers and Bob Stevenson and Norman Maher with singles.

Tallying for the Alpines were Paul Ouellette with two goals and three assists, Lou Ouellette with one goal and three helpers, George Willett and Mike Morton with two markers each and Dennie Roy with one.

Ladies Curling Club News

By JOYCE CONLEY

Regular curling was temporarily suspended for the Christmas season. The club was not always vacant however as the annual family bonspiel was held Dec. 27.

Jim and Elona Schnarr and family captured the Bayside-Chrysler Family Bonspiel Trophy and Marcel and D. A. Plourde and family were runners-up.

Pat Maher and Aline Doucet were co-conveners of the successful junior bonspiel held Dec. 28-29. The winning rink was skipped by Brad Gionet and included Tim Kyle and Blair and Laurie Gammon.

Runners-up were Carl Lavigne, Peter Babin, Cathy Branch and Linda Coulombe.

Local Red Cross Meeting Report

A meeting of the Bathurst Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society was held in the Red Cross rooms Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. with president Mrs. Wilmot Hatheway as chairman.

Regular business was conducted with reports from the following chairmen: disaster, Mrs. Malcolm Noble; loan cupboard, Mrs. L. J. Boudreau; and friendly visiting, Mrs. A. Vincent, being heard.

Knitting convener Miss D. Anderson said the following articles had been shipped recently to Red Cross headquarters in Saint John.

Two baby bonnets; three baby layettes; two baby shawls; four pairs socks; 25 pairs mitts; one child's cap; two sets matching caps and sweaters; nine sweaters with long sleeves; one sleeveless sweater; one crotcheted afghan; six knitted afghans.

The president reported several members had helped at "swine flu" clinics.

Highlight of the evening was the drawing conducted by the president, on a baby shawl contributed by Mrs. J. Moorman, the winner being Mrs. Hayden Hatheway. The sum of $185 was realized on this project.

Dames d'Acadie Se rencontre

Le 15 décembre dernier se tenait chez Danny's, la réunion mensuelle des Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst qui, selon la constitution du cercle, se veut un souper d'affaires.

Quelques jours auparavant, chaque dame a reçu un bulletin préparé par Maryvonne Eddie et Françoise Savoie. Outre les rapports des différents comités, on y trouve des articles, écrites par la présidente et la vice-présidente, sur la maturité, thème de l'année des cercles des Dames d'Acadie.

La conférence-éclair intitulé: "Connais-toi toi-même si tu veux mûrir", a été donnée par Jeanne d'Arc Daigle qui a parlé des différents types de tempéraments.

Plusieurs membres ont assisté au cours des dernières semaines à differentes assemblées entre autres le colloque culturel interprovincial (de l'Atlantique) tenu à Moncton au début de décembre où il y a eu divers ateliers traitant des sujets suivants: leadership, publicité, exposition.

La rencontre s'est terminée dans un esprit de Noël avec échange de cadeaux.

La prochaine réunion aura lieu le 19 janvier, c'est un souper de recrutement. Celles qui désirent joindre le groupe n'ont qu'a communiquer avec la responsable du comité de recrutement, Aline Dubé, 548-8405, ou un autre membre de cercle. Cordiale bienvenue.

Growth Continues At Information Centre

The Bathurst Communication and Information Mobile Centre now has more than 11,000 booklets and pamphlets available to the public, containing precise information on the different federal and provincial departments as well as social and humanitarian organizations in the region.

James J. Thériault, executive director, states the centre is a non-profit organization, and has been registered as a charitable organization in Canada since August 22, 1976.

The information centre came into existence and continues to grow thanks to federal and provincial subsidies. "Even with the help of these subsidies, however, the centre could not have accomplished what it has to date without all of the volunteer work which is being done", said Mr. Thériault.

For the first time, in November 1976, the centre has attained an impressive 10,210 contacts through the co-operation of both governments and private concerns. The centre has also managed to complete, through a Secretary of State grant, a directory of community services in the North east.

The book consists of 237 pages prepared by three university students as a summer project. Although limited to 1000 copies, the directory is available to all individuals or groups interested in the social, economic and cultural development of the northeast region of New Brunswick.

In addition to supplying information, the mobile centre is designed to aid the underprivileged, to direct needy persons to the services in which they are in need, and to help eliminate some of the inequalities which exists between complex government agencies and the ordinary citizen.

Sharing the goals of the mobile centre as well as its premises at 251 Main St. are the Northeast Veterans Association and Solidarité Canada.

Talks Underway

Negotiations between the provincial government and New Brunswick's 8,000 teachers resume today, Wednesday, in Fredericton following a Christmas break.

President of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association, Jean MacCallum of Fredericton, said January 3 that talks, which began late in November, would probably end sometime this month.

Meanwhile, teachers in the province are being paid under stipulations of the old contract, which expired Dec. 31.

Jessica Lange, a Handful Even for Kong.

Since its release in 1933, King Kong has become an epitome of the Hollywood Epic. The great ape has been idolized in everything from cartoons to ad-campaigns. People who have never seen the original movie know the plot.

Special effects lie at the heart of the movie's appeal — people are curious how Hollywood could take on a forty foot ape and make him seem real. Members of the loyal cult that grew up round the original film, can hardly resist the latest bid to make Kong come to life, with all the latest in special-effects techniques.

Possibly the most remarkable piece of Kong-craft is the giant hydraulically operated arms employed mainly to pick up and caress Jessica Lange, who plays Kong's reluctant sweetheart.

Playing a romantic leading lady opposite King Kong may not be everybody's dream, yet when Kong died in New York after taking the plunge off the World Trade Centre, Jessica Lange found herself sad. Certainly, Kong has greater charm than he did 43 years ago. He no longer gazes distractedly on human beings as he did when he got anxious in the original screen play. One of his most solicitous moments occurs when Lange, trying to escape him, falls in a mud puddle. Tenderly he picks her up and carries her to a waterfall, dunks her in the pool below, then still cupping her in his paws, blows her dry with several mighty breaths.

Holiday Bill Is Introduced

A bill that would establish a new national holiday to be called National Heritage day on the second Monday in February each year was introduced by Secretary of State John Roberts and given first reading December 20 in the House of Commons.

The proposed legislation, which would involve an amendment to Part III of the Canada Labour Code, would not be binding on the provinces but five provincial governments and the two Territorial governments have already officially proclaimed National Heritage Day, though not as a holiday, pending federal action.

The bill also provides for the name of Canada's birthday, celebrated on the first of July, to be changed from Dominion Day to Canada Day and for the name of Victoria Day Holiday, which takes place in May, to be changed to the Queen's (King's) Birthday.

Postal Rates Are Increased

The Canada Post Office reminds customers that beginning January 1, postage rates for international mailings (except Parcel Post) will be increased.

As of January 1, postage for letters weighing up to one ounce, for example, will be 25 cents. All postcards are subject to the basic letter rate. Excluded from the increase, however, are the rates and fees to the United States, its territories and possessions.

Canadian Forces Post Offices (CFPO's) and Fleet Mail Offices (FMO's) will adjust to international rates on January 1. Surface rates to the CFPO's and FMO's will change on March 1, 1977.

The Post Office advised customers to check with their local post office for the correct postage as well as any changes in regulations.

The increases reflect provisions of international agreements signed at the Universal Postal Union's Lausanne convention in 1974. The first stage of the increase for overseas mail took effect January 1, 1975, with the second step taking effect January 1, 1977.

Customers are also reminded that the second stage of domestic and U.S.A. rate increases will take effect on 1 March 1977.

Church Views Que. Election

All church members should be committed to seek understanding and reconciliation and decry intolerance and violence. The United Church Observer says in commenting editorially on the election victory of the Parti Quebecois.

Church members in Quebec especially "will have to carry heavy responsibilities", it added.

While recognizing that many who voted for the PQ were not necessarily voting for separation, The Observer said, "the fact is that many French-Canadian people in Quebec and in other parts of Canada are not happy with Confederation. And the November vote, regardless of what it wasn't, told us so."

The editorial called attention to the United Church's official stand, adopted by its General Council in 1972, that "the possibility of peaceful change is essential to a just society", and "violence in effecting or resisting change should be discouraged."

Skaters To Compete At Atlantic Divisionals

Forty-four skaters from the Atlantic provinces will be competing in the first Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships to be held in the Aitken Centre on the University of New Brunswick campus in Fredericton, N.B. on January 13, 14 and 15, 1977. Thirty-three events will be made up of 13 Novice Ladies, 4 Novice Men, 6 Novice Dance, 4 Novice Pairs, 3 Junior Ladies and 3 Junior Dance events.

Skaters participating at the Atlantic Divisionals are those who competed in their own provincial championships recently and placed first, second, third or fourth. They were then selected by their Section Executive who acted on the recommendations of the judges.

A maximum of four entries per Section may be entered in each of Novice, Junior and Senior events in singles, pairs and dance catagories. The Atlantic Division does not have any Senior events this year.

Skaters who qualify in this Atlantic semi-national competition may then advance to the Canadian Championships in Calgary on January 31 - February 6, 1977. A maximum of four skaters per event from each of the four Canadian Divisions (Atlantic, Eastern, Central and Western) will be entered in the national competition.

QUALIFICATIONS

Only skaters who have passed their fifth figure and up can qualify for the Singles event. To compete in the Novice Dance event all competitors shall have passed the Junior Silver dance Test but no higher complete test, and to qualify for the Junior Dance event they must have passed the Senior Silver and Silver Free Dance tests. Competitors in the Novice Pairs event should have passed the Bronze Pair test but no higher test, and having passed their Silver Pair test will be the qualification for the Junior pairs event.

A number of these competitors have competed at the 1976 Eastern Divisionals at Laval, P.Q. Debbie Currie from Moncton, N.B. has competed at the Canadian level while a Halifax Junior Dance team, Robert McCall and Marie McNeil placed 7th at the 1976 Canadian Championships held in London, Ontario. Another Junior Dance team, Gina Aucoin and Hanspeter Ponikau from the Heather Skating Club in New Glasgow, N.S. have been training together for three years. Some of this training took place at Summer School in Toronto and previous to that for a while in London, England. Ponikau, by the age of 13 had completed his gold dances, being the youngest in Canada to obtain this distinction.

Events will get under way Thursday, January 13 with registration taking place at the host motel, Keddy's, Motor Inn, and a practice session followed by a banquet and draw. competition begins Friday morning and continues through until Saturday afternoon when awards will be presented to the champions. A Parade of Champions will take place at 8 p.m. and will be followed by an exhibition featuring the guest skaters, Lorna Wighton and John Dowding of the Granite Club in Toronto, who placed third in Senior Dance at the 1976 Canadian Championships as well as a line number of 24 skaters from the host club, the Fredericton Figure Skating Club.

Ticket information can be obtained from the executive of your local figure skating club or by writing to Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships, P.O. Box 1173, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5C8. In Fredericton tickets are sold at Mazmuca's on York Street, the Smoke Shoppes and the Aitken Centre.

W. K. MORRISSEY

BRIAN BARNES

MINISTERIAL APPOINTMENTS

Premier Richard Hatfield has named two senior officials of his government to deputy ministerial positions. Brian Barnes, the former assistant deputy minister of environment, becomes that department's deputy minister, and William K. Morrissey, secretary to the province's cabinet committee on social development, becomes deputy minister of health.

A native of Fredericton, Mr. Barnes graduated from the University of New Brunswick in 1961 with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering. Following five years on staff at the New Brunswick Water Authority where he worked in the areas of pollution control and water resources, Mr. Barnes took a year of graduate training in civil engineering at the University of Maine.

Returning from Maine in 1967, Mr. Barnes joined the New Brunswick Water Authority where he became responsible for all aspects of its industrial wastes treatment program. He served as its staff director from 1969 to 1972 during which time it became the Environment Branch of the department of Fisheries and Environment.

From 1972 to 1975 he was the assistant deputy minister for Environment in the reorganized department of Fisheries and Environment. Since 1975 he has been acting deputy minister for the department of the Environment.

Mr. Barnes is a member of a number of professional and technical organizations. He is married to the former Linda MacNichol of Dalhousie, and the couple has five children.

Mr. Morrissey has been secretary to the province's cabinet committee on social development the past two years. Prior to that he served from April 1972 as deputy minister of social services.

A native of Regina, Mr. Morrissey completed his elementary and secondary education there. He holds an undergraduate degree in economics from St. Francis Xavier University (1957) and completed graduate studies in communications at Boston University (1960-61).

Mr. Morrissey joined the Saskatchewan department of Welfare in 1957 as a research officer. In 1963 he accepted the position of executive director of the Regina Welfare Council. He was appointed provincial co-ordinator of rehabilitation for Saskatchewan in 1967. A year later he was named director of the Saskatchewan Welfare Department's program division, a position he held until accepting an appointment as deputy minister of social services for New Brunswick on April 1, 1972.

Mr. Morrissey has served on the board of several private agencies. He is a member of the board of the United Way of Canada and the New Brunswick Board of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

He is married and has three children.

Local Bantams Show Well In Tournament

Nineteen Bathurst Bantam hockey players travelled to Moncton just after Christmas to compete in the annual Riverview Tournament. The competition comprised "A" and "B" divisions with Bathurst playing in "A" group against Sherwood-Parkdale (P.E.I.), Dalhousie, Riverview, Moncton and Dieppe.

In the first game Bathurst beat Moncton in a fast game before 200 fans. Bathurst opened the scoring with a blue line blast by Mike DeGrace and had a 4-1 lead by the end of two periods with goals by Ronny LeBlanc, Mike DeGrace, and Peter Girouard.

In the third, Moncton made it 4 - 2 before Peter Girouard put Bathurst ahead 5 - 2 shortly after. Moncton made it 5 - 3 and pressed hard for several minutes. A low shot by Greg McGrath however, completely fooled the Moncton goalie and gave Bathurst a 6 - 3 win. Mike DeGrace played an excellent game and was picked as the Bathurst star.

North Shore rivals Dalhousie, knocked off Bathurst in the second game 4 - 2. Dalhousie lead 3 - 0 after two periods, and 4 - 0 early in the third. The Bathurst team played their worst game of the season in this one. The boys appeared flat, perhaps overconfident, missing several excellent scoring chances. They awoke in the latter part of the 3rd with goals by Mike DeGrace and Peter Girouard but it was a little too late. The Dalhousie team were full value for their win. Mike DeGrace was again picked Bathurst star of the game.

Bathurst played a much improved 3rd game against a strong Sherwood-Parkdale team from P.E.I. Peter Girouard opened the scoring for Bathurst, but Sherwood came right back with two goals in 3 minutes (one on a power play) and that's how it stood at the end of the second, Sherwood 2 - Bathurst 1.

The 3rd period saw exciting hockey from both teams but excellent goaltending kept the puck out of the net. With 4 minutes left however David Davies lifted a rebound from a Lloyd Lavigne shot over a prostrate goalie to tie the game 2 - 2. Bathurst narrowly missed scoring in the closing minutes and were unlucky not to win this one. The Bathurst star was goalie Gerry Lavigne.

Bathurst played an excellent game against Riverview, easily defeating them 4 - 1. Bathurst dominated periods 1 and 2 and ran up a 4 - 0 lead with goals by Jim Chamberlain, John Butler, and two by Greg McGrath. Bathurst seemed to slow down in the third and Riverview scored with 5 minutes left. Greg McGrath played an excellent game and was named Bathurst star.

In the final game against Dieppe with the two finalists already decided, the Bathurst team started fast but returned to the type of hockey that beat them the Dalhousie game. Peter Girouard scored a beautiful short handed goal early in the first, and narrowly missed picking up another seconds later. Dieppe tied it up a minute later but John Butler put Bathurst ahead at the end of two. Dieppe scored a power play goal later in the 3rd to tie the game 2 - 2. Peter Girouard was picked the outstanding Bathurst player.

In the final standings Bathurst finished 3rd with 6 points, behind Sherwood-Parkdale (8 points) and Dalhousie (8 points). Sherwood-Parkdale beat Dalhousie 4 - 1 in championship game. Sherwood also beat Dalhousie 3 - 1 in a tournament game).

The Bathurst team played very well, except perhaps for the early periods against Dalhousie. Most observers agreed that Bathurst should have defeated Dalhousie and Sherwood, and should have been in the final.

Congratulations to all the boys, coach Marcel Caulombe, and manager Wm. Chamberlain for a very entertaining three days of hockey.

Lottery Prize Is Doubled

A grand prize of $200,000 will be up for grabs in the next drawing a A-One, the Atlantic lottery.

General manager of the Atlantic Lottery Corporation, Jean-Marc Lafaille, announced December 29 that the grand prize will be doubled for the Jan. 12 draw.

He said the prize structure was increased from the $50,000 given away in the first two draws because of "unprecedented acceptance" of the lottery by people in Atlantic Canada.

The third draw will feature a $50,000 second prize, two prizes of $25,000 each, one prize of $10,000, five of $5,000 each and others ranging from $1,000 to five free tickets.

Ticket price will remain at $1 and the grand prize will still be tax free. Drawings are made bi-weekly during a half-hour television program on the ATV network.

Noting that some people had trouble finding tickets for the first two draws, Mr. Lafaille said he expects there will be enough to satisfy demand for the Jan. 12 draw.

More than 1.5 million tickets went on sale December 28 for that draw. Some 900,000 were sold for the Dec. 29 draw and 540,000 for the first draw on Dec. 15.

Lottery officials have said that 40 per cent of the money earned from lottery ticket sales is profit, 40 per cent is paid out in prize money and the remaining 20 per cent covers administrative expenses.

This percentage structure is expected to continue despite the increased ticket output and larger prizes.

Chamber President Predicts Cloudy Weather For Economy

"In 1977, Canada is expected to experience less economic growth than in 1976", said B. Pinet-Raymond, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in a year-end economic forecast issued Dec. 21. "As in 1976, this will be below Canada's average since World War II."

"Real gross national product should increase by about 4.4 per cent in 1977 as compared to 4.8 per cent in 1976. This decrease in the rate of growth reflects mostly lower expenditures in the housing sector, a slowdown in the rate of consumer expenditures, and the likely absence of real growth in business investment in plant and equipment.

"1977 will probably see the inflation rate (CPI) continue its downward trend to 7.0 per cent from 11 per cent in 1975 and 7.5 per cent in 1976.

The unemployment rate is likely to maintain its upward trend of the past few years to 7.4 per cent which, if realized, will be the highest annual average since Statistics Canada started recording that rate back in 1953. This reflects economic growth much below Canadian business potential, overly generous benefits paid to those who choose not to work and the large growth in the labour force.

"Consumption expenditures are forecast to increase by 4.0 per cent in real terms, down from the average increase of about 5.4 per cent over the previous 9 years.

"The saving ratio is likely to remain high but decline from the 10.75 per cent achieved in the previous two years. This would reflect small additions to savings after substantial gains in non-managerial workers' real incomes for 1976. Dividend and salary constraints on those in higher income brackets have meant a real after-tax decline in the incomes of those who are typically large savers.

"Business investment in 1977 is not expected to show any real improvement over 1976. This is to be compared with a 5.0 per cent average real annual growth over the previous 9 years. This lack of impetus in investment is due in part to an anticipated slowdown in housing starts from 265,000 in 1976 to 235,000 in 1977 and to very little growth in general business capital investment. It reflects prevailing and increasing levels of uncertainty about policies to be pursued by all levels of government. There is a dearth of new investment commitments in light of an increasingly difficult environment for business in Canada.

"The foreign trade situation for Canada will likely improve very little in 1977. We forecast a current account deficit in the area of $4.5 billion (current dollars) which is similar to the 1976 level. The growth of merchandise exports will reflect the reduced tempo in economic growth registered by our main trading partners and lead to only a small merchandise trade surplus. But the deficit in non-merchandise account items will maintain its upward trend due to increasing interest payments on past foreign borrowings (largely by governments) and to the rising trend towards an outflow of dividend payments.

"In the absence of major policy changes, governments' expenditures will increase by approximately 4.0 per cent in 1977 which is less than the 4.6 per cent average over the previous 9 years.

"In light of the observations above, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is concerned about the overall economic prospects for 1977. The present forecast is clouded by many downside risks emerging from the general uncertainty on the course of government policies in Canada. A very serious problem for Canada today is the dramatic rise in unit labour cost vis-a-vis those in the United States, our major trading partner. The Government must do everything it can to encourage capital investment which will in turn improve productivity and provide jobs. In addition, through education, example and changes in the law, the Government must help to bring more wage settlements down to levels that are related to long-term growth in productivity.

"If Canada is to improve its competitive position in world markets and maintain the downward trend in inflation at home, the Chamber feels very definite actions must be taken by all levels of government in the long-term to encourage capital investment by business.

Curling Club News

By JOHN MARTIN

Throughout the past week, eleven teams have been competing in the double knockout club playoff to select two rinks to represent the Bathurst Curling Club in the Northeastern Zone playoff.

Top honors in this playoff went to a rink skipped by Mike Nadon with mate Dave Babin, second Ray Gagnon and lead Wayne Schmidt. The Nadon team went through the playoff undefeated, and at the time of this writing, rinks skipped by Larry MacDonald, Ken Babin and Fred Kapphahn remained in contention with one loss each.

Completing the MacDonald team are mate Frank McDermott, second Jim Donahue and lead Brad Corrigan. The Babin rink is made up of mate Dave Gammon, second Bob Slocum and lead Paul LePage while the Kapphahn foursome consists of mate Bobo Doucet, second Bernie White and lead Peter Samson.

This competition will be wrapped up today (Wednesday) so that the winning teams can prepare for the zone playoff to be held in Bathurst this weekend.

The poster is now up for the next scheduled men's curling competition, "The Sweeper's Spiel" which is to begin next week. This competition will be bracket play format and teams and individuals are urged to sign up immediately.

The December half and half draw will be held this Saturday night. Tickets are still available for those who have not yet purchased one.

Up Amount Of Reward

The New Brunswick Electric Power Commission announced December 23 that the reward offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone wilfully damaging Commission equipment has been increased from $250 to $1000.

The increase, while reflecting the extreme seriousness of the problem, will bring the reward more in line with amounts offered by other electrical utilities.

An additional $250 reward is offered by the New Brunswick Wildlife Federation in the case of damage to Commission facilities caused by gun shot.

Recent instances of gun shot damage to power line insulators in the Saint John area caused extensive damage requiring 36 hours to repair. In the past year, over $200,000 was spent to repair wilful damage to Commission equipment.

While the costs to the Commission from such vandalism are very real in terms of revenue loss, aerial patrols, materials and repair crews, the major concern in the inconvenience to customers from service outages and the danger employees face locating damage and carrying out repairs.

Sometimes equipment does not fail immediately following damage but shows up at the next peak load period or cold snap causing greater inconvenience to customers and repair crews.

The general public is requested to help in eliminating vandalism to Commission equipment by reporting violators to authorities.

Labour's Outlook Still Pessimistic

PAUL LEPAGE

Massive unemployment and growing social unrest are inevitable in 1977 failing immediate and meaningful government action to stimulate improvement in the provincial economy predicted New Brunswick Federation of Labour President Paul LePage in his annual New Year's Message.

The full text of the message follows:

Organized labour's grim forecast one year ago of "difficult and troubled times" in 1976 have proven true, we can see no grounds for a more optimistic forecast for the year 1977. Unfortunately, negative government response to the need for adoption and implementation of effective economic stimulation policies leads us to predict even more dire consequences for the year ahead.

As it stands now unemployment provincially has become so drastic that the costs of enforced idleness have reached staggering proportions with combined unemployment insurance, social assistance and lost production costs running in the hundreds of millions annually. Yet government still refuses to acknowledge the real seriousness of the situation or the actual costs involved.

The true jobless picture, moreover, continues to be hidden by government. With active regular unemployment insurance beneficiaries averaging 43,097 for the first six months of 1975 — of which only 5,641 claimants reported any earnings, government figures indicating an average monthly jobless rate of approximately 29,000 are obviously misleading.

Considering many unemployed are ineligible for unemployment insurance benefits or have opted out of the work force because of the lack of employment opportunities, we would surmise that unemployment today is at least twice the figures stated publicly and increasing daily.

Blind provincial support of an anti-inflation program that has been demonstrated as unworkable and inequitable, furthermore, will only serve to escalate our unemployment problems and stymy any hope of economic recovery for New Brunswick.

Government policies designed to induce restraint in consumer spending have a direct impact on market conditions and subsequently affect plant closures, shutdowns and levels of production. Reduced consumer demand and a depressed economy must inevitably lead to weakening business investment and fewer job opportunities.

Consumer confidence in government ability to effectively manage the economy and exercise meaningful control over housing, food and energy costs being at an all time low and declining, potentially serious social dissatisfaction can be expected in the days ahead. Warnings of higher food and energy prices to come and the apparent indifference of our political leaders to rising housing costs will help ensure as much.

Confronted with unfair wage restraints, increasingly restrictive unemployment insurance qualifications, reduced social assistance allowances and rising living costs, joint action by both the employed and unemployed to force government to generate improvement in the Province's economy must eventually come about.

For government to simply plead "poverty" in response to charges of inaction in improving the Province's dismal economic picture will prove more and more unacceptable to those New Brunswickers unfairly forced to bear the brunt of inept political policies and programs.

New Brunswick has means at its disposal to stimulate improved economic conditions. What is required is greater provincial initiative in fostering increased consumer demand, elimination of the current controls program and expanded housing efforts. Provincial borrowing, if necessary, to finance economic housing efforts. Provincial borrowing, if necessary, to finance economic stimulation would prove more advantageous in the long term than existing do nothing policies.

In the final analysis though there can be no question but that the Province's prospects for 1977, unlike previous years, hinge almost entirely on the extent to which government itself is prepared to go to improve deteriorating economic and social conditions.

Nuclear Concepts And Misconceptions

"While the good hydro sites are developed, utilities will have two choices, coal or nuclear - and nuclear is cleaner safer and, in most areas of the country, cheaper than coal", R. G. Hart, vice-president of Whiteshell Nuclear Research Establishment of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited recently told the Manitoba Electrical Association. As good hydro sites in Canada are now rare and rapidly diminishing in number, the choice between coal and nuclear fuel cannot be postponed.

Deluged and perhaps confused by the pros and cons of the environmental implication of atomic energy, many Canadians reacted to Mr. Hart's statement with a mixture of relief and satisfaction, tinged perhaps, with some reservations. The safety of atomic power has been challenged widely and it was reassuring to hear an emphatic reply from a knowledgeable source. Also, to most Canadians, it came as something of a surprise to learn that atomic power is already cheaper than coal. If, as appears probable, the field does narrow down to a choice between coal and uranium, those most knowledgeable on the subject make a strong case for the comparative safety, cleanliness and cost of the use of nuclear power.

Heavy users

Canada is a heavy consumer of electricity; on a per capita basis, the world's second highest consumer. In 1975, for example, Canada consumed 286 billion kilowatt hours of electricity; in other words, more than 11,000 kwh for every man, woman and child in the country. So the need and the market is there. And it is growing. Historically, the demand has been growing at the rate of 7 per cent per year which means that the demand doubles every decade. There is some doubt that this rate will continue, but if it does, by the year 2000 - only 24 years hence - our needs can be estimated at about 980 billion kilowatts, more than three times our present consumption. To satisfy this demand will require about 100 new generating stations, each capable of producing more than 2000 mw. If consumption follows historical patterns, this power will be used somewhat as follows: street lighting 0.6 per cent, commercial 19.9 per cent residential and farm 23.2 per cent, manufacturing and mining 57 per cent.

Sources

The accepted method of producing electricity in commercial quantities involves using some force to turn a turbine which causes a generator rotor to turn with an electrical field. For practical purposes, there are two kinds of power or force used to rotate the turbines water power, or steam. Water power, where available, is less expensive because, after the initial cost of installation, fuel itself is not a cost item as nature supplies the required running water. However, in most industrialized countries, including Canada, few water power sites remain available for development of power in amounts required to meet requirements. Those that do exist are remote and involve heavy transportation and transmission costs. If steam is used to turn the turbines, fuel is required to make the steam. Oil and gas, except in unusual circumstances, can be written off as too precious, too expensive, or both. The choice of fuels now appears limited to coal or nuclear.

Alternate fuels

It has been suggested that some of this load could be alleviated by use of such things as geothermal heat, solar, heat, wind or windmills to produce electricity. These were the earliest forms of fuel known to man and have been used since earliest times - and because they have been used, scientists have their limitations and, as a result, write them off for the present as large-scale sources of heat or energy. Optimum conditions for geothermal use are relatively rare in the world. Wood takes too long to grow, uses up needed agricultural land and burns with too much smoke. Present estimates are that it would required a solar plant of more than 100 square miles to provide electricity for a city of 2,000,000. Windmills? For a city of 2,000,000 there would be required, under optimum conditions, about 100,000 windmills of 100 square feet. At three per square mile, these could cover more than 50,000 square miles.

Comparisons

Thermal generation is about 45 per cent efficient and nuclear about 30 per cent efficient, and on the average, one pound of coal can produce 1.75 kwh of electricity and one pound of natural uranium 20,000 kwh. Both coal and uranium are mined but, in terms of electricity production, one ton of uranium ore can be processed to do the work of about 20,000 tons of coal. In effect much more mining must be done when coal is used. Aside from the handling dust, coal produces smoke and fly ash when burned. Much of this can be eliminated with scrubbers and precipitators but it is a problem and a cost not experienced by a nuclear reactor. Both the coal and uranium processes produces quantities of waste heat. The water used to cool the reactor becomes quite warm but Canada has an abundance of cold water so the availability of cooling water need not create a problem. Studies have revealed no detrimental effects on aquatic life from warm water discharge from Pickering.

The disposal of waste and used radioactive materials was originally believed to be a problem but atomic scientists are satisfied that several alternate methods can deal satisfactorily with this problem and investigations are underway to determine which method is most satisfactory. If this problem is, in fact, solved, it can be argued successfully that nuclear power is cleaner than coal.

Safety

Much has been said and written about the horrible things that could happen through the use of nuclear energy, but little is said or written about what has happened. The reason is that, because of intensive precautions, the nuclear industry is a very safe industry. Canada has had nuclear reactors since 1962 and in the intervening 14 years there have been some misadventures, all of which were righted without injuries to personnel or the public.

It would be unrealistic to assume that hazards of radiation do not exist for the human being in the use of nuclear reactors. But it is equally unrealistic to assume that these hazards have not been identified and adequate preventative measures taken.

No Fatalities

And the safety factor? Here's what Dr. G. M. Shrum, director of the Canadian Nuclear Association, says: "Nuclear power reactors have been in operation in the United States and Britain since 1956 and in Canada since 1962. There has not been one fatal radiation accident at any of them."

The conclusion of those most knowledgeable on the use and control of nuclear energy is quite clear: only by substituting nuclear fuels for fossil fuels can we meet the increasing need for electricity, husband our dwelling supply of fossil fuels, preserve and enhance our environment.

Growth

Twenty-five years ago, 96 per cent of electricity in Canada was produced from hydro-electric stations. By 1984, this had dropped to 70 per cent. Some, but not all, of the slack was taken up by electricity produced from nuclear-powered steam plants.

With the near exhaustion of hydro-electric sites, steam-powered generators will be responsible for more and more of our electrical requirements. These steam plants will use no fuel either coal or uranium - with increasing emphasis on uranium.

Appointed To Maritime Post

Premier Alex Campbell current chairman of the Council of Maritime Premiers, has announced the appointment of Emery Fanjoy of Fredericton, as the council's new secretary. Mr. Fanjoy's appointment takes effect on February 1, 1977.

In his new position, Mr. Fanjoy will head the administrative organization of the council, as well as have overall responsibility for the various regional agencies that operate under the council's jurisdiction.

Mr. Fanjoy was born in Saint John and received his early education there. After graduating from UNB with a BSc degree in electrical engineering in 1957, he worked for a year as an engineer with the New Brunswick Telephone Company Limited. During the period 1958-60 he attended the Imperial College of London, England, as an Athlone Fellow, and received the College's diploma in 1960.

Mr. Fanjoy previously held positions with Canadian General Electric Company and IBM Canada Limited. In January 1973 he joined the New Brunswick government service as secretary to the Treasury Board.

Mr. Fanjoy will be replacing Al Lomas whose term expires January 31. Mr. Lomas has served as the council's secretary since 1974, a period characterized by considerable growth in the council's activities, especially in the fields of land registration, resource planning and higher education.

"Mr. Lomas came to the council from the Nova Scotia department of Development where he served as deputy minister. Prior to that, he had served abroad as a federal trade commissioner with the department of Industry, Trade and Commerce.

"I am speaking for all three premiers when I say that Mr. Lomas' contribution is very much appreciated, and during his term of service significant progress has been made in strengthening regional cooperation," Premier Campbell said.

Two Die In Crash

Bathurst Coroner Gerry Arseneau has ruled unnecessary an inquest into the deaths of two Chatham women December 21.

Mrs. Joan Daigle, 42, and her 22-year-old daughter Dawn were killed instantly when their vehicle went out of control in heavy slush and skidded under an on-coming tractor trailer driven by Roy B. Ryder of Havelock. The mishap took place at about 4:30 p.m., 2½ miles north of Tabusintac Hill.

The Daigle vehicle was demolished while the tractor trailer, owned by A and M Transport of Havelock, received several thousand dollars damage. The truck driver was not injured.

Born in Chatham, Mrs. Daigle was a daughter of Mrs. Julia Green and the late George Green. She is survived by her mother, her husband, Edward of Chatham; one son, Edward Jr.; three daughters, Lynn, Cathy and Judy, all at home; two brothers, Franklyn, Glace Bay; Robert, Manitoba and one sister, Mrs. Ben Harris (Mamie), Arden, Ontario.

Miss Daigle is survived by her father, one brother and three sisters, all at home; her maternal grandmother; an aunt and three uncles.

The bodies rested at Maher's Funeral Home, Chatham. The double funeral was held Friday, December 24 at St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church. Interment will be in the spring.

Investigation Is Continuing

Tracadie Town Police Monday are still investigating a break into the provincial forestry office which occurred Friday morning, Dec. 24.

The break was discovered at about 10:30 a.m. when office staff entered the building. The intruder or intruders had gained entrance by breaking the glass in the back door. "All of the personal lockers had been broken into and rifles removed and placed in a pile as though they intended to take them", a police spokesman said. The firearms were not removed from the building however.

A snowmobile was removed from the premises but later returned.

J. Y. THERIAULT

Executive Changes At Village Acadien

A realignment of administrative responsibility in the Historical Resources Administration will give the Village Historique Acadien near Caraquet full branch status within the department and mean a promotion for two officers associated with the project.

Charles G. Gallagher, the minister responsible for HRA, has announced that T. Michael O'Rourke has been promoted to executive director and Jean-Yves Theriault will be director of the village project. Mr. O'Rourke will continue to direct the administration's research and development branch as well as act as liaison and control officer for the Village Historique Acadien.

"Among other things, the realignment provides for more onsite decisions and general management at the local level as the village approaches its opening date," said Mr. Gallagher.

A native of Newcastle Creek, Mr. O'Rourke is married and has three children. He is a graduate of Fredericton High School and New Brunswick Teachers College and received his B.A. and B. Ed. degrees from St. Thomas University in 1968 and 1969, followed by post graduate work in historical resource administration at Colonial Williamsburg in Virginia.

After an initial appointment as an assistant at the Provincial Archives, he was appointed historic sites supervisor with the research and development branch of Historical Resources Administration in 1969. He served as assistant director of the branch, and was named its director in 1974.

Responsible for capital projects for the department, Mr. O'Rourke has served also as director of the Village Historique Acadien until the present reorganization. He is also secretary-treasurer of the Fredericton Military Compound Board, and is assisting with the St. Andrews Conservation Area Project.

Mr. O'Rourke has also contributed to community and public affairs, including a two-year tenure as a member of the Barkers Point Village Council, the Barkers Point Volunteer Fire Department, and the Clean Task Force on Fredericton Area Amalgamation. He is a past president of the Barkers Point Lions Club.

Mr. Theriault, who has been managing the day-to-day operation of the Village Historique Acadien as assistant director, became its director on Dec. 1.

Mr. Gallagher noted that Mr. Theriault had already contributed to the project in an exemplary manner and that, with his new responsibility, he would be able to exert a more personal influence on the affairs of the project.

Mr. Theriault, who will report to Mr. O'Rourke, is a native of Bertrand, and a certified general accountant. He joined the village staff in April, 1973 as project accountant, and since April, 1975 had been serving as assistant director. Previously he had been employed by Canadian National Railways and for three years was assistant manager of La Caisse Populaire de Caraquet. He is married and the father of three children.

The project was initiated in 1973, with the use of regional development funds, under the revised Northeast FRED Agreement, and excellent progress had been made in developing an authentic, historic Acadian settlement, the first phase of which will be opened to the public next year, said Mr. Gallagher.

Mrs. Agnes Aube

93 And Still Going Strong

Still as young in spirit and as active about her home and in the community as she always was, Mrs. Agnes Aube of 859 Riverside Dr. marked another milestone December 28.

Relatives and close friends gathered at her home, always a centre of hospitality, to extend greetings, and she enthusiastically received the visitors.

Highlighting the celebration of Mrs. Aube's 93rd birthday was the reception of Holy Communion, administered by Rev. Albert Landry of the Capuchin Monastery at Vallee-Lourdes. Also present to join in prayers was Sister Margaret Cassese of the Religious Hospitalers of St. Joseph.

The luncheon which climaxed the social part of the gathering was prepared by Mrs. Aube's granddaughter, Mrs. Martin Hachey, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Aube, of San Antonio, Texas, and Bathurst.

Other surviving members of Mrs. Aube's immediate family are Reg. J. Aube, Bathurst; Alden, Masson, P.Q., and Mrs. Robert Desmarais, (Laurinda), Lake Wales, Florida.

Contract Vote Expected Soon

Approximately 2,300 New Brunswick nurses are expected to vote in the near future on whether to accept a tentative contract worked out with the provincial Treasury Board.

The vote is expected to be held following an executive meeting today (Wednesday) and Thursday of the N.B. Nurses Provincial Collective Bargaining Council. Individuals attending the session will bring back the details of the agreement announced on Dec. 23 to local union memberships.

Both council and Treasury Board officials have declined comment on the terms of the proposed pact until the nurses have had the opportunity to vote on the offer.

The agreement was worked out on both sides last month following the nurses' rejection of a conciliation board report that recommended a 22.5 per cent increase in wages over the first year of the contract.

The tentative agreement could mark the end of a dispute that began when the nurses' old contract ran out last March 31.

Mill Increases Are Rolled Back

Two groups of workers at the Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. plant in the city had wage settlements rolled back by the Anti-Inflation Board in an announcement made Thursday, December 30.

However, a third group, mill and office workers, were allowed increases which were substantially higher than AIB guidelines. The group, numbering 431, negotiated a three-year contract with the company calling for a 14.65 per cent increase the first year, 10.9 per cent increase the second year and a 7.6 per cent hike the third year.

The board approved the figures, although guidelines only allow for increases of 10.6, 10 and 8 per cent over three years. A board spokesman said the decision to go over the guidelines was consistent with previous board decisions for industry in Eastern Canada.

However, 32 garage, transportation and road workers, also with a three-year contract, had negotiated with the company for increases of 14.66, 10.94 and 7.6 per cent for each of the three years. The guidelines called for increases of up to eight, 8.3 and eight per cent, and the board in its decision granted increases of 11.29, 10.04 and 7.6 per cent respectively for each of the three years.

Wood harvesters and camp employees, numbering 20, negotiated a two-year contract from April 1, 1976 to March 31, 1978, in which they negotiated for increases of 11.45 per cent, and 8.39 per cent.

Anti-inflation guidelines called for increases of up to 8.5 per cent for the first year and up to 8 per cent for the second. The workers' negotiated increases were rolled back to 8.5 per cent in the first year and eight per cent in the second.

Commended For Work With German Youth

(Editor's note: The following article by Sgt. P. L. Marmagister was taken from Der Kanadier newspaper of Lahr, Germany. Cpl. Louis Godin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Godin of Petit Rocher. He spent the Christmas season with his parents, on leave from the Canadian Armed Forces base in Lahr. This is Cpl. Godin's second posting to Germany, the first being in 1967. He has served ten years with the Armed Forces and left the area on January 1 to conclude the final 2½ years of a four-year term in that country.)

One of the more colorful characters to grace the confines of the Arrowhead Arena this season is Cpl. Lou Godin. Lou, or "Louie" as he is called by the kids, can be easily recognized by his "Yankee" cap (civil war era) with a protruding feather.

Lou hails from Petit Rocher, N.B., and is the oldest boy in a family of nine children. He has three older sisters. He is quick to point out that his youngest brother Jeannot, 21, was a pretty good hockey player up to the midget league level.

He recently qualified as a level two referee which permits him to officiate in LMHA games. Early in the season he assisted with the power skating clinic and in addition to refereeing he is a co-coach with Charles Butt of the bantam "Flames."

Lou has six years of minor hockey behind him, chiefly in the areas of coaching and refereeing. At Quebec City in 1974 he coached a mikey mite team (Intrepids) to the league championship.

At the same time he led a midget league team (Barons) to both a league championship and a playoff title. Also in 1974 (just to fill in his spare time) he coached a women's hockey team (Justicier). He pointed out that this team finished in the cellar. Could it be that you do not have a way with the ladies, Lou? Last year he was an assistant coach with the bantam Flames who finished the season with a .500 record.

He is activly involved with a Cub pack in Lahr which he says keeps him busy every Wednesday evening. They are a French-speaking group (Cashur de Lahr). His work with Cubs goes back four years.

Lou was active with a group of children attending a summer school program this past summer. He looked after a total of 140 kids for a six week period. It appears that Lou has even gained international fame. When he met Mr. Herb Sauve coach of the Massachusetts 76ers, he said, "All the kids around here know me". Mr. Sauve replied, "Why yes, we even heard about you as we were boarding the plane to come to Europe."

Cpl. Lou Godin is a single serviceman who is devoting a great deal of his spare time to work with children in both sports and other activities. There are not many kids in Lahr who do not know "Louie". He is to be commended for the long hours and selfless devotion he gives to the kids of our community.

Mayor Previews Many Achievements In '77

The next 12 calendar months will be active, progressive ones for the City of Bathurst, it is indicated by Mayor John A. Duffy in his annual New Year's message to citizens.

Following is the complete text:

For all of us 1976 is now past history and your city did go forward in great strides. It may be easy for some of us to look back and criticize and condemn. I look forward to 1977 becoming a year with more and greater accomplishments.

We look forward to the construction of the new U.I.C. building and this will be very beneficial to our area in that not only will the construction be a stimulant for jobs but there will be more than 400 new jobs created, and there will also be more people moving into our area. This is beyond a doubt a great stimulant for our city and area.

We look forward to a plan to develop our parks within our city. We do have parks as most realize but we do not have plans for development. This plan will be completed in 1977. We look forward with hope to the possibility of a new causeway being given the go-ahead in 1977 - in order that Miramichi Avenue and St. Peter Avenue be linked together. This is a must in my opinion and would be very, very beneficial to our city's traffic problems.

We look forward to the replacement and the completion of a new bridge over Bass River by the provincial government. This has been indicated for quite some time and it is my understanding that it will become a reality in this present year. We look forward to the upgrading of King Avenue from the by-pass to Demeresque Street. I feel that this is a must because of the heavy traffic flow using King Avenue from the bypass. We look forward to the continued up-grading of our water and sewerage utility and plan to expand and improve this utility particularly in Hachey Ward during this year.

We also look forward to the expansion of our water treatment plant in order to provide service now and in the years ahead. Our water treatment plant at the moment is greatly over-taxed and this step must be taken immediately to correct the situation.

We look forward with hope to a possible green light to be given for a smelter for our area. We look forward to the development of new mines and hopefully the continuation of greater exploration. We look forward to the start of development of our boulevard area of our city.

In 1976 we held our own, in the construction field in up-grading of homes and business establishments. Our total overall building permit value was nearly $6,000,000. Approximately 100 new homes were built of which nearly 25 were co-op housing. We look forward in 1977 to greater construction of co-op housing, in particular within our city.

We look forward to the paving of the new Route 11 which will be very beneficial to our city and area. We ask that the government consider building the road directly from Bathurst to Campbellton, not as it is now planned.

We look forward to the early completion of the Road to Resources from Bathurst to St. Quentin. I feel that if this is not done immediately the roads now built will be obsolete and ruined by the time the other portion is finished. It will open great potential to the tourist industry and Mount Carleton Park. This, in my opinion, is a project that should have been long completed.

While we have lost in 1976 our air service, we look forward to an early re-instatement of this service. The service is greatly missed by the travelling public who have not income enough to own their own airplane or be able to charter an airplane when they so desired. A great savings to everybody because many of our high priced officials could fly in and out of Bathurst, rather than spend time driving in and out of our city. This air service to Bathurst is a must.

We look forward to Canadian National Railways up-grading their service instead of indications that we hear of cut-backs.

In early 1976 the Neighborhood improvement program was undertaken in Ryan Ward. After many meetings this program has made a great many people aware that they may be able to improve their homes and the whole area of our city. It is great to note the enthusiasm of all the people concerned in Ryan Ward. We look forward to the continuance of this program in this ward in 1977 and for some time to come.

During the past years I have asked continually for more and greater participation by the citizens of our city. A shining example of the participation comes from our Canadian Legion who will provide the lighting for the new park in West Bathurst, which is used during the winter months for an outdoor skating rink. This organization is to be commended most highly for their actions. In the past, we did have 20 or more rinks on the harbour. I see no reason why this could not be accomplished today. I feel that with such an amount of ice in the harbour, this would easily become a reality once more.

I have asked in the past and I am going to ask again that many local groups be organized in different areas. A few of such groups do exist and they do help their elected representatives from those areas. I would ask that groups be organized in other areas, also in order to help your city function much better.

It is a must that we, once and all, go forward in a united way and help develop our city and area. I think the time has come for the city to expand its over-the-ground facility as well as that of our underground facility. We have mentioned many times sub-stations for our Fire Department, the facilities for our public works and water and sewers. The water and sewer facilities we have to offer to public works are inadequate. FACT is a must that in the very near future these be up-graded.

In my opinion, land must be obtained for park purposes in areas of our city where very little of a facility exists. Let there be no mistake that all of our life cannot be saved overnight. While we are expanding it is a must that some of our over-the-ground facilities be developed in the immediate future.

I have mentioned many times participation. That means participation of all facets of our community's way of life. All departments of your municipality would appreciate I am sure, the help of everybody. Your police department, one of the finest and effective in New Brunswick, feels the way I do in that your participation, the public's participation, is a must in order that they may do their job properly. They need our help in order that they may do a better job for all of the law abiding citizens of your city. Please help yourself by helping your police force, in particular.

In closing, I once more ask for the support and necessary participation by you, the public, and I ask most sincerely for your continued prayers to Almighty God for my guidance.

Project Aids Sr. Citizens

Award of a contract to PFC Construction Ltd., a Caraquet-based firm, for construction of a 10-unit low-rental senior citizens' project at Grand Anse has evoked favorable comment frun that village's chief magistrate

Grande-Anse Mayor Edmond Landry expressed "deep satisfaction that at last Government authorities had rendered their decision on behalf of these residents who have more than a legitimate right to adequate accommodation in the last stages of their lives".

The Msgr. Doucet residence for the aged now offers accomodations to those who can look after themselves to a degree. But this is not sufficient. It now becomes necessary that facilities be extended to those who can no longer look after their own needs by reason of infirmity or chronic ailments.

Mr. Landry stresses the fact that "getting old is the one eventuality no one can escape from and it is only fair to assume that we are morally obligated to those who have given the best of their lives to the community".

"In my last election campaign I pledged that I would obtain such facilities for our venerable people. Even in defeat, I kept my pledge with the results that we now have.

"With the help of the village council, we have obtained an ambulance service, a fire-fighting service as well as other amenities for our region. And this against the ever-present criticism of the elected Nepisiguit-Chaleur representative to the Legislative Assembly.

"I am more than pleased" said Mr. Landry, " that I have been able to bring some tangible improvements to the industrial, economic and social well-being of my region."

CanadaPension Benefits Rise

Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde recently announced that the 865,000 Canada Pension Plan beneficiaries will receive increases of 8.2 per cent starting in January, 1977.

The increase, calculated on the past year's rise in the cost of living as measured by the Consumer Price Index, will apply to all persons in receipt of Canada Pension Plan benefits as of December 31, 1976. The increases will be reflected in the January cheques.

The maximum retirement pension effective January, 1977, will be $173.61 per month. The maximum disability pension payable in 1977 will be $175.05 per month, while benefits for disabled contributors' children and orphans of deceased contributors will be $44.84 per month. Maximum monthly surviving spouses' pensions will be $109.94 for persons under age 65 and $104.17 for spouses 65 or older.

Of the estimated 865,000 persons who will be in receipt of Canada Pension Plan benefits at the end of December, some 539,100 will be retirement pensioners, 135,000 will be surviving spouses, and 61,200 will be disability pensioners. Another 117,700 benefits relate to children who are receiving benefits as orphans or children of disabled contributors. In addition, there are some 12,000 combined benefits, such as for a surviving spouse in receipt of a retirement pension as well as a survivor's benefit.

Wharf Repairs For Shippegan

The Honourable Romeo LeBlanc, on behalf of Public Works Canada, has announced that Gionet Construction Ltd. of Caraquet has been awarded a $233,725 contract for the surfacing of the wharf at Shippegan.

A total of 1570 cubic yards of reinforced concrete will be used to provide an eight-inch thick deck from the wharf face to the pavement. The present construction consists of cribwork and steel piling with gravel fill. Overall measurements are 1210 feet by 40 feet and 255 feet by 60 feet.

The successful firm submitted the lowest of five bids received in response to public tender. The high bid was $628,000.

Specifications for the project were prepared by Public Works Canada for Environment Canada. Completion is scheduled for the end of February 1977.

The project manager is W. F. Lord of Public Works Canada district office in Saint John.

Mr. and Mrs. David Jonah and son Matthew from Toronto visited over Christmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Jamieson and family and other relatives in the city.

Holy Family Council Meets

The December 7 meeting of Holy Family Council Catholic Women's League opened with a mass celebrated by the council director, Rev. Noel Cormier. Prayers were also offered for members who were ill.

The president Mrs. Florence Roussy was meeting chairman. The minutes were read and adopted and correspondence and business received attention.

It was reported the card party was successful.

A new member was admitted.

It was decided to present a Christmas gift to the director, Father Cormier. A think-you card was received from Sister Geraldine Kelly for help with lunch during the catechetic workshop.

It was decided that Mrs. Roussy would visit senior members and distribute a gift to each.

The meeting was adjourned on motion by Mrs. Emma Doucet.

TNB Tickets On Sale Until Night Of First Play Feb. 3

The Dec. 15 meeting of Kappa Chapter Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Ann Crozier with all members present.

The social committee reported the Christmas party held at the home of Karen and Graydon Estey had been successful as well as enjoyable.

Decorations at the Estey residence were in profusion and included a Christmas tree. A buffet lunch was served.

A pledge training for the new pledges is progressing very well and should be completed by the end of January or early February, it was noted in the social committee report.

The service committee said that pictures had been taken for the donations made by the chapter and had been contained in the Dec. 15 issue of the Northern Light.

For way and mean, the project committee reported Theatre New Brunswick tickets would be on sale until the first play of the year, scheduled for Feb. 3, and would be sold the evening of the play's presentation.

The executive council committee report on the planned Valentine Ball was given by Ann Crozier. Final plans were made on the sale of tickets which will be $20 per couple for members and their guests. The price will include a sit-down meal beginning at 8:30 p.m., and a dance with music by the Mystics from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. There will be a limit of 60 tickets on sale and these will be available on Jan. 12.

Each of the three local Beta Sigma Chapters will have special duties in preparing for the dance. Kappa Chapter has been allocated the work of preparing all decorations.

The evening's program was on "music" which was presented as a group project. Different types of music were played throughout the evening.

Following the program, bells were heard and, with a Ho! Ho!, entered Santa Claus to the tune of "Here Comes Santa Claus" being played.

Santa was extended warm greetings from everyone and during his short visit, he was assisted by the president, Lexie Martin, in distributing the "secret sister" Christmas gifts.

BROWNIES RECEIVE GOLDEN AWARDS

Golden awards were presented to eight members of the 4th West Bathurst Brownie Pack during special ceremonies held in the basement of Holy Family Church Dec. 14. What Is Canadian Standards Assn.?

The Canadian Standards Association is a national association dedicated to providing services in support of standardization.

The hundreds of committees that produce standards under CSA auspices consist of balanced national representation of producers, consumers and other interests.

More than 3,000 Canadians are active in CSA committee work and more than 1,600 companies and organizations including governments, utilities, professionals, educational bodies and trade associations, are affiliated with the Association as "sustaining members."

CSA was chartered in 1919 by a group of Canadian industrialists as a self-governing national association concerned with the development and application of standards and related services for the benefit of Canadians from all walks of life.

All standards issued by CSA are developed in accordance with the published policies and procedures of the Association. CSA standards, by reason of Association procedures, reflect a national consensus of manufacturers, consumers, and scientific, technical, and professional organizations, and governmental agencies. The completed standards are used widely by industry and commerce and often by municipal, provincial and federal governments.

Where circumstances are appropriate for designating a CSA standard as a National Standard of Canada, the standard also conforms to the criteria and procedures set forth by the Standards Council of Canada. The Association has been accredited as a standards-writing organization by the Council.

In addition, CSA provides comprehensive certification, testing, inspection, and related information services on behalf of its members and clients.

CSA maintains six offices and testing stations across Canada, as well as agencies in Britain, Europe, Japan, India and Australia.

ANN LANDERS

"Sorry" Sufficient For Condolence

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this. I don't know of a better way to get a message to the general public.

When you make a condolence call, please don't say, "you're lucky. You still have some family left." The person who is grieving doesn't feel lucky.

Don't say, "He lived a long, rich life." Long or short, it wasn't long enough for those who loved him.

Don't say, "You'll get over it. I'll bet you'll be married again in a couple of years." Such talk shows a lack of sensitivity and is not appreciated.

Don't ask if there was a will – who got what – if she would like to sell her house – her plans for disposing of his clothes, his car, etc.

Say you are sorry. Relate briefly a personal incident that demonstrated kindness or thoughtfulness on the part of the deceased.

Better yet, go out of your way to be considerate of your friends and relatives while they are alive. Don't wait until the funeral and then try to convey your feelings to the next of kin. – Hartford Connecticut.

DEAR H.C.: Thank you for a superb letter. You ought to write an advice column.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I never had the opportunity to be around children till we had our own. What should we do about childhood nudity in the home?

We have a girl 10, and two boys, 8 and 6. They love to run around naked. Now and then they ask if they can bathe together.

My wife and I believe this is innocent childhood behavior that will pass in time. But how long should we allow it to continue? Please advise. – Parents Who Need Guidance.

DEAR PARENTS: If the kids were all the same sex, it wouldn't make any difference, but nudity among brothers and sisters should not be allowed after five years of age. (Co-educational bathing should be stopped, also.)

In most instances, nothing need be said – especially to girls. They usually develop a sense of modesty a few years before bodily changes occur. A girl of 10 who is still romping around nude with her brothers should be told her baby days of running around naked are over.

If you catch the kids "playing doctor," don't take the roof off the house. Simply explain that their bodies are private and no one should be allowed to fool around with private parts.

DEAR ANN: Your letter to the mother who wanted to know what her children should call their dad after a sex change operation was too low-key. Why, after all these years, do you still insist of advising hooks as if they were rational people? Give up, Doll. It won't work.

Can you imagine what life would be like for those kids at school? You should have suggested that the woman either threaten to have a sex change operation herself so the children would still have both a mother and father, or, better yet, she should have the nut declared legally dead. – Also Concerned.

DEAR ALSO: Your "advice" wouldn't play Peoria – or anyplace else. (a) An empty threat is meaningless. (b) The law would not permit a man who is alive to be declared "legally dead."

But thanks a lot. I know you meant well.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage – What to Expect", will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WED AT FREDERICTON

The marriage is announced of Keiren Louise Heenan, daughter of Mrs. John H. Heenan of Saint John and the late Mr. Heenan, to John William Ferris, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ferris of Bathurst. The wedding took place December 4 at Saint Thomas University Chapel in Fredericton.

LINES AND WRINKLES

By MARY KALUA

Cosmetic science has extracted a skin beauty substance from the bean of a tropical plant that works wonders by making rough, lined face and dry chapped hands look years younger, fast. Use it tonight and you should see and experience in the morning. Many small lines around the eyes and mouth may already have disappeared and wrinkles you have given up as hopeless should start to vanish in a few days. But that isn't all. That discouraging weather-darkened old age skin tone fades away. But don't take my word for it — use this exciting substance yourself for 7 days — satisfaction is guaranteed or return for refund. It's the tropical moisturizer that works wonders for wrinkles and lines. It's called Cosmesa Dry Skin Cream.

CREATE COMMUNITY JOBS NOW. GET YOUR APPLICATION IN BY FEBRUARY 4TH.

Canada Works

Young Canada Works

The restoration of historical buildings, the construction of a fire hall, the replacement of an outdated water system. If you stop and think about it there are probably many good projects that could create jobs and be of great benefit to your community.

This year, a new job creation program called Canada Works will help fight unemployment by providing funds to groups and organizations including private businesses, for worthwhile community projects.

If you have a project that can provide a minimum of five jobs for unemployed people in your area, submit your application to Canada Works.

But do it now. The deadline for applications is February 4th.

Right now, your Canada Manpower Centre has application forms and a Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" that describes the program and how to apply.

Visit your Canada Manpower Centre today.

Canada Works: Make it work in your community.

This summer Young Canada Works will help reduce student unemployment by creating jobs in your community. The students will work on projects of community benefit that will enable them to test their career aspirations.

Any established organization can submit an application to Young Canada Works.

Your proposal should provide a minimum of three student jobs for six consecutive weeks. Projects can operate for up to 14 weeks between May and September. Your local CMC has a Young Canada Works "Guide" and application form.

Submit your application now. The deadline for Young Canada Works is February 4th.

Young Canada Works for students in your community.

Mrs. Albertine Bourque spent Christmas week visiting her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John MacKinnon at Antigonish, N.S., and her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bourque, Waverly, N.S.

Spending Yuletide with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Eddy were Miss Catherine Eddy, a Ph.D. student at Western University, London, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Eddy and 14-month-old daughter Sarah from Toronto; and Mr. Richard Eddy who is in his final year of the arts program at University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Christie spent Christmas weekend in Moncton visiting the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Christie and family. Another guest was their sister, Sister Emilie Christie, who is on a year leave of absence from the missionary field and engaged in religious studies at Western University, London, Ont.

Dr. Jorge Martinez de la Perra arrived here from Bogota, Colombia, to spend the Yuletide season with his wife, the former Nancy McArdle who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Charlie McArdle, Sunset Drive, and other members of the family for the past four months. Dr. and Mrs. Martinez de la Perra leave next Thursday for Boston and New York where the former will be undergoing further medical studies before eventually taking up residence in Mexico City.

Mrs. Derek Herbert, Oakville, Ont., has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fitzgerald, Peter's River, having been called here by the sudden illness of her mother who is a patient in the intensive care unit at Chaleur General Hospital since she was stricken on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCarthy and children, Carla, Dean and Dennis have returned to Ormond Beach, Fla., after spending Christmas at their home in Salmon Beach. They were accompanied to Florida by Mr. McCarthy's mother, Mrs. James McCarthy, also of Salmon Beach, who is spending a few weeks with her son and family.

Sgt. and Mrs. David Hales and children Sharon and Craig from St. Margaret's Air Base spent Christmas weekend with the former's mother, Mrs. Henry Hales, Bridge Street, and visited with other relatives in the area.

Mrs. H. H. Rogers and daughter, Miss Rosemary Rogers returned Jan. 1st from a week's vacation at Spring Hill, Fla., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barbour. Mrs. Rogers and her daughter were en route from Mexico City where they spent a week and attending the wedding there of her elder daughter, Sheila, and Mr. Francisco Gastelum which took place Dec. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eddy, Halifax, spent Christmas weekend with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Eddy and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis and families.

Miss Barbara Eddy who is in her final year in the Bachelor of Nursing program at Dalhousie University, Halifax, and Miss Margaret Eddy who is a first-year student at the same university, spent the Yuletide recess with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Eddy and family, including their sister, Mrs. Gary Branch and Mr. Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Emile Pitre spent Christmas in Montreal with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pitre and little daughter, Amanda.

Miss Ann Duffy, Halifax, spent Christmas week here with her parents, Mayor and Mrs. John A. Duffy and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacKay and sons Jamie and Derek, Montreal, visited over Yuletide with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacKay Sr., all of Bathurst and other members of their families.

Mr. William "Teddy" Hall has returned to Toronto after spending Christmas week visiting his mother, Mrs. Annie Hall and other members of the family.

Mr. Gary Hall, a fourth-year student in business administration and Miss Theresa Hall, a first-year arts student, both at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, spent the Christmas break with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Annie Hall and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Perras and family, Shediac, Nfld., have been visiting over the Yuletide season with their respective relatives here including the former's mother, Mrs. Emile Perras, Sunset Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilles Chevrette and little son Jacques Andre have returned to Montreal after spending the Yuletide season with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward, Bridge Street.

Mrs. A. J. Pocock and children Martha, Mary and Edward from Ormstown, Que., were guests Christmas week of Mr. and Mrs. William Pocock.

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord." I Thessalonians 4:16-17

The great gathering of God's people is in the making. We shall meet again never to part. He has made it possible. "Even so come Lord Jesus."

Church Ends Grape Boycott

The United Church has officially ended its boycott of California grapes. The United Church Observer reports in its current issue, that individual members still continue their support.

An inter-church committee on the grape and lettuce boycott said that "while the democratic procedures in California are far from perfect, nevertheless a degree of industrial democracy has arrived."

The goal of the boycott, supported by most churches and synagogues in North America, was secret ballot union elections for farm workers. It was opposed by a number of church members in rural areas who feared it was a step to supporting farm workers unions and boycotts in Canada.

BUSY DAY FOR GUIDES

Members of 1st Bathurst Guide Company presented a puppet show at the Nepisiguit Centennial Library for a large group of pre-schoolers Saturday, Dec. 18, at three o'clock. Among the Guides handling the puppets were, left to right: Laurie Elliston, Carole Simms, Lynn Doucet and Monique Carriere. Early in the evening, the girls went outdoors a-caroling, in the neighborhood of Donald and King Avenues. Afterwards, the Guides gathered at the home of Mrs. Maurice Doucet, 739 Donald Ave. for a party including games and charades and a lunch of hot chocolate and cookies.

Social and Personal

Mr. Wilfred M. Doucet recently returned from a business trip to Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Andre Brideau and two young daughters have moved from 602 Grange St. to their new trailer at 155 Dawson Court. Mr. Brideau is a local postal employee.

Mrs. Hector King, Ottawa, is spending several weeks here as the guest of her sister, Mrs. C.C.L. Gammon and Mr. Gammon. Vaughan, and visiting other relatives in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Grisdell and their six-year-old daughter have moved from 1220 Centennial St. to 240 Queens St. Mr. Grisdell is employed with Agrex.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Miller spent Christmas weekend in Moncton with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller and son Timmy.

Miss Mary White, student at Mount St. Vincent College, Halifax, and Mr. Terrence Reilly, also of Halifax, were guests during the holidays of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom White, 361 St. Patrick Street.

Miss Francoise Frenette, Halifax, Mrs. Darlene Sheila, Manhattan, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Ian Frenette, Sayers, P.E.I., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McConaghan and family of Rothesay spent a family Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Frenette, 216 Douglas Ave. St. Here for New year's weekend was another daughter, Miss Ina Frenette, a medical student at Dalhousie University, Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Denny Chicoine and sons Marc and Michel plan returning tomorrow to Sept Iles, Que., after spending the Yuletide season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rodolfe Chicoine and other members of the family, also with Mrs. Denis Chicoine's family at Lamoque.

Esthetics Is Program Topic

Karen Estey was hostess for the Dec. 1 meeting of Kappa Chapter Beta Sigma Phi as plans for the Christmas party were discussed.

It was decided that a buffet supper would be served and each member planning to attend would bring food as requested by the social committee.

It was decided a donation of $25 would be made to the Christmas Baskets fund and a $10 donation to the Lions' Empty Stocking Fund.

Included in the next meeting's program will be the exchange of "secret sister" Christmas gifts, it was noted.

After business, the program for the evening was presented by Sue Burns whose topic was "Esthetics." Her guest was Mrs. L. Thibodeau, a local representative for Fashion 2B.

Esthetics is the term used to denote the study of perception, it was noted, and is the branch of philosophy concerned with the manner and perception of beauty and sensation, particularly in the fine arts such as painting, sculpture and music.

Hostess Mrs. Estey was the model for Mrs. Thibodeau. She demonstrated, on the model, the proper method of applying make-up.

President Lorrie Martin presented Mrs. Thibodeau with a gift on behalf of the chapter, for interesting and well-informed information on esthetics.

Following the program, lunch was served by Mrs. Estey and Jean Cramer.

At Baptism In Montreal

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Hay, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Violette Hay, and Mr. Stuart Hicks, spent Christmas weekend in Montreal with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Pendelton (Claire) Mr. and Mrs. Hay were also present for the christening of their first grandchild, who was baptized Shannon Vicki Stephanie Pendelton on Dec. 27. God-parents are the infant's aunt, Violette Hay, and an uncle, Stephen Pendelton.

Consider the oven for whole meal cooking. Pick foods that cook at the same time at the same temperature. Avoid don't open up the oven door for a quick peek unless you have to — heat escapes quicker than you think. Pre-heating is often unnecessary. Generally any food requiring more than a full hour of cooking time may be placed in a cold oven.

Spruce Budworm Spray Program Will Continue

The provincial government has decided to proceed with a forest protection program against spruce budworm in 1977, Natural Resources minister Roland Boudreau announced at a news conference December 16.

This decision has been reached, said the minister, after careful study of the program made in 1976 in restoring fir-spruce forests to a more acceptable condition.

Studies by federal and provincial government agencies have identified approximately 5 to 6 million acres where serious infestation will occur in 1977, and most severely in areas outside the spraying operations in 1976, he said.

The decision was reached, he said, after the most recent study of Dr. Gordon Baskerville's evaluation of the alternatives open to the province.

The provincial government has also studied an Environment Canada evaluation of unwanted side-effects, outlined in a recently-issued report prepared under the chairmanship of Dr. I.W. Varty of the Canadian Forestry Service, Fredericton, said Mr. Boudreau.

The New Brunswick government is also maintaining close contact with the Izaak Walton Killam Hospital for Children in Halifax, specifically with Dr. John Crocker, to ensure that New Brunswick is immediately aware of any significant indication of a relationship between presently used chemicals and spraying practices, and danger to human health, particularly in connection with Reye's syndrome, he said.

The provincial government has also deliberated for several months the policy question of spraying small private holdings. Mr. Boudreau said the intention for 1977 will be to attempt to ascertain the wishes of owners in proposed operational blocks and to act in accordance with the majority wish within each block.

A system of public notification to permit owners to indicate their wishes will be adopted shortly, he said.

Mr. Boudreau also announced that he has invited ministers and their deputies from eastern Canadian provincial government departments responsible for forest resource management and protection, their counterparts from Maine, and federal Environment Minister Romeo LeBlanc to meet in Fredericton in mid-January to discuss the policies of these jurisdictions toward the budworm problem and the possibilities of acting jointly, such as pooling resources in research and development.

C.I.L. Art Collection Due At Local Library

The company that brought the program "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" to a national radio audience in the 1930s also supports the visual arts.

Canadian Industrial Ltd., better known as CIL, started purchasing their collection of contemporary Canadian paintings in 1961. The project was instigated in response to a need to decorate the new head office, CIL House in Montreal.

The problem was not a new one: how to complement a modern building with art. Contemporary Canadian paintings were the answer.

At this stage the collection would encourage Canadian artists and provide suitable decoration in the new offices. It wasn't until later that making the collection available to the public was considered.

As a result, the CIL Art Collection comes to Bathurst and stays at Nepisiguit Centennial Library from January 18 to 28. The showings are sponsored here by Canadian Industrial Ltd. and the following visiting hours will be observed: Tuesday to Friday: 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.; Saturday: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Leading up to the present, here is how it all happened:

Under the auspices of Dr. Evan Turner, the director of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, plans for the acquisition of a collection were developed. He assembled about 100 contemporary Canadian paintings from which a predominantly professional jury chose forty to form the original collection. These paintings were first shown in March 1962 in the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

The decision to make the collection available for exhibitions was received with enthusiasm. Either in part or in whole this exhibition has been shown in public art galleries and museums, schools, civic centres and a variety of other public premises in over ninety towns and cities across Canada.

Exhibitions have also taken place in CIL offices in Toronto. Loans of one or more paintings have been made to one-man shows such as the Canadian Art Exhibition at Expo '67, and to galleries abroad.

Perhaps the single most important decision facing a company in the process of building an art collection is what guidelines to follow regarding selection of works.

PRO TEM TREATMENT

Dr. Turner, in the beginning, stressed the importance of "keeping the collection free from the tastes and prejudices of individual company executives." His aim was to give the CIL Collection credibility and status in the art world.

To do this he suggested that the jury for choosing the works should be comprised mainly of professionals, neither dealers nor artists, and that new works should be acquired only on the recommendation of an independent, professional adviser. Dr. Turner continued in this advisory capacity until 1968 when, on his recommendation, the company appointed Dr. Russell Harper to succeed him.

Choosing the original collection set a precedent for future acquisitions. It consisted of 40 paintings, 20 representational and 20 non-representational. The balance was and still is intentionally maintained. Regional representation is also considered, although as the curator, Winston Smillie, says, quality will not be sacrificed in order to have an area represented.

J. R. Law, advertising and public relations manager for CIL, believes that "in the present social and environmental changes it is important to keep an open mind to the vast expressions in our culture."

The original collection and further acquisitions have dealt strictly with paintings. It was not until last year that the art committee discussed the possibility of adding sculpture to the collection. Other specified media have been suggested more recently.

The present CIL adviser, Dr. Russell Harper, reviews the collection once a year and submits a report listing the names of Canadian artists from whom a painting should be acquired and the paintings which should be removed.

REASSESSMENT

Every 3 - 5 years, a jury consisting of Dr. Harper and two other authorities on Canadian art along with members of the art committee assess the whole collection as to acquisitions and disposals. Although the collection is not overly large compared to other corporate collections, neither is it stagnant, although few pieces are ever replaced by newer ones purely for the sake of remaining a "contemporary" collection.

From time to time throughout the year, galleries and artists submit slides of their paintings to CIL which they feel the corporation may want to purchase and likewise visits are made by CIL to art galleries which exhibit contemporary Canadian paintings.

Dr. Harper and Mr. Smillie make the decision as to whether these works should be viewed further by other members of the art board. However, no purchase is made before all members of the board have the opportunity to view the paintings being considered.

The art board, therefore, encourages Canadian artists to keep their corporate art board informed by sending invitations to their exhibitions to W. E. Smillie, CIL Art Collection, Canadian Industries Ltd. P. O. Box 10, Montreal, Que., and by contacting Mr. Smillie if they wish to present their paintings for consideration in the collection.

The CIL Art Collection now numbers eighty-one, these works representing seventy-one artists. Such artists as Christopher Pratt, Jean-Paul Riopelle, Ghitta Caiserman, Alex Colville, Joan McEwen and Jean-Paul Lemieux, to really name only a few, are examples of the range of artists and styles in this collection. The collection is over ten years old now and the works represent the stylistic evolution of the past decade.

Al McCarthy, The Northern Light's advertising manager, congratulates Mr. Frenette.

YOUNG BACHELOR WINS TRIP TO THE BAHAMAS

The winning ticket in The Northern Light's "Sunflight Holiday for Two Contest" in Freeport, Bahamas, was drawn Monday by City Deputy Police Chief Maurice Hursley.

George Frenette of Green Point was the lucky candidate. He is the 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Frenette.

When notified of his good fortune he couldn't believe it. "I thought it was some of my friends playing a joke on me", stated Mr. Frenette. "This is the first time in my life I've ever won anything. What a beautiful way to begin the New Year".

Toronto and Montreal were among the very few places he has travelled to and is anxiously looking forward to this trip.

Being unmarried, Mr. Frenette has not yet decided who the other person to accompany him will be.

Mr. Frenette's entry was deposited at Pirst Auto, to whom he is thankful. This was the one and only coupon filled in by Mr. Frenette. He is also grateful to The Northern Light, he states, as well as the following other sponsors for making the award possible.

Voyageur Travel, Eddy Hardware, Sumner tire, Dixie Lee, Best TV, Lounsbury Store, Smith Sales, Lockhart Cycle, Carpet Discount, Frank Hay, Lounsbury Truck, Frenette Bros., Lounsbury Auto, Breau Jewellers and W. J. Kent.

Mr Frenette's prize comprises return air transportation by luxury jet, complimentary in-flight meals and bar, transportation between airport and the resort hotel including baggage handling.

Then there are 7 nights accommodation for 2 in air-conditioned room with private bath at the Bahama Princess Hotel, full breakfast and dinner daily, Sunflight wallet and beaching, free golf and tennis, Sunflight representative service, and a welcome cocktail party.

TOASTMASTERS ELECT EXECUTIVE FOR 1977

The Bathurst Toastmasters Club No. 2281 elected their new slate of officers at a dinner meeting held at Danny's Colonial House Monday. From the left are: Gilles Wilson, education vice-president; Brian Jamieson, secretary; Reynold Paulin, immediate past-president; Ian Oliver, area governor who presented the gavel to newly elected president William J. K. Cormier; Norman Dufresne, treasurer, and John Doucet, administration vice-president. Missing is Jean-Luc Fortin, Sgt. at Arms.

THE SITE CHOSEN?

Indications are that the selected site for the new Unemployment Insurance Commission is city-owned property on Hartman-Vere Hiver, more specifically the back of Pepper's Drug Store.

This report has not been confirmed, however, but the decision is expected to be ratified at next Monday's regular meeting of City Council.

It is known that that federal and municipal officials met recently. At that time, it is understood, a location in the centre core of the city was approved in principle from among several alternatives.

There is a vast amount of preliminary work to be done in preparation for the large, new structure, and the feds are anxious to get on with it. The offices must be ready for occupancy by June, 1978.

A BATHURSTER?

For good public relations, investment purposes — whatever, a corporation has taken sufficient interest in the visual arts to assemble and expand a collection which helps to support Canadian artists.

As a result, the CIL Art Collection comes to Bathurst's Nepisiguit Centennial Library for a 10-day period from Jan. 18 to 28.

Holding public exhibitions and lending these fine works to numerous galleries across the country and abroad affords the ordinary man and woman in the street to view Canadian art at first hand.

Both Canadian Industries Ltd., who make it possible, and Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd., who are sponsoring the showing here, are to be commended for promoting national talent. Also for bringing it within the reach of many people who might otherwise not have the opportunity to view, enjoy and be inspired by it.

DRAMA CLASSES

Registration for a drama club for Bathurst area school children ages 10 and over will take place at the Holy Family Church Hall, St. Peter Ave., Sat., Jan. 15 from 2 to 3 p.m.

All those interested in such facets of drama classes as elocution, poetry reading, breathing exercises for the stage, plus both comedy and dramatic presentations, are asked to register.

There are no fees and the number of children will be limited.

OUT OF BOUNDS

It appears now that Terry Lenihan, Bathurst's youngest city councillor, who has made his presence known, will not be re-offering when municipal election time rolls around next May 9. He could still change his mind, however, but, if he doesn't run and - or is not returned, he will be missed.

In the meantime, the local lawyer is rounding out his term by continuing to revamp the city's by-laws, a task he assumed some time ago.

Coun. Lenihan, incidentally, is in a unique situation. He no longer resides in Michaud Ward, which he represents. (See Rambling Page 2, Col. 5)

City Teacher On Committee

GARY BRANCH

Gary Branch, junior high English teacher at South Bathurst School, recently became a member of the provincial Junior High English Curriculum Committee. Other members of the committee include Gerry Hawkes, Chairman, Oromocto; Mrs. Phyllis Jardine, Chipman; Mrs. Cathy Maggs, Fredericton; Mrs. Patricia Spencer, Saint John; Mrs. Mary Lou McKeown, Fredericton; Bryan Roberts, Department of Education; and Barry Miller, Department of Education.

The committee studies the present English curriculum in the junior high schools in New Brunswick and the reaction of teachers and students to the programs. Recommendations for improvements to the curriculum are constantly being made to the Department of Education.

The committee met in Fredericton twice this fall. A number of recommendations were made to improve the junior high English programs presently being used.

At the grade eight level a number of new materials are being added to enrich the present program. These include a choice among Starting Points in Language D (Ginn and Company), Nelson Language Stimulus Program: Peoplemovers and Nelson Language Stimulus Program: Timescope. In addition, a Scholastic Literature Unit; Family is being modified to increase Canadian content and will be available at the grade eight level.

A memorandum describing the new materials available for grade eight for the 1977 school year had been sent to all school principals, and the books will be made available for teachers' examination by the district office.

Grade eight teachers are also to be notified that Touchstones II is now out of print and "All Kinds of Everything" by Lewis Dudek is being recommended as an interim replacement.

In response to criticisms on grammar and usage made queries, a handbook on writing and editing is being prepared for junior high teachers. A cross-reference is also being prepared for books already being used. Furthermore, the committee is trying to have Patterns of Communicating (Clothes and Environment) and Learning Language (Power and McConnell) added to the list of reference text books for grade nine teachers. Teachers will then be asked to examine each text and to provide feedback on which text they would like to see added to the grade nine program to replace Learning English (Power and McConnell).

A final recommendation to be considered is the preparation of a list of reference materials for teachers. A bibliography for teachers' information is being prepared by Bryan Roberts for circulation to teachers of junior high English.

One '76 Record Weatherwise

The year 1976 was not an outstanding one as far as breaking records go, although the year itself was considerably colder, both in November and December, according to local weatherman, Harold Cameron.

Only one all-time record was established during the year for the area, states Mr. Cameron. This was on Groundhog Day, Feb. 2, when high southwest winds prevailed, taking the roofs off several buildings in surrounding communities, disrupting power lines which caused many sections of the city and district as well as in the whole province, to be without electricity until the next day, and later in some areas. There was one inch of rainfall locally and the temperature rose to an all-time high of 52 degrees F.

The traditional St. Patrick's Day storm blew in right on schedule in 1976, although no record was established. There were very high northwest winds along with 12 inches of snowfall which resulted in high snowdrifts which blocked highways and traffic, closed down schools, businesses and services.

The summer, in general, was somewhat colder although June was mainly a warm and dry month. The continued drought into July netted over 2½ inches of rain spread over the 12th to 16th of the month. From then on, the change in weather was the greatest through August, a month of light rainfall about every other day.

However, a month of cold and rain brought a series of first although high, and very near double the usual mean, it is not a record compared with 1975 when 6.2 inches of rain and other records were established.

Total snowfall for the 1976 calendar year of 102.3 inches recorded, as compared with 103.9 in 1975, and 100.3 in 1974 for the all-time high record.

As the year neared its end, there was a mild, windy and rainy night on Dec. 26. This resulted in a number of storm front windows blown in and multiple roof damage.

The most possibly embarrassing aspect of this storm, although an unusual occurred. The 1.25 inches of rainfall which could have amounted to 12 inches of snow, gave many a citizen a welcome relief from back-breaking shovelling chores.

Society Names New Executive

The annual meeting of the Bathurst Agricultural Society held Tuesday night in the market building on the Exhibition Grounds heard reports of another successful year.

The oldest such organization in New Brunswick, having been formed about 120 years ago, the society now has shares and loan capital amounting to over $2,000 which is invested in Maritime Co-Op Services, Moncton.

During the past year, the meeting was told, the group purchased a new pump for the grass sprinkler, and a new kitchen stove, both for use by exhibition members. Donations were also made to the Bathurst Sub-Federation of Agriculture and to various youth groups.

The society sponsored a Farmer's Market and cottage sale, and made the grounds and buildings available to exhibition's associations for auctions and to the Bathurst Shopping Club for schools and shows, all at no charge.

Over $1,000 was paid out for local and fall fair exhibits over the year, which along with cash donations amounts to over $10 per fair on hand.

Named presidents of the society during which was presided over by past president Byron Kinney, was William Gillespie of South Tetagouche. Other members of the executive are Arthur Rendell, Beresford Sutherland, vice-presidents; R. Whalen, secretary, the inscription on the certificate reads: "in recognition of excellence in quality milk production."

Mr. Jennings, who has been a milk producer for the past 11 years, was the first North Shore dairyman to receive such an award. His wife accompanied him to the capital for the presentation.

One of approximately 500 people in the province who are eligible for recognition, Mr. Jennings placed third behind Otis Cronlock, of Sussex, and Cecil Ashworth, Woodstock, in the "Best Quality Milk" class.

The winners in this category are determined by averaging the standard plate counts done on their milk over the past year and choosing the lowest average.

Other requirements are as follows: the somatic cell count cannot exceed 1,000,000 per ml.; all milk must be free from inhibitors or water; and the milk must not have been rejected for any reason during the year.

Nation-Wide Drive Is Planned To Sell Mill

The provincial government plans to launch a nation-wide advertising campaign to sell the Girten knitting mill in Caraquet.

Government officials are still negotiating with potential buyers, but the nation-wide advertising campaign is designed to produce a wider selection of potential buyers for the mill.

J. P. Blanchard said it is his understanding the former Japanese owners of the mill - two major shareholders being the Atsio Company Ltd. and the Mitsubishi Rayon Co. - were continuing to pay the creditors for bills incurred up until the Japanese decided to withdraw from the plant in early December.

The plant has been shut down since the end of December with only security people employed at the site.

Although the government prefers to sell the plant, a lease arrangement is being considered.

The provincial government has about $5-million invested in the mill.

About 100 workers were left jobless when the mill closed.

Report Stated To Be Incorrect

In a news feature in the January 5th Northern Light, describing an apartment complex fire at Msgr. Godin Court, reference was made to a loss attributed to one of the tenants which was later recovered from the rubble.

Apparently the information, received from a usually reliable source was incorrect.

According to the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weldridge, the actual value of the objects concerned was exaggerated.

Of the currency, totalling $350, most of the bills were badly burned and word is awaited from the bank as to their negotiable value. No jewelry was salvaged.

Trapping Laws Are Explained

Lorne Symiest, guest speaker at the December meeting of the Bathurst Trappers' Council, gave an interesting review of present laws and regulations pertaining to trapping under the N.B. Game Act. The session was held at the Department of Natural Resources, Vanier Blvd.

Results of the fur sales at the Ontario Trappers' Assn. auction in North Bay, Ont., indicate fur prices to be generally higher than previous years, it was pointed out during the meeting.

A trappers' convention will be held January 29 at the Fire Hall in Nelson-Miramichi, it was announced.

The next regular meeting of the local council will be held at the Dept. of Natural Resources, Vanier Blvd., on January 18. All trappers are urged to attend.

BECOMES 1600TH EMPLOYEE OF BRUNSWICK MINING

The Company's employment officer, Allister Hall, welcomes Raymond Ellmette of Val Doucet, who became Brunswick Mining's 1600th employee on Thursday, January 6, 1977.

Mr. Frenette who is married and has one child will receive six weeks training as a Scaler-Bushelter in the Company's Stope School where all new employees receive safety and job instruction. His first two days were spent in induction, where Safety, Security and Personal procedures are explained, as well as a familiarization tour of the underground mine.

Mr. Frenette says that although he has never worked underground before, he has many friends who encouraged him to get into mining which offers year round employment with good working conditions.

LOCAL MILK PRODUCER WINS PROVINCIAL AWARD

OVER 1000 VIEW SUNDAY SNOWMOBILE RACES

The Bathurst Outdoor Recreational Snowmobile Club held its first annual Schooner quarter-mile drags Sunday, January 9 on Bathurst Basin. Despite the cold weather and high wind there was a great turnout of racers and fans. A total of 40 machines entered the 7 different classes. Approximately 1,000 spectators were on hand. The club would like to express its thanks to the Bathurst City Police, and also to Richie Construction Ltd. for track preparations. From the left are Jack Furlotte, representative for Labatt's Brewery Ltd. presenting the Schooner Trophies to Eugene Benoit (400 F.A.); Donald Gionet (400 MOD.); and Paul Vanasse (400 F.A.). Robert Basque (340 F.A.); and Eugene Poirier (340 F.A.), received trophies donated by Loumbury Co. Ltd. Tribute Paid Philias LeJeune

Rev. Gerwais LeBlanc officiated at the funeral mass for Philias LeJeune held at St. Vincent de Paul Church Jan. 4 at 7 p.m.

The pallbearers were Henry Doucet, Clem Roy, Hector Fournier, Lawrence Gray, Elie Roy and Germain Godin, all members of the Henry Price Branch No. 98 Royal Canadian Legion Green Point.

Legion president Henry Doucet officiated at a Legion service on Jan. 3 at 7:30 p.m. held at Verret's Funeral Home in Nigadoo where Mr. LeJeune had rested. Members of the Green Point Fire Department also attended a service at the funeral home at 8:00 p.m. the same evening, under the direction of Fire Chief Ludger Lagace. Prayers were led by Ziad Lagace.

Burial was in the parish receiving vault at Green Point to await burial in Campbellton in the spring.

Those attending from a distance included Mrs. Donald LeJeune, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Claude Chiasson and the latter's sister Claudette, all of Causapscal, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Chouinard, Campbellton; Paul LeJeune, Larue Settlement; Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henry and Mrs. Clara Henry, Dalhousie.

Last Rites In Petit Rocher

Rev. Claude Pinet officiated at the funeral for Telesphore Bertin held at St. Polycarpe Church in Petit Rocher Jan. 3 at 4 p.m.

The pallbearers were a son, Arthur Godin, two brothers-in-law, Lemuel Blache and Arthur Blache, sons-in-law Laurent Godin and Clifford Blanchet, and a nephew, Stephen Pitre.

Burial was in the parish receiving vault in Petit Rocher to await spring burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Those attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Boucher, Moncton and Mrs. Emery Aube, Barrie, Ont.

Father Dies On West Coast

The death of Arthur Beaulieu of 766 Stewart Ave., Courtenay, Vancouver Island, B.C., a one-time resident of Bathurst, occurred Dec. 16 at hospital in Comox, B.C., after an illness of several months.

Born at Metis, Que. in 1885, Mr. Beaulieu was a well known Bathurst businessman and had operated a general store in East Bathurst for many years, until he left to take up residence in British Columbia 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaulieu observed their 68th wedding anniversary Feb. 2, 1976.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Laura Cormier of New Richmond, Que., are four sons, Leo of Ottawa, George of Bathurst, Raoul (Ralph) of Courtenay and Paul, Vancouver; five daughters, Miss Rita Beaulieu of San Francisco, Mrs. Jack Bell (Leona) of Vancouver, Mrs. Bill Hampton (Patricia) of San Jose, Calif., Mrs. Ernie Boulet (Marie-Van) of Kelsah, B.C. and Mrs. Ken Pagnan (Jeannine) of Tahsis, B.C.

One brother, Zephyr of Montreal, one sister, Eva Beaulieu of Price, Que., 23 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Beaulieu rested at Piercy Funeral Home, Courtenay.

The funeral was held at the Roman Catholic Church in Courtenay on Dec. 17 at 3:30 p.m. followed by burial in the parish cemetery.

When he was elected, he was occupying an apartment on King Ave. Since then he has purchased a home, a mere block away, which relocates him in Ryan Ward. Should he run there, he feels he will be infringing on someone else's territory.

Coun. Lenihan says he has very much enjoyed his term on council and can count some accomplishments. And, whether or not he is back, he plans to promote one certain project near and dear to his heart. That is a recreation centre for the youth of the community, which he considers is sorely needed.

TIPS AND TAKES

There are strong and persistent, but unconfirmed, rumors that Bill Davidson, well-known Bathurst businessman and a former city councillor, will be a candidate for mayor in the upcoming May 9 municipal election. . . Lavinia (Vickie) Vickers, recently with Day and Ross, both Hartland and Bathurst, in a secretarial capacity, left Monday for Charlottetown, PEI, where she has enroled at the Atlantic Police Academy, which is affiliated with Holland College. . . Woods Workers To Meet AIB

Union and company officials will meet with representatives of the Anti-Inflation Board in Ottawa to seek adjustments to AIB decisions affecting all woods workers in New Brunswick, a union spokesman said Tuesday.

Lauriat Drapeau, spokesman for Local 3912 of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, to which all woods workers in the province belong, said that confirmation is expected today from Consolidated - Bathurst Ltd. Miramichi Timber Resources Ltd. and Fraser Company Ltd. on the acceptability of Thursday as the date of the meeting.

The AIB announced last month that wage increases granted 125 employees of Consolidated-Bathurst in a two-year agreement must be rolled back from 11.5 percent in the first year and 8.1 percent in the second to 8.5 per cent and 6 percent.

Mr. Drapeau said that the union received formal notification of the Consolidated - Bathurst Ltd. rollback on Monday.

Amedee DeGrace Funeral Thurs.

The death of J. Amedee DeGrace, of 525 Chaleur St., occurred early Tuesday, Jan. 11 at Chaleur General Hospital, following an illness of about six months. He was 71.

Born at Nigadoo, he was a son of the late Alfred DeGrace and Angele (Comeau) DeGrace.

Mr. DeGrace had resided in Bathurst for nearly 30 years. He was a carpenter by trade and later was employed as stock clerk for LaPerrelle Lumber Company in Bathurst for 20 years until his retirement.

Surviving are his wife, Emelia (Boudreau) DeGrace, formerly of Petit Rocher; five sons, Vernon and Romeo, both of Bathurst, Adrien "Andy" of Fredericton, and Raymond and Alvin, also of Bathurst.

Two brothers, Omer DeGrace of Nigadoo and Liguori DeGrace of Beresford; one sister, Emelia DeGrace of Bathurst and five grandchildren also survive.

Mr. DeGrace is resting at Verret's Funeral Home, Sunset Drive. The Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday at Holy Family Church. Entombment will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery, St. Peter Avenue, in the spring.

GLOUCESTER MP MEETS ISRAELI STATESMEN

MP Herb Breau is greeted by Yigal Allon (right), Israel's Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister during his recent visit to Israel with seven other Canadian MP's. In the centre is Howard Stamulakatis, assistant national director of the Canada-Israel Committee. Mr. Breau and the parliamentary delegation were official guests of the Israeli government, arriving in Jerusalem on Tuesday, Dec. 28. In addition to meeting with various government officials, the group toured the country, visiting holy places in Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Galilee. They also swam in the Dead Sea, the lowest point on earth, and travelled to the northern border with Lebanon where they visited the "Good Fence", a point on Israel's closed border where Lebanese cross into Israel to receive free medical treatment and food supplies during that country's current unrest. Mr. Breau also visited immigrant absorption centres and the Weizmann Institute of Science. He was accompanied by Mrs. Breau. The delegation left Israel on Wednesday, January 5.

Past Year Viewed As Difficult For Labor

Allister MacLeod, Regional Director of Organization for the Canadian Labour Congress stated that 1976 was a difficult year for working men and women in the Atlantic Region.

Unemployment in the Atlantic Region is reaching the depression stage - the seasonally adjusted unemployment rates in the four Atlantic Provinces for November are: Prince Edward Island - 10.1 per cent; Newfoundland - 14.8 per cent; Nova Scotia - 11.2 per cent; New Brunswick - 12.9 per cent; while the Canadian average is 7.3 per cent with no immediate relief in the Region to correct this grave situation.

The retail prices of food, shelter and transportation are higher than the National Average throughout the Atlantic Region. Atlantic Canada has consistently gained less during periods of growth and has suffered more during periods of recession in the post war period than Central Canada and other regions in the Country.

The Anti-Inflation Board and the associated Restraints Program is one of the reasons for the high unemployment in the Region. This is a modern example of big government in Canada seeking to exercise its power and in doing so, government finds itself in a natural alliance with big business.

I would like to point out that it is not necessarily in the interest of all businesses but only those segments of industry whose operations are so intricate and cross so many national borders that controls are easily evaded.

Many small businesses and particularly those in marginal regions of Canada find that the Anti-Inflation Program further reduces their ability to compete with the larger, stronger and better politically connected multi-nationals who loudly applaud the federal government's willingness to put labour in its place.

The Inflation Restraints Program is not an appropriate policy for the Atlantic Region and the reason being that the problem of the Atlantic Provinces is not one of 'too much purchasing power in the hands of the people' - it is not enough jobs! As a result, the people of Atlantic Canada do not have purchasing power in comparison with the more prosperous Canadians in Central Canada.

Our problem is that the system permits people to remain idle so that goods that they could and should be producing are not made. Housing is only one example.

It should be fairly obvious to everyone that the high cost of housing in the Atlantic Region is due to the relative scarcity of adequate housing which in turn causes rents to become higher. This is happening while the men who could be cutting trees, who could be working in the sawmills who could be manufacturing the building supplies that go into the construction of homes, who could be running the machinery to lay water and sewer lines or who could be employed in construction of sewage treatment plants -- are idle.

They are denied the dignity of work in producing the goods that would reduce the scarcity of housing and thereby reduce the pressure on housing prices, and yet, the philosophy of the Restraints Program is to reduce the availability of the financing which could put our idle workers into jobs creating new housing.

Our big government's policies are actually driving up one of the main components of the cost-of-living, namely the cost of housing.

The Atlantic Provinces Economic Council reported that the proposed changes in eligibility requirements for collecting unemployment insurance could cause total income in the Atlantic Provinces to drop by $40 million.

This decline would represent one per cent of the total personal income in the Region. The proposed changes would make it very difficult, if not impossible, for many workers in the Atlantic Provinces to meet the eligibility requirements.

Mr. MacLeod called upon the members of Parliament that represent the people in the Atlantic Provinces to recognize the fact that a national policy to counteract inflation has no relevance to the problems of Atlantic Canada. A true National Policy would recognize that the problems of Atlantic Canada are those that keep people idle while society needs the goods that they could be producing.

The forecast for the first six months of 1977 does not indicate any noticeable improvement in the high rate of unemployment.

Mr. MacLeod promised that in 1977 the Trade Union Movement will continue to demand a more equal distribution of income and social justice for all citizens.

Real Estate Board Elects

During its annual meeting, held recently at Danny's Colonial House, a new slate of officers for 1977 was elected by the Northern New Brunswick Real Estate Board.

Heading the group as president is Gene LeBlanc, of Bathurst. He replaces Ray Christie, also of Bathurst, who steps down to become immediate past president.

Other officers were elected as follows:

Howard Ross, Bathurst, secretary-treasurer; directors: Theresa McLauchlan and Rick Goyette, both of Bathurst; David Creaghan, Newcastle; and John Woodworth, Campbellton.

In his acceptance speech as chief executive, Mr. LeBlanc said it is the intention of the group to make the public more aware of the service available to those planning to sell their properties.

Mr. LeBlanc also stressed the importance of CREA's code of ethics and announced the theme for 1977 is "It's not what we do to you, but what we do for you".

The meeting decided to schedule monthly sessions throughout the coming year.

Handling A New Puppy

My Marguerite Morrison

The arrival of a puppy in a home is likely to be a highly emotional experience for everyone - especially the puppy.

Put yourself in his place. If you were suddenly taken away from your brother, sister and mother, how would you feel? You'd be scared, and so is the pup.

He will only be three or four months old, and very sensitive to new orders and sounds, so make him feel safe and secure.

One wrong move is to handle him too much, or scold him loudly when he wets on the rug. This can ruin him from growing up to be a well-adjusted dog.

Let him sleep when he wants to. Make a bed from a large box and cut the front down low so that he can get out to eat and make his toilet.

Handling a new puppy too much upsets his nervous system and digestion. Give him simple food, such as milk, oatmeal, Pablum and a small amount of cooked meat.

No Inquest Into Fatality

There will be no inquest into the December 21 death by fire of Joseph Lawrence Frigault, 15, of Bathurst.

Gloucester County Sheriff and Coroner Roland Levesque of Bathurst said Monday further information on the cause of the fire at the family camp, 35 miles southwest of the city, has made an inquest unnecessary.

The youth, his 17-year-old brother, Wayne Frigault, as well as a friend, Brian Fisher, had gone to the camp the day before to spend a few days in the Nine Mile Brook area of the Nepisiguit River watershed. The other boys escaped from the burning structure and were not seriously injured.

The fire originated from an explosion in the camp stove shortly after midnight. An autopsy was performed at Chaleur General Hospital following the incident.

Leigh Neille needed a nursery.

Niagara said: Pink or blue?

Last month, Leigh Neille received an eight pound, three ounce baby boy, dozens of best wishes and a husband with a non-stop smile. What she needed was a nursery. Niagara thought so too. That's because Niagara knows a lot about people's needs. We also know a lot about money. That's our business at Niagara. Mortgage money, money for a new car, money for home improvements, for your child's education, or, if you're like Leigh Neille, money to welcome the newest member of your family. If what stands between you and what you really need is a thing called money, come in and sit down with the people you've come to know at Niagara. We know that one way to fulfill a need is to put money into action.

Worth Trying

Paying $4.00 a pound for coffee and 25 cents each for chocolate bars prompts the thought that Canadian consumers should also consider boycotting such items. Especially since such action on the New York and London, England, markets a few days ago in connection with the former commodity had such successful results.

Has society become so affluent that we continue to pay outrageous prices for products not essential to our needs? Admittedly, many of us would suffer with withdrawal pains if we boycotted the coffee shelves in our grocery outlets. Switching to tea or milk, however, would probably be better for our health and would certainly be easier on our pocketbook.

No one should be so addicted to candy that he could not wage a full-scale boycott against chocolate bars. Indeed, grocery stores and other distributors would do well to take chocolate bars off the market until prices reach reasonable levels.

Protests from merchants that the high cost of coffee and cocoa beans can be blamed on an international shortage may be a plausible explanation for soaring prices. An even this claim has since been discounted.

It does not explain, however, why consumers are gullible enough to pay the prices. Nor is there any indication that the workers who produce the coffee and cocoa beans are benefitting from the high prices.

One of the causes of inflation is the acceptance by the public of high prices for non-essential products. Consumers can help beat inflation by boycotting goods that are overpriced. Coffee and chocolate bars have reached such a level.

Here To Stay?

Atlantic Loto has been such an overwhelming success that the people who run it have decided to increase the prize structure of the draw.

Residents of the region have shown their willingness to take a chance with a dollar ticket, and, once the lottery has been expanded, the complaints of retailers regarding a scarcity of tickets should also be answered.

And the fact there already have been two winners of substantial amounts in Bathurst has enhanced the project's appeal in this area.

Granted lotteries may not be the best thing in the world in a region economically disadvantaged. There is always the problem of desperate people becoming addicted to such games of chance and squandering funds needed for basic living costs.

But, since lotteries are here, including the federal Loto Canada which seeks to take money from all regions to repay Quebec's Olympic debacle, then we may as well have our own plan and it may as well be patronized.

This is certainly the case, and purchasers of Atlantic Loto tickets can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that their money is being put to work here at home, and not in another part of Canada.

LOCAL ESSAY WINNERS CONGRATULATED

Seven students from South Bathurst School were recent winners in provincial and local essay contests. They were awarded their prizes at an assembly at the school Friday, January 7.

Stephen Melanson, a grade eight student, was awarded a book by the Kindness Club for his essay "Our Vanishing Wildlife - How Can We Save It."

A grade nine student, Kim Wilbur, was awarded a cheque for $10.00 for her essay "Christmas 1999" by the Moncton Daily Times in their annual Christmas Essay Contest.

Five grade nine students were presented cheques by the Royal Canadian Legion Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18, for their submissions to the Remembrance Day Essay Contest. Seated: Kim Wilbur (right), received a cheque for $10.00; Edith Dunn received $5.00; standing from the left: Blair Garrett, Andy Burpee, and Jake Bell all received $5.00 cheques. Stephen Melanson.

EDITOR'S MAIL

From Company's Point Of View

Trail, B.C.
January 4, 1977

A clipping from the November 10, 1976 issue of the Northern Light has come to my attention, and I feel it requires a response.

The clipping deals with a special meeting of the Nepisiguit Salmon Association at which the guest speaker, Gary Turner, of the Federal Department of Fisheries, comments on the Wedge Mine near Newcastle.

To quote the clipping, Mr. Turner said: "The abandoned Wedge Mine Pond is creating a hazardous situation to all fish in the Nepisiguit River; it should be neutralized and filled in, not pumped yearly into the river."

This statement leaves the reader with the false impression that Cominco has done no reclamation work at the Wedge, and that untreated waste water is being allowed into the river system.

This is not the case. The problem occurred after the mine ceased operation, and Cominco immediately began to seek a solution. To date, Cominco has spent nearly one million dollars on reclamation at the Wedge, in full co-operation with provincial and federal environmental authorities.

This year, for example, just over 30 million gallons of water was released from the mine site with no damage to fish resources in the river system. The contaminated water was treated with lime to raise its pH and traces of heavy metals were removed. Only clean water was decanted and allowed into the river.

Treating the contaminated water lowered the iron levels from 2,000 parts per million (ppm) to less than five ppm. Zinc levels dropped from 700 ppm to less than one ppm, while copper levels went from 50 ppm down to less than 0.3 ppm. All of these figures are within government regulations.

Since 1971, no uncontrolled release of water from the mine has taken place. We did release five million gallons of untreated water in 1975, but this was essentially a test carried out during high water with the approval of the New Brunswick Department of the Environment.

We also monitor the Nepisiguit upriver and downriver from the Wedge to ensure that underground seepage isn't depositing contaminants in the river. All monitoring results are reported to the Department of the Environment.

Earlier this year we lowered the depth of the pond of contaminated water at the mine site by 50 feet to ensure that no overflow occurs.

Currently, we are studying a plan to fill the underground workings of the mine with the waste rock and covering it with layers of inert fill and clay. Revegetation would follow.

This has been just a brief overview of some of the more recent projects undertaken at the Wedge. I hope this will provide your readers with some insight into our efforts to ensure the Wedge does not damage marine life in the Nepisiguit.

All About Us and Heritage Canada invite the people of your community, and especially the students, to join the "Great Canadian Heritage Hunt."

February 21, 1977 is Heritage Day across Canada, a day to appreciate the surviving accomplishments of earlier community builders, and to talk with the people who were young when our country was young.

Each community has its own heritage visible in the buildings, craftmanship, customs and values of older times. These treasurers can be discovered, particularly if our young people will lend their considerable energies to the search. We invite school-age Canadians to record their findings in original drawings, paintings, stories, poetry and interviews, and send them to All About Us. They will be published and exhibited across Canada.

All About Us and Heritage Canada are both non-government, non-profit organizations working together to encourage the appreciation of Canada's heritage, and the conservation of the best of our built and natural environment.

Please send materials about your community's heritage or write for an information kit to All About Us, Box 1985, Ottawa, Canada, K1P 5R5. We want to discover how our young people view their country, for it is they who will carry the good things of the past and present into the future.

Heritage Day is a time when people of all ages can share in appreciating their own heritage. Join the celebration!

Greetings From Faithful Friend

Shippegan, N.B.
January 10, 1977

I feel it my utmost duty and obligation at the very beginning of this new calendar year to convey to all the readers and friends of the Northern Light my best wishes for a Very Happy New Year.

On the other hand I must also recall to all the readers that the year 1977 marks for me 52 years as a reader and contributor to this valuable weekly in the Maritime Provinces and abroad.

To the editor and his staff and to all its readers near and far my best wishes for a Very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

In fact it was in the first week of the month of January 1925 that I first wrote a letter to The Northern Light. At that time in its history the publication was called "The Gloucester Northern Light" and consisted of only three to four pages.

Scores Invasion Of Privacy

Bathurst, N.B.
January 10, 1977

Wonder how many households in Bathurst were rudely disturbed on Christmas Day by door-to-door peddlers of religion?

This was the case at our house and as far as we could tell this team was visiting every home on the street.

It is enough that we have our private lives disturbed regularly during the year by the many and varied hucksters of religion, but if we cannot reserve Christmas Day for the family, without invasion by these self-appointed purveyors of their own dogma!

Nobody objects to any sect who wishes to establish a church or meeting place. For promoting their particular brand of religion, they can set up their "soup bone" on almost any location, as long as traffic is not obstructed in the manner so widely practised in London's Hyde Park. But invading the home is an entirely different matter!

There may be laws or statutes existing in Bathurst that prohibit such door-to-door activities of these groups. If not, our city fathers had better introduce such laws as early as possible, and see to it that the laws are enforced.

To most people, religion is a very private matter. Under no circumstances should a group of people be permitted to peddle their wares to others who do not expect them and are too polite to throw them out!

Sure these people equate themselves with the Apostle Paul, but Paul did not ring doorbells, he went into the villages and towns and preached in the streets or in the village square. In those days there were no newspapers, radios or televisions to announce the time or place to gather.

Very Annoyed

Suggested Prayer In Uncertain Times

Petit Rocher,
December 30, 1976

Following is the text of a prayer which is more than timely in these days of uncertainty in which we live. It will help us, young and old, overcome our anxiety and give a new orientation to our lives. It is a ray of hope because by reciting it sincerely we attach ourselves to a sure guide, the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of the Church:

"Holy Virgin Mary, Mother of Jesus and Mother of the Church, in the presence of the Holy Trinity and all the heavenly Court, I choose you today as my Mother and my Queen. I surrender and consecrate to you my whole being with its capacities, my whole life and all my possessions both interior and exterior, so that you may dispose of them for the greatest glory of God. Henceforth, I will act in all things for you, by your, with you and in you in order that Jesus may find in me the traits of His divine Mother and thus be further glorified.

O Mary, you who are as powerful as an army ranged in battle, I enlist with confidence as a knight under your banner in order to serve you and make you reign around me through my generosity, my words and the example of my life, this to the best of my possibilities.

I am aware that this consecration engages me in your path which is that of Love given without restraint. I accept in advance all that this entails in renouncements. Hence, I implore you to obtain for me an invincible strength which will not withdraw before any difficulty or trial inherent to my apostolate. May nothing lessen my ardour in your service. Be the Sovereign of my life and my conduct. Govern everything in me so that all be given to the Lord. Amen."

Mr. Gerry Daley, Saint John, spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Daley.

FORMER RESIDENT MOURNED

The death of Roger (Brownie) White, 48, which occurred January 7 at his home, 80 Grandravine Dr., Downsview, Ont., has occasioned widespread sorrow and regret.

A native of Bathurst, Mr. White was associated with the HBA Water organization, first in Halifax, and then for many years in Toronto, where he was manager of the company's contract sales division. Recently he had joined MacDonald May-flower Co., also of Toronto.

Son of the late Col. E. J. White, widely known in many provincial circles in addition to the military, and a maritime Bathurst postmaster, Mr. White is survived by his wife, the former Jean Doyle, originally of Dalhousie, N.B., and one son, Jonathan, 17, at home; his mother (nee Irene LeBlanc of Moncton), of Bathurst and St. Petersburg, Florida; two sisters, Sister Irene Therese (Evelyn) of the Mt. St. Vincent Mother House, Halifax, and Mrs. Guy Parker, RN (Alice), Bathurst.

He also leaves five brothers: Dr. Paul White, Reno, Nevada; Dr. Emery White, Upland, California; Omer White, Bathurst; Dr. Ernest White, Guelph, Ont. and Oscar White, Richmond, B.C.

Other surviving relatives include Mr. White's aunts, Miss Alice LeBlanc and Mrs. George LeBlanc (Evangeline), of Bathurst, Moncton and St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. White was a talented and accomplished musician and played the piano as well as various wind instruments. In earlier life he was a member of several North Shore dance orchestras and for a time directed Sacred Heart College and Bathurst Citizens' Bands.

The funeral was held January 8 from Ward's Funeral Home to St. Wilfred's Church, Toronto, followed by burial in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Among those attending the service were the deceased's brothers, Drs. Paul, Emery and Ernest White, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Colin Kittrick (Kay Doyle), of Cleveland, Ohio. His mother and his sister, Mrs. Guy Parker, visited him shortly before his death.

"You are granted three wishes!"

1. A richer retirement
2. An immediate tax deduction of up to $5,500.
3. A guaranteed rate of interest

Registered Retirement Savings Plans (RRSPs) are designed to encourage you to save for your retirement. That's why the Government has proposed to increase your maximum allowable yearly deposit to $5,500 (or 20% of earned income) if you are self-employed and up to $3,500 (or 20% of earned income) if you are a member of a registered pension plan.

If you make your deposit by March 1, 1977, you gain an immediate tax deduction on 1976 income equal to the amount you deposit to the plan.

But that's not all. Unlike many other plans, our "Guaranteed Fund" RRSP means your money can be earning a high rate of interest, compounded half-yearly and guaranteed for a full 5 years. And there are no administration fees.

So if you're shopping around, or considering a change, contact us now. We'll be glad to give you the full story on our "Guaranteed Fund" RRSP. It can make all three of those wishes come true!

RELATIVES SHARE $5,000 PRIZE FROM ATLANTIC LOTO

The owner of a Bathurst insurance agency intends to share the $5,000 he won in the Atlantic Loto's second draw with his relatives.

George Auble, a 35-year-old father of four, said he's going "to give a few donations to my relatives."

Mr. Auble, who was given two booklets of tickets as a Christmas gift from business associates, said he discovered the winning ticket number during a family party the night of the draw, Dec. 29. His lucky ticket number was 28657 in series 25.

"My wife and I were the only ones in the house with tickets," he said. "I could hardly believe it was the winning number."

For Gilles Pratt, proprietor of Book Village in the K-Mart Plaza in Bathurst, it was the second $5,000-winning ticket he has sold in the lottery. In the first draw in mid-December, Lionel Bruneau of Vincent Street held the lucky fourth place ticket.

As the seller of a winning ticket of $1,000 and up, Mr. Pratt receives one per cent of the prize money, payable by the Atlantic Lottery Corporation.

Atlantic Loto's third draw will be aired on the Atlantic television network, the regional branch of the CTV network Wednesday Jan. 12.

For this third draw, the grand prize has been increased to $100,000 from $50,000. As well, there will be one $50,000 prize, two prizes of $25,000 each, one prize of $10,000, five of $5,000 each and numerous others ranging from five free tickets to $1,000.

Music Festival Grants Offered

Music festivals that are affiliated with the New Brunswick Federation of Music Festivals will be eligible to receive financial assistance under a new grants program announced by Jean-Pierre Ouellet, minister of youth, recreation and cultural resources.

The grants will have a maximum value of $700 and are available to organizers of 1977 festivals upon application to the department through its regional offices. The funds, according to Mr. Ouellet, will be allocated through the New Brunswick Federation of Music Festivals.

"It is expected that this new funding resource will assist regional festival organizations to maintain a high calibre of adjudication and encourage the development of workshops and other activities for young musicians", said Mr. Ouellet.

The minister paid tribute to the work of the provincial music festival federation and said the assistance program is designed to complement that effort to promote music in the province.

At present festivals are held annually in 12 different localities and are sponsored by a network of voluntary music festival organizations.

Mr. Ouellet noted that such festivals offer young musicians an event at which they can perform before competent adjudicators and compete for participation, at provincial and national levels, for recognition and awards of the National Federation of Music Festivals.

Province Upgrades Safety Regulations

Labor and Manpower Minister Rodman E. Logan has announced the introduction of the new Occupational Safety Act and regulations.

The new legislation provides for the safety of all employees in the province and is being administered by the department's safety standards branch.

While the new act and regulations are generally an upgrading of the former Industrial Safety Act and regulations, there are some significant changes and additions, particularly in the areas of employer-employee responsibility in complying with the regulations and the promotion of safety in the work place.

One of the more significant changes introduced in this new legislation is its application to the Crown, the largest employer in the province. The New Brunswick government will now have to maintain the same safety standards as those required in private industry.

Mr. Logan said that the government, as an employer, and its employees will now be subject in the same manner, to the same obligations imposed on private industry. He said new employer responsibilities have been introduced in the new regulations, among which are company safety policies, the creation of active safety committees, the reporting of all accidents requiring medical aid and the proper training of all employees.

Mr. Logan said another significant new provision was one allowing for an employee representative to accompany an inspector in his inspection of a place of employment.

There has been a general upgrading of sections dealing with diving operations, logging operations and first aid requirements. The old Logging Camps Act and regulations have now been incorporated in this new legislation. There is an expansion of personal protective equipment required by the employees and a new section covering roll-over protective structures (ROPS) on all mobile equipment as defined by the regulations.

The safety standards branch will continue to provide for the inspection of places of employment throughout the province and will assist employers in applying the requirements of this legislation. The branch will also be responsible for the licensing of powdermen - an added safety measure introduced in the part dealing with the handling of explosives.

Mr. Logan described the new act and regulations as one of the most advanced pieces of safety legislation in Canada.

The minister said that the cooperation and advice from employers, their industry organizations, the New Brunswick Federation of Labour and their member unions have contributed greatly toward the development of this new safety code.

Mr. Logan said he hoped that this spirit of cooperation would carry over in the administration of the new legislation and that together we can make New Brunswick a safer place to work.

Pre-Retirement Seminars Here

The New Brunswick Department of Labour and Manpower is presenting a pre-retirement seminar in Bathurst at the Canadian Legion Hall, St. Peter Avenue, on Thursday evenings, beginning January 20th to March 10th. These programs have enjoyed great success in other Centres throughout the province.

People who are thinking about retirement in the near future or in five to ten years, can benefit greatly from these programs. Following the sessions a newsletter updating information is sent to all participants, four times per year.

Along with discussion, films, and written materials, guest speakers provide information on Old Age Security, Canada Pension Plan, Unemployment Insurance, Legal Planning, Health, Housing, Financial Planning, Consumerism, Activities and Adjustments.

Registration for seminars is limited. Interested people should contact the Pre-Retirement Program of the Department of Labour and Manpower at P.O. Box 4000 in Fredericton. Brochures are also available from Regional Office in Bathurst.

In the future, just as in the past, it is character and worth that makes the big difference.

Award Program Is Announced

Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde has announced details of a program created to acknowledge the contribution made by Canadians in the promotion of positive health lifestyle in their communities.

The Lifestyle Award program is an element of Operation Lifestyle, a public education campaign developed by the department to encourage Canadians to assume greater responsibility for their own health.

In announcing the new program, Mr. Lalonde indicated that while the main purpose of the Lifestyle Award is to bring recognition to individuals who have worked for years, often unrecognized, to raise the level of health awareness in their community, it is hoped that it will also serve to reinforce voluntary action among Canadians.

Deserving persons may be nominated by individuals living in their community, by community organizations, national and provincial associations or municipal governments.

Nominees should have actively given of their time and energy on a volunteer basis to the improvement of health habits in the community or had significant involvement in the provision of health related facilities or services. These projects should have been undertaken for a considerable period of time and had a significant impact on members of the community.

Persons selected will receive a medallion featuring the symbol for the Operation Lifestyle campaign and a certificate of recognition.

Nomination forms are available by writing to the Secretary Lifestyle Award Committee, Ottawa, K1A 0K9.

WILL DEFEND PROVINCIAL TITLE

The Bathurst Ladies Curling Club rink skipped by Anne Orser won the Northeastern Zone competition in Bathurst Sunday, a four-team double round-robin series, finishing the three-day event with five straight wins. The foursome, including Pat Maher as mate, Elvira Kennah, second, and Ethel LePage as lead, will be defending their N.B. Ladies Curling Association "Lassie" championship Feb. 3-6 in the 16-team double knockout playoffs at Newcastle Curling Club, thus seeking a berth in the Dominion "Lassie" later in the month.

Ladies Curling Club News

By JOYCE CONLEY

The ladies Northeastern zone finals won by a Bathurst entry skipped by Anne Orser. Her team mates include Pat Maher, mate; Elvira Kennah, second, and Ethel LePage, lead. Constance Lean, skip, Helen McLean, Kathy McLean and Judy Fox.

Two other rinks, CFB James Fort, St. Margaret's, and CFB Curtis Park, Chatham, competed in the weekend event held in Bathurst.

The club extends their congratulations to the Boys' High School curling team who won their zone finals at St. Margaret's the same weekend. The rink advance to the provincial championships to be held in Moncton in February.

In local play, the skips' events began the curling new year for the afternoon and morning curlers. The evening section started off with the mates' series.

Members are urged to check out-of-town bonspiel invitations on the bulletin board in the ladies lounge.

You are reminded that the Saturday evening suppers at the curling rink have been resumed. Helen Gammon is convener for the supper on Saturday, Jan. 15.

Men's Curling Club News

In last week's club playoffs to determine which two teams would represent the club in Northeastern Zone playoffs, teams skipped by Mike Nadon and Larry MacDonald emerged victorious.

The Northeastern zone representative for the New Brunswick Curling Association's 16-team Ganong Cup double knockout championship to be held in Moncton, February 4 - 6, was decided on the weekend at the Bathurst Curling Club.

Walter Vautour's rink from Campbellton defeated Mike Nadon's foursome in the final game of the Bonspiel to win the zone. Both Mike Nadon's and Larry MacDonald's teams gave good accounts of themselves on the weekend and deserve a lot of credit for representing the club so well.

Regular club curling has again resumed following the Christmas and New Year's break. Starting this week the Sweepers Bonspiel featuring sectional play got under way with 21 teams competing.

Both the Mixed Match and Men's Match committees plan a full schedule of bonspiels in the new year. Everyone is urged to watch the bulletin board and sign up for as many events as possible so that good curling may be enjoyed through 1977. Until next week, good curling!

gratulations, ladies!

Runners-up were the Chatham foursome of Laura McLean, skip, Helen McLean, Kathy McLean and Judy Fox.

Peewee Hockey Tourney Coming

A peewee hockey tournament sponsored by Kentucky Fried Chicken, promises to be a popular feature of the Beresford Groundhog Carnival, scheduled for February 4, 5 and 6.

The following teams will participate.

Class "A": Shippegan, Caraquet, St. Isidore, Beresford.

Class "B": St. Isidore, Allardville, Caraquet, West Bathurst, Beresford, Robertville, Nigadoo, Shippegan.

Comprising the committee in charge are Paul Lanier, Robert Gaudet, Ulric Degrace, Irenee Frenette, Jean Godin, Bobby White and Michel Doucet.

The final game for Class "B" will be held Sunday morning, February 6. That for Class "A" is slated for the same afternoon.

Everyone is cordially invited to view the competitions. Additional information is available from Paul Lanier (548-4902) or Robert Gaudet (548-2085).

New Trail For Skiers

Cross-country skiers will soon have access to a new trail in the Middle River area of West Bathurst. The five-mile trail runs from the City watershed in a southerly direction towards the Holy Family Scout Chalet.

Members of the Bathurst Cross-Country Ski Club will get a full report on the new trail, and a map showing where it is, at a meeting in the Bathurst High School amphitheater on Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

A special feature of the meeting will be a film showing the facilities at the Squaw Mountain ski resort in Southern Maine. The club expects to sponsor a charter flight package to the resort during the March school break at a cost of $135 per person.

The N.B. Department of Natural Resources is to be congratulated by the club for the effort it is putting into the Middle River ski trail. Crews hired by the Department have been clearing the trail for the past month and they expect to finish by the end of the week. The final half-mile of trail will bring it into the Cherry Brook area.

Plans call for the trail to be maintained and groomed through the winter months, and signs and markers will be placed for the direction of skiers.

Tickets For Skating Event

All areas of administration are progressing well for the first Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships to be held at the Aitken Centre on January 13, 14 and 15, 1977.

Since only the provincial figure skating champions from the Atlantic provinces will participate, it is hoped the public will regard this as a prelude to the established Canadian Championships as they are treated to the technical skill, artistic talent and charm of high calibre skaters. The winners will advance to the national championships at Calgary.

Tickets are now available and information can be obtained from the executive of your local figure skating club or by writing to P. O. Box 1173, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5C8. In Fredericton tickets can be purchased by Mazzucas on York Street, the Smoke Shoppes and the Aitken Centre.

Admission of $2.00 on Friday will allow you to see the Opening Ceremonies at 7 p.m. followed by free skating, dance and pairs.

On Saturday free skating and dance starting at 1 p.m. and presentations at 4:30 will cost $2.00 while at 8 p.m. a $3.00 ticket will enable you to see the Parade of Champions and an exhibition which will include the guest skaters, Lorna Wighton and John Dowding of the Granite Club in Toronto, who were the bronze medal winners in Senior Dance at the 1976 national championships. You will also be treated to a chorus line number by 36 skaters from the host club, the Fredericton Figure Skating Club.

A bargain price, Special Events ticket for $6.00 will provide admission to all above events, while 50 cents at the door will get you in to see the practice sessions and figure events. Senior citizens and children under 16 will be admitted at half price.

COMING EVENTS

RESERVE April 23rd, 1977 for Spring Tea and Sale by St. Alban's Guild, Salmon Beach.

CARD OF THANKS

CARTER — The family of the late Gerald Carter wishes to thank all their friends and relatives who were so kind and thoughtful in the time of their bereavement; also those who sent sympathy cards, masses and the baking which was sent to the house.

My wife and I wish to thank all who showed such kindness and help in our recent loss by fire of all our belongings on New Year's Eve. Thank you and God Bless you.

Walter and Ann Weldridge

WELDRIDGE — I would like to express my thanks to the nursing staff on the third floor, east wing of Chaleur General Hospital for the wonderful care and attention given me during my recent stay there, also my thanks to Drs. Plewes, who performed the operation, Dr. Wright who assisted and Carson who paid me daily visits. My thanks also to John Bullen and his staff for the treatment they are now giving me. Many thanks to all of you and a wonderful New Year. My thanks also to Rev. Armand Losier, Father Emile Fournier and Rev. Dr. E. B. Woodside and all my friends who visited, sent cards and gifts.

Walter Weldridge

CARD OF THANKS

A sincere thanks to all who helped to make the Christmas Season more enjoyable for the senior citizens at Payne's Rest Home, Salmon Beach.

IN MEMORIAM

ARSENEAU — In loving memory of a dear husband, Felix who passed away Jan. 2, 1976 and son Gerald who passed away Jan. 7, 1976. Always remembered by wife and mother.

Service Held In RC Chapel

Christmas Eve mass was celebrated in the Catholic Chapel at Sunny Side, Restigouche County at 9:30 p.m., December 24.

Rev. Fernand Albert, pastor at Lorne, was the celebrant.

Christmas hymns were sung by the congregation. J. Delphis Bernard, of Salmon Beach, was the organist for the occasion.

Last Rites For Myles Draper

At the funeral service held at 2:30 p.m. Jan. 5 at Elhatton's Funeral Home for A Myles Draper, Rev. Ray Evans of Upham, a relative, officiated, assisted by Archdeacon R. H. Murphy of St. George's Anglican Church in Bathurst.

Hymns sung by the choir were How Great Thou Art and Let The Lower Light Be Burning. Organist was Conrad MacDonald.

The honorary pallbearers were Bruce Lawson, Gordon Lawson, Clive Steele, all of Saint John, Albert Savoie, Weldon Morrison and Hubert Jagoe.

The active pallbearers were Ray Day, Carl Hacquard, Ignatius Doucet, Harper Jennings, Patrick McLaughlin and Burnham Logan.

A Masonic service was held at the funeral home Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. with Ray Day and Edward Crowther officiating. Organist for the ceremonies was Percy Bentell. Legion ceremonials were conducted the same evening at 7:45 by Patrick McLaughlin.

Entombment in the Protestant receiving vault, St. Anne Street, will be followed by burial in Highland View Cemetery, Bridge Street, in the spring.

Among the many relatives and friends from the Moncton, Fredericton and Saint John areas attending the service was the deceased's mother, Mrs. John Draper, Fredericton.

Tribute Paid Mrs. J. Chamberlain

The death of Mrs. Josephine Chamberlain, 287 Hillside Ave., widow of Joseph Chamberlain, occurred Jan. 5 en route to Chaleur General Hospital, after a long illness. She was 68.

Born in Robertville, she was a daughter of the late Thomas and Catherine (Chamberlain) Hachey.

Mrs. Chamberlain's husband died December 8, and a son, Gerald, was accidentally killed in a woods mishap in June.

Surviving are two sons, Albert and Andre, both of Bathurst; two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Roy (Corinne) and Therese Chamberlain, also of Bathurst.

One brother, John Hachey of Robertville; one sister, Mrs. Delphis Daigle (Florence) of Bathurst and two grandchildren also survive.

Rev. Gregory Sampson and Rev. Noel Cormier officiated at the funeral mass held at Holy Family Church Saturday at 2 p.m.

The pallbearers were Gerald Aube, Elzear Aube, Levi Aube, Romeo Cormier, Lawrence Doucet and Damien Pelletier.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Avenue, to await burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

The South Side Story

The many friends of Mr. George Hussey are sorry to hear he is a patient in Chaleur General Hospital and wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Catherine Carroll was in Saint John on Friday where she visited her brother, Mr. Thomas Carroll, a patient in Saint John General Hospital. Good wishes go out to him for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Rita Hussey spent the yuletide season with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elden Lee and little daughter Stacey, Greenwood, N.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary McPhee and sons Bradley and Christopher, Petitcodiac, N.B., spent a recent weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Black.

Mr. Cameron Melanson and son Jimmy spent a recent weekend in Montreal where they attended the Montreal-Philadelphia NHL game.

Friends of Mr. Raymond Doucet are sorry to hear he is a patient in Chaleur General Hospital and wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McManus and sons Brian and Paul, LaSalle, P.Q., spent Christmas with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Doucet.

Mrs. Alan McKenzie entertained for her daughter Vivian's eleventh birthday Sunday afternoon. A variety of games and contests were among the events and prizes were awarded. Participating in the celebration were Karen Lemieux, Kim White, Linda Glendenning, Jocelyn Robinson, Beverly and Lise White, Bessie Christie, Lynn Doucet, Allison and Christine Bell, Cindy DeGrachie, Karen and Gary MacKenzie. Lunch was served, including a delicately decorated birthday cake, the guest of honor received many lovely gifts.

Paul Ouellette, Brophy Lead Alpines To 7-5 Win

Paul Ouellette and Mike Brophy each triggered a pair of goals here Sunday afternoon to spark the Bathurst Alpines to a 7 - 5 triumph over the Dalhousie Rangers in one of two games played in the North shore Hockey League.

The win strengthened the Alpines' hold on second place giving them a nine-point lead over the third place Rangers.

Mike Martin, George Willett and Michel Hamel were the other marksmen for the Alpines who trailed 4 - 3 entering the final period.

Gaetan Duguay fired a pair of first period goals by the goals scores to offset scored by Paul Ouellette and Brophy. Marcel Dumais and Bruce Dunville sandwiched Mike Morton's goal to put Dalhousie ahead 4 - 3 entering the final 20 minutes.

George Willett drew the Alpines even at 7 -all of the third but Luc Bonneville restored the Rangers' lead a little over a minute later Michel Hamel fired the equalizer at the 12:59 mark and Mike Brophy's second of the game less than two minutes later proved the winner. Paul Ouellette tallied his second of the afternoon at 17:51 to wrap up the win.

The Alpines drilled 56 shots at Luc LeClair in the Ranger cage while Glen Seperich was tested 40 times.

Overtime Win

John Wood scored at 5:36 of sudden-death overtime to give the league-leading Campbellton Tigers a 6 - 5 come-from-behind triumph over Chatham Ironmen in Sunday's other game played in Chatham.

Campbellton trailed 5 - 2 entering the final period but a pair of goals from Greg McCullough and Dave Wisener's marker at 16:35 sent the game into overtime.

Danny Gill and Paul Findlay each scored twice and Dave Lobban added the other to give the Ironmen a 5 - 2 lead in the opening period. Tigers' goals came from Dave Stevenson and Laurie Gregan. The second period was scoreless.

Bingo Supports Caraquet Arena

Town fathers came out in force at Monday's regular council session to hear various annual reports tabled before council even though drifting snow buffeted by high winds and reduced visibility had rendered driving hazardous.

Snow plows had to be kept on the streets in order to keep them passable.

One major item tabled before council involved the report by a special committee of council which looks after weekly bingo games. The proceeds from which are channelled into payment and upkeep of the local arena.

The annual report heard by council stated that net profits for the year had athounted to approximately $30,000 to be used to cover debt servicing and planned improvement to the 10-year-old structure in the coming year. Two members of council and an independent group make up the committee. The arena is owned by the town.

The annual report for the town read by Mayor Germain Blanchard noted that the municipality had applied for a Local Initiatives Program project calling for the construction of sidewalks within the town, a major item on the council's list for 1977. The project also calls for smaller public works projects.

Town fathers have scheduled Feb. 15 as the date for a public meeting to deal with the recently released town plan for Caraquet. Council will hear objections and suggestions to the proposed plan at this meeting.

Other meetings also scheduled for the near future include one with the Moncton firm of W. H. Crandall and Associates, to discuss the town's sewer system, and with the Bathurst accounting firm of H. R. Doane to study the town's water department budget.

Mayor Blanchard informed the general public at the closed session that a tentative contract had been approved with the municipal workers, commenting that no major changes had been negotiated over the last collective agreement. The new contract allows for a six per cent wage increase to town employees, who include members of the municipal police and fire departments. The last contract expired Dec. 10 of last year.

Family Allowances Increased

OTTAWA — Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde announced Dec. 29 the 1977 rates for Family Allowances have been increased following reinstatement of the cost of living adjustment provision.

The Family Allowances legislation calls for annual escalation of payments in January of each year in accordance with the increase in the cost of living. Effective January 1, the federal government monthly allowance paid for children under 16 rose to $23.00 from $22.00 in most provinces and in the territories.

The amount and method of payment of Family Allowances varies in Quebec and Alberta. Under a provision in the Family Allowances Act, a provincial government may ask the federal government to vary the rates payable in that province according to the age or number of children in a family, or both, providing the payments average $23.00. Quebec and Alberta have again chosen this option.

Special Allowances, which are paid to foster parents, welfare agencies, government departments and institutions that are maintaining children, also increased to $23.00 from $22.00.

Each month during 1976 the federal government paid out more than $162 million in Family Allowances to 3.6 million families. The cheques covered 7.3 million children. The national average allowance for each recipient family was about $45.

Any group interested in using the rink for other activities should contact Vincent Colton (546-8142), Chairman of the Recreation Committee, Parkwood Heights Homeowners Association.

Alpines Edged 4-3 In Overtime

Sterling Loga scored at 4:07 of the first overtime period to earn the league-leading Campbellton Tigers a 4 - 3 decision over Bathurst Alpines in a North Shore Hockey League game played here last night before an estimated 1300 fans.

The loss was a heart-breaker for the Alpines who fought an uphill battle all the way after trailing 2 - 0 midway through the first period.

Paul Ouellette capped the Alpines comeback in the final minute of play when he fired Bathurst's third goal at the 19:29 mark of the third period to send the teams into a 10-minute overtime session.

Goals by Luc Tessier and Dave Wisener gave the Tigers their early lead before Lou Ouellette put the Alpines on the board at 12:32 of the opening period. Steve Stevenson got that one back for the Tigers less than a minute later on a power play. Donnie Roy got the Alpines back in the game when he scored on a play with Ken Roy and Ghislain Tardiff at 17:10.

The game tightened up in a scoreless second period with the Alpines outshooting the Tigers 13 - 4. Alpines continued the pressure in the final period and it paid off in Paul Ouellette's tieing marker. Alpines held a decided edge in the period with a 21 - 5 margin in shots.

Tigers' goaler Mike Frawley was the star of the contest turning aside 45 Bathurst shots while Alpines Glen Seperich stopped 27 Tiger drives.

Capitols Survive 13th Challenge

Bathurst Capitols built a 44-pin lead in the first string and then held on to successfully defend the Bathurst Propane Challenge Trophy for the 13th consecutive time at Capitol Lanes Sunday.

The challenging Chatham Schooners won the second string by 10 and the third by seven pins but fell 27 pins short in their attempt to take the cup from the Capitols.

Bathurst's Gordie Chiasson rolled a 329 for the top triple of the match, edging Chatham's Bill Fleiger by a single pin. Fleiger had the day's top single at 135.

The Capitols will defend the trophy for the 14th time at Capitol Lanes this Sunday at 1 p.m. against a team from Campbellton.

Will Coordinate Area Fisheries

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger announced last week the appointment of Claude LeBouthillier as regional co-ordinator for the Chaleur-Gulf area.

Mr. LeBouthillier holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Moncton. Since 1966, he has been the department's regional supervisor of fisheries for the same area. In addition he is active in organizations related to the fisheries.

Mr LeBouthillier is currently the director of the Commission for the Economic Expansion of the Peninsula, provincial tuna fishing tournament chairman and an active member of several other organizations in the northeast area.

"This new position," said the minister, "is a continuation of the department's policy of decentralizing the fisheries' sector while maintaining a high level official liaison with it in this area."

The first task of the new regional co-ordinator will be to strengthen contact among fisheries' organizations in this area to develop a regional committee representative of the fisheries sector and the government and to establish an information center for fishermen and the industry.

NBEPC Reports Improved Customer Service In 1976

NB Power Chairman G.W.N. Cockburn said Jan. 4 in a New Year's announcement that the Commission had made tremendous strides in the year just past in providing service to its customers.

Mr. Cockburn said it was quite possibly the most eventful period in the history of the publicly-owned utility. More generating capacity was added to NB Power's system than any previous year in its existence, referring to the commissioning of units one and two at the million kilowatt Coleson Cove Generating Station. The station was officially opened to the public on Saturday, November 6. It continues to operate under heavy load conditions, generating over 1.3 billion kilowatthours to date. In addition, NB Power has purchased over 2.7 billion kilowatthours from other utilities since April 1, 1976.

The energy demand of provincial customers is increasing at a phenomenally high rate, said Mr. Cockburn. In the eight months since the beginning of the fiscal year on April 1st in-province energy demand is 13.7 per cent over the previous year for the same period. Mr. Cockburn attributed the large increase to higher usage in all three customer classifications - residential, general service and industrial and to continued growth of electric space heating. He said industrial energy use had rebounded this year partly because of better markets and partly because some of the province's base industries had been adversely effected by labor strikes last year.

Mr. Cockburn said that the Commission had a large and active construction program in new transmission and distribution facilities to meet the growth in electric power usage. The new power line and substation program has touched every part of the province in some degree, resulting in a high level of service and less power interruptions to most sectors of the province, in spite of adverse weather conditions in the fall and early winter.

Although a favourable firm power contract with Hydro Quebec ended on October 31, 1976, NB Power continues to purchase power over the interconnection facilities on an economy hour-to-hour basis when prices are lower than NB Power generation costs. Hydro power generation at Commission plants has benefitted this year from above-average stream flows, Mr. Cockburn said. "The diversity of the Commission's generation sources and the benefits of its interconnections with neighboring power systems have combined to keep rate increases modest and electricity one of the best bargains economically in our region."

Touching on the ongoing construction program, Mr. Cockburn said the 600,000 kilowatt Point Lepreau Generating Station has made major progress since the slip-forming of the reactor building last spring. He said that several hundreds of personnel will be employed in its construction for the next three years.

The addition of a 200,000 kilowatt dual-fuelled oil and coal burning unit at the Dalhousie Generating Station is moving forward and should be in service by 1979. Two hydro unit of 100,000 kilowatts each under construction at the Mactaquac Generating Station are expected to be in operation within the same period.

Looking ahead Mr. Cockburn said that the current construction program will enable NB Power to be energy independent until the early 1980's. Studies on generation alternatives to meet load growth which may outstrip installed capacities at that time are continuing, he said.

N. B. Power will continue to avoid future power shortages through study and development of diverse generating sources such as hydro, nuclear and coal, and possible peat and tidal. At the same time it is building strong ties with neighbor utilities and keeping abreast of non-conventional energy resource studies such as solar and wind energy.

Cooperation among Maritime utilities has led to the study of a Maritime Generation and Transmission Corporation. The Corporation would build new power facilities for the benefit of the Maritime region. Benefits would flow from closer planning, the possibility for financing of large regional projects, sharing of reserves, etc.

Mr. Cockburn said that energy supplies look good for New Brunswick for the short term, although prices will continue to rise from expected increases in the cost of oil, labor and other commodities. He said the electrical supply situation for the fairly long term also looked bright for New Brunswick in the light of innovative approaches already taken by NB Power in its long term planning.

TRACADIE BABY NEW BRUNSWICK'S FIRST

Little Shanon Bridges doesn't look very happy at the moment, but that's probably because she doesn't know that she's New Brunswick's first baby of 1977.

Born at two seconds after midnight New Year's Day at Tracadie's Hotel Dieu Hospital, Shanon, the first child for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bridges, just missed being Canada's first born of the new year. That honor went to the son of an Alberta couple who arrived just one second earlier.

Shanon's father, who is presently employed with a fish plant in Shippegan area, had originally wanted a boy, but he very quickly forgot his preference when he saw his "perfect" little girl. "I wouldn't trade her for a million dollars," he exclaimed, and his sentiments were echoed by his 19-year-old wife.

Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Bridges and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lanoie of the Tracadie area.

Study Results Are Presented

Nigadoo's study committee on tourism has presented the community's municipal council with a feasibility analysis on the grist mill park project. This is the last of two study reports compiled by the committee.

The feasibility study covers areas such as a capital cost of the project, a five-year operating budget, tourist demand, regional needs concerning open-air recreational activities, an economic analysis and a conceptual plan for the project.

For the second phase of the project, the council has appointed a grist mill park committee whose mandate is to obtain the necessary funds, via federal-provincial agreements, for the implementation of the entire project.

Members of this committee are Denis Fournier, Emery Doucet, Donald Fournier and Leopold Lanteigne.

Hike In Welfare Rates Was Sufficient - Hull

Social Services Minister Len Hull said Jan. 4 that those people who have criticized the recent four percent increase in social assistance rates as being too low are looking at the figures in isolation and forgetting last June's increase which ranged from a low of two per cent to a high of fourteen percent.

Mr. Hull emphasized that there are several categories in the determination of social assistance rates, not all of which receive the same level of increase when assistance rates are adjusted.

"If each of the categories is considered separately, it will be noted that social assistance recipients have received a substantial increase over the past seven months," he said.

For example, the single unemployed employable persons under the age of 30, available and able to work - received $140 per month in April, 1976. In June that allowance was increased to $155 or by 11 per cent.

"This group of recipients is a target group for me and we are hopeful that we can find alternatives to social assistance for them. There are many reasons why they must depend on social assistance. There are, however, many training programs this group can become involved in both at the community college level and through Canada Manpower," Mr. Hull noted.

A second category for assistance is the one-person unemployable - people who cannot work for a variety of reasons.

This group received $227 in April 1976 and a two percent increase to $231 last June. Add to this the four percent increase on Jan. 1 and this category of recipients is receiving $240 a month - a six per cent increase in the last seven months.

The one-parent unit which is formed by bring up children above received the biggest increase. This category went from $251 in April to $267 in June 1976, a fourteen per cent increase. In January they received another four percent, bringing the total received to $321 - an 18 per cent increase over the past 7 months. "This particular group had it difficult and I feel the raise was justified in their case," Mr. Hull said.

Each additional dependent under 18 receives $11.04 extra per month and in April, 1977, they will receive an 8.2 per cent increase on the $11.04. Each additional dependent over 18 receives another $10.12 extra per month and that will increase by 8.2 per cent in April, 1977.

The two-parent family went from $325 in April, 1976 to $354 in June - a 9 per cent increase - and a further four percent increase in January brings their total to $368. They also receive the extra for each dependent child.

"Not only have social assistance recipients received the above increases, they also have access to items of special need and health cards. I know it is difficult to live on a fixed income, and we do everything possible to help these people through counselling, in addition many qualify for low rentals and rural and native housing programs which are substantially subsidized," Mr. Hull noted.

St. John Ambulance Purpose Is Redefined

President of the St. John Ambulance Association in New Brunswick, Peter Belyea of Edmundston, said the association's regular quarterly meeting held in Fredericton that the basic purpose of St. John in Canada was recently redefined by the Privy Council, the association's national executive body.

The special meeting in Ottawa, which provincial presidents attended, agreed that the basic purpose of St. John in Canada is to alleviate suffering and to save lives by:

(a) Providing instruction

(1) in safety oriented First Aid, not only to provide a capability to minister to the injured but also to develop positive attitudes toward personal safety in order to reduce the incidence of injury producing accidents.

(2) in Patient Care in the home and in Child Care.

(3) to elder persons in preventative personal care in the home.

(b) Training and maintaining a force of volunteers skilled in the administration of First Aid and in basic nursing available to the public.

(c) Providing support to the St. John Ophthalmic Hospital in Jerusalem.

Mr. Belyea went on to say that this redefinition of the St. John Ambulance purpose has little if any effect on the New Brunswick Association. He explained that local branches in other provinces had in some cases tended to drift apart from the brigade operations. "Brigades are comprised of the uniformed volunteers and branches are the local administrative bodies." Mr. Belyea explained.

"This new statement of purpose," he went on to say "is intended to clarify their relationship."

The St. John Ambulance Association is best known in New Brunswick through its operation of clinics in 36 communities either on a 24 hour emergency basis or for long distance invalid transport, each of which is free of charge to patients. In addition, the Association provides 4 levels of first aid training as well as training for patient care in the home.

G. E. Beament of Ottawa, chancellor of St. John Ambulance in Canada attended the Fredericton meeting together with Douglas Cunningham the national executive director.

Loblaws Buys wholesale firm

Loblaw Companies Limited announced recently that its subsidiary Loblaws Limited has agreed to purchase the business and assets excepting real estate assets of the latter's wholly-owned subsidiary Atlantic Wholesalers Limited.

A holding company, wholly-owned by Loblaw Companies Limited will acquire all of the assets and undertaking of Atlantic for preferred shares and cash, retain the real properties and sell the remaining assets and business to Loblaws Limited for $8,500,000 par value of a new (Series C) issue of Loblaws Limited 9 per cent cumulative redeemable first preference shares and cash. The purchase prices are based on independent valuation.

Starting in January the business being acquired will operate as a division of Loblaws Limited under the name "Atlantic Wholesalers".

Construction Going Metric

January 1, 1978 has been set as the target date for a metric policy which will affect all provincial building construction projects.

All tendered projects will then have to be in metric units, a process to be monitored by a provincial metric design and construction committee.

The policy-recommended by the construction industry itself-is being announced more than a year in advance of the effective date so that contractors and manufacturers will have plenty of time to make needed changes.

Project whose plans are already substantially completed or which are continuing phases of projects already started are not affected by the metric policy.

Civil Servant Also Inventor

A $1,000 reward from the province has been made to a municipal affairs employee who developed a residential building assesment cost calculatur.

The award to Hazen S. Bennett of Fredericton, an industrial assessor and cost analyst, was made by Municipal Affairs Minister Horace Smith.

"It recognizes the resourcefulness and the time and effort spent by an employee outside working hours to develop a tool with great cost-saving potential," added the minister.

"The cost calculator is a consolidation of costs set out in the New Brunswick Assessment Manual and will provide a current replacement cost figure," said Mr. Smith. "Undoubtedly its use will improve quality and uniformity of residential assessments throughout the province because the slide rule format reduces complicated cost calculations to their utmost simplicity."

"However," said Mr. Smith, "it must be clearly understood that the assessment cost calculator slide rule is to be regarded as a tool to assist in estimating the value or the most probable selling price for assessment purposes as defined in the Assessment Act, although it will be extremely useful in the hands of experienced and informed assessors who will be fully aware of its uses and limitations."

Meanwhile, development of the new slide role earned the department's assessment branch the Distinguished Assistance Award from the International Association of Assessing Officers during their annual meeting last month in Atlanta, Georgia.

The award is conferred on the public or private organization agency or body deemed to have given the most effective assistance to assessment administration in organization, personnel, procedure or technique. The slide rule is considered by the international group to be a major contribution to assessment administration.

Mr. Bennett joined the department of Municipal Affairs in 1958 after working in a wide range of residential and commercial construction. He is currently responsible for updating the New Brunswick Real Property Assessment Manuals and evaluating major industrial properties throughout the province.

Lower Speed Limits Being Investigated

There's a "distinct possibility" speed limits on provincial highways will be lower in the future, the chairman of the Legislature's Select Committee of Motor Vehicle and Highway Safety said last week.

Robert Corbett, PC-Queens South, said the committee recommended to the House last June that speed limits on the province's highways be lowered to 55 m.p.h. "unless otherwise posted". The limit could remain at 60 mph on the Trans-Canada Highway where highway design permits. Limits on secondary roads should remain at 50 mph or lower, the committee said.

However, any reduction in speed limits will require action by the Legislature, which won't begin sitting until February or March.

Mr Corbett said the select committee has been discussing reduced speed limits with the transportation department and the premier's office. Talks with the latter have been in terms of energy conservation, Mr. Corbett said.

Officials of the transportation and provincial secretary's departments said their departments have studied the matter, but they declined to elaborate on whether a final decision has been made.

Deputy provincial secretary Harry Cochrane said any changes would be left to the discretion of the Legislature. He said reduced limits would require changes in regulations, and possibly changes in legislation.

In its report to the Legislature last spring after public hearings in 16 provincial centres, the committee also made a number of "potential recommendations" which were to be considered in greater detail.

Among these recommendations were the separation of traffic courts from the rest of the court system to provide for more uniform sanctions with respect to traffic violations.

Other potential recommendations urges substantial increases in maximum fines under the Motor Vehicle Act, integration of the licence suspension system with the court system, erection across the province of traffic signs that are uniform in size, shape, location and color, and more training of automobile and motorcycle drivers and bicyclists.

Mr. Corbett said the potential recommendations "stand pretty much as they are.

"We do not feel it necessary to revise or update those recommendations", he said.

However, the committee hasn't concluded its work and the committee chairman says there are many more matters for it to consider.

"We will certainly have more to offer in the upcoming session, but whether the committee continues its work will be left for the legislature to decide", Mr. Corbett said.

Family Film To Be Shown

"Time To Run", a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at Bayview Baptist Church, 280 O'Neil Drive this weekend.

The feature, filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, will be shown twice: on Saturday, Jan. 15 at 7:00 p.m. and again on Sunday, Jan. 16, at 8:00 p.m.

Filmed on location in the Southern California area, Time To Run stars Ed Nelson, Randall Carver, Barbara Sigel, Joan Winmill and Gordon Rigsby. Nelson plays Warren Cole, a hard driving success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer who, because of overinvolvement with his work, has failed to communicate with his wife Fran, played by Joan Winmill, or their son Jeff, played by screen newcomer Randall Carver.

Time To Run allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of the three different levels. Viewed purely as entertainment, it's the suspenseful story of Jeff's attempts to sabotage in the nuclear generating plant conceived, designed and managed by his father. Jeff strongly feels that the plant is a threat to the environment, and he puts his feelings in action.

Viewed on an emotional level, Time To Run is the deeply moving drama of the conflicts that are tearing a family apart-conflicts that develop between husband and wife, and between father and son. In an attempt to find freedom from the ever-growing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover some meaning in his confused life.

Approached from a religious perspective, Time To Run is also a story of friction between Jeff and his girlfriend, Michelle played by Barbara Sigel, who is a familiar face to television viewers. Michelle has discovered a spiritual dimension in her life, and this aspect is very confusing to Jeff, who has little time for "a God who would allow war, hatred, and suffering on earth." But his life is shattered by an avalanche of personal problems, and he finds himself at a Jesus people gathering with Michelle, where he glimpses the possibility of a new life-style based on love and understanding.

VERY SPECIAL GREETING STILL IN CIRCULATION

What began as a money-saving venture in 1962 has become a very important Christmas tradition between a well-known Bathurst couple and former city residents now living in Fredericton. Glen and Gerry Hathaway, 225 Allison Crescent, decided it was "time to save some money" at Christmas in 1962, and sent this greeting card to former neighbours Ann and Arthur Poirier in Fredericton along with instruction to return it at the same time the following year. As it indicated here, the card has changed hands every year since, and has become a very precious part of holiday festivities and expectations. "It's the first card I collect after the holiday season and it goes into safe-keeping until mailing time the next year", said Mrs. Hathaway. "It is beginning to show the wear and tear of the years though - Ann remarked recently that the rabbit on the front is beginning to look like he has jaundice, he's so yellow". Nevertheless, as the dates on the card show, the rabbit is expected to hold out for a few years yet, and the greeting will be cherished for years to come when it is finally retired.

Canadians Are Saving

There now are almost 22 million personal savings accounts at the chartered banks, containing well over $36 billion.

The Canadian Bankers' Association (CBA) says the average savings deposit at the banks now is $1,692, up from $1,310 a year earlier and more than double the $774 of ten years ago.

The CBA also notes that a large portion of these accounts - more than 8.5 million or about 40 per cent - contain less than $100. And 15.3 million, or 70 per cent, have less than $1,000.

These figures, the CBA says, point to the importance of the individual as a source of funds for the economy and the heavily-based public acceptance of the chartered banks as the country's principal savings institutions.

Both in number and amount, personal savings continue to be the largest single course of funds available to the banks.

During the past ten years there has been a decline in the percentage of accounts having less than $100. Accounts in the $100 to $1,000 range have remained relatively unchanged. Those containing $1,000 to $10,000 have shown a noticeable increase.

Unemployment Rate Unchanged

The New Brunswick labor force report for November shows while employment in the province dropped by 5,000 during October, there was a corresponding decrease in participation in the labor force, keeping unemployment steady at 26,000.

This means that 5,000 people in the province stopped actively seeking jobs in the labor market during the month.

The report, published by the labor market services branch of the Department of Labor and Manpower, shows that the total number employed in New Brunswick dropped from 266,000 in September to 261,000 at the end of October. Participation in the labor force for the same period dropped from 271,000 to 266,000.

The unemployment rate, therefore, remained almost unchanged at 9.6 per cent. The rate for September was 9.4.

Unemployment rates throughout the province ranged from 15.4 per cent in the Northeast (Restigouche, Gloucester and Northumberland) to 5.4 per cent in the southwest (Kings, Saint John and Charlotte counties).

Benefits paid in unemployment insurance in August - the latest figures published in the New Brunswick labor force report - increased from $11,000,000 the previous month to $12,700,000. This compares with $9,000,000 in August 1975.

Theatre Edges Cinema In Xi Delta Discussion

Xi Delta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held its Dec. 8 meeting at the home of Jill White.

The sum of $25 was pledged to the Christmas Empty Stocking Fund.

Members were assigned duties connected with the Red Cross "friendly visiting" program. Suggestions were presented for the up-coming Valentine Day ball in which all three local chapters will be involved.

Jill White and Kumari Sundaram discussed the evening's program which dealt with theatre or cinema.

Mrs. White spoke of the social benefits apparent to anyone who reviews the history of the theatre.

Down through the centuries, theatre has been the people's art. It is only in the past three decades that social values have been nationalized and used deliberately with a full sense of the contribution they can make towards enriching school and community experience, said Mrs. White.

Dramatics play an important part in the education of young people offering voice training, public speaking ability, courage and confidence.

In conclusion, Mrs. White said enjoyment comes not only from being an observer of theatre but also in being a participant.

The fabulous movies, Mrs. Sundaram said, still have the power to draw a viewer practically into the screen. It is this magic magnetism, which involves the viewer, that originally made the movies the most explosively successful art and entertainment form ever invented.

The motion picture realizes its greatest opportunity and fulfills its most important function in recording our changing world. It has succeeded in giving movie goers a new understanding and appreciation of their artistic inheritance.

Mrs. Sundaram noted the educational films have been a boon to today's educational system, also that the Peace Corps and various overseas programs have benefitted immensely with the help of movies.

Mrs. Sundaram concluded with an optimistic note: of all the records we might preserve for future generations, only the movies can tell what our world and people are like. It might be, that such films as these which involve the direct and personal interests of their views will be the ones that will create love and friendship among the people of the world.

Winner of the debate was Mrs. White.

A delightful punch and snacks were served by the hostess and Mrs. M. Greenough. Secret pals exchanged Christmas gifts. Santa was on hand to distribute them.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 12 at the home of Jane Richard.

More Members For Villa Club

The Villa Golden Age Club regular monthly meeting held at Chaleur Villa Dec. 13 was chaired by Wilfred Pitre, vice-president opening with members reciting the Golden Age prayer.

In the absence of the secretary, the minutes were read by Mrs. Dora Luce. The treasurer's report presented by Mrs. Delphis Lockhart was adopted. It was noted membership was now at 80 and that more were expected to join.

Anyone wishing to join the Villa Golden Age Club may call either Mrs. Delphine Lockhart, phone number 548-3107, or Mrs. Telesphore Tremblay at 546-5767.

Claude Frenette, director of Chaleur Villa Senior Citizens Home, gave an interesting report on how pleased the board of directors were to learn about renovations to be made regarding the new recreation room.

Villa Chaplain Rev. G. Forest spoke about elderly persons living in their own homes and mentioned it would be nice if members would visit them and help them in any way. He also spoke about the invalids at the Foyer Notre Dame de Lourdes and mentioned how pleased they are with visits. He advised too how to encourage these residents and how to help them keep in good spirits.

The club's committee chairman Mrs. Dora Luce gave her report. She said entertainment at the Villa was as follows: Bingo every week; card parties once a month at present and movies to be shown once each month.

Mrs. Luce noted a Christmas party and a New Year's party had been organized. She also said a party for all members had been arranged for Epiphany.

Following adjournment on motion of John Brown, lunch was served.

Miss Shirley Ann Melanson has resumed third-year arts studies at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, after spending the Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Melanson and other members of the family.

Family Reaches Fifth Generation

Mrs. Gwen Bujold who has been visiting with members of her family in the city and area during the holiday season, had posed during an earlier vacation last year with relatives for a five-generation picture at New Richmond, Que. At left is Mrs. Sandra Mawas of Cote St. Luc, Que., holding the newest of the female line, 13-month old Debra Mawas (now 19 months). Left to right is Sandra's mother, Mrs. Gwen Bujold from Mississauga, Ont.; the latter's mother Mrs. James Willett of New Richmond who is spending the winter in Toronto; and the family matriarch, Mrs. willett's mother, Mrs. Guy MacWhirter, also of New Richmond, who will be 98 in February. Mrs. Bujold has been a resident of Bathurst for many years and is a frequent visitor to the area.

First Party In New Year

The first card party of the new year for the Maple Leaf Club was held Jan. 6 in the recreation room of the Denis Fournier senior residents' complex, Demeresque St.

The ladies prize was won by Mrs. Phyllis Paquette and the prize for gents went to Martin Stever.

After the card games were over, a lunch prepared by Mrs. Dorin Cormier was served. Mrs. Edmee Melanson and Mrs. Paquette assisted in serving.

Regular card parties are held every Thursday evening.

1st In 28 Yrs Xmas At Home

The Yuletide season was a happy occasion for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Caissie at Middle River where they were joined by a son and his family who spent his first Christmas at home in 28 years.

Here from Clinton, B.C., were Teles Caissie, his wife Gertrude and son Eddie who joined in special church services and other functions.

Also visiting during the Christmas holidays were their other sons, Emile and wife Jean and their son Kevin from London, Ont., and Raymond Caissie, Saint John; as well as two daughters, Mrs. Theresa Jones, also of Saint John and Mrs. Plenn Nowlan and family from Red Bank.

The visitors also visited two brothers who live in Bathurst, Lionel and Fred Caissie and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Emile Caissie visited as well with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Doucet of Rough Waters Drive, and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lavigne (Claudette) and little Darlene Doucet, Bathurst.

The visiting families returned Jan. 3 to their respective homes.

Prepare For Founder's Day

Mrs. David Brown was hostess to Nicholas Denys Chapter I.O.D.E. for the Jan. 4 meeting held at her home, 102 St. George St., and chaired by the regent, Mrs. G. P. Milton.

Nineteen members were present for the meeting which opened with the prayer of the order, salutation of the flags and affirmation of the order, after which the secretary and treasurer gave their reports.

Educational secretary Mrs. Donald Blair gave a review on the essay contest for the Grade 8 students of the chapter's adopted schools. The services convener, Mrs. Frank Elhatton reported having taken treats to the Annex and Payne Nursing Home.

Mrs. B. Branch, magazine convener, reported on taking magazines to the medical clinic and the Foyer.

Plans were made for the presentation of the Canadian flag and a picture of Queen Elizabeth to Chaleur Villa Senior Citizens Home.

Mrs. Douglas Johnson reported for the nominating committee giving the slate of officers for 1977.

It was noted plans are being made for the annual church service on Sunday, Feb. 13 and the banquet scheduled for Feb. 15.

An executive meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Sullivan Jan. 18.

Mrs. M. H. Rogers won the mystery box donated by Mrs. C. Barbery.

The committee for February will comprise Mrs. E. R. Shirley, Mrs. Frank Elhatton and Mrs. W. C. Barbery.

Spent Yuletide In Ontario

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman W. Knowles returned Jan. 5 to their home at Clifton after spending the Yuletide season with members of their family in Toronto and at Peterborough, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowles had Christmas dinner at the home of their son, Glenn and family at Peterborough where, with the exception of two sons, Jerry and Gary who reside in the Clifton area, the other five children had gathered.

Others among the 22 who sat down for the festive meal were dad and daughter, Mrs. Robert Woodley (Susan), husband and two daughters from Vancouver; Mrs. Arnold MacDonald (Shirley) and her husband and their two children from Ottawa; Mrs. Al Unsworth (Janice) and family and Miss Karen Knowles, all of Toronto; and a son, Darryl Knowles who plays hockey with the Syracuse Blazers at Syracuse, N.Y.

ANN LANDERS

Ex-Wife's Rip-off Felt By Family

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married three years. I am 25, Greg is 30. After six weeks of marriage, Greg's ex-wife decided she didn't want to be bothered with their four small children so we obtained legal custody.

She's been running all over the country "having fun." Every month or so she drops in to stir up a little trouble. We didn't ask for a change in the support payment setup at the final hearing because we feared she might change her mind and ask for the kids. (Greg agreed to give her $90 a week when she had custody.) Now she's a go-go dancer and makes more money than I do.

Is there a chance that we might get her to come across with some support money for the kids? We realize the courts are partial to the natural mother but it burns me up that I work full-time and my husband works 70 and 80 hours a week and this tramp doesn't have to give her children one dime. Call me — Slow Burn

DEAR BURN: If I read you right, Greg is paying Miss Swivel Hips $90 a week for "child support" and the kids aren't even living with her. This is crazy. See a lawyer and put an end to the rip-off.

DEAR ANN: Here's the situation: My husband and I have a comfortable den-bedroom combination on the ground floor. Our children (girl-boy-girl) have always occupied the second floor. They have their own bedrooms and there are two baths up there.

Now that the older daughter has left for college, my mother says we are playing with fire by allowing the boy and girl to sleep up there alone. She insists we move into our daughter's room and vacate only when she returns home for vacations and holidays.

This means sacrificing our own comfort and privacy but we would certainly do it if we thought there was a chance that these two might get into "mischief."

Our son and daughter are well-behaved teenagers and we have never seen anything to indicate "a problem." My husband is hypertensive and a worrier. My mother's insistence has upset him and I'm annoyed with her for harping on the subject.

My own opinion is that Mother's imagination is running wild. We will abide by your decision. — Like It Grounded

DEAR G.: Mother should MIND. Very young brothers and sisters often explore and "experiment" but teenagers are well beyond that stage unless they are kooks — and your two sound O.K. to me.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a middle-aged man who served in the U.S. Army several years ago. (Korean "police action.") I caught gonorrhea from one of the girls who hung around the Army base.

The moment I became aware of my problem I went for treatment. Within weeks the doctor pronounced me completely cured with no permanent damage except to my dignity.

I plan to be married to a wonderful girl. She knows nothing about my Korean infection. Should I tell her about it? — Battle "Secured"

DEAR BAT: Only if she makes a similar confession. Otherwise I see no reason to mention it.

Family United At Christmas

The eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Stearns Jacobsen, 710 Bridge St., were all home for Yuletide this year.

Here from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jeadrey (nee Elaine Jacobsen) of Halifax; Cpl. Lawrence Jacobsen from Baie, NSd. RCMP Detachment; as well as two daughters who attend college, Martha who is a music student at the University of Moncton and Ruth, in the bachelor of nursing program at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; and Arthur Jacobsen and wife Beverley (nee Branch) and their two sons, Ryan and Neil from Nackawic.

Another daughter, Mrs. Hadley Wood (Elizabeth) resides in Bathurst as do Gordon who is employed in the city, and Douglas a Grade X student at Bathurst High School.

Committees Give Reports

The Jan. 4 meeting of Holy Family Council CWL was chaired by the president, Mrs. Florence Bossay. Prior to the meeting, members attended mass at Holy Family Church.

The minutes were adopted and correspondence and regular business matters dealt with. The treasurer's report was accepted. On motion by Mrs. Mildred Wilbur, seconded by Mrs. Emma Doucet, it was decided that all be paid, and that monthly insanes be paid for four months.

It was agreed to order 12 brochures for the week of prayer.

Mrs. Margaret Watson gave a good report on visiting sick members and elderly persons at Vallee Lourdes, as well as her activities as Santa Claus during the Christmas season.

Mrs. Bossay had also visited the elderly and presented small gifts on behalf of the CWL.

The scholarship committee reported the council's two $100 scholarships had been awarded to Miss Denise Arseneault, and Anne Louise White, the former being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arseneault, and the latter a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doran White.

It was decided there would not be any card parties held during the cold winter months.

A sympathy card was sent to Mrs. Aurele Lavigne (Ann), following the death of her mother, and a birthday card to Mrs. Frank McArdle.

The meeting adjourned with prayers recited in unison.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Guy St. Pierre, Montreal, was a recent visitor in Bathurst where she was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Raymond Garrett, and her sisters, Mrs. Don Walsh and Mr. Walsh, and Mrs. Jeanne Nugent and Mr. Nugent and families.

Mrs. Jean C. Stairs recently returned from Saint John where she was the guest for over a week of her sister, Mrs. Edna Wallace and visited with other relatives in the area. She was accompanied on the trip by her grandson, Master Lloyd Stairs.

Miss Dorothy Young returned Jan. 9 to North Bay, Ont., after spending the Yuletide season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Young and other relatives in the area.

The many friends of Mr. Donald Knowles, Pendercton, who has been a patient in the Dr. Everett Chalmers Hospital for the past month, is expected to be discharged this weekend and will be spending at least a two-week convalescent period here at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bug Knowles, 315 St. John Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinde have returned from Montreal after spending three weekends in Montreal with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Prosser and children, David and Jeffrey.

W. O. Blair Knowles has returned to Toronto after spending Yuletide season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bug Knowles and family.

Mrs. R. R. Knowles spent New Year's weekend in Tracadie, the guest of her son and wife, CWO and Mrs. Harold R. Knowles and family.

R.E.O. Branch Xmas Meeting

Despite blustery weather and dangerous road conditions, a good turn-out of eleven members and four guests enjoyed the Christmas meeting of the R.E.O. Branch of Anglican Church Women held in the REO Centre.

The hall was attractively decorated for the Yuletide season, complete with a tree.

The short business meeting, chaired by the president Mrs. Donna Baker, opened with the ACW prayer. Secretary Mrs. Robert Brown gave the invocation and prayer, while the education secretary, Mrs. Hadley Wood read a Christmas poem.

According to Mrs. Ed Carroll, treasurer, a balance of $85.13 remained after the year-end disbursements were made.

The main item of business was the outing of Jan. 19 as date for the group's popular bring-and-buy sale.

Gifts for provincial hospital patients were then placed around the tree and the business meeting was adjourned.

A pot-luck supper followed, with Mrs. R. H. Murphy saying the grace.

"Santa" kindly left each person a fitting gift at her place at the table and suitable thanks were extended by Mrs. Baker.

Name Drawn In Quilt Lottery

Loretta Davidson is the winner of a quilt lotteried by Bathurst Lionette Club in a pre-Christmas fund-raising project by the organization. Local Police Cst. Carl Boucher draws the winner's name as Alice Lavigne, chairman of the Lionettes ways and means committee stands by. The drawing took place at Tower's Jewellers.

Lionettes Purchase Music Instruments For Centre

President Mary Winter chaired the Dec. 7 regular meeting of the Bathurst Lionette Club held at Danny's.

The minutes were read and approved, after which Alice Lavigne, ways and means committee chairman, reported on ticket sales on the quilt lottery, and collected books and money from sales made by the members.

Correspondence included an invitation from King Lion Jim DeWolfe to attend their ladies' night event on Dec. 14.

A request from the Bathurst Lions Club for volunteers to work at the collection depot for the Lions radio appeal was submitted and several Lionettes offered their services.

A lengthy discussion took place concerning money to be used for needy families at Christmas. It was decided to donate to two particular families in the Bathurst area.

It was reported that 15 musical instruments, previously ordered for the Flowers of Hope Training Centre, had arrived and a motion to pay for them was accepted.

Winnie Gulliver was mystery prize winner.

After adjournment, small gifts were exchanged among the members.

The next regular meeting will be held Feb. 9 at Danny's.

First Prayer Meeting Of 1977

The prayer community of "Peace, Love and Joy" held their weekly prayer meeting on Monday, Jan. 3. All were welcomed by the welcoming committee, and newcomers arrived at 7 p.m. for a briefing on Catholic Charismatic Renewal.

At 7:45 p.m. the "music ministry" began with a few hymns and by 8 p.m., all had gathered in the gymnasium.

The leaders welcomed and introduced the newcomers and then the community raised their voices in song and prayer, asking the Holy Spirit to guide the meeting in praising and thanking the Good Lord for all He had given in 1976, and hoping that He would continue, through 1977, to fill everyone with His love, peace and joy.

The prayer meeting continued with hymns and personal prayer. Many members witnessed to the power and love of God in their lives, and in the lives of those dear to them.

Readings were from the book of the Prophet Isaiah, the letter of Paul to the Ephesians, and the Holy gospel according to Matthew. This was in accordance with the Feast of Epiphany.

The topic of the evening's teaching concerned "taking a look within ourself with the Light of God that we receive through the Baptism of the Holy Spirit."

To attain the full knowledge of one's behaviour, one must realize "we are all sinners and so, we accept others' weaknesses and begin to see our own basic weaknesses", it was mentioned.

Members of the community asked for special songs from the music ministry, and mass followed with Fathers Gregory Sampson and David Boudreau as celebrants.

The prayer meeting ended with the hymn, How Great Thou Art. This was followed by fellowship period and tea and coffee were served.

"Peace on Earth, Good will to all mankind."

Gov't Takeover Still Planned

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau said last week the provincial government will continue with a takeover of forest management on Crown land, but it will move slowly because of problems with the pilot project near Bathurst.

Mr. Boudreau, who represents the riding of Nigadoo-Chaleur, said the government had originally intended to implement within five years recommendations of a 1974 report which said the government should manage New Brunswick's 15 million acres of Crown land.

The million-acre pilot project put under government management more than two years ago, was to supply wood to Brunswick Mills Ltd. The financially-troubled company blamed poor wood supply as a major factor in losses before it was agreed last month that the government would purchase the sawmill.

Mr. Boudreau said about 7.5 million acres of Crown land in the province now are leased to businesses for less than $1 per acre.

He said his department normally put priority on taking over management of areas which were the most mismanaged, and added land leased by companies from the government is not necessarily managed wisely.

The government is constructing roads and stressing conservation and replanting programs in the pilot project near Bathurst, he said, and the policy will be continued in other regions.

N.B. Halts Flu Shots

The New Brunswick Health Department has suspended the province's swine flu inoculation program until it is determined whether the vaccine is linked to a form of temporary paralysis, Dr. H. W. Wylie, assistant deputy minister of health said Dec. 17.

He said it is difficult to predict how long the program will be halted because it depends on the results of investigations in the United States.

The U.S. program has been stopped while further research is carried out.

Dr. Wylie said the decision to suspend inoculations was reached at an emergency meeting of health department officials Thursday, Dec. 16.

He said about 17,000 flu shots have been given in the province since early November. There have been no recorded cases of paralysis in New Brunswick, he said.

Health Minister G.W.N. Cockburn said Friday he personally does not feel there is any health danger associated with the vaccine, but he is suspending the program as a precautionary measure.

"I don't think there's any risk at all", said Mr. Cockburn. "A third of the people who contracted the paralytic condition in the United States had not been inoculated at all". But he acknowledged that so long as there was the slightest risk most people would probably not want to be inoculated.

Plant Closure Said A Scandal

New Brunswick's Parti Acadien has termed the closure of the Cintex knitting plant in Caraquet "a scandal - as was the firm's opening."

In a press release dated December 22, party officials noted Cintex was a subsidiary of the multi-national Japanese firm Mitsubishi, and stated the company had been invited to locate in the town by industrial promoters who were paid $500 per job created by the municipality.

Contributions to the construction of the plant included a grant of $1,919,280 from the Department of Regional Economic Expansion, a guaranteed provincial loan of $1,360,000, land supplied by the Town at a cost of $18,000 and a fully-equipped industrial park constructed by the federal government.

"With the exception of $85,000 supplied by the Department of Manpower for training and other government programs", the release stated, "taxpayers have paid for almost the complete Cintex venture. This revelation is scary when we consider how many projects in the field of natural resources have been abandoned because of a lack of financing.

"A monumental economic blunder, committed by both governments and the company, has again been dumped on the backs of Acadians", the statement concluded.

Acadian Writer Is Recognized

The Right Honourable Jules Leger, C.C., C.M.M., C.D., Governor General of Canada, Chancellor and Principal Companion of the Order of Canada, recently announced sixty-four new appointments to the Order. Included in the list was a well-known Canadian personality, Antonine Maillet, who was designated a "Member" (C.M.).

Appointments are made by the Governor General, with the approval of The Queen who is Sovereign of the Order. The Governor General is assisted by the Advisory Council.

The Chairman of the Council is the Chief Justice of Canada, The Right Honourable Bora Laskin. The Members of Council are: Clerk of the Privy Council, Michael Pitfield; Under-Secretary of State, Andrew Fortier; Chairman of the Canada Council, Mrs. Gertrude Laing, O.C., President of the Royal Society of Canada, Dr. Larkin Kerwin, President of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, Dr. Michael Oliver and Madame Nicole Germain, C.M.

The Order of Canada was created in 1967 to recognize outstanding achievement and merit in every major field of endeavour.

The decorations will be presented to the recipients at an Investiture which will be held later at Government House.

Individuals and organizations may make nominations to the Order by sending them to the Director of Honours, at Government House, Ottawa.

Antonine Maillet was born at Bouctouche, New Brunswick. After receiving her elementary and high school education at Bouctouche and Memramcook, she obtained a bachelor of arts degree in 1950 and a master of arts degree in 1959 from the University of Moncton, a Licence-es Lettres in 1962 from the University of Montreal, a doctorate in literature in 1970 from Laval University, and an honorary doctorate in letters in 1972 from the University of Moncton.

Miss Maillet has taught literature at the College Notre-Dame d'Acadie in Moncton, at the University of Moncton, at the Jesuits' College in Quebec City, at Laval University and the University of Montreal. She is a radio script writer and a television hostess for the CBC in Moncton.

Miss Maillet has published a number of literary works including the novels, Pointe-Aux-Coques, On a mangé la dune, Don l'Original, Emanuel a Joseph a David and Mariangeline, the plays Les Crasseux and Gapi et Sullivan, a series of monologues entitled la Sagouine and a collection of short stories entitled Par derriere chez mon pere.

Among the many awards won by Miss Maillet for her work are: the Prix Champlain in 1960 for Pointe-aux-Coques, the prize for the best Canadian play, the unpublished Poire-Acre, at the 1968 Dominion Drama Festival, the Canada Council Award for the unpublished work, "Les Jeux d'Enfants sont faites", in 1969, the Governor General's Literary Award for Don l'Original in 1972; the Grand Prix de la Ville de Montreal for Mariangeline in 1973; and France's Prix des Volcans for Mariangeline in 1975.

In 1963-64 and 1964-65 Miss Maillet obtained Canadian Council grants for study in Montreal and Paris respectively. She is a member of the Association des Ecrivains de Langue Francaise, the Societe des Auteurs et Compositeurs Dramatiques de France, and the Societe des Gens de Lettres de France and is a fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

Miss Maillet, C.M., incidentally, is a sister of Rev. Achille Maillet, well-known Bathurst clergyman.

She Came, She Saw and She Conquered

Ask Gloria Vanderbilt who she is and she'll answer "I'm an artist".

Recently Miss Vanderbilt elegant celebrity accomplished artist and new innovative designer, came to Toronto as the guest of Imperial Optical Canada to personally present her first line of haute couture fashion eyewear for women.

At an informal media preview held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in the morning, she talked to a group of enthusiastic fashion editors from Canada's major media about her life as a painter and designer, and her approach towards designing fashion frames for women.

"In the past eyeglasses have been considered a fashion liability" she said, "but now they are valued as another fashion accessory."

"Fashion should be life enhancing "she continued, "you should enjoy yourself more and feel your best in anything you wear - my eyewear collection reflects this feeling."

In the evening Imperial Optical held a live and lively fashion show in the Hyatt Regency Ballroom for the specially invited Optometrists and Opticians.

Despite appearing on CTV's Canada A.M. at dawn, Global News, CBC News and CTV News, and holding personal interviews with fashion editors from the Globe & Mail, Toronto Star and Toronto Sun, a still fresh Miss Vanderbilt charmed her audience with her knowledge of fashion and her understanding of the fashion desires of women.

While the guests enjoyed wine and cheese after the official presentation, the four models were kept busy providing a closer examination of the frames.

The Gloria Vanderbilt frames now being distributed nationally by Imperial Optical, are available in four distinctive styles, each style having five different softly integrated colours.

Students Honor Commissioner

Christmas is a time of love, but few Christmas gifts carried as much love with them as the one given by a group of children in George Cameron, Mr. Cameron, a former Bathurst resident, is the commissionaire at the railroad crossing on Chaplin Island Road, Newcastle.

Each school day for the past three years he has been at the crossing to see that children from above the track get safely to school. He arrives at the crossing by 7:40 a.m.

He supervises youngsters going to St. Mary's Elementary, Harkins Elementary and Junior High as well as the kindergarten near Harkins.

Mr. Cameron had decided to retire at the end of the year. On the last day of school, he saw a group of youngsters coming up the hill. It was a snowy day and Mr. Cameron thought maybe the buses were going to have trouble at the top of the hill.

The youngsters crowded around Mr. Cameron and gave him a carol with a gift of money. Then they sang We Wish You A Merry Christmas and For He's A Jolly Good Fellow.

Speaking of the children, Mr. Cameron says, "I've always loved them. That's the only thing that keeps me there". He has been working at the crossing for almost three years, and has decided to stay until the end of January.

Though many people don't have a high opinion of today's youth, Mr. Cameron says, "I never met a bold child, and I have never had any problems with them."

Mrs. Gayle Kykerman, a kindergarten teacher, says Mr. Cameron's feeling for the children is certainly reciprocated. "People around the neighborhood felt that he had been so good to the children that it was time for the children to do something for him", she said.

All the children above the track know Mr. Cameron. "Even my kindergarten children know him and love him", said Mrs. Dykeman. "They just run to him."

Mrs. Manfred Wasson helped Mrs. Dykeman organize the presentation. "It's going to be quite a loss for the children when he retires. He always has a hug for everyone of them. They just love him."

During the holidays, Mr. Cameron's house was usually busy with children coming and going. "We had anywhere from ten to 30 children in every day", Mr. Cameron said.

He has a guest table in his basement. "That attracts the boys of course. There will be a group down there playing, and other than talking, there's not a sound. They are always well behaved."

Mr. Cameron has lived in Newcastle since 1946. He retired from his job as manager at C. Smith and Sons in 1969. His wife is the former Edith Davidson of Bathurst.

The Rotary Club recently honored Mr. Cameron for his "outstanding contribution to the safety of children in the community."

Announces 1977 Plans For Groundfish Fleet

For the first time, an overall management scheme will in 1977 control fleet deployment and resource exploitation in Atlantic Canada's most important fishery, the Hon. Romeo LeBlanc, Minister of Fisheries and the Environment, said Dec. 21.

Announcement of the plan for the Atlantic groundfish fishery follows three months of intensive consultations with representatives of fishermen's organizations, fishing companies, and the five Atlantic provinces. The plan aims to avoid conflicts between local and mobile fleets over scarce fishery resources, to ensure rebuilding of depleted fish stocks, and to stretch out available resources to keep the ground fish industry working all year long.

(Groundfish are cod, redfish, flounders and similar "whitefish" species which feed near the ocean bottom. With more than 20,000 fishermen and 12,000 plant workers, the groundfish industry is the biggest employer in the Atlantic coast fisheries.)

"For 1977, the major impact of the 200-mile fishing zone will appear in the reduced foreign catch," Mr. LeBlanc said. "For the important groundfish species, their catch will be one-third what it was two years ago; in waters off the Maritimes, their groundfish fishing will stop almost completely.

Canada's 1976 catch of groundfish totals more than that of 1975, and slightly higher quotas for 1977 could allow a further increase. However, most of this increase will have to come from waters further north or further offshore where the Canadian fleet has not traditionally fished. In nearby waters such as the Scotian Shelf (off Nova Scotia) and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, there are serious scarcities, and the possibility of severe damage to fish stocks if catches are not restricted. Cod and redfish in the Gulf of St. Lawrence in particular could decline permanently if over-exploited.

"The intermediate and small boats, more than 10,000 of them have only limited range," Mr. LeBlanc said. "The duty and opportunity of going farther afield will fall mainly to the large-trawler fleet of 100 or so vessels. We will provide special assistance for vessels to exploit northern fisheries in 1977."

The Newfoundland, Maritimes and Quebec Regional Offices of the Fisheries and Marine Service are releasing today to fishermen and processors detailed information on the main elements of the 1977 fishing plan.

"We will discuss the working of the overall management scheme at regular intervals with fishermen's and processors' representatives, and adjust it if necessary," Mr. LeBlanc said. "I want to underline the importance I attach to strict enforcement of management policies. The quotas, mesh-size, and by-catch regulations to be detailed can rebuild the stocks of fish for all Canadian Fishermen. Those who commit any violations will do so on pain of suspension of their fishing licenses."

TV Blackout Is Explained

Television in the Campbellton, Dalhousie, Bathurst area was interrupted for the second time within a week from Thursday, Dec. 30 at noon until Sunday, Jan. 2.

CHSJ's transmitting station, Channel 4, located at Carleton, Quebec, was unable to rebroadcast it's regular programs due to a breakdown in the Quebec telephone company's micro-wave system.

CHSJ programming is carried to it's five New Brunswick transmitting stations by a network of micro-wave connections. The final phase of the system in Carleton, Quebec, failed at noon Dec. 30 severing all programming on the CHCH-TV transmitter, located at Mt. St. Joseph, Quebec.

Although the CHCH-TV transmitter was operational throughout the blackout, it was unable to broadcast programs until the trouble in the Quebec telephone systems was rectified.

Service was restored shortly after midnight on Sunday.

Results Of Budworm Spray Study Released

The report of the Task Force for Evaluation of Budworm Control Alternatives was released Dec. 14 by Premier Richard Hatfield.

The report, prepared by Dr. Gordon Baskerville, concludes that the budworm spray program carried on over the past 25 years has been economically beneficial, allowing the forest industry continued growth while maintaining a substantial forest inventory. The report calls for a stronger forest management policy as well as more robust preventative and harvesting policies.

Premier Hatfield stressed that the report, received in early November, has been studied extensively by the provincial government.

The objective of the study was to evaluate New Brunswick's budworm control program as a tool of forest management from an economic and a forest production point of view. The study gave specific consideration to past management practices, the current situation, and alternative approaches to budworm control in the future.

The report states that as long as the fir-spruce forest is the basis of the provincial forest industry and that the forest is systematically harvested for timber, there will be a need for protection from spruce budworm damage. Without protection the opportunity to manage the forest in the long-term interests of the province would be lost and the forest would have to be exploited for short term gains.

In assessing possible budworm control measures the task force looked for techniques which would maintain a productive forest and sustain existing levels of employment in forest industries without engaging in a long-term spray program.

The study concludes that there is no known mechanism for protection which can satisfy all of these constraints at the same time.

In the short term the task force found no apparent alternative to chemical spraying for spruce budworm control, although there may be opportunities for reducing the scale of the program. Over the long term the report says the only way to avoid chemical spraying is to make operational one of the alternative control measures which are currently only in the experimental stage.

The report says it seems probable that the spruce budworm infestation will persist much as in the past 25 years as the forest that supports it is maintained. It emphasizes that continuous long-term management will be necessary to cause the long-term problem. Furthermore that without adequate protection and without a more active forest development policy, serious wood deficiencies can be predicted.

The $100,000 report was prepared during the past six months and was funded under the Planning Subsidiary Agreement between the Province and DREE, each having assumed 50 per cent of the costs. The federal Department of Environment provided staff resources and other inputs to the study. Inputs were also made by the University of British Columbia and other agencies and institutions.

Individuals interested in obtaining a copy of the Report may direct their inquiry to: Forest Extension Service, Department of Natural Resources, R. R. No. 5, Fredericton, N.B. Limited copies in the English text are available at this time.

Canada's Non-Smokers Are Joining Together

Canada, like so many other countries, has experienced an increasing mobilization of its non-smoking forces from coast to coast. Just as the late Sixties' emphasis on ecology made most people aware of their environment, the mid-Seventies reveals an increased sensitization towards the unpleasant effects of second-hand smoke.

The result is the appearance of the non-smokers' rights movement, giving rise to GASP (Group Against Smoke Pollution), ASH (Action on Smoking and Health) and non-smokers' associations of sundry other names. The outcome has been a mushrooming of the activities of these groups in all provinces, uniting the non-smokers and permitting the long-silent sufferers of tobacco smoke to come into the open. Not surprisingly, a certain amount of self-righteous militancy was unavoidable. That these movements serve to unite non-smokers, however, is beyond a doubt. The Non-Smokers Association (Ottawa-Hull) for example started in October 1973 with about 20 members. Today it has over 2,000.

While the non-smokers' rights movement, as its name implies, has concerned itself, at least initially, with the rights of non-smokers (the right to unpolluted air in all public places) there has emerged another kind of movement whose concerns centres on the health hazards of tobacco smoke both to the smoker and to the non-smoker.

The appearance of provincial councils on smoking and health, no longer grassroots organizations but councils made up of representatives of voluntary health and professional associations, have shown that it is not only what many smokers considered to be the lunatic fringe that objects to their smoking. At the present time, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have fully functioning provincial councils. The other five provinces are working towards their establishment. These councils, because of their organizational rather than individual membership, have a very wide representational base, giving them a respectability and credibility that is difficult to ignore.

At the national level there is Canadian Council on Smoking and Health, an umbrella organization formed in 1974. Its membership includes the Canadian Cancer Society, the Canadian Heart Foundation, the Canadian Medical Association and many other national organizations with an interest in smoking and health, as well as the provincial councils. Its responsibilities include the coordination of the educational activities in the smoking and health field of its members, the provision of a national information service and liaison with the federal government.

The Council is in the midst of planning the 1977 National Education Week on Smoking, a national event which will take place January 9 to 15 under the theme, "Join the Majority - Be a Non- Smoker".

With so many groups working against tobacco smoke, what is being achieved? There are many concrete accomplishments which have occurred over the last few years. Increasing numbers of municipalities are passing no-smoking by-laws applicable to supermarkets etc., more and more restaurants are setting aside smoke-free areas, recently a number of hotels have established non-smoking floors.

most main transportation means accommodate non-smokers to varying degrees, many universities and colleges have eliminated smoking in classrooms, and an increasing number of hospitals prohibit smoking in all patient areas.

The famous Bill C-242, the Non-Smokers Relief Act could have unified the non-smoking forces across Canada and left no doubt about the respectability of the cause, had it received third reading last year in Ottawa.

In statistical terms progress has been made. According to "The Smoking Habits of Canadians 1965-1974", the proportion of non-smokers in the population has steadily been increasing, the one notable exception being female teenagers. This last group must be a logical target for all those involved in the smoking and health field.

Are non-smokers winning the Battle? While the statistics are encouraging, success is still a long way off. However, there has undoubtedly been an increase in awareness of the hazards of smoking during the last few years. One thing is certain: never again will the rights of non-smokers be ignored. Hopefully, in another twenty years it will be as unacceptable to throw ashes and butts on the floor as it is to spit on the ground. And the ashtray will go the way of the spittoon.

For more information on non-smoking programs, contact your local unit of the (N.B. Division) Canadian Cancer Society.

Tourism Advisory Council Appointed

Tourism Minister Fernand G. Dube has announced the appointment of the 14-member 1977 Tourism Advisory Council whose members represent various tourism-related organizations and the public sector within both language groups throughout New Brunswick.

James Frise of St. Andrews will be chairman of the newly-appointed council and Frank Landry of Moncton, the vice-chairman. Mr. Frise, the general manager of the Algonquin Hotel operated by Canadian Pacific, will be representing the New Brunswick Hotel - Motel Association. He is also president of the St. Andrews Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Landry is a representative of the Maritime Retail Gasoline Association.

The new council consists of Patricia Ames, Mactaquac, representing New Brunswick Host Farms Association; Keith DeGrace, Bathurst, Canadian Restaurant Association; George LaBelle, Cocagne, New Brunswick Craftsmen's Council; Floyd Lavallee, Cap Pele, Campground Owners Association of New Brunswick; George Savoie, Neguac, Northumberland Tourist Association; Gordon Weir, Alma, Albert County Tourist Association; William Whalen, Nelson-Miramichi, New Brunswick Federation of Labour. Other members representing the public sector include Antonio Laforge, Grand Falls; Paul Racine, Campbellton; Guy Raymond, Edmundston; Frances Wishart, Woodstock; and Robert Cunningham of Saint John.

The first Tourism Advisory Council was appointed in 1971 to provide a liaison between the various sectors of the tourism industry, the general public and the minister of tourism. It is responsible to the minister and has, since its formation, provided a valuable link between the industry, the general public and the government.

City Council Ponders New Air Service Idea

Details of a proposal which could bring about a resumption of regular air service between Bathurst and the City of Fredericton were made known at a meeting of Bathurst City Council last Tuesday night.

Before making a decision on the Air Bathurst Ltd. proposal, however, city councillors opted to forward the package to the recently-formed Airport Commission for a cost study and recommendations.

Presenting the idea to the council meeting on behalf of Air Bathurst was Eric Tall, operations manager. Mr. Tall traced the short history of air transportation in the city which ended some months ago with the termination of a Bathurst-Saint John-Bangor run by Atlantic Central Airlines. He noted that three air carriers had attempted to provide service to the area since the late 1960s, and all three had encountered overwhelming financial difficulties.

The spokesman pointed out that Air Bathurst, a private company which currently rents space in the municipal airport, has been in operation since 1969 and has always been "in the black". He said the firm was granted an updated license in June of 1976 to operate all-weather as well as larger aircraft. He stated the company at present is running the Cessna 210, a five-passenger twin engine plane.

Air Bathurst, according to Mr. Tall, is proposing two daily (Monday – Friday) round-trip flights from Bathurst to Fredericton as well as one flight on Sundays. The package includes an arrangement for reservations from Fredericton on the five-seater.

"Air Bathurst would carry the risk of three seats", said Mr. Tall, "while the City of Bathurst would carry the fourth seat. When the fifth is occupied, the City would be credited." He added the proposed service could be started upon short notice.

Mr. Tall said the company has studied the passenger load experienced over the past 18 months by Atlantic Central and found an average of between six and seven per flight.

"If we could maintain an average of seven passengers per round trip, or $140 per hour, we could continue the service indefinitely. Also, if the passenger load was found to be in excess of this number, the company would consider the purchase of a larger plane", said Mr. Tall.

He felt that a locally-owned air service would have a better chance of survival as the overhead costs would not increase and also because the service's operators would be helping their own community.

To a question from Councillor Doug Williamson, Mr. Tall estimated the air fare for the Bathurst-Fredericton flight at $80 return, or $30 one-way. Depending on the public's response, the company might later apply for a Class Three level (compared to the present Class Four) and incorporate this flight into a longer run and thereby bring the price down.

Several other councillors were interested in how much money the city would lose if the fourth seat were not occupied. Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Mayor John Duffy, pointed out the city could be liable for $120 per day if the passenger count did not reach four each way on the two flights.

However, Mr. Tall noted the city could in fact make money if public response is good. "We are not looking for a killing", he remarked. He suggested a short contract, perhaps six months, for the onset of the venture, during which time he felt the city could "make enough money to pay most of the electricity costs" at the airport.

Kent Ward Councillor Joe MacNeil, although appreciative of the presentation, felt the municipality could not subsidize an airline service "which in effect we would be doing if we carried the risk for one seat. If this is such a sure thing, why are we being asked to guarantee anything? We can't even see our way clear to subsidize a bus line for the benefit of our elderly."

At any rate, council members agreed to have the Airport Commission examine the proposal and bring its sentiments back to council as soon as possible.

ELECTRICIAN'S HOBBY: INTERESTING, USEFUL, AND TIME CONSUMING

Bernard Boucher, 866 Rough Waters Dr., a well known local electrical contractor and popular musician, has adopted a very interesting hobby, to which he has become completely dedicated.

Four years ago, Mr. Boucher began collecting animals mounted by different taxidermists in this area and abroad. Fascinated by the challenge of such a pursuit, he decided to try it for himself.

He took a correspondence course from the North Western School of Taxidermy, Nebraska, U.S.A., and for the past three years, he has been a fully qualified and licensed taxidermist.

Mr. Boucher claims he has the largest shop on the North Shore which is equipped with an embalming room, working area, and a showroom. His shop is open to anyone or groups who wish to visit and view the assortment of animals and birds on hand.

There include Canada Geese, weasels, a crow, raven, martin, lobster, muskrat, squirrels, a mallard duck, fox, bobcat, raccoon, ground-hog, trout, partridge, alligator, bear and many others.

Mr. Boucher stated that recently, Scouts, Cubs, and Beavers have visited his premises and have found the display very educational.

Since the process of mounting an animal takes from 4 to 6 weeks, Mr. Boucher is assisted by his wife in the final stages of the job. The mounting plaques for the finished products are also made by Mr. Boucher.

Enjoying this hobby, Mr. Boucher can style and position any kind or size of animal preferably small or medium types. One strict rule Mr. Boucher follows to the letter is that he will not do domestic or protected species and hopes that no one will destroy wildlife just to have it mounted.

Mr. Boucher, holds into a 24-inch lang sea trout. It has a 14" girth and was caught by Glenn Daley, from the down shore area.

Increased Stipends Pass First Reading

First reading of a bylaw which provides for a six per cent increase for the mayor and councillors of Bathurst was approved by a 4-3 margin Tuesday.

The hike amounts to 10 per-cent per year per councillor and comes into effect June 1, 1977.

The relevant by-law (No 621) contains the following provisions:

The annual salary of the mayor will be $2,967., plus $1,382 per year for expenses incidental to the discharge of his duties, all payable in quarterly installments.

The annual salary of each councillor is $2,100 plus $550. per year for expenses incidental to the discharge of his duties, all payable in quarterly installments.

Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie described the hike as "an insult" to councillors and felt the salary should remain as is if it could not be increased enough "to make it worthwhile for those coming in", referring to municipal elections set for May.

Coun. Robert Hodgins agreed, adding he would like to see the correspondence between Anti-Inflation Board officials and the city manager concerning allowable increases. Mr. Marquis was not present at last night's meeting as he is attending a Municipal Borrowing Board hearing in Fredericton.

Voting against the first reading were Couns. MacLaggan, Hodgins and Lavoie. In favor were Couns. Williamson, MacNeil, Saulnier and Murphy.

Concerned over infringements on a bylaw governing snow clearance by private citizens, council will advertise these bylaw regulations in local papers and on radio. The meeting was told that pushing snow onto streets and sidewalks is in direct violation of the legislation, and the rules will be enforced by the City Police Force following the two-week warning period.

In other business, council agreed to advance the sum of $2,808.69 to the Bathurst Festival Commission to cover a cash deficiency following the 1976 Hospitality Days. Coun. Joe MacNeil pointed out the money will be paid to the provincial government for sales tax. The funds will be repaid no later than Dec. 31, 1977.

The City of Bathurst's representative on the board of directors of the Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission, City Manager Pierre Marquis, was re-appointed to another two-year term.

IN THE BLOOD

The Berry family of Bathurst is sold on the Canadian Forces. There is obviously no doubt about that.

Russ and Dorothy first met in the RCAF and were subsequently married. The latter left the service after 4 years to raise a family and the former remained to complete his tour of duty lasting 21 years.

They and their 4 children then moved to Bathurst where Russ entered the accounting field. After working at The Northern Light and with the Eddy organization, he joined McGrath Pontiac Buick Ltd., where he remains at present.

Being members of a service family and having lived on various military bases throughout the country, the Berrys know what this type of life is all about and it must have appealed to them.

Without any influence or pressure on the part of his parents, son Glenn joined up following his graduation from Bathurst High School last year and is stationed at CFB Borden, Ont.

Likewise, his sister Wanda, also a BHS graduate, who has since held several successful positions in the city, was indoctrinated this week. She reports Feb. 7 for basic training at CFB Cornwallis, N.S.

SIGN LANGUAGE DEMONSTRATION NOVEL EXPERIENCE

Over 20 hearing-handicapped residents of the Bathurst area, members of French-speaking families, were among 30 persons who gathered Tuesday evening for a sign-language demonstration at the K of C Hall, Douglas Ave.

Rev. Peter Monty, SJ, of Guelph, who has devoted many years aiding the deaf of Ontario, first addressed the group in the manner, using full circuits as symbols to illustrate God's many gifts to humanity.

Father Monty then heard confessions and administered Communion, followed by mass celebrated simultaneously in French and the sign-language.

Lunch ensued and the evening was climaxed by the demonstration of a TTY, a teletype apparatus equipped with an acoustical coupler enabling hearing handicapped individuals to communicate via telephone.

The plot shows Father Monty as he introduces Bertha Curtis of the Ecumenical Ministry of the Deaf, Saint John, in the sign-language. Rev. J. P. Fournier, rector of Sacred Heart Cathedral, who assisted in the celebration of the mass and read the Gospel, appears at right.

Tuesday evening's program was arranged by the Gloucester County Assn. for the Deaf, of which G. W. Buffett is president. Mr. Buffett is also president of the New Brunswick Coordinating Council for the Deaf, as well as a member of the national body, the Canadian Coordinating Council for the Deaf.

Rotary Club Proves Welcome Benefactor

Highlighting the annual meeting of the Bathurst Branch of the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded, held recently at the Flowers of Hope Training School, was the announcement that Bathurst Rotary Club will provide the financial backing for a van to be used by the Flowers of Hope Training School and the Adult Workshop at Bass River.

Nicole Pitre, vice-president elect, further revealed that through arrangements made by Evan Moffitt of Bayside Chrysler Dodge, the association will have the vehicle for a three-year period.

The van will accommodate 12 students and there is storage space for wheelchairs. Fred Wesenberg, of Fred's Pack, has generously offered to provide gas and oil.

Ms. Pitre was congratulated for her successful efforts in obtaining the vehicle, which will be a tremendous asset to both the school and workshop. The association had been endeavouring to acquire such a type of transportation for almost ten years.

Mrs. Anne Marie Gammon, principal of Flowers of Hope School, reported that the fall term ended December 15 with a Christmas concert and visit from Santa. The following day the students enjoyed their annual Christmas dinner at Danny's Colonial House, guests of the Rotary Club, with entertainment provided by Cyrille Hachey and son.

Mrs. Geraldine Harris, principal of the Adult Workshop at Bass River, gave an account of her activities for 1976. Members of the Workshop visited the Animal Shelter on Sutherland Ave., participated in the Toll Gate project later in the year, and enjoyed the Rotary Christmas party at Danny's as well.

Mrs. Harris acknowledged contributions to the Workshop from the UCT, Thomas TV, Best TV and Norcoast Vans. She noted that the Workshop is in need of food for the kitchen, a large coffee perculator, scrap lumber and sewing materials. Any and all donations will be greatly appreciated. Further information in this connection is available from Mrs. Harris, at 548-3077.

Diane Bujold, a member of the Home Care Committee, read that group's report for 1976. Mrs. John Cormier was chairperson with seven members assisting her. The committee had nine meetings during the year, visited the mentally handicapped in hospital, made five visits to the homes of retarded children, assisted the Toll Gate project and the Flowers of Hope seed campaign.

Sylvia Lethbridge was appointed chairperson of the Telephone Committee, assisted by Nicole Pitre.

Gerald Harris read the 1976 report of the Properties Committee. A new roof and floor tiles were installed at the Adult Workshop at Bass River, it was noted, and a ramp was constructed at Flowers of Hope School.

Citizens are asked to save food coupons (the type found in the products that allow discounts on purchases) for the CAMR. These coupons may be deposited at the Captain's Cabin in the Fresette Mall or at the Bathurst Tribune, 200 Main St.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Bathurst Branch of the CAMR is invited to attend the next regular meeting on February 8, at 7:30 p.m., in Flowers of Hope School.

Humor Flows From Hydrants

Depending on where you live in Bathurst, fire trucks may or may not have easy access to those all-important fire hydrants which could spell life or death in an emergency situation.

In an impromptu poll at Tuesday's council meeting, councillors commented on the subject which was brought up by Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie. He wanted to know whether the hydrant-clearing policy had been changed as the one directly in front of his home in Kent Ward was barely visible because of the pile-up of snow.

Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin stated the hydrants in his ward (Saffyn) hadn't been cleared since fall.

The second Saffyn Ward councillor, Doug Williamson, begged to differ, stating they had been shovelled out this month.

Coun. Bob Hodgins chimed in, saying all those in Hachey Ward had been done, to which Coun. Lavoie retorted, "Not fair; Hachey Ward gets everything."

"Yes, but we don't have any street lights to see them over there", commented Coun. Val Saulnier.

ENJOY POPULAR WINTER SPORT

A sliding party was organized for students at Flowers of Hope School Friday, January 14. Despite the cold weather, the entire group, supervised by their instructors, participated in the fun. A steep hill near the school served the dual purpose of giving the youngsters a long ride down and a long walk back which kept them from minding the cold.

CST. PIERRE LAPOINTE

New Constable Sports-Minded

One of five new policemen hired to bolster the City of Bathurst Police Force on January 5 was Pierre Phillip LaPointe, 19, a native of St. Leonard, N.B.

Cst. LaPointe, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand LaPointe, graduated from high school in 1975 and attended the Atlantic Police Academy in Charlottetown from January 12 to December 10, 1976. This instruction was followed by on-the-job training in Grand Falls.

Cst. LaPointe is fluently bilingual, having taken advantage of summer employment with an uncle in Bristol, Conn. as a carpenter to improve his English.

Interested in sports, the new policeman has played baseball, softball and basketball, and has been an active participant in curling.

Local Educator Named To Head Nat'l Group

R.A. OUELLETTE

R.A. (Roland) Ouellette of Bathurst, superintendent of schools for School District No 4, was elected president of the Canadian Association of School Administrators at the annual meeting of the association held recently in Halifax.

Born in Edmundston, Mr. Ouellette completed high school in that community and pursued his post secondary education at Bathurst College, Ottawa University, the University of Montreal and Laval University, receiving a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Education and a Masters in education.

He began his teaching career in 1942 and was successively teacher, principal, vice-principal and guidance counsellor in schools in Edmundston and in the county of Madawaska.

From 1960-66, Mr. Ouellette was assistant regional superintendent of Indian schools located in Quebec. Then in 1966, he was named superintendent of schools for the City of Bathurst, followed by an appointment in 1967 to superintendent of schools for District No. 4.

Mr. Ouellette was also president of the New Brunswick Superintendents of Schools Association in 1967-68.

The Canadian Association of School Administrators is a federation of provincial and territorial associations. Membership consists of 1,200 senior administrative education officials representing all provinces. A professional organization, the association's purpose is to identify national educational issues and to arrive through extensive dialogue and professional development, at a consensus for their resolution.

The federation lists as its objectives the following:

-To contribute to education in Canada a sense of unity and purpose by fostering among members of the association good will, understanding, and increased knowledge of educational administration.

-To provide a national voice on educational matters superseding those involved in educational administration in Canada.

-To provide for communication among educational administrators in Canada through such means as national and regional conferences; and decision on educational issues of wide concern to the members, and exchange of printed publications and position papers on issues in education.

-To promote the professional development of its members through such means as: information exchange service among member associations and the national executive and an intervisitation program, among others.

-To provide liaison with the Canadian Education Association, Canadian Teachers Federation, Canadian School Trustees Association, the Council of Ministers, International Intervisitation Programs, and other national and international organizations having an interest in education.

The 20th anniversary of the founding of CASA was celebrated in Halifax in 1976.

Canada Manpower Job Information

BY G. J. PRESENTEY

Readers may find the following article from Canada Manpower in Bathurst of interest. It is the first in a series of such articles obtained from G. J. Presentey, Manager of the Bathurst office.

Job Talk

As a general rule, we find that many people in the area are aware of Canada Manpower programs and those who use their services to get the job they want. But then, there are cases where workers move into the office expecting a job to materialize magically when workers do not understand why they cannot go on a Manpower course right now, when people expect us to have all the answers about all federal departments, or when people tell us they did not know our office has changed that much in the past few years.

One of our prime concerns is to ensure the best possible utilization of our manpower programs and services as it relates to the individual, the employer and the community. We offer a variety of services and programs from job placement, institutional and industrial training to assistance in manpower planning. I will be discussing some of these programs at a future time.

Through the column which will be published on a monthly basis, I will try to keep you informed about us. I will try to make the articles as interesting and informative as possible. If at any time you find something in the column that may be of interest to you, please feel free to give us a call, or visit us for further discussion on the topic.

First, let us talk about our offices. In Bathurst, we are presently located in the Federal Building at 305 St. Patrick Street, second floor. We have branch offices in Caraquet and Tracadie (our Bathurst office is open from 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday to Friday and we can be reached by phoning 548-8471). Our area of responsibility is Gloucester County.

In view of the introduction of new permanent job creation programs known as Canada Works and Young Canada Works to be implemented by our Department, I felt it would be appropriate at this first column to give you the main features of these two programs.

Canada Works is a permanent program of the Federal Government designed to alleviate situations of high unemployment in various communities by direct creation of jobs utilizing the skills of Canada's unemployed and at the same time providing useful services or facilities to the community. It is designed to utilize the expertise of local organizations in the development and management of projects that will create new short terme employment opportunities.

The objective of the Program is to get needed work done and public benefits produced by people whose energies and talents are temporarily surplus to private sector needs. Proposals for the Canada Works should demonstrate that they will create new jobs at the time of highest unemployment in the community in which they will operate. In addition, these proposals must create jobs that match the skills of the unemployed in the area.

To be considered under the program, projects must create new jobs that match the skills of the locally unemployed, create jobs which are over and above those that would normally exist in the community, create jobs designed to maintain or increase the skills of project employees, provide worthwhile services or facilities to the community that do not duplicate or compete with existing services or facilities, demonstrate that they can be completed in the proposed time frame and that they will not create a dependency after Canada Works funding ceases and they must be of a non-profit nature.

Young Canada Works is designed to reduce student summer unemployment by enabling established organizations to sponsor employment generating projects in areas of community need. The jobs should be designed to facilitate students' future access to the labour market by enabling them to test possible career interests and to obtain practical experience in a broad choice of fields.

To be considered, projects must create jobs that permit the development of the students' skills and stimulate their interest in the achievement of the project's goals, create jobs over and above those that normally exist in the community, provide worthwhile services or facilities to the community that do not duplicate or compete with existing services or facilities, demonstrate that they can be completed within the proposed time frame and be of a non-profit nature.

Applications for both of the above programs must be received by the Job Creation Branch Office no later than February 4, 1977. At the Bathurst Manpower Centre, the counsellor designated to act as liaison officer for these two Job Creation Programs is Ronald L. Bourgeoise who can be reached at 548-8471.

In our next column, we will explain the features of our Canada Manpower Industrial Training Program.

SEEMS SENSIBLE

Those local promoters of enforcement of the curfew by-law who failed to gain support for their cause from City Council may know what they're talking about.

At least that's the message you get after reading the following Canadian Press dispatch datelined Ledue, Man., January 12.

"RCMP say that since they started enforcing the town's 14-year-old curfew by-law in October, the incidence of vandalism has decreased.

"What it is, is a lever", said Cpl. Don Barber. "If we stop a teenager at night and he doesn't want to tell us what he's doing, we can use the by-law."

LET HIM BE

It's a dirty lord that feels its own nest", the saying goes, and perhaps we shouldn't be running down our own craft, but ...

Prince Andrew is a youth who should be allowed to live as normal a life as possible while he is in Canada. That he is responsible for his actions is true but he does not need to be constantly observed. He is here to follow his studies, not to be placed on a pedestal and taken from one office conference to another.

For news people and glory seekers to give the Prince probably a future King of England a different time is rude and offensive. Leave him alone and he will be a credit to himself and his family. And, Canada will be better for his having been here.

TIPS AND TAKES

Shareholders, who have become a vanishing breed in this area in recent years, appear to be on the comeback trail. Last year Walter Davidson opened in the East end of the city, and in the near future, Thomas G. Chamberlain will be in business in Downtown Bathurst. He will located in the Lavoie Arseneau Bldg., 332 King Ave., or directly across from The Northern Light. ... Showing of the CIL Art Collection at Nepisiguit Centennial Library, originally scheduled from Jan. 10 to 28, has been postponed one week due to weather conditions. The new dates, therefore, are from Jan. 25 to Feb. 4, with hours from 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays and 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Sat. ... From 11:45 to 12:45 a.m. every Sunday during the season, city employees, mainly policemen and firemen, hold a hockey session at Bathurst Arena. J. P. Lavoie, the only city councillor to join the group, claims it's good for the morale. Sometimes, it has objectionable physical effects, however, like last weekend when Mr. Lavoie suffered a black eye in the fray. He accepted the minor injury in good stead, but has yet to determine if the shiner was inflicted accidentally or on purpose, he muses. ... Former resident, Charles Maichou, appointed chairman of the Lamoreille Area Projects Bargaining Authority for one year, effective Dec. 1, 1976. ... City Councillor Joe McNeil has denied a report he has any interest in the mayoralty. He has confirmed, however, that he will be running again in Kent Ward in the May 9 municipal election. ... Despite the earlier election date this year, the present city council officially remains in office until June 30. ... Don Hanlon, a well-known personality in the news field, with other business interests in the city, is the first to formally declare his candidacy in the May 9 municipal election. He will be seeking the mayoralty. ... Sympathy being extended to the Reginald Whelton family of Petersville, whose home was completely destroyed by fire Jan. 14. The Carleton Grill, a favorite city restaurant and popular as well with a province-wide clientele, which had been closed for a week, has reopened. The new proprietress is Judy Hector, who also operates another eatery known as the Sea Drift in Shediac. ... An envelope containing a cheque, posted in Bathurst, addressed to the General Hospital, Waterloo St., Saint John, was returned to the sender marked "Moved-Address Unknown". ... It's now one down and five to go as far as the sale of Brunswick Mills is concerned. The U.S. firm which was contemplating acquiring the operation has changed its mind because "the Canadian economy is too unstable. Last Rites For Amedee DeGrace

Rev. Noel Cormier, Rev. John DeGrace and Rev. Jules Genereaux, Cap., officiated at the con-celebrated mass for Amedee DeGrace held at Holy Family Church Jan. 13 at 4 p.m.

Rev. Gregory Sampson was present in the sanctuary.

The pallbearers were Omer DeGrace, Ludger DeGrace, Rene Thibodeau, Charles Savoy, Lucien Boudreau and Gerard DeGrace.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Avenue, pending burial in the adjoining cemetery this spring.

Those attending from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Savoy, Chatham, and other relatives and friends from the Petit Rocher area.

Henry Laffoley Funeral Thurs.

The death of Henry Laffoley, a resident of 570 Bridge Street for over 15 years, occured early Jan. 18 at Chaleur General Hospital where he was a patient for five weeks.

Born Nov. 19, 1899, on the Island of Jersey, Mr. Laffoley came to Canada by ship, arriving at Caraquet Port at 16 years of age. He worked there for a time with an oil company and then for the W.S. Loggie Company fishing business before moving to Bathurst.

Mr. Laffoley was employed with Bathurst Power and Paper Co. Ltd., now Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd., before enlistment and served with the Security Police Corps at the Port of Halifax during World War Two.

After his discharge, Mr. Laffoley resumed work here with Bathurst Power before becoming employed with Northern Machine Works Ltd. for a number of years until he retired.

He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

His wife, the former Cecile Chiasson of Caraquet, died in July, 1969.

Surviving are four sons, Oswald, Clinton and Francis, all of Bathurst and Harold of Hanmer, Ont.; two daughters, Mrs. Rene Godin (Florence) of Montreal and Mrs. Romeo Doucet (Lena) of Beresford as well as 16 grandchildren.

A daughter, Mrs. Raymond Doucet (Marion), with whom he had been residing, died Aug. 25, 1976.

Mr. Laffoley is resting at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

The funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church. Entombment in the parish receiving vault, St. Mary Avenue, will be followed by spring burial in the adjoining cemetery.

NEWLY OPENED IN INDUSTRIAL PARK

A recent addition in the Industrial Park, Miramichi Ave., is APM. The firm is situated at 720 Foley St. and handle all the necessary supplies for automobile dealers, body shops, fleet and industrial accounts.

Fewer There Due Weather

(Contributed)

The regular Monday night meeting of the Peace, Joy and Love Prayer Community was held on January 10. There was a smaller number than usual because of the inclement weather. However six new members were welcomed by the community and an inspiring evening was appreciated.

A very informative teaching was given during which we were told to be true witnesses for The Lord and to strive to find the truth and to be better Christians whatever our religious beliefs.

Mass was conceiebrated by Rev. Greg Culligan and Rev. Greg Samson. The readings were a repetition of the Sunday Mass reading where we were told of Jesus' baptism in the Jordan. We were reminded to be faithful to our own baptism and to the teachings of Jesus.

Tea, coffee and fellowship were enjoyed at the close of the evening.

Luke Ch. 12 - V 13 - 21 tells the parable of the rich foul. Verse 21 states "And Jesus concluded 'This is how it is with those who pile up riches for themselves but are not rich in God's sight.'"

Mishap Victim Tribute Paid

BOIS-BLANC — The death of Daniel Gagnon occurred in a highway accident at Tracadie Jan. 7 at the age of 22.

Unmarried, he was a son of Emery and Exilda (Robichaud) Gagnon.

Surviving besides his parents are five brothers, Donald of Saint Irenee, Michel, Raoul, Paul and Levi, all at home; six sisters, Mrs. Firmin Maillet (Noella) and Mrs. Reginald Hache (Marie-Anne), both of LeGoulet, Mrs. Claude Duguay (Donalda) of Maltempsoque, and Pierrette, Dora and Denise, all at home.

Mr. Gagnon rested at Robichaud's Funeral Home, Tracadie.

The funeral was held at Saint Isidore Church Monday at 3:30 p.m. with entombment in the parish receiving vault. Burial will take place in the spring.

Paul Ouellette Sparks Alpines

Veteran Paul Ouellette triggered three goals and assisted on two others to lead Bathurst Alpines to 12 - 4 romp over Chatham Ironmen in an NSHL contest here last night. His brother Lou scored once and added four assists as the Alpines recorded their third win in a row.

Mike Brophy and Mike Morton fired a brace for the winners with the others coming from Jack Roy, Dan Roy, Brian Chamberlain and George Willett. Ken Martin, Daniel Lessard, Lennie Clark and Danny Gill replied for the Ironmen who were outshot 50 - 30.

Bathurst led 3 - 2 after the first period and then pulled away with four unanswered goals in the second. The win leaves the Alpines 10 points back of the leading Campbellton Tigers and they have a chance to cut that margin when they meet the Tigers in a make-up game tonight in Campbellton.

Progress is a matter of trade - trading all our old problems for new and bigger ones.

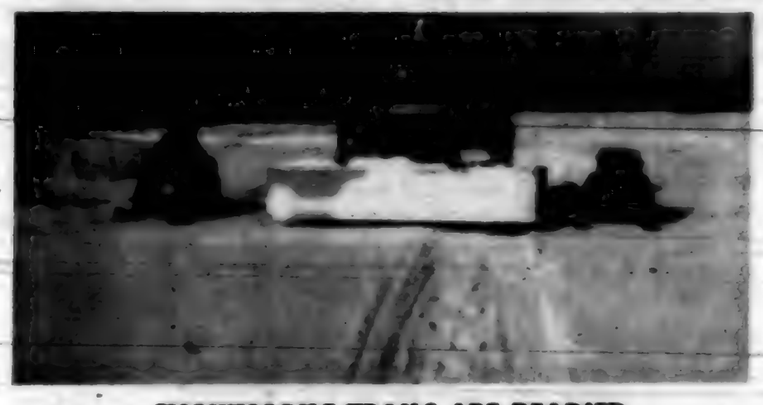
CAMR ELECTS NEW EXECUTIVE FOR THE YEAR 1977

A new slate of officers was elected at a recent meeting of the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded (CAMR), held at the Flowers of Hope School. Seated from the left are: Chriss Roberts, secretary; Paul Comeau, president; and Laurette Pitre, treasurer; standing: Hector Sonier, adult services chairman; J. Roger Bujold, 2nd vice-president; Gail Fellows, publicity chairman; Diane Bujold, home care committee; Geraldine Harris, membership; Gerald Harris, chairman of properties; and Anne Marie Gamman, principal Flowers of Hope School. Missing from photo are: Nicole Pitre, 1st vice-president; and Hugh Purcell, transportation.



SNOWMOBILE TRAILS ARE READIED

This ski doser is at present packing snowmobile trails which are available to all snowmobilers in the area. After the trails become harder, the doser will pull the trail groomer to provide excellent trails in the following areas: From the Nine Mile East parking lot to the Rio Road; west by California Lake to Red Pine Knoll; to Rogers Lake Camp via the upriver road and back to Nine Mile East by the old Theriault Road.

Also from Surmacq to the three Tetagouche Lakes to the Road to Resources, down the old Caribou Road to hook up to the Rio Road.

A short trail from the Bathurst Fish and Game Lodge to the Nine Mile parking lot is now in use, and a trail from the Lodge to the city is planned for the near future.

A map of these trails will be available in a few weeks from the Department of Natural Resources and the Bathurst Snowmobile Club. A word of caution to the users of this system: As the trails are for two-way traffic, please drive carefully and remain on your side of the trail.

A welcome party is to be held at the Fish and Game Lodge Saturday evening, Jan. 22 to greet a group of snowmobilers coming to visit Bathurst from Edmundston. Approximately five or six are expected at this time to check out the route for a future expedition of about 100. Six members of the Bathurst Snowmobile Club are riding to St. Quentin Friday, Jan 21 to escort the group to the Lodge.

The visitors will spend the night at the Lodge and return to Edmundston on Sunday. All Snowmobile Club members are invited to attend this welcoming party.

The Snowmobile Club needs the support of all snowmobilers to insure trails for the future. Accordingly, all are kindly asked to help by becoming a member and participating in the functions of a very worthwhile organization.

Memberships are still available at all snowmobile dealers.

Peat Moss Is Water Purifier

Peat moss, alias "the poor man's coal," is being used by two University of Sherbrooke researchers to help solve industry's water-pollution problems.

Drs. Jean-Marc Lalancette and Bernard Coupal, professors at Sherbrooke's Faculties of Science and Applied Sciences, have found that peat moss - an organic material that has decomposed in an aerless, moist environment - has certain special chemical properties that can purify waste water containing heavy metals.

Specifically, peat moss has the ability - through formation of chemical groups or bonds - to absorb chemicals in solution.

According to Lalancette and Coupal peat moss has an unusual ability to capture and hold metals such as copper, zinc and mercury, and this is related to the acid content of the solution they are found in.

With an $80,000 grant from the National Research Council, an amount the university matched, the two supervised construction of a pilot plant with a capacity to treat about 20,000 gallons of waste daily.

Surprisingly good results have been obtained during testing. After passing through the peat filter, the concentration of many metals was often below the standards set by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Psychologist, Social Worker Address Home-School Meeting

The service provided by psychologists and social workers in School District No. 4 was the main topic of discussion at the first meeting of the new year for the Superior Home and School Association January 11.

Chris Surette, a psychologist, and Ginette Theriault, social worker, both employed with the local school district, acquainted parents with the services provided for children in grades one to six.

In describing the various stages of growth from infancy to the fifth year - physical, social, emotional and intellectual - Mr. Surette stated this period is the time when the most learning takes place. He said parents are the first educators of their children.

The speaker indicated that the school's role is to see to the development of the child as a whole person, not only intellectually.

Describing her part in the school program, Ginette Theriault noted that a child encounters emotional, social and personal problems. More specifically, the child may not get along with others and become a loner or a fighter; he may have school-related or other fears; or he may be bored. She pointed out that some children may experience physical pain while others may be temporarily upset due to family problems. All of these affect learning, Miss Theriault said.

Such problems can be helped in four ways: counselling, play therapy, group work and helping the child by helping the parent or teacher to understand his particular needs.

It was felt that parents should become more involved in the school and that the schools should be more open to parents so they will feel free to discuss problems with the teachers. One way of achieving this rapport, the meeting was told, is through a home and school association.

Parents in attendance asked many questions which were capably answered by the two guests. The general feeling, following the program, was that future programs along the same lines would be beneficial as the presentation was enjoyed by all.

In other business, library committee chairman Kathy Brown reported on books brought to the school library. It was noted that many more books are needed, especially easy-reading titles for younger grades.

Ways and means committee chairman Jim Pickard gave a report on the December turkey draws while, school principal, Albert Lavigne, gave progress to date on school repairs.

Following the meeting, which was chaired by President Hugh Campbell, the students served coffee and a social hour was enjoyed.

The next home and school meeting is set for February 8, at 7:30 in the school library, and parents of children attending Superior School are urged to attend. Children spend a lot of time in school and parents should also be involved in school life.

Twelve Teams In Tournament

A PeeWee Kentucky Fried Chicken Hockey Tournament will be held in Beresford Arena, February 4, 5 and 6th. Participating are teams: 4 in Class "A" and 8 in Class "B".

The tournament will start Friday night with 4 games. Saturday, there will be 10 games, including consolation final. A meal will be served, Saturday at noon, for all the young players, courtsey of Kentucky Fried Chicken, sponsors of the tournament.

Class "B" final will start Sunday at 10 a.m. Class "A" final will start at 2 p.m. The finals will be opened by a group of majorettes. Between periods, it will be possible to win a free snack at Kentucky Fried Chicken by playing a game.

The admission fees are $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students and children. This ticket will be valid for all the games Friday and Saturday. For each final, tickets will cost $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students and children. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

More information is available from Paul Losier (546-4002) or Robert Gaudet (548-2085).

The organizing committee cordially invites the public to come and see the young pee wees at Beresford arena, Feb. 4, 5 and 6th. Schedules of the games will appear in future editions of the Northern Light.

Smelt Promotion Underway In N.B.

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger announced Jan. 13 that his department is holding a New Brunswick Smelt Promotion Week throughout the province from January 17 to 21.

Presented under the slogan "Smelt Are In", the department wishes to encourage the approximately 450 fishermen involved in this New Brunswick industry during the winter season.

Mr. Leger said that this delicious little silvery fish plays a significant part in the small-scale fishing industry in our province. In fact, from December 1975 to March 1976 smelt catches totalled 1,054 metric tons and were valued at $263,000, an increase of 32 per cent in value over the previous year's catch.

One of the best smelt fishing areas in New Brunswick is the Miramichi estuary. Smelt fishing is done at the mouth of rivers, fairly close to shore. In fall, a gill net is used in open water. However, almost all fishing takes place between December and March.

The minister said that in spite of heavy competition from Great Lakes smelt fishing, New Brunswick smelt fishermen want to sell their catches on the local markets as well as in the international markets.

The smelt is a healthy food because 75 per cent of it is protein. Fresh or frozen, dressed or natural, the price of a pound varies from 40 to 80 cents. Frying is the most popular cooking method, although they are delicious baked and broiled.

Pictures For Punch

"TV Seen Nearer For Commons" reads the caption of a front page item in a recent edition of a provincial daily.

The article goes on to say:

"MPs are expected to approve plans to televise Commons debates shortly after the House resumes later this month but few expect cameras in Parliament until after the election."

That could be some time away or could be any time. Anyway, most Canadians would consider we need this new Press Gallery responsibility like a hole in the head.

And the comedies of errors, who wants them brought right into their homes? It's depressing enough already to read and hear about them regularly.

Then, who will form the bulk of the audience? Housewives and retired people, perhaps, and no doubt those in these categories can think of better types of entertainment and relaxation. Hell knows no fury like a woman scorned and there's no telling what would happen if "Edge of Night" addicts, for instance, had their present pattern of viewing preempted by the proposed new programming.

The cost of the whole thing, as usual, seems of little or no concern or consideration. Hon. C.D. Howe's classic remark of some years back - "what's a million dollars?" like all rising costs, has become old hat. His successors have upped the ante to where it is gradually easing towards the billion-dollar mark.

No actual figures have been quoted as to what the complete transmission of the filmed proceedings of the debates is going to cost, but you can guess at today's prices it's going to be substantial. And this unnecessary expenditure is being flaunted in the face of AIB restrictions".

But here's the joker in the pack: among a few random estimates submitted by consultants is $100,000 a year to pay salaries for technicians and cameramen, maintain machines and buy tape. Unless it's a typographical error, this amount has to be unrealistic. At today's exhorbitant government payroll rates, where are they going to get enough people with the proper qualifications and still stay within that modest budget figure?

Faith In Fish

Encouraging words for New Brunswick's fishing industry were uttered recently by Fisheries Minister Omer Leger. His remarks should have especial appeal to residents of Gloucester County, wherein lies the fishing capital of the province.

The fishery, Mr. Leger noted, is in a much healthier condition than many people might imagine. Those involved seriously in fishing are earning good incomes and providing themselves and their families with a good life, often in an atmosphere of an enviable nature.

This brings up the question of New Brunswick's direction in job opportunities.

For many years, the emphasis has been on the acquisition of secondary and manufacturing industries. But is this necessarily right? If man is to fulfill his role in providing food and a livelihood, why do we not look more closely at the basic resource we enjoy?

Fishing is one of these and, if it can provide a good lifestyle, we perhaps should be working towards encouraging more New Brunswickers to take it up. There is no disgrace in honest labor, and there should be no reason to hold back if it pays well, as the fishery appears to do.

FIREFIGHTERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR '77

The Chaleur Firefighters Association in a recent meeting elected their executive for the year 1977. Seated from the left are: Hector Diotte, secretary, from the Balmoral Brigade; Alonzo Guitard, president, from the Charlo Brigade; and Ludger Lagacy, 1st vice-president, from the Pointe Verte Brigade; standing: Ulderic Boudreau, auditor, from the Petit Rocher Brigade; Michael Whalen, auditor, from the Eel River Brigade; Maurice Bujold, 2nd vice-president, from the Eel River Brigade; and Donald Pitre, treasurer, from the Beresford Brigade. The Chaleur Firefighters Association, which include brigades from Bathurst to Tide Head, is promoting closer inter-department relations to assist the fire chiefs in their efforts to reduce fire losses and on the general improvement of their department, fire prevention, fire training, mutual aid programs and to further good sportsmanship in all events among all Chaleur Firefighters.

ACCELERATED PROMOTION

Corporal "Bob" Robichaud, a member of the Canadian Forces Recruiting Team in Bathurst, was recently honored with an early promotion to the rank of Corporal. Because of Corporal Robichaud's outstanding performance coupled with his high potential for leadership and supervisory duties, he was promoted to his present rank six months prior to his eligibility date. Corporal Robichaud is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robichaud, Boston, N.B. Picture shows Corporal Robichaud receiving his "brake" from Major Le Blanc, Detachment Commander of the Recruiting Center in Bathurst.

Suggested New Year's Resolution

Beresford, N.B.
January 6, 1977

Well, we have finally finished 1976 and are beginning 1977 with many people making a so-called New Years' resolution.

Many, unfortunately will not see 1978 and who, besides God, knows who will.

For the past 30 years, I always celebrated New Year's with lots of booze, which would begin two days before New Year's and end two days after. Then booze must likely further in debt than when I began. I would commence the New Year with a very grouchy attitude due to bill collectors looking for money I had already spent.

But this year was something totally different and exciting for me. You see, on the 29th of May 1976, I invited Jesus Christ into my heart and so I spent my first Christmas and New Year as a Christian. Wow! What a thrill! I have been praising God for my salvation ever since.

Henry C. Bunch says of the old Year '76, that it is a closed book, deposited on the shelf of time, not to be taken down again until God opens the volumes of the ages for the final review and judgement.

When I first read this, it sort of scared me to think that I had 30 books, one for each year of my life, on the shelf of time with only about seven months of 1976 in all that time to say I was a Christian and that I'm saved by the shed blood of Jesus Christ.

But then I remembered that Jesus said that once we accept him as our personal saviour, and confessed our sins that we were saved, and that all our sins are forgiven, past, present and future. Wow again! That means that all my 30 books on the shelf of time are clean, erased, if you like.

So you have read this far, you're probably asking yourself how all this happened and who did it happen to? Well, I'm fairly well known throughout Bathurst and the surrounding areas as Roger Glazier. A one time heavy drinker, drug user, pecan controller and what have you, etc. Friends? I had so many friends that I could truly depend on, and call on in time of need that I could count them all on one hand, and still have room for counting up to five on the same hand. Yet drunk or sober(?) no friends. Only buddies when you want to be heard, only someone to use or be used by.

Since I have become a Christian, saved by God's amazing grace, I have witnessed to several of my old time buddies and was told I was crazy, called a Jehovah's witness, which I am not. But I will bear witness for Jehovah who is God, but I do not belong to the denomination which call themselves Jehovah's witnesses.

Well, you say, what law you then? What is a Christian? A Christian is a person, like you and I, who, through want, need, or some other factor, comes to a point in life where he comes to know and love Jesus Christ as his personal saviour. But you say that you've seen me do wrong or heard me speak foul language at some time or other recently and that I'm not an all loved good Romans, chapter 3, verse 10 says, "There is none righteous, no, not one", and Romans 3, verse 23 says, "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God". So you see, even I am a sinner but, a sinner saved by God's amazing grace.

In Romans 10, verse 9, "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God has raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved" fantastic, isn't it?

Many people say, well, I'm a Christian too, I go to church, I believe in God, and I'm no worse than the next fellow. God loves you, friend, but as long as you have that attitude, your a lost soul. So who gives me the right to say whose saved or not? The Bible, friend. The Good News of Jesus Christ. John 3: 16 says, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

So you must believe and accept the fact that Jesus died for you and me, and for you personally.

And John 3:17 tells it all, "For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world..." but that the world through Him might be saved." In John 5: 22-23, Jesus says, "For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgement unto the Son." That all men should honour the Son even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him".

Then in John 10: 9, Jesus said, "I am the door, by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved." Enter in where you say? Well, heaven, paradise, a place of total tranquility, peace, happiness, love, Everlasting joy. Wow! But does the Bible say there is such a place? Sure, in John 14 verse 1 - 3 Jesus says, "Let not your heart be troubled, yet believe in God, believe also in Me. In My Father's house are many mansions, if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also."

Well, that's heaven, mansions in the sky, you have to believe it or else call Jesus a liar. I would rather pray you choose the first choice and believe.

The life span on earth today for the average man is 70 years and anyone old enough to read this and not yet having made a commitment to Jesus is living a miserable life on borrowed time and is destined for eternal damnation. A religious fanatic, I'm not, but I love and praise my wonderful Saviour Jesus Christ.

Won't you remember your New Year's resolution? Speak to someone about Jesus Christ today. Ask any Christian to share the Good News with you. They would only be too glad to speak with you.

Call me if I can be of service.

There is a great need for Christian love in the world today. Make sure when your day comes that your books on the shelves of time are clean.

Henry C. Bunch says, "Knowing that the days are evil and that there is much work to be done, make a fourth surrender of your life to the Saviour. Then as you enter the New Year, you will be a wise decorator of time."

Friend, you can face 1977 with courage by putting your faith in God who is always the same. Don't be afraid, in Hebrews 13: 5-6, Jesus says, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee". "So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me".

May the Lord add His blessing.

A Concerned Christian

Seeks Correction Of Hill Condition

Bathurst, N.B.
January 17, 1977

As a resident of the City of Bathurst, and more specifically of Franklin Avenue, which is located in Millennium Subdivision, South Bathurst, I would like to point out a deplorable situation which exists in the design and layout of a certain portion of Millennium Street, that portion being the hill leading on to Keith Avenue and providing the only access to Rodney Street and Franklin Ave.

The hill I am talking about is well known to everyone living in the neighbourhood as I am sure we have all had our turn at being stuck on it this winter. And what about past winters? Most residents in this area have been struggling with this hill for many years.

Even with the slightest snowfall, this hill is very difficult to drive on, as there is a 90 degree turn directly in front of Mr. Nick Kovats' home which presents great difficulty going onto or coming off the hill. It is nothing but a driving hazard in winter and a menace to people walking or children playing near it. Lucky there is only a dozen or so families using this hill, and lucky it leads to a dead-end street, otherwise there would surely be plenty of unnecessary accidents.

I wouldn't want to see anyone trying to get to the hospital in a hurry in case of emergency. The hill is also hard on tires and cars, and is also inadequately plowed at the best of times.

There is absolutely no reason whatsoever why the situation cannot be corrected by City Hall authorities, and I think it is high time they looked into the matter.

All that is required here to solve the entire problem is a little extra plowing of snow and clearing the access gravelled road which runs from Firlotte Lane all the way to Franklin Ave., bypassing both Keith and Rodney Streets. This would provide direct access to Franklin Ave., Keith Ave. and Rodney St. without going on that menace of a hill.

So, how about it Mr. Murphy? Could this be brought up and acted upon at the next meeting of City Council?

I'm sure we could use the other road at least during winter months and a lot of people would be much happier knowing they will not have to compete against that hill when going to work or simply trying to get downtown.

This is a beautiful subdivision to live in, especially in summer. The view of Bathurst and the basin area is tremendous all year round, and just a little extra plowing is all we need.

Music Festival Campaign Opens

PETER WATLING

The Bathurst Music Festival Committee this week sets off its financial campaign for the 1977 Music Festival to be held at the end of April.

The objective this year is $2,500, and letters requesting financial support are being mailed to businesses, organizations and individuals.

Over the past years, the operating budget for the festival has been increasing, due mainly to giving larger and more numerous scholarships to participants in this music event. In 1976 scholarship payments amounted to $1,700, compared to $600 in 1974.

Needless to say, this festival is for the benefit of the community's young, talented musicians. They range from ages 6 years to 18.

The Festival Committee is again depending on the community's generous support for this very worthwhile project. All donations are tax deductible and official receipts are issued. Donations should be mailed to P. O. Box 145, Bathurst, N.B.

Anyone wishing further information should contact Peter Watling, chairman of the campaign.

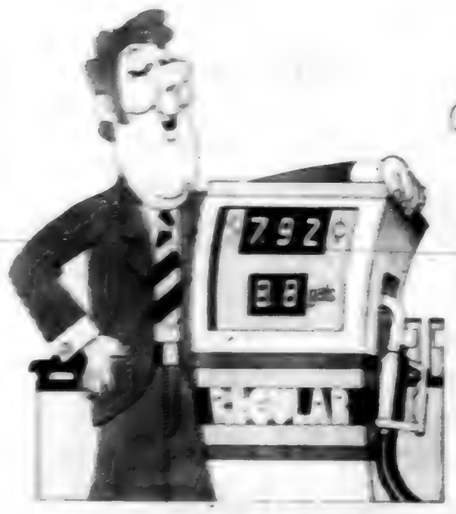
THERE'S TWO WAYS TO LOOK AT HONDA'S TOP MILEAGE NUMBERS.



1. LEAST CENTS PER MILE.*

Fill up a Honda Civic CVCC. It'll take Regular gas. The good news is you can probably top the tank for less than $8.00. The bad news: gas prices are going up.

With gas costed at 90¢ a gallon, according to the Transport Canada fuel economy figures, you can keep the popular Honda Civic Sedan or Hatchback in gasoline for about 2.0¢ per mile. The Station Wagon for 2.3¢ per mile, the best of any 5-door wagon. The CVCC for 1.7¢ per mile, and nobody's topped that figure. The remarkable Accord needs only 1.9¢ per mile.

Your nearby Honda dealer has some other figures you'll like. A price that's right for sure eyes. And some eye-popping gas statistics. See him soon.

2. MOST MILES PER GALLON.*

Of all figures released by Transport Canada, the 1977 Honda Civic CVCC and Honda Accord achieved the highest gas mileage. Both are 5-speed hatchbacks, and fifth gear gives them boosts in mileage by dropping rpm's while cruising.

The actual figures:

CVCC: 47 city, 62 highway, 53 combined.

Accord: 30 city, 58 highway, 46 combined.

Nobody did better than that.

But that's only one way to look at fuel economy.

HONDA

PUT A SMILE ON YOUR FACE. DRIVE A HONDA.

*Based on Canadian cars and highway mileage figures, as supplied by the Ministry of Transport "Fuel Economy Guide." Your actual mileage may vary based on such factors as the type of driving, options fitted to the car, seasonal temperatures, road conditions, the condition of your car and how you drive.

BHS BOYS WIN PEPSI-COLA SCHOOLBOY ZONE

A rink skipped by Carl Lavigne (centre), representing Bathurst High School, won the North-East N.B. Pepsi-Cola Schoolboy Zone playoffs the weekend of January 8-9 at St. Margaret's Rather Base. The rink which also includes, from the left, Stephen White, mate; Claude Doucet, second; Peter Shirley, lead; and Lee Stickles, spare, won the championship after being forced into extra playoff action when regular play ended with four teams tied for first spot. The winning rink will represent the North-East of N.B. in the Provincials to be held the second week of February in Moncton. Following are the games played and results: (Game No. 1) Bathurst 3 - Newcastle 9; (Game No. 2) Bathurst 7 - James M. Hill High 6 'extra end'; (Game No. 3) Bathurst 6 - Chatham 7 'extra end'; (Game No. 4) Bathurst 10 - Curtis Park 8 'extra end'; (Game No. 5) Bathurst 4 - James Park 3. Extra games played: (Game No. 6) Bathurst 7 - James Park 3; (Game No. 7) Bathurst 9 - Newcastle 4.

Jack Roy's Hat Tricks Pace Alpines To 7-6, 8-6 Wins

Jackie Roy, scrappy left winger on the Bathurst Alpines' "Action Line", finally appears to have hit his stride as he fired his second hat trick in as many games to spark the Alpines to an 8 - 6 win over the Ironmen in Chatham Sunday.

Last Thursday in Dalhousie, Jackie netted three goals including the winner in the final minute of play to lift the Bathurst club to a come-from-behind 7 - 6 triumph over the Rangers.

In Chatham, Roy also drew assists on a pair of markers by linemate Mike Brophy. Don Hay, the other member of this trio assisted on three of the five goals scored by his linemates. The fine offensive display by last year's record-breaking "Action Line" has to be an encouraging sign to Bathurst coach Hubert Poulin.

George Willett, Michel Hamel and Mike Morton were the other Alpine marksmen Sunday. Ken Martin, Walter McCarthy, Greg Findlay, Danny Gill, Lonnie Clark and Greg Bowes replied for the Ironmen who trailed 3 - 2 after the first period and 5 - 2 entering the final twenty minutes.

Willett, Hamel and Brophy scored in the first period while Jack Roy added a pair in the second. Chatham scored twice in the first minute of the final period before Jackie completed his hat-trick with an unassisted marker at 3:05. Brophy's second of the game at 8:14 proved the eventual winner.

Edge Rangers

Jackie Roy tipped in a shot from brother Kenny at 19:16 of the final period to give the Alpines an uphill 7 - 6 win over the Rangers last Thursday. It was Jack's third of the game.

Mike Morton, Lou Ouellette, Mike Brophy and Len Doucet also scored for the Alpines who trailed 4 - 2 after the opening period.

Rangers' Luc Bonneville also rifled three goals while Marcel Dumas added a pair. Jim Guitard fired the other.

Rangers led 3 - 3 by the 8-minute mark of the second period before the Alpines took over with three goals in a row. Len Doucet scored at the 8:27 mark and Mike Brophy tied the contest at 14:36. Jack Roy's second of the night gave the Alpines a 6 - 5 margin at the 19:24 mark of the period.

Bonneville tied it up at 5:30 of the third and the teams settled into a defensive pattern until Roy fired the winner in the final minute of play.

Despite the wins, Bathurst failed to gain ground on the league-leading Campbellton Tigers who took a pair of home-and-home wins from the Dalhousie Rangers. Brian Forster netted four goals to spark the Tigers to a 7 - 4 win Friday in Campbellton and the NSHL pace-setters doubled the Rangers 6 - 3 Sunday night in Dalhousie.

Standings following weekend play show the Tigers on top with 37 points on 18 wins, two losses and a tie. Bathurst remains in second place with 12 wins, nine losses and one tie for 25 points. Dalhousie is 13 points back in third place while the cellar-dwelling Ironmen have won only three and tied two for an 8-point total.

Oil Kings Host Restigouche High Tonight At 7:30

Landry's Esso Oil Kings will host Restigouche Senior High School of Campbellton tonight in a 7:30 contest to be staged at the J. G. Chalmers School gym. Restigouche is rated very highly this year and tonight's game promises to be a good one.

Last week, the Kings chalked up two more victories defeating Chatham Recreational Centre 126-44 and James M. Hill High School of Chatham 66 - 57.

In the first game, played January 12, the Kings got a 38-point performance from Mike Calnan and another 31 from Jim Cormier. Other scores included Bob Sullivan with 25, John Farine 15, Dave Ross 11, Stephen Ellis 4 and Buzz Grebenc 2. The halftime score favored the Kings 52 - 14. Al Freman hooped 14 points for Chatham.

Mike Calnan meshed 16 in the James M. Hill game to pace the Kings while Bob Sullivan and Dave Ross added 14 each. Jim Cormier netted 12, John Farine 4 and two each came from John Nicholson, Steve Kelly and Mac Fraser. James Hill's Maurice King led all scorers with 23 points. The Kings built a 35 - 27 lead at the half.

This Sunday, January 23, the Oil Kings will host CFB Chatham Golden Hawks in a 2:00 p.m. contest at the Bathurst High School gym.

Ladies Curling

By JOYCE CONLEY

The regular monthly meeting of Bathurst Ladies Curling Club was held Jan. 11 with president, Geraldine Mason in the chair.

Club secretary Lillian Chick read the minutes and reports of various committees were heard.

Edythe Hatheway, convener for the high school girls' curling, requested assistance with billeting and the light lunches to be served the visiting rinks participating in the zone playoffs held in Bathurst over the Jan. 15 weekend.

The Bathurst school girls' team of skip Donna Lavigne, mate Glenda Rector, second player Susan Hall and lead Pauline Heckbert, curled well Sunday in the extra tie-breaking game which was won by the Newcastle rink.

Plans for the "lamb and lion" bonspiel to be held March 4 - 6 were discussed. Bathurst entries will be accepted after Feb. 21 to complete, if necessary, the 32 entries. A "happy hour" will be held the evening of bonspiel registrations March 3. Entertainment will be provided for the curlers on Friday evening.

There will not be a supper served this Saturday evening, Jan. 22, but suppers will resume again on Saturday, Jan. 29.

It was noted supper prices have increased slightly and that they are now $2 for students and children and $3 for adults.

Until next week, Good Curling!

BHS Lasers Whip Oromocto 5-3

Bathurst High School Lasers solidified their hold on first place in the N.B. Interscholastic Hockey League with a 5 - 3 triumph over the Blues from Oromocto in a game played here Sunday.

Danny Chabot led the Laser attack with a pair of goals while Luc Coughlan, Marc Hachey and Brian O'Neill triggered the others. Chris Morrison, Dave Neill and Ernie Hatfield counted for the Blues.

The teams were tied 1 - 1 after the first period but the Lasers pulled ahead with three unanswered goals in the second. Strong goaltending by Omer Fournier in the Bathurst cage in the last forty minutes of play proved the margin of victory as the Blues forced the play in the final half of the game.

The win kept the Lasers' record against the Blues intact as the Bathurst club has yet to lose to the powerful Oromocto squad in league play.

Alpines Place Five Players On North's All Star Team

Second place Bathurst Alpines placed five players plus their coach and general manager on the North Shore Hockey League All-Star team that will play in the Jan. 29 North-South charity all-star hockey game in Pembroke at the Affton Centre.

In all, 13 players, as well as Coach Hubert Pouliot and General-Manager Jack Purlotte, both of Bathurst, were named to the team Monday following a vote of team general-managers and coaches.

Pouliot, selected to coach for the second straight year, will name the balance of the team Wednesday.

Bathurst players selected were goaltender Glen Seprich, defenceman Denis Langlais, rightwinger Mike Morton, leftwinger Jackie Roy and centreman Michel Barrel.

First place Campbellton Tigers, who have a commanding 12-point lead over the Alpines in the circuit's pennant battle, got four players on the team.

They are goaltender Mike Frawley, defenceman Luc Tessier, centre John Wood and leftwinger Dave Wisener.

Chatham Ironmen, who are last in the four-team league, have three players on the roster —defenceman Daniel Lessard and Dave Lobban along with centre-leftwinger Ken Martin.

So far Dalhousie Mooshead Rangers have one player on the team. He's leftwinger Luc Bunneville, who was picked as a rightwinger. With 25 goals, Bunneville is the league's top goal-getter.

Each of the teams' general-managers and coaches voted for two six-man teams with players on the first team receiving five points and second team selections getting three. There were not permitted to vote for any player on their own team.

Langlais, who is the veteran on the team to date, having played in eight all-star games, was the lone unanimous selection. He picked up all 30 possible points.

Wood and Martin came close at being unanimous selections as both notched 28 points.

Rounding out the first team are Roy, Tessier and Frawley.

In announcing the team, NSHL President Joe Flynn of Bathurst pointed out that Martin was placed on the team because he received votes at two positions. He got nine points at centre and seven as a leftwinger and since his total of 17 points passed some others in the initial 12, he was added to the roster.

The selection of Purlotte as manager sees him return to the all-star scene after a two-year absence. The Bathurst G.M. is the only person to have played, coached and managed in the 12-year history of the game.

Pouliot is expected to add five or six players to the roster and at least one of which will have to come from Dalhousie as league rules stipulate that each team must be represented by at least two players.

Following Langlais in seniority are Roy and Tessier, who have both played in three previous games, while Wood, Lobban and Martin will be making their second appearance.

So far only four players that helped the North to an 8 - 2 win at Chatham last year are returning. They are Lobban, Martin, Roy and Langlais.

There were some surprises in the voting. One of the biggest being that Gerry (Red) Ouellette, coach of the Tigers, who are running away with the league pennant, picked up only one vote in the coaching race. Pouliot got four out of a possible six.

Also Rangers' Wayne Cameron and Tigers' Jean-Marie Bouchard, who battled one-two in the league scoring race through the first half of the season, did not make the team as the result of the voting, although they could still be added. Cameron placed third in the centremen voting, while Bouchard failed to get a vote.

The closest race was between Roy and Wisener for the left-winger position on the first team with Roy getting 20 points and Wisener 19.

The North leads the series, played annually for the province's mentally retarded children, 7 - 3 having won four of the last five games.

Bathurst High School Basketball Results

By D. Farise and C. McKendy

Bathurst High School Basketball teams encountered some stiff competition last week in games against Dalhousie High, Miramichi Valley High and Restigouche High School.

Last Wednesday, the BHS girls team travelled to Dalhousie and defeated the host team 31 - 25 sparked by the 18 - point performance of D. Fellows. A. Doucet added 10 for the winners while M. C. Hachey had 7, K. Maher, B. Davies and M. Connolly 4 each, J. Poulist and J. Thornton two apiece. D. Chiasson led Dalhousie with 14. Bathurst girls led 27 - 11 at the half.

On Friday the BHS girls were defeated 79 - 44 by Miramichi Valley High School. M. C. Hachey led Bathurst with 16 followed by D. Fellows with 13. K. Maher netted 11 while A. Doucet and S. Carson each had two. S. Woods led the winners with 25. MVHS held a 37 - 18 lead at halftime.

The BHS Boys team whipped Miramichi Valley 81 - 71 with V. Branch leading the way with 25 points. R. Grosloulis dropped in 22 while B. Grebenc added 19. G. Levert had 7, D. Dobson 4 and D. Coombs and B. Delicaet two each. Bathurst led 34 - 23 at the half.

Saturday afternoon, both Bathurst teams were on the court once again with Restigouche High visiting BHS.

The Restigouche girls built a lead of 31 - 13 at halftime and went on to win 63 - 31. High scorer for Bathurst was M.C. Hachey with 11 followed by S. Carson with 10. J. Thornton had 4 while R. Frenette and G. Stothart each counted three. C. Jean topped the winners with 19.

BHS Boys also lost to Restigouche by a score of 82 - 58 although the winners held only a 33 - 32 lead at the half. R. Grosloulis led Bathurst with 20 points while B. Grebenc netted 16 and V. Branch dropped in 14. G. Levert had 6 with D. Dobson adding 2. B. Aucoin swished 26 points to pace Restigouche.

Teachers Will Seek Conciliation Board

Talks between the provincial Treasury Board and New Brunswick's 8,000 teachers broke down last week after 10½ days of bargaining, and a spokesman for the teachers said the group will now be applying for the appointment of a conciliation board.

Ross MacCallum, president of the New Brunswick Teachers Federation, said that 30 of the 50 contract items, still unresolved, include working conditions, job security and salaries.

One of the more controversial clauses in the government's proposal to increase teachers' working hours to a minimum of 7½ hours per day, including a 30-minute lunch break. Currently, teachers average six or seven hours a day of instructional time, plus lesson preparation, extra-curricular activities and so on.

Mr. MacCallum said it would affect teacher morale to expect them to go through the "emotional drain" of teaching large classes of children for several hours, have a 30-minute break and go back to work. "They're (government) expecting teachers to be some sort of superbeings", Mr. MacCallum said.

Another unresolved item is class size. Mr. MacCallum said the government wants to increase minimum class size to 30 students, something which the federation feels is not "educationally sound".

A deadlock has also been reached over salaries. Mr. MacCallum said early in negotiations that teachers put in a proposal which he said "reflected the increase in the cost of living and the economic conditions facing everyone". In return, he said, the government gave a "negligible counterproposal" which has since been withdrawn.

Mr. MacCallum said the bargaining has shown a "conflict of opinion between elected members and civil servants". Several promises have been made by elected members, including cabinet ministers, he said, that an easy agreement would be reached with the teachers.

Now, he said "the negotiating team wants us to move backward" in contract conditions.

Asked about the possibility of a strike if conciliation fails, Mr. MacCallum said: "I hope the two sides come to an agreement long before we'd have to consider that."

UNB Enrolment Drops Slightly

Full-time student enrolment at the University of New Brunswick for 1976-77 decreased only marginally from that of last year, but fell considerably short of that projected for the university's budget purposes.

There was a net drop of 25 students - 5,882 compared to 5,907 as of Dec. 1 in the academic years 1975-76 and 1976-77 respectively. Enrolment figures for government grant purposes are considered final as of that date by the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission.

The projected figure was more than the number officially enrolled which has meant a budget deficiency of $367,000. UNB's operating budget is derived from the MPHEC per capita grant and tuition fees. A shortfall in projected enrolment produced money shortages in both areas - $30,000 in commission grant and approximately $337,000 in tuition fees.

President John M. Anderson attributes the shortfall to concern over adequate housing, changing attitudes about education and to the prevailing economic climate.

"We are testing these suppositions in questionnaires to those students who did not return this year," the president said, "and to those who indicated they were coming to UNB, but failed to enrol at registration time."

President Anderson said that UNB's enrolment predictions in the past have been pretty much on target.

"In fact," he said, "our record in this regard is enviable."

Total undergraduate enrolment this year is down by two over 1975-76 - 5,380 (5,902). The School of Graduate Studies records fewer students this year - 298 (486).

The Fredericton campus registered 25 more students than the previous year - 3003 (4977). The Saint John campus is down by 28 - 497 (525).

Faculties registering decreases in Fredericton are as follows: arts 780 (996); science 505 (569); nursing 223 (228); physical education and recreation 164 (167); and in Saint John: arts 204 (219); business administration 135 (165); physical education and recreation seven (12) and education one (7). Four faculties remained steady in Saint John with Science at 65, engineering 36, forestry three and forest engineering one.

THE TIME IS NOW

Worry less about the future and more about the present and our progress can be doubled.

Chamber Urges "Tough" Stand

In a prepared statement, the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce has urged Treasury Board President Robert Andras to take a firm position when bargaining with members of the Public Service Alliance of Canada.

The P.S.A.C. has issued contract demands for four of the bargaining units it represents. The General and Regulatory Group (GR) with 40,500 employees is the P.S.A.C.'s largest bargaining unit. They are demanding a 15 percent increase in pay, pay-off for unused sick leave, two additional paid holidays, and a reduction in the work week to 35 hours.

The other three groups, Technical Inspection (T.I.), Social Science and Support Group (SI) and the General Technical Group (GT) are all demanding wage increases in excess of 15 percent.

The Chamber is of the opinion that these demands are excessive and that Treasury Board must live within the guidelines established by the Anti Inflation Board when negotiating with government employees.

HELLO!!!
My name is Duplex. I'm brand new and I'm looking for someone to live with me. I have appealing shades of quality carpeting throughout with carton covering in the kitchen and dining room area.
You'll have to share my kitchen with Gregg, though, that's the name of my kitchen cabinets. He'll behave. He has lazy Susan's to keep him in order.
Oh Yes! I also have two baths living with us. One is called full bath and lives upstairs and the other is called split bath and lives on the main level.
But don't think it's crowded. There's still lots of room to get around in and we promise never to get in your way, except when you need us.
SURPRISE!!! We don't mind children either. One or two would be good company.
There's more yet and all we are asking is $300.00 per month.

MS Society Gets Grant

The Atlantic Division of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada based in Moncton, New Brunswick, has received a grant from the Local Initiatives Program. Clair Smith, executive director, says that as a result of the grant the division has been able to hire five new staff members for Project Development, a program designed to strengthen and develop existing resources, patient services and public awareness programs.

The project, which covers a six month period, is primarily concerned with these major areas including a patient service program which will help meet the needs of Multiple Sclerosis patients with a home nursing course and providing educational material for the patient, their families and the medical profession.

Project Development will also be involved in the further development of special projects, such as the Paso along Kit campaign, the Canadian Day and Multiple Sclerosis Day of Prayer.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society is primarily concerned with sponsoring research as to the causes of Multiple Sclerosis and public awareness campaigns to enlighten the public as to the special needs of the Multiple Sclerosis patients.

Multiple Sclerosis is often progressive, a disease of the central nervous system which may produce paralysis and loss of sensation affecting bodily functions including vision, speech, balance and movement. As yet, there is no cure, no effective treatment, no prevention. For the Multiple Sclerosis patient and his family, there is little today - there is only tomorrow. The hope is for medical science to find the cause and a cure.

The new employees of Project Development are: Ann Granville, patient services coordinator; Yolande Maupas, special project co-ordinator; Donna Williston, field representative-chapter relations; Elizabeth Wally, field representative-public relations; Deborah d'Entremont, secretary.

Happiness that comes with a price tag is not easily had.

The buying power of a dollar today is unable to keep up with its good-buying power.

Mrs. S. Clement Dies At Tracadie

SAINT LEOLIN — The death of Mrs. Stanislas Clement, widow, the former Clara Godin occurred Dec. 26 at St. Joseph Residence in Tracadie at the age of 87.

Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Leon Boudreau (Lauza), Village Saint Paul, Mrs. Henri Bourdon (Emilia), Mrs. Max Kempen (Corinne) and May and Geraldine, all of Montreal, and Mrs. Omer Duguay (Emilienne) of Sainte Louise; five sons, Stanley of Port Colborne, Ont., Adelbert of Crystal Beach, Ont., Donat of Norton, Georges of Fredericton and Raymond of Saint Leolin.

One brother, Edmond of Dalhousie; one sister, Marthe-Elise Godin of Maisonnette; and several grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Clement rested at LeGresley's Funeral Home in Grand Anse.

The funeral was held at Saint-Simon and Saint-Jude Church, Grand Anse, Wednesday at 4 p.m. Entombment was in the parish cemetery.

Father Dies At Chatham

The death of Raymond T. Butler, a prominent citizen of the Town of Chatham, occurred shortly before arrival before midnight at Hotel-Dieu Hospital there on Jan. 13.

Mr. Butler who was 63, died following an intermittent illness during the past year.

Born at Chatham, he was the only son of the late John and Christina (Hanley) Butler. At the time of his death, he had been employed with the Miramichi Rehabilitation Centre at Chatham.

Mr. Butler was an outstanding figure on the N.B. sports scene, especially in baseball. Year after year, he pitched the Chatham Ironmen into provincial contention and championships.

A member of St. Michael's Church, Mr. Butler was an altar boy in his early life for many years. He was a former member of Miramichi Council 1219 Knights of Columbus and of the Holy Name Society of his church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Phyllis Heckbert of Chatham; one daughter, Mrs. Jack Brown (Maureen) of Bathurst; also two sons who reside in Chatham, and five grandchildren.

Mr. Butler's death followed closely upon the demise of his mother-in-law, Mrs. F. P. Heckbert of Chatham. A daughter, Ann, died in a motor accident in 1965.

Mr. Butler rested at Maher's Funeral Home, Chatham, from where the funeral was held to St. Michael's Church for the service Sunday at 2 p.m.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault to await burial in the church cemetery in the spring.

Says Workers Misled By Relocation Plan

(From the Argus-Journal, a publication of the Public Service Alliance of Canada)

PSAC President Andy Stewart has charged that the federal government is misleading public service employees by not announcing its real intention to move thousands of jobs out of Ottawa within the next four or five years.

He was responding to an Oct. 28 announcement by Veterans Affairs Minister Daniel MacDonald, that all but a core group of employees and the Veterans Land Administration group will be transferred to Charlottetown by 1980-81.

A total of 650 man-years is involved in the Charlottetown move, and the majority of the employees are PSAC members.

CRITICAL STAND

The Alliance has been very critical of past moves by the government to decentralize or relocate its members.

Brother Stewart says that according to public statements the government has plans to relocate some 20,000 jobs out of Ottawa and it is time it published these plans so the employees can prepare and so that all public service employees will know where they stand.

"We're not talking about a small group. From what I gather, the total population involved - employees and their dependents - is equivalent to one-eighth of the population of Ottawa-Hull."

POLITICAL MOVE

The relocation of the Department of Veterans Affairs may be considered as nothing more than another political manoeuvre, Brother Stewart explained.

"Ottawa's public service employees are being used by the present administration in a bid to regain favour with the electorate.

"This announcement of the move to Charlottetown was obviously an attempt by the Liberals to win the Commons seat recently vacated by Angus MacLean, a member of the Opposition and support for Liberal candidates in four by-elections in that province.

"It's obvious that if this continues over a period of time, we will see some departmental program or function relocated to each riding where political gains could be made.

EXPENSIVE MOVE

"The fact that the government doesn't much care about costs involved doesn't help either. In this case, the transfer of 650 employees would mean at least $6.5 million in relocation costs. The move also means the construction of a new federal building to house these employees, as stated by Deputy Minister Bruce Brittain in a letter dated October 26, 1976 to the DVA Component of the PSAC.

"We estimate that the total cost could be more than $20 million.

"This expenditure of millions of dollars after introducing a program of controls on all sectors of the economy is an insult to the Canadian people." concluded Brother Stewart.

The attempt to decentralize the Department of Veterans Affairs is the latest in a series of government plans to move public service employees out of Ottawa.

Environment Component workers who work for the Canadian Hydrographic Service have been told their positions will be relocated to Dartmouth, N.S., Quebec City, Victoria, B.C., or Burlington, Ont., even though they are not economically depressed areas. More than half of the employees - cartographers - have been scheduled to move over the next four years.

The central index and annuities division of the Unemployment Insurance Commission is to be moved from Ottawa to Bathurst, N.B., over the next three years - a move that involves 450 jobs.

The superannuation division of the Supply and Services Department is to be relocated to Moncton, N.B., from Ottawa over the next three to five years - a move that involves 400 jobs.

The cheque redemption control division - a division of the Department of Supply and Services - is to be relocated to Matane, Quebec. In three years the Ottawa operation - consisting of 250 permanent jobs - is to be closed and all permanent staff replaced.

Charles Gauvin Dies, Aged 90

PAQUETVILLE — The death of Charles Gauvin occurred Dec. 26 at Villa Maria in St. Louis de Kent. He was 90 and was predeceased by his wife, the former Philomene Landry.

Surviving are an adopted son, Jean Paul Landry of Paquetville and a brother, Camille Gauvin of Dalhousie.

Mr. Gauvin rested at LeGresley's Funeral Home, Grand Anse.

The funeral was held at St. Augustin Church in Paquetville Wednesday at 7 p.m. Entombment will be followed by burial in the parish cemetery in the spring.

Area Students Win Degrees

Three residents of the Bathurst area, were among the 364 graduates to be awarded degrees when the University of New Brunswick held its 24th Convocation recently.

John Fraser Eddy was granted a bachelor of arts degree, division two. Laurie Leah Payne was granted a bachelor of teaching degree, division two, and Judith Arlene Chase was granted a bachelor of teaching degree division three.

Mr. Eddy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Eddy, is at present studying law at the University of British Columbia.

Miss Chase, originally from Fredericton, is teaching home economics at Bathurst High School.

Miss Payne, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Payne, Stonehaven, is now located at Nackawic, N.B., where she holds a teaching position.

The ceremonies included the opening of the university's Aitken Centre and the dedication of the Connell Memorial Herbarium. Kenneth Curtis, former governor of Maine, presented the Convocation Address.

Mrs. D. Fournier Dies At Tracadie

PONT-LA-FRANCE — The death of Mrs. Donat Fournier, the former Juliette Saint-Pierre, occurred Jan. 3 in Hotel-Dieu Hospital at Tracadie. She was 35.

Surviving besides her husband are her step-father, William Vienneau of Leech, three daughters, Chantale, Marie-Jose and Marie-Lise, all at home.

Two sisters, Mrs. Abbey Michon (Regina) of Pokesudie and Mrs. Aurele Lanteigne (Philomene), of Caraquet, and one brother, Valere Saint-Pierre of Ontario also survive.

Mrs. Fournier rested at Robichaud's Funeral Home, Tracadie.

The funeral was held at Notre-Dame - Du - Portage Church at Portage River. Thursday at 11 a.m. Entombment was in the parish receiving vault to await burial in the spring.

Gov't Controls Spray Company

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau said last week the New Brunswick government has had control since August of the company that carries out the annual chemical spraying program to attack spruce budworm infestation in the province's forests.

He added that previous private control of the company - Forest Protection Ltd. - was not the reason only half of the available research money was used last year.

Mr. Boudreau said only half of the available $100,000 in research funds had been used because the researcher, who is investigating a possible link between the spray and a rare but often fatal children's disease, Reyes Syndrome, hasn't asked for any more.

He noted the province had taken control of the company in mid-summer, naming 12 of its 18 directors. Before that, the province's forest industry, which owns only ten per cent of the shares compared to the province's 90 per cent, controlled Forest Protection Ltd.

New Brunswick's representation on the board was changed after the controversy over the spray program reached its peak last spring. Mr. Boudreau said he had decided if the government were to take public responsibility for the company, then they should hold a majority of seats on the board.

The change was made at the company's annual meeting.

"Friendly Visiting" Program Underway

The Red Cross "Friendly visiting" program in Bathurst has received a boost in the form of an LIP grant. This grant will assist the friendly visiting volunteers to further organize and establish the program on a firm basis.

The purpose of the "Friendly Visiting" program is to alleviate the loneliness and isolation of senior citizens by offering friendship with the aim of assisting them to maintain their independence. The program can provide them with such services as the following: picking up groceries, writing letters, delivering their mail, helping with grooming, or just being a friend.

The "Friendly Visitors" who would provide the services mentioned above are people who enjoy the company of senior friends and who would like to spend a few hours each month with them. They may themselves be senior citizens, students, mothers, business men or women.

Anyone wishing to participate in this program, either as a volunteer or a recipient, or wishing more information is asked to call 548-2024.

FAMILY PROGRAM IS PROMOTED

ELDER DON L. McMURRAY

ELDER ALAN J. BEAUMONT

Elders Don L. McMurray and Alan J. Beaumont, missionaries for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) are pleased to be serving in the Bathurst area.

Elder McMurray, from Cardston, Alberta, and Elder Beaumont, of Brandon, Manitoba, have volunteered for two years to declare the restoration of the gospel in Jesus Christ. They feel their message is one of truth and invite all to explore it.

They also have an exciting program, the Family Home Evening, which allows families to meet together weekly to discuss family problems, set goals and enjoy activities together. This program develops and maintains stronger love in the home. According to Elders McMurray and Beaumont, the program has worked in their own homes, and that is why they want to share it. Throughout their time here they hope to be able to meet in your home to discuss these principles with you.

Nouvelle pièce de theatre

C'est le 29 janvier à 20h30 que La Société Régionale Nepisiguit Inc. a le plaisir de présenter à la population de la région, la nouvelle pièce de Theatre Populaire d'Acadie, "L'Amer à Boire". Cette dernière création est l'oeuvre d'Herménégilde Chiasson. Cette pièce est un texte d'actualité.

La première partie de la pièce nous plonge dans la famille d'Henri où chaque membre est aux prises avec ses problèmes. Le père vient de perdre son emploi, la mère rêve d'une vie meilleur, leur fille Henriette a abandonné ses études, Blanche, mécanicien, et Armand, intellectuel, mirent une vie que n'approuve pas la famille.

La distribution comprend Régean Porter, metteur en scène, Olida Gadin (Rita), Maurice Paulin (Henri), Aldée Lanteigne (Norbert), Jean-Claude Doiron (Blanche), Ginette Léger (Henriette) et Bertrand Dugas (Armand).

Les billets sont en vente au Village du Livre et à l'Ecole Secondaire Nepisiguit. L'entrée est de $2.00 pour un billet fauteuil et de $1.00 pour un billet parterre.

Bienvenue à tous.

Gloucester Will Benefit

Romeo LeBlanc, Minister of Fisheries and the Environment, announced on behalf of Marc Lalonde, minister of health and welfare, that a $46,400 National Welfare Grant has been awarded to the New Brunswick Department of Social Services.

The grant will fund the Teaching Homemaker Services project in Restigouche and Gloucester counties. There, the provincial department will compare two systems of providing counselling on homemaking -one integrated into the Department of Social Services and the other purchased from a private agency.

National Welfare Grants are designed to promote improvements and innovation in welfare services by providing financial assistance, consultation, information and advice to welfare agencies for short-term research, demonstration and other project activities.

Customer Is Always Right

Harris Woodorf, a custom tailor for 32 of his 65 years advises against anyone following in his footsteps, writes Susan Goldenberg in The Financial Post two-part series on vanishing crafts.

"You can't get people to do the work, and the public isn't interested in the amount of time you spent learning your trade, only in where they can get something cheaper", he says.

"If you could find me a good customer, I'd sell my business tomorrow", he adds, only half-jokingly. "When I started my own store 30 years ago, there were at least three times as many custom tailors as there are today."

MUSIC FESTIVAL COMMITTEE ELECTS EXECUTIVE

At a recent meeting of the Bathurst Music Festival, a new slate of officers was named for 1977. Welcomed as new members of the executive were Mrs. Connie Fellows as first vice-president and Ray Nadeau as treasurer. Peter Watling, a new member of the committee, is chairman of the financial campaign.

Hadley Wood, president of the Festival Committee, reports plans are progressing favourably for this year's festival. As in the past, distinguished adjudicators have been obtained and confirmations have been received for their attendance at this year's festival.

The Festival Committee is grateful to School District No 4 for allowing the use of facilities at Nepisiguit High School again for 1977. This year's festival will be held Friday, April 29 through Wednesday, May 4. Final concert of stars will be Friday, May 6.

As an extra this year, the committee is preparing for a recital to be given by the adjudicator for piano prior to the festival on Thursday evening, April 28. This performance should be of interest to all participants in the festival, especially piano students.

This week also marks the start of the financial campaign for the festival. The campaign objective for this year's drive is $2,500, representing half of the total festival budget. All donations are tax deductible and official receipts are issued to all doners. Donations should be mailed to P. O. Box 145, Bathurst.

In conclusion Mr. Wood states that "Festival dates are only three months away. At present, students, teachers, parents and festival workers are busy preparing for this 27th annual music event. Truly a community program. Let us all support these young, talented people and make this festival better than last year - which was the best yet!"

Improved Salmon Runs Requested

The Nepisiguit Salmon Association, formed in November of 1976 to promote the sports fishery of salmon on the Nepisiguit River, held its regular monthly meeting at the Dept. of Natural Resources office on Vanier Blvd. on Wednesday, January 5.

A film purchased from the International Atlantic Salmon Association for educational purposes was viewed by the members. This film portrayed the life cycle of the Atlantic Salmon, the rapid decline of stocks in international waters, and what can be and is being done to preserve and perpetuate the species. A demonstration of fly tying followed.

The group has requested that the federal Dept. of Environment Canada utilize the fish hatchery at Charlo to stock the upper reaches of the Nepisiguit River with adequate numbers of juvenile fish to improve the salmon runs on the lower stretch of the river, until such time as a fishway can be constructed at Grand Falls.

The next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 2 at 7 p.m. at the Natural Resources Department office. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Clean Sweep By Polaris

First is a great place to be... and that's exactly where Polaris is in this year's Sno-Pro circuit.

And Sherman Smith of Smith's Sales and Service, the local Polaris dealer, is mighty proud of this record.

First... four out of four times in Alaska to kick off the season.

First... four out of four times at Ironwood to kick off the official Sno-Pro Season... and winner of the World Trophy Cup.

First... three out of four times at Alexandria... and winner of the Hettwer Cup and the 440-X International Championship.

What a way to start a season! The Polaris Sno-Pro sleds are truly "breakthrough" machines... with new engine technology and new suspension technology that is clearly superior to anything else on the track!

Can this domination continue through the whole season? It's never been done.

And the midnight oil is already burning in Thief River Falls, and Valcourt and Tokyo. So by the end of the season maybe, just, maybe, somebody else will come up with a challenger.

But the important thing is that Polaris led the way again... with leadership engineering nobody else could touch. And that's a Polaris tradition.

It shows in the Polaris TX-L, which is the sled to beat on the tough BUSF Cross Country Circuit.

It shows in the Polaris TX, first in the hearts of its owners who want more than just an ordinary high performance snowmobile.

And it shows in the Polaris Colts and Electras... where the durability, reliability, and handling lessons learned on the race track are translated into magnificent trail riding performance.

PRIZES AWARDED BY STUDENT COUNCIL

South Bathurst School recently awarded prizes to three students who brought in the most money in the school's annual fund raising campaign (rockathon, dancethon and chocolate bar sale), which raised close to $2,000 for the student council. From the left back row: Derrick Daley, student council president, makes presentations to Frankie Duguay, Rodney Knowles and Sherry Prisk, who together earned $200; seated from the left: Kelly Gallant and Nicholas Aube hold the trophy which was presented to Grade 7D, the class that brought in the most money.

YOUR BUSINESS

Indexed Pensions Worry Actuaries

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

How prudently financed is the indexed pension plan of Canada's public-service employees?

According to the Treasury Board and the Public Service Alliance, prudently enough.

And according to some readers, who commented following the most recent discussion of the subject in this space, retired civil servants have made substantial contributions to pay for their pensions - which are not high enough anyway.

(Probably no pension - public-sector or private, indexed or non-indexed - is high enough in the opinion of the pensioner receiving it.)

Actuaries in private practice, however, have been making some serious criticisms not only of the public-sector pension fund, but also of the efforts to defend that fund by those on the public-sector side.

GIVE AND TAKE

The government's defence of its approach is defined in a paper issued two months ago, entitled Basic Facts About Pensions In The Public Service Of Canada.

The Public Service Alliance has taken advertising space recently to point out that, since 1870, public servants have contributed about $2 billion to their pension fund, while about $1.9 billion has been paid out to retired public servants.

As professional actuaries have pointed out, however, public servants who are still working have paid about $1.2 billion or 40 per cent of the contributions to the retirement fund, and the $1.9 billion in benefits have gone to retired public servants - and their beneficiaries - who have contributed less than $800 million.

INSUFFICIENT DATA

The Canadian Institute of Actuaries, at its autumn general meeting in Montreal, issued a statement calling for fuller information on the cost of providing indexed pensions to public servants and parliamentarians in order to meet public concern about the financial soundness of the program.

("Indexed" pensions guarantee that benefits will increase in proportion to increases in the consumer price index. This relieves the pensioner of the possibility that inflation will reduce the purchasing power of the pension as years go by.)

The actuaries' statement said that the basic public-service super-annuation plan is adequately financed, but that the supplementary or indexed benefits are not.

CAUSE FOR CONCERN

Statistics Canada carried out a survey of pension plans two years ago that showed that public-service employees contributed to the pension plan at a higher rate than most private-sector employees, and that their benefits are much more generous than those in the private sector."

One example: "A federal public servant with 30 or more years of service may take early retirement at age 55, without any reduction in pension income, and with full indexing of the benefits.

"We think most private-sector employees would be only too happy to contribute at a comparable rate if their employees would agree to provide comparable benefits to those of the public-service program," said the Canadian Institute of Actuaries.

Most Canadians agree that "adequate" pensions are highly desirable, the actuaries said.

There is cause for concern, however, in "the combination of a relatively generous benefit program with inadequate current recognition of its costs."

Plans For Coming Year Are Outlined By Mayor

A contract for construction of the first phase of a marine centre for Shippegan has been awarded to Bay of Chaleur Construction, with a bid of $700,000.

At a well-attended meeting of Shippegan Town Council January 3, details of the different phases of the proposed centre were outlined by Pierre Poulin, representative for the Department of Regional Economic Expansion, and architect Urbain Savoie.

Situated behind the Roman Catholic church in the town, it will cover an area of 26,000 square feet, containing an aquarium, exhibit rooms, a restaurant, and various other features. Total cost of the project, scheduled for completion in 1979, is $4 million.

Mayor Jean C. Chiasson presented a review of work completed in 1976 and a promising forecast for 1977.

Construction permits issued during 1976 totalled $600,000. This number included 78 residential permits for $520,000, eight commercial permits for $252,500; two institutional permits for $150,000; and one industrial permit for $8,500.

Several streets were improved during the year, including Avenue Hotel de Ville, Pine Street, an extension to 14th St. and the widening of Dr. J. D. Gauthier Boulevard. In addition, several streets were paved.

With regard to the town's water system, the mayor said 210 million gallons of drinking water were consumed, and 225 million gallons of salt water.

Speaking of expenses, he mentioned that the tax rate was lower than last year in spite of a higher budget, this being due to the total assessment of the town.

Looking to 1977, Mayor Chiasson outlined a variety of projects, including the formation of a committee to study the present and future facilities available for young people in Shippegan. Steps will be taken to hasten the second phase of port facilities and to bring construction of a federal building, he stated.

In the area of public health, the mayor said that steps would be taken to obtain the services of an eye specialist. Contact will also be made with the director of hospitals in order to have specialists practice a few days each week in the community.

A new line in the water and sewer system will be completed along the limits of the town and work on J. D. Gauthier Blvd. and Avenue Hotel de Ville will continue. Several town laws will be translated into French and the trailer park will be enlarged.

The mayor stated that, in conjunction with other municipalities, efforts will be made to obtain the services of French radio and television in the Northeast. Three major projects will be started in 1977 to bring a number of jobs to the community, the major added, but he did not elaborate.

He added he will be running for mayor once again in the May municipal elections.

Wedding Held In Saint John

The marriage of Alvetta Marie Lanier (nee Robichaud) and Charles James Keary took place at Saint Rose Church, West Saint John on December 28. Rev. F. Reilly officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Their only attendants were Lucella and John Doyle, sister of the groom and her husband.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Sampan Restaurant, Fairville, where a number of close relatives in Saint John were present.

The bride and groom are former residents of Pokemouche and Tracadie respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Keary will be residing at their home in Acamac, West Saint John.

LACKS AMBITION

Too often a man with ability fails to reach the top because it's easier to slide than climb.

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your father which is in heaven." Matthew 5:14, 16

Christianity is a great deal more than a sermon, a song, a social gospel, a little giving and a sanctimonious gathering once or twice a week. Light is the only way to cope with darkness. "If our gospel be hid it is hid to them that are lost."

Social and Personal

By Marg Jamieson, Woman's Editor

Cst. Walter Lavigne and Mrs. Lavigne returned Jan. 10 to Grand Falls, N.B. after spending the weekend with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lavigne, Bathurst, and Mr. and Mrs. Ziel Allain, Negaac, and other relatives in the areas.

Miss Cathy Doyle, Aurelia, Ont., was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daley and family during the holiday season.

Mr. Wells Chapman, Toronto, spent Christmas weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wells Chapman, Janeville. He was accompanied on his return by Messrs. Kerry and Alan Scott, of Janeville, who were his guests for a week.

Mrs. Louise Levesque spent Christmas weekend at Caribou, Maine, the guest of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Malenfant and family.

Mr. Shane Doherty, who is a teacher of economics at Sir Wilfred Laurier University, Waterloo, Ont., spent christmas week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Doherty and family. He had as his guest, Mr. Hansrjedi Haemi, Switzerland, who celebrated his 21st birthday on Christmas Day with the Doherty family. Mr. Haemi is in Canada observing and learning about farming techniques and methods for a while before returning to his native country.

Mrs. Weldon Underhill, Winnipeg, spent the New Year's weekend visiting her mother, Mrs. John O'Kane, North Tetagouche, and her sister, Mrs. Fernand Roche, Mr. Roche and family in Bathurst, and her sister, Miss Miki O'Kane, Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Verge, Moncton, were guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. "Tony" Boudreau and family, near Yoletide. Their son, Mr. Bernard Boudreau who attends Moncton University, has resumed studies after spending the Christmas break at home.

Airwoman Wed Abroad

The marriage of S-Sgt. Ethel Diane Badger, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy E. Badger, and the late Melvin E. Badger, formerly of Bathurst, and Captain Robert S. Suter took place on October 23, 1976, at Huntingdon, England.

The attendants were Susan K. D. Smith, the bridesmaid, and John F. Zeuner, best man.

The bride is the non-commissioned officer in charge of Administration, Security Police Squadron. The bridegroom is the Electronic Warfare and Tactics Officer for the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, R.A.F., Alconbury.

Captain and Mrs. Suter are residing at The Old Post Office, Tansor, Peterborough, England.

CWL Visits At Christmas

The regular monthly meeting of Saint Simon-Saint Jude Council Catholic Women's League was held Jan. 5 with seven members present.

The chairman was Mrs. Joey Whelton, president, who welcomed the members. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Bernadine Riordon. Church convenor Mrs. Irene Bay read an interesting passage from the Bible.

Correspondence read included thank-you messages and cards received during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Martina Riordon, the convenor for social action, reported having visited 22 elderly persons and shut-ins at Christmastime, distributing baskets of fruit to each one.

Regret was expressed that it has been impossible to hold the children's Christmas party due to inclement weather.

Sister Belanger discussed a book containing information to help teach pre-school children, which she brought to the meeting. She said she hopes to get parents interested in this project in the near future.

Lunch was served after the meeting by hostesses Mrs. Joey Whelton and Mrs. Nettie Riordon.

Consulting Services Are Available Now For Children With Learning Disabilities

Do you, as a parent, suspect your child has serious problems in coping with school work?

If you do, please telephone Dr. S. K. Saroj at 1-867-3980 each Tuesday between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. Dr. Saroj will discuss your child's suspected problem and will arrange to check he or she out at the provincial Learning Disabilities clinic in Saint John.

Dr. Satish Saroj is eminently qualified in the field of learning disabilities and is currently president of the International Federation of Learning Disabilities. This consulting service is offered by the IODE in the province of New Brunswick.

According to rough estimates, 35 to 44 per cent of the school population in New Brunswick have some problem or other in their learning process. Ten to 15 per cent of these children have specific learning disabilities and are in desperate need of help.

An Acadia University study revealed 67 per cent of the inmate population in the Springhill Medium Security Federal Penitentiary in Springhill, N.S. suffer from forms of specific learning disabilities.

The I.O.D.E. in the province of New Brunswick chose as their 75th Anniversary Project in 1975, "Help For Children With Learning Disabilities".

The I.O.D.E. soon realized there were no facilities in the province of New Brunswick to provide help for these children.

Proposals were made that introductory courses in learning disabilities should be made compulsory in the teacher training programs throughout the province. Teachers already in employment should be required to complete a course on learning disabilities.

To this end, the I.O.D.E. awarded in 1976 two scholarships of $2,000 each and four scholarships valued at $500 each to six New Brunswick teachers to further their work in the field of learning disabilities.

The I.O.D.E. has held a series of workshops on learning disabilities at the learning disabilities center, Rothesay Elementary School. These workshops have been very well received by parents, teachers and other professionals dealing with children with Learning Disabilities. Since there is such a demand for these workshops more will be held in the future.

A provincial diagnostic center where children can come for diagnosis and an educational prescription is a must.

The I.O.D.E. has accomplished a great deal in this area also, and to this end, presented in March of 1976 a brief to the Premier of New Brunswick and the ministers of health, justice, social services, Youth and education stating the need for governmental involvement in this area.

At their recent semi-annual meeting, the IODE recommended the adoption of the proposal regarding the establishment of the provincial diagnostic clinic and six sattelite clinics to encompass full services for the entire New Brunswick population of children with learning disabilities.

This proposal was forwarded to Premier Richard Hatfield; Hon. Gerald Merrithew, minister of education; Hon. Leslie Hull, minister of social services; Hon. Jean-Pierre Ouelette, minister of youth; Hon. Paul Creaghan, minister of justice; Hon. William Cockburn, minister of health, for their consideration in the deliberation of the 1977 budget for the province of New Brunswick.

There are children in our schools who are hurting and who need help NOW.

Establishment of the I.O.D.E. proposals for a provincial clinic on Learning Disabilities will pay a high percentage of "interest on investment" to our picture province.

Convenership Studies Continues For Group

Members of Little Flower Council, Catholic Women's League began the new year by attending mass on Jan. 3 at 7 p.m., prior to the meeting, with Rev. Yvon Boudreau, council director, as the celebrant.

The meeting, held in the regular meeting room, was chaired by the president Mrs. Sylvia Lavigne who wished all members and the director a happy and successful year. She also expressed the hope that 1977 would be a successful one for the League.

Opening prayers were conducted by Father Boudreau and prayers were also recited for the sick of the parish.

Father Boudreau delivered a scripture reading taken from a letter of St. Paul to the Colossians, and gave a spiritual talk concerning the "sacrament to the sick".

The annual Christmas lottery netted $212.50, with Miss Yvonne Blanchard being winner of the fruit cake and Mrs. Glendon Lavigne winning the turkey.

Mrs. William Smith who is well versed in all C.W.L. conventions, continued her series of outlining conventionships with a study on community life. She spoke briefly on the topic, resolutions, after which a discussion was held.

Mrs. Smith said community life is a very busy and important conventionship if members do their part and respect on their work.

In conjunction with Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Jan. 16 - 23, members were invited to participate during this week.

Two members, Miss Helen Thibodeau and Mrs. John Cormier volunteered to visit sick and shut-in persons of the parish during January.

The motion of Mrs. Smith for adjournment was followed by the League's closing prayer.

CREATE COMMUNITY JOBS NOW. GET YOUR APPLICATION IN BY FEBRUARY 4TH.

Canada Works
Young Canada Works

The restoration of historical buildings, the construction of a fire hall, the replacement of an outdated water system. If you stop and think about it there are probably many good projects that could create jobs and be of great benefit to your community.

This year, a new job creation program called Canada Works will help fight unemployment by providing funds to groups and organizations including private businesses, for worthwhile community projects.

If you have a project that can provide a minimum of five jobs for unemployed people in your area, submit your application to Canada Works.

But do it now. The deadline for applications is February 4th.

Right now, your Canada Manpower Centre has application forms and a Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" that describes the program and how to apply.

Visit your Canada Manpower Centre today. Canada Works. Make it work in your community.

This summer Young Canada Works will help reduce student unemployment by creating jobs in your community. The students will work on projects of community benefit that will enable them to test their career aspirations.

Any established organization can submit an application to Young Canada Works.

Your proposal should provide a minimum of three student jobs for six consecutive weeks. Projects can operate for up to 14 weeks between May and September. Your local CMC has a Young Canada Works "Guide" and application form.

Submit your application now. The deadline for Young Canada Works is February 4th.

ANN LANDERS

Deprivation Due Reckless Driving

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I recently read the letter by the 17-year-old boy who "died" in an auto crash. I'd like to tell another story — the other side. It was a 19-year-old boy whose reckless driving killed my mother.

One Sunday morning I tried to phone Mom to tell her the good news. I was pregnant again. She didn't answer the phone. Then I heard a bulletin on the radio. There had been a serious automobile accident on the highway near our home. I had a terrible feeling — sort of a premonition — so I asked my husband to drive me there, "just to make sure." When we passed my parents' house, I prayed to God that their car would be in the driveway. It wasn't.

A few miles down the road we saw it — smashed to smithereens — a heap of twisted steel. People were leaving the scene. My husband asked the police officer where the injured had been taken. He told us with a sad nod of the head.

The drive to the hospital seemed like an eternity. I cried and prayed all the way. When we found my father in the emergency room the sight of him made me sick. He looked up at me and asked, "Where's your mother?" I told him I didn't know but I'd go find her — convinced she was in another treatment room.

As I came down the hall, frantic and frightened, a kindly doctor stopped me and took my arm. He led me and my husband into a small conference room. I knew what was coming.

He told me my mother was dead. I pounded my fists on the wall and screamed, "No, no, she can't be!" Oh God, I didn't mean to make so much noise. I'm sure my father heard me. That was no way for him to get such terrible news. When I went back to his room he was crying.

The funeral was a nightmare. Selecting the dress my mother was to be buried in was more than I could bear. When I handed the funeral director the locket the lady and I gave her for Mother's Day my knees buckled and I very nearly fainted.

My father was too badly injured to attend the funeral. The kids couldn't understand why Grandma had to be in that big, closed box. Why couldn't they see her? Oh, how my heart ached for my father, my children, and for myself.

All this agony and suffering because a 17-year-old boy was in a hurry to see his girl friend. And wouldn't you know it — the boy walked away from the accident without a scratch.

Now, two years later, I have two tiny girls who will never know their wonderful grandmother. What a special part of their lives they will miss. To this day, I have not set eyes on the boy who did this terrible thing. And I hope I never do.

I pray that every person who has a driver's license and reads your column will stop for a moment and realize what one irresponsible maneuver can mean to the lives of others. Please do that one my name. Sign me — I'll Never Stop Missing Her.

DEAR FRIEND: Your letter is bound to make a difference. It is sure to save many lives. My thanks for writing it, along with my heartfelt condolences.

CONFIDENTIAL to Handsome and Charming in Rockdale: Please don't send a picture. Anyone who has all the qualities you describe needs police protection — not help getting dates.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." For a copy, send 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3069, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Weight Watchers Advice On Nutrition For Elderly

"Advanced years can mean expanded waistlines."

This note of caution was sounded today by Marie Lodwick, Area Director for Weight Watchers in Southern Ontario, the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, who said that "if the elderly eat as they did as young adults, the likelihood is that they will become overweight."

Citing a report by Dr. William H. Sebrell, Medical Director of Weight Watchers International Inc., Marie stressed that the need for specific nutrients is no different in the elderly than in the young. In the normal elderly person, the digestion and absorption of food is not impaired either.

However, the report points out, the aged often must change their eating habits because they are less active physically and expend less energy. If older people eat as they did as young adults, they could become obese.

Statistics show that the older we get, the heavier we get.

"Older people should not weigh more than they did as healthy young adults, and perhaps a little less," says Dr. Sebrell.

In his report to the Weight Watchers Organization, Dr. Sebrell recommends that the elderly be advised:

Eat less of everything, especially fats, and exercise more. Certainly check with your own doctor before attempting any exercise program.

If your local weight-control group is one that has a reputation of integrity and follows principles of proper nutrition, join it. You've never too old to receive the motivation, inspiration, proper diet and good advice on changing your eating habits that such a group can provide.

If you are not too overweight, you can easily come back to a proper goal weight. Never starve yourself by complete fasting, or by a very restricted food intake.

You should lose weight in the same way you gained it — slowly, over a long period of time. You should not lose more than 2 or 3 pounds of fat a week.

Everyone who is "getting on in years" would like to feel young again. The best we can hope for is to make the most of what we have. Proper food and nutrition can help the elderly — and young people, too — to attain this goal.

In a time of increasing food prices, you can get good nutrition at low cost, even if you are on fixed income. Many official sources supply current food information on food prices and availability with suggestions for "good buys".

Finally, Dr. Sebrell advises: "Avoid some attentions to what you eat and how much you eat. This can mean big dividends in health and good living. Don't forget too, that the quantity you eat is as important as the quality. You can have delicious meals and good nutrition, too, without sacrificing to excess.

"Weight Watchers have helped members lose weight who had been well into their seventies," stated Marie. "It's never too late for the older generation to lose weight than for the youngsters. You'd be amazed how helpful the teenagers and the geriatric set can be to each other. In a Weight Watchers class, there is no generation gap."

Archibald Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Furlong were recent guests of his sister, Mrs. Xavier Lavergne Belledune.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Archibald and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Park spent the New Year holiday in Tide Head, guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. John Summer and family recently moved into their new home, and on Wednesday evening, approximately 35 friends and neighbors, old and new, gathered to welcome them and wish them every happiness in their new abode. Invited in Dalton Centre. A lovely lunch was served at the close of the function.

The Eight Most Asked Questions About CSA

1. What is the Canadian Standards Association?

CSA is a non-profit, independent organization engaged in developing standards and certifying to standards. Its corporate mission is: "Services in Support of Voluntary Standardization".

2. Who controls CSA?

CSA is governed by 25 Directors who are chosen by the members, from both continuing and committee members. The CSA Board of Directors represents all walks of life across Canada. Some come from the various government agencies and manufacturing groups, and others represent universities, consulting firms, and consumers.

Continuing members pay an annual membership fee, while committee members contribute their time and skills to the organization in the field of standards writing.

3. How is CSA funded?

CSA receives its funds through the sale of standards and memberships — any individual or organization may join. When manufacturers submit their products for certification, they must pay for the work performed.

4. What is a Standard?

Many CSA Standards are Product Standards; these may be defined as technical documents for the evaluation of specific product characteristics, such as safety and/or quality.

CSA product safety standards basically establish performance levels of safety and additionally, in some instances, include performance requirements.

CSA electrical product standards pertain mainly to hazards of shock and fire but do include requirements for protection against other known hazards.

5. Who writes CSA standards?

Organizations, such as Consumer Groups, Government Departments, or any other parties showing an interest in standardization, can approach CSA, requesting that standards be written. CSA then investigates the need for such standards and forms a committee consisting of experts in the particular area as well as users and regulatory authorities. It is these individual committees that write the standards. CSA has over 400 of these committees with over 3000 committee members from across Canada.

On many committees consumers are also invited to participate.

6. Are CSA Standards law?

CSA has no legislative powers and is not a department of any government, but all three levels of government pass legislation based on CSA Standards.

For instance, provincial governments have made it mandatory that all electrical household appliances in Canada must meet CSA Standards and manufacturers must indicate the product's conformity to the standard by displaying the CSA Monogram. The CSA mark presently is applied to over 500 million articles per year.

7. What is CSA Certification?

CSA Certification is a process for determining, by independent evaluation, that products intended to bear the CSA Certification Mark, conform to accepted standards.

It involves testing and/or examination, the follow-up procedures to determine continuing conformity by the products to the standard(s). CSA inspectors make 20,000 plant inspections per year, visiting 25 countries.

8. How does Canada compare with other countries in the field of standardization?

Canada has more standards for product safety which are accepted and in most cases required by law on a national basis than any other country. In this field Canada is well ahead of the rest of the world in uniformity of requirements and acceptance. Although Canadians are fortunate to have these safety standards, accidents still happen. Safety laws are only as good as the standards on which they are based and that is why CSA is continually updating, revising and improving standards.

Return From U.S. Vacation

Back home from a months vacation, and 2,382 in mileage, are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tingley who had joined family and friends for the Yuletide season.

Leaving here in early December, Don and Betty travelled via the White Mountains "ski country" on to Long Island to spend Christmas with the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Cooper who had visited them in Bathurst last summer. Gathered there for the festive regards from various centres were the Coopers' three daughters and husbands, along with five grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Tingley eventually spent a day with each of the nieces and their families, and another day was spent with Mrs. Tingley's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morrison, Linden, N.J., and a weekend too with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Thomson who, two years ago, also had visited here with the Tingleys.

They also paid a visit to Bill Smith, a co-worker of Don Tingley before his retirement and return to his native Bathurst. The Smith family resides at Pearl River, N.Y., where, incidentally, Bill Bairicos, his wife, the late Florence Frigault, had lived for many years before moving to Bathurst.

After their two-week sojourn to Long Island, Mr. and Mrs. Tingley motored on to Croton-on-Hudson to spend a day with another of the latter's sisters, Mrs. Joseph Lander and Mr. Lander. They continued on through Maine to Salisbury to spend a couple of days with Don's sister Glendene, and her husband Harold (Wheaton) who had just returned from Fredericton where they attended the funeral of the latter's sister, Mrs. Mary Helen Belyea.

The Tingleys arrived at their home in the city on Jan. 8.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Raymond Garrett returned home Jan. 9, after spending the past three weeks in Montreal, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Guy St. Pierre, Mr. St. Pierre and family. Upon her return home, she was accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Janet St. Pierre who spent a week as the guest of Mrs. Garrett, as well as her aunts, Mrs. Don Walsh and Mrs. James Nugent and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ritchie and children Becki, John and Cathy, Baie Comeau, Que., have been visiting with the latter's mother, Mrs. John O'Kane, North Tetagouche, and her sister, Mrs. Fernand Hache and family, Bathurst. Mr. Ritchie returned to Baie Comeau to resume teaching duties after New Year's while his wife and children left the following weekend for Halifax to visit for a week with her sister, Miss Miki O'Kane, RN, returning to North Tetagouche last weekend. They plan to return this weekend to Baie Comeau.

Miss Karen Smith has returned to her studies at Mount Saint Vincent University, after spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Smith.

Csl. Stewart Daley, with the RCMP at Niagara Falls, Ont., spent a leave of over two weeks here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daley during Yuletide. Also home for the season was another son, Mr. Ralph Daley, a student at Mount Allison University, Sackville. They were joined December 28 by the third member of the family, Beverley, her husband, Mr. Kenneth Thompson and children Christopher and Kelly Ann from Saint John who remained over New Year's weekend.

SMELT ARE IN!

As soon as the rivers are frozen, it's time to start fishing smelt. This slender, silvery fish is sometimes called the "king" of the small fish. Its relationship to the salmon gives it a distinctive flavor and good texture.

Smelts are delicious, economical, provide lots of proteins and are abundant in our province. What else can you ask for?

The price of a pound varies from 69c to 99c. There are about 18 smelt in a pound; that is enough to feed 3 people. Fresh smelts are available December to March. Frozen smelt are available year round.

Fresh and frozen smelts are sold in the round and also pan-dressed. Dressing smelt is easy. Using a pair of kitchen shears, clip off the heads just below the gills and trim off the fins. The tail fin may be cut off or left on as desired. Slit the fish open with the shears, clean, then wash them under cold, running water and pat dry on paper towels.

Eating enjoyment is increased if they are boned before cooking. To do this, spread them flat with the skin-side down. Slide the tip of a small knife under the backbone at the head end and raise the bone slightly. Working the fingers under the bone, gently pull skeleton up and away from the flesh. It comes away easily.

Frying is the most popular cooking method, although they are delicious baked and broiled.

See for yourself . . . try the Smelt Amandine. This recipe was taken from the pamphlet "Smelt Delicacies". You can obtain a copy by writing to:

SMELT AMANDINE

Ingredients: 1 lb. (or 18) Smelt, dressed, large; Salt; 2 tbsp. flour; 1 egg, beaten; 3½ oz. or 1¼ cups almonds, ground; ¼ cup butter, melted; Lemon wedges.

Method: Trim off heads and tails of smelt. Clean, wash and dry the smelt with paper towels. Roast almonds at 250 degrees F for 10 minutes before or after grinding. Preheat oven to 450 degrees.

Sprinkle inside and out with salt. Roll in flour and shake off excess. Dip in beaten egg and drain well on a sheet of waxed paper. Roll smelt in ground almonds and pat to make sure the breading adheres.

Line a large, shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Grease the foil and arrange the smelt in the pan. Pour the melted butter evenly over the top and bake in the oven for 10 minutes at 450 degrees F. Garnish with lemon wedges and serve immediately. Serves 3.

PARMESAN SMELT

Ingredients: 2 lbs Smelt; ½ cup flour; ½ tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; 1 egg, beaten; 1 tbsp. lemon juice; ½ cup cracker crumbs; 1/3 cup Parmesan cheese, grated.

Method: Clean and bone smelt. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat fish with mixture. Dip fish in combined egg and lemon juice.

Roll in mixed cracker crumbs and cheese. Pan-fry in about ¼ inch of hot fat. When golden brown on one side turn and brown the other side. Makes 6 servings.

Find Florida Cold And Wet

Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Young Jr. have returned to their home in Belmont, Mass., following a winter vacation in Florida, during which they attended a "fabulous" New Year's Eve party at the St. Petersburg Hilton.

"You can't win", says Mrs. Young, the former Sally Healy who is originally from the Bathurst area. "We thought we were getting rid of the snow and cold weather when we departed for the south in search of warmth and sunshine."

As it happened, however, only cool and wet weather prevailed all the time they were away. The only glimpse they got of sunshine was when they landed close to home again at Logan Airport.

Mrs. Young's advice to others going south: Take along some warm clothing, just in case.

Wedding Held In Saint John

The marriage of Alvetta Marie Losier (nee Robichaud) and Charles James Keary took place at Saint Rose Church, West Saint John on December 28. Rev. F. Reilly officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Their only attendants were Louella and John Doyle, sister of the groom and her husband.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Sampan Restaurant, Fairville, where a number of close relatives in Saint John were present.

The bride and groom are former residents of Pokemouche and Tracadie respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Keary will be residing at their home in Acamac, West Saint John.

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. . . Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your father which is in heaven." Matthew 5:14, 16

Christianity is a great deal more than a sermon, a song, a social gospel, a little giving and a sanctimonious gathering once or twice a week. Light is the only way to cope with darkness. "If our gospel be hid it is hid to them that are lost."

Social and Personal

By Marg Jamieson, Woman's Editor

Cpl. Walter Lavigne and Mrs. Lavigne returned Jan. 10 to Grand Falls, N.B. after spending the weekend with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lavigne, Bathurst, and Mr. and Mrs. Zoel Allain, Nigaac, and other relatives in the areas.

Miss Cathy Doyle, Aurelia, Ont., was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daley and family during the holiday season.

Mr. Wells Chapman, Toronto, spent Christmas weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wells Chapman, Janeville. He was accompanied on his return by Messrs. Kerry and Alan Scott, of Janeville, who were his guests for a week.

Mrs. Louise Levesque spent Christmas weekend at Caribou, Maine, the guest of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Malenfant and family.

Mr. Shane Roberty who is a teacher of economics at Sir Wilfred Laurier University, Waterloo, Ont., spent christmas week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Roberty and family. He had as his guest, Mr. Hamerjedi Haeni, Switzerland, who celebrated his 21st birthday on Christmas Day with the Roberty family. Mr. Haeni is in Canada observing and learning about farming techniques and methods for a while before returning to his native country.

Mrs. Weldon Underhill, Winnipeg, spent the New Year's weekend visiting her mother, Mrs. John O'Kane, North Tetagouche, and her sister, Mrs. Fernand Hache. Mr. Hache and family in Bathurst, and her sister, Miss Miki O'Kane, Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Verge, Moncton, were guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. "Tony" Boudreau and family over Yuletide. Their son, Mr. Bernard Boudreau who attends Moncton University, has resumed studies after spending the Christmas break at home.

Airwoman Wed Abroad

The marriage of S-Sgt. Ethel Diane Badger, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy E. Badger, and the late Melvin E. Badger, formerly of Bathurst, and Captain Robert S. Suter took place on October 23, 1976, at Huntingdon, England.

The attendants were Susan K. D. Smith, the bridesmaid, and John F. Zeuner, best man.

The bride is the non-commissioned officer in charge of Administration, Security Police Squadron. The bridegroom is the Electronic Warfare and Tactics Officer for the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, R.A.F., Alconbury.

Captain and Mrs. Suter are residing at The Old Post Office, Tansor, Petersborough, England.

CWL Visits At Christmas

The regular monthly meeting of Saint Simon-Saint Jude Council Catholic Women's League was held Jan. 5 with seven members present.

The chairman was Mrs. Joey Whelton, president, who welcomed the members. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Bernadine Riordon. Church convener Mrs. Irene Roy read an interesting passage from the Bible.

Correspondence read included thank-you messages and cards received during the Christmas Holidays.

Miss Martina Riordon, the convener for social action, reported having visited 22 elderly persons and shut-ins at Christmastime, distributing baskets of fruit to each one.

Regret was expressed that it has been impossible to hold the children's Christmas party due to inclement weather.

Sister Belanger discussed a book, containing information to help teach pre-school children, which she brought to the meeting. She said she hopes to get parents interested in this project in the near future.

Lunch was served after the meeting by hostesses Mrs. Joey Whelton and Mrs. Nettie Riordon.

Consulting Services Are Available Now For Children With Learning Disabilities

Do you, as a parent, suspect your child has serious problems in coping with school work?

If you do, please telephone Dr. S. K. Saroy at 1-867-2000 each Tuesday between 2:30 and 5:30 p.m. Dr. Saroy will discuss your child's suspected problem and will arrange to check he or she out at the provincial Learning Disabilities clinic in Saint John.

Dr. Satish Saroy is eminently qualified in the field of learning disabilities and is currently president of the International Federation of Learning Disabilities. This consulting service is offered by the I.O.D.E. in the province of New Brunswick.

According to rough estimates, 35 to 40 per cent of the school population in New Brunswick have some problem or other in their learning process. Ten to 15 per cent of these children have specific learning disabilities and are in desperate need of help.

An Acadia University study revealed 67 per cent of the inmate population in the Springhill Medium Security Federal Penitentiary in Springhill, N.S. suffer from forms of specific learning disabilities.

The I.O.D.E. in the province of New Brunswick chose as their 75th Anniversary Project in 1975, "Help For Children With Learning Disabilities".

The I.O.D.E. soon realized there were no facilities in the province of New Brunswick to provide help for these children.

Proposals were made that introductory courses in learning disabilities should be made compulsory in the teacher training programs throughout the province. Teachers already in employment should be required to complete a course on learning disabilities.

To this end, the I.O.D.E. awarded in 1976 two scholarships of $1,000 each and four scholarships valued at $500 each to six New Brunswick teachers to further their work in the field of learning disabilities.

The I.O.D.E. has held a series of workshops on learning disabilities at the learning disabilities center, Bathurst Elementary School. These workshops have been very well received by parents, teachers and other professionals dealing with children with Learning Disabilities. Since there is such a demand for these workshops more will be held in the future.

A provincial diagnostic center where children can come for diagnosis and an educational prescription is a must.

The I.O.D.E. has accomplished a great deal in this area also, and to this end, presented in March of 1976 a brief to the Premier of New Brunswick and the ministers of health, justice, social services, Youth and education stating the need for governmental involvement in this area.

At their recent semi-annual meeting, the IODE recommended the adoption of the proposal regarding the establishment of the provincial diagnostic clinic and six satellite clinics to encompass full services for the entire New Brunswick population of children with learning disabilities.

This proposal was forwarded to Premier Richard Hatfield; Hon. Gerald Merrithew, minister of education; Hon. Leslie Hull, minister of social services; Hon. Jean-Pierre Ouellette, minister of youth; Hon. Paul Creaghan, minister of justice; Hon. William Cockburn, minister of health, for their consideration in the deliberation of the 1977 budget for the province of New Brunswick.

There are children in our schools who are hurting and who need help NOW.

Establishment of the I.O.D.E. proposals for a provincial clinic on Learning Disabilities will pay a high percentage of "interest on investment" to our picture province.

Convenership Studies Continues For Group

Members of Little Flower Council, Catholic Women's League began the new year by attending mass on Jan. 2 at 7 p.m., prior to the meeting, with Rev. Tom Boudreau, council director, as the celebrant.

The meeting, held in the regular meeting room, was chaired by the president Mrs. Sylvia Lavigne who wished all members and the director a happy and successful year. She also expressed the hope that 1977 would be a successful one for the League.

Opening prayers were conducted by Father Boudreau and prayers were also recited for the sick of the parish.

Father Boudreau delivered a scripture reading taken from a letter of St. Paul to the Colossians, and gave a spiritual talk concerning the "sacrament to the sick".

The annual Christmas lottery netted $232.50 with Miss Yvonne Blanchard being winner of the fruit cake and Mrs. Gordon Lavigne winning the turkey.

Mrs. William Smith who is well versed in all C.W.L. conventions, outlined her series of outlining conventionships with a study on community life. She spoke briefly on the topic, resolutions, after which a discussion was held.

Mrs. Smith said community life is a very busy and important conventionship if members do their part and report on their work.

In conjunction with Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Jan. 18 - 25, members were invited to participate during this week.

Two members, Miss Helen Thibodeau and Mrs. John Cormier volunteered to visit sick and shut-in persons of the parish during January.

The motion of Mrs. Smith for adjournment was followed by the League's closing prayer.

CREATE COMMUNITY JOBS NOW. GET YOUR APPLICATION IN BY FEBRUARY 4TH.

Canada Works
Young Canada Works

The restoration of historical buildings, the construction of a fire hall, the replacement of an outdated water system. If you stop and think about it there are probably many good projects that could create jobs and be of great benefit to your community.

This year, a new job creation program called Canada Works will help fight unemployment by providing funds to groups and organizations including private businesses, for worthwhile community projects.

If you have a project that can provide a minimum of five jobs for unemployed people in your area, submit your application to Canada Works.

But do it now. The deadline for applications is February 4th.

Right now, your Canada Manpower Centre has application forms and a Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" that describes the program and how to apply.

Visit your Canada Manpower Centre today.

Canada Works: Make it work in your community.

This summer Young Canada Works will help reduce student unemployment by creating jobs in your community. The students will work on projects of community benefit that will enable them to test their career aspirations.

Any established organization can submit an application to Young Canada Works.

Your proposal should provide a minimum of three student jobs for six consecutive weeks. Projects can operate for up to 14 weeks between May and September. Your local CMC has a Young Canada Works "Guide" and application form.

Submit your application now. The deadline for Young Canada Works is February 4th.

ANN LANDERS

Deprivation Due Reckless Driving

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I recently read the letter by the 17-year-old boy who "died" in an auto crash. I'd like to tell another story – the other side. It was a 17-year-old boy whose reckless driving killed my mother.

One Sunday morning I tried to phone Mom to tell her the good news. I was pregnant again. She didn't answer the phone. Then I heard a bulletin on the radio. There had been a serious automobile accident on the highway near our home. I had a terrible feeling – sort of a premonition – so I asked my husband to drive me there, "just to make sure." When we passed my parents' house, I prayed to God that their car would be in the driveway. It wasn't.

A few miles down the road we saw it – smashed to smithereens – a heap of twisted steel. People were leaving the scene. My husband asked the police officer where the injured had been taken. He told us with a sad nod of the head.

The drive to the hospital seemed like an eternity. I cried and prayed all the way. When we found my father in the emergency room the sight of him made me sick. He looked up at me and asked, "Where's your mother?" I told him I didn't know but I'd go find her – certain she was in another treatment room.

As I ran down the hall, frantic and frightened, a kindly doctor stopped me and took my arm. He led me and my husband into a small conference room. I knew what was coming.

He told me my mother was dead. I pounded my fists on the wall and screamed, "No, no, she can't be!" Oh God, I didn't mean to make so much noise. I'm sure my father heard me. That was no way for him to get such terrible news. When I went back to his room he was crying.

The funeral was a nightmare. Selecting the dress my mother was to be buried in was more than I could bear. When I handed the funeral director the locket the kids and I gave her for Mother's Day my knees buckled and I very nearly fainted.

My father was too badly injured to attend the funeral. The kids couldn't understand why Grandma had to be in that big, closed box. Why couldn't they see her? Oh, how my heart ached for my father, my children, and for myself.

All this agony and suffering because a 17-year-old boy was in a hurry to see his girl friend. And wouldn't you know it – the boy walked away from the accident without a scratch.

Now, two years later, I have two tiny girls who will never know their wonderful grandmother. What a special part of their lives they will miss. To this day, I have not set eyes on the boy who did this terrible thing. And I hope I never do.

I pray that every person who has a driver's license and reads your column will stop for a moment and realize what one unguarded moment can mean to the lives of others. Please do not use my name. Sign me –I'll Never Stop Missing Her.

DEAR FRIEND: Your letter is bound to make a difference. It is sure to save some lives. My thanks for writing it, along with my heartfelt condolences.

CONFIDENTIAL to Handsome and Charming in Honolulu: Please don't send a picture. Anyone who has all the qualities you describe needs police protection – not help getting dates.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Weight Watchers Advice On Nutrition For Elderly

"Advanced years can mean expanded waistlines."

This note of caution was sounded today by Marie Ludwick, Area Director for Weight Watchers in Southern Ontario, the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland, who said that "if the elderly eat as they did as young adults, the likelihood is that they will become overweight."

Citing a report by Dr. William H. Sebrell, Medical Director of Weight Watchers International Inc., Marie stressed that the need for specific nutrients is no different in the elderly than in the young. In the normal elderly person, the digestion and absorption of food is not impaired either.

However, the report points out, the aged often must change their eating habits because they are less active physically and expend less energy. If older people eat as they did as young adults, they could become obese.

Statistics show that the older we get, the heavier we get.

"Older people should not weigh more than they did as healthy young adults, and perhaps a little less," says Dr. Sebrell.

In his report to the Weight Watchers Organization, Dr. Sebrell recommends that the elderly be advised:

Eat less of everything, especially fats, and exercise more. Certainly check with your own doctor before attempting any exercise program.

If your local weight-control group is one that has a reputation of integrity and follows principles of proper nutrition, join it. You're never too old to receive the motivation, inspiration, proper diet and good advice on changing your eating habits that such a group can provide.

If you are not too overweight, you can easily come back to a proper goal weight. Never starve yourself by complete fasting, or by a very restricted food intake.

You should lose weight in the same way you gained it – slowly, over a long period of time. You should not lose more than 2 or 3 pounds of fat a week.

Everyone who is "getting on in years" would like to feel young again. The best we can hope for is to make the most of what we have. Proper food and nutrition can help the elderly – and young people, too – to attain this goal.

In a time of increasing food prices, you can get good nutrition at low cost, even if you are on fixed income. Many official sources supply current local information on food prices and availability with suggestions for "good buys".

Finally, Dr. Sebrell advises: "Invest some attention in what you eat and how much you eat. This can mean big dividends in health and good living. Don't forget too, that the quantity you eat is as important as the quality. You can have delicious meals and good nutrition, too, without eating to excess.

"Weight Watchers have helped members lose weight who had been well into their seventies," stated Marie. "It's never too late for the older generation to lose weight than for the youngsters. You'd be amazed how helpful the teenagers and the geriatric set can be to each other. In a Weight Watchers class, there is no generation gap."

Archibald Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Furlong were recent guests of his sister, Mrs. Hector Lantreigne Belledune.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Archibald and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Park spent the New Year holiday in Tide Head, guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smearer and family recently moved into their new home, and on Wednesday evening, approximately 35 friends and neighbors, old and new, gathered to welcome them and wish them every happiness in their new abode, located in Durham Centre. A lovely lunch was served at the close of the function.

The Eight Most Asked Questions About CSA

1. What is the Canadian Standards Association?

CSA is a non-profit, independent organization engaged in developing standards and certifying to standards. Its corporate mission is: "Services in Support of Voluntary Standardization".

2. Who controls CSA?

CSA is governed by 22 Directors who are chosen by the members, from both sustaining and committee members. The CSA Board of Directors represents all walks of life across Canada. Some come from the various government agencies and manufacturing groups, and others represent universities, consulting firms, and consumers.

Sustaining members pay an annual membership fee, while committee members contribute their time and skills to the organization in the field of standards writing.

3. How is CSA funded?

CSA receives its funds through the sale of standards and memberships — any individual or organization may join. When manufacturers submit their products for certification, they must pay for the work performed.

4. What is a standard?

Many CSA Standards are 'Product Standards'; these may be defined as technical documents for the evaluation of specific product characteristics, such as safety and/or quality.

CSA product safety standards basically establish preferred levels of safety and additionally, in some instances, include performance requirements.

CSA electrical product standards pertain mainly to hazards of shock and fire but do include requirements for protection against other known hazards.

5. Who writes CSA standards?

Organizations, such as Consumer Groups, Government Departments, or any other parties showing an interest in standardization, can approach CSA, requesting that standards be written. CSA then investigates the need for such standards and forms a committee consisting of experts in the particular area as well as users and regulatory authorities. It is these individual committees that write the standards. CSA has over 600 of these committees with over 3000 committee members from across Canada.

On many committees consumers are also invited to participate.

6. Are CSA Standards law?

CSA has no legislative powers and is not a department of any government, but all three levels of government pass legislation based on CSA Standards.

For instance, provincial governments have made it mandatory that all electrical household appliances in Canada must meet CSA Standards and manufacturers must indicate the product's conformity to the standard by displaying the CSA Monogram. The CSA mark presently is applied to over 500 million articles per year.

7. What is CSA Certification?

CSA Certification is a process for determining, by independent evaluation, that products intended to bear the CSA Certification Mark, conform to accepted standards.

It involves testing and/or examination, the follow-up procedures to determine continuing conformity by the products to the standard(s). CSA inspectors make 20,000 plant inspections per year, visiting 25 countries.

8. How does Canada compare with other countries in the field of standardization?

Canada has more standards for product safety which are accepted and in most cases required by law on a national basis than any other country. In this field Canada is well ahead of the rest of the world in uniformity of requirements and acceptance. Although Canadians are fortunate to have these safety standards, accidents still happen. Safety laws are only as good as the standards on which they are based and that is why CSA is continually updating, revising and improving standards.

Information concerning CSA services may be obtained by contacting CSA's Public Relations Section, 178 Rexdale Blvd, Rexdale, Ont. M9W 1R3.

Return From U.S. Vacation

Back home from a months vacation, and 22,382 in mileage, are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tingley who last joined family and friends for the Yuletide season.

Leaving here in early December, Don and Betty travelled via the White Mountains "ski country" on to Long Island to spend Christmas with the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Howell Cooper who had visited them in Bathurst last summer. Gathered there for the festive season from various centres were the Coopers' three daughters and husbands, along with five grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Tingley eventually spent a day with each of the nieces and their families, and another day was spent with Mrs. Tingley's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morrison, Linden, N.J., and a weekend too with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Thomson who, two years ago, also had visited here with the Tingleys.

They also paid a visit to Bill Smith, a co-worker of Don Tingley, before his retirement and return to his native Bathurst. The Smith family resides at Pearl River, N.Y., where, incidentally, Bill Barron, his wife, the late Florence Fergault, had lived for many years before moving to Bathurst.

After their two-week sojourn in Long Island, Mr. and Mrs. Tingley motored on to Centreville-Hudson to spend a day with another of the latter's sisters, Mrs. Dwight Lassiter and Mr. Lassiter. They continued on through Maine to Salisbury to spend a couple of days with Don's sister, Geraldine, and her husband Harold Wheaton, who had just returned from Fredericton where they attended the funeral of the latter's sister, Mrs. Mary Helen Belyea.

The Tingleys arrived at their home in the city on Jan. 8.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Raymond Garrett returned home Jan. 9, after spending the past three weeks in Montreal, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Guy St. Pierre, Mr. St. Pierre and family. Upon her return home, she was accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Janet St. Pierre who spent a week as the guest of Mrs. Garrett, as well as her aunts, Mrs. Don Walsh and Mrs. James Nugent and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ritchie and children Becki, John and Cathy, Baie Comeau, Que., have been visiting with the latter's mother, Mrs. John O'Kane, North Tetagouche, and her sister, Mrs. Fernand Hache and family, Bathurst. Mr. Ritchie returned to Baie Comeau to resume teaching duties after New Year's while his wife and children left the following weekend for Halifax to visit for a week with her sister, Miss Miki O'Kane, RN, returning to North Tetagouche last weekend. They plan to return this weekend to Baie Comeau.

Miss Karen Smith has returned to her studies at Mount Saint Vincent University, after spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Smith.

Cpl. Stewart Daley, with the RCMP at Niagara Falls, Ont., spent a leave of over two weeks here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Daley during Yuletide. Also home for the season was another son, Mr. Ralph Daley, a student at Mount Allison University, Sackville. They were joined December 29 by the third member of the family, Beverley, her husband, Mr. Kenneth Thompson and children Christopher and Kelly Ann from Saint John who remained over New Year's weekend.

SMELT ARE IN!

As soon as the rivers are frozen, it's time to start fishing smelt. This slender, silvery fish is sometimes called the "king" of the small fish. Its relationship to the salmon gives it a distinctive flavor and good texture.

Smelts are delicious, economical, provide lots of proteins and are abundant in our province. What else can you ask for?

The price of a pound varies from 60c to 90c. There are about 18 smelt in a pound, that is enough to feed 3 people. Fresh smelts are available December to March. Frozen smelt are available year round.

Fresh and frozen smelts are sold in the round and also pan-dressed. Dressing smelt is easy. Using a pair of kitchen shears, clip off the heads just below the gills and trim off the fins. The tail fin may be cut off or left on as desired. Slit the fish open with the shears, clean, then wash them under cold, running water and pat dry on paper towels.

Eating enjoyment is increased if they are boned before cooking. To do this, spread them flat with the skin-side down. Slide the tip of a small knife under the backbone at the head end and raise the bone slightly. Working the fingers under the bone, gently pull skeleton up and away from the flesh. It comes away easily.

Frying is the most popular cooking method, although they are delicious baked and broiled.

See for yourself — try the Smelt Amandine. This recipe was taken from the pamphlet "Smelt Delicacies". You can obtain a copy by writing to:

N.B. Department of Agriculture
P.O. Box 5001,
Bathurst, N.B.

SMELT AMANDINE

Ingredients: 1 lb (or 18) Smelt, dressed, large; Salt; 2 tbsp. flour; 1 egg, beaten; 3½ oz. or 1¼ cups almonds, ground; ¼ cup butter, melted; Lemon wedges.

Method: Trim off heads and tails of smelt. Clean, wash and dry the smelt with paper towels. Roast almonds at 250 degrees F for 10 minutes before or after grinding. Preheat oven to 450 degrees.

Sprinkle inside and out with salt. Roll in flour and shake off excess. Dip in beaten egg and drain well on a sheet of waxed paper. Roll smelt in ground almonds and pat to make sure the breading adheres.

Line a large, shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Grease the foil and arrange the smelt in the pan. Pour the melted butter evenly over the top and bake in the oven for 10 minutes at 450 degrees F. Garnish with lemon wedges and serve immediately. Serves 3.

PARMESAN SMELT

Ingredients: 2 lbs Smelt; ¼ cup flour; ½ tsp. salt; ¼ tsp. pepper; 1 egg, beaten; 1 tbsp. lemon juice; ½ cup cracker crumbs; 1/3 cup Parmesan cheese, grated.

Method: Clean and bone smelt. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat fish with mixture. Dip fish in combined egg and lemon juice.

Roll in mixed cracker crumbs and cheese. Pan-fry in about ¼ inch of hot fat. When golden brown on one side turn and brown the other side. Makes 6 servings.

Find Florida Cold And Wet

Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Young Jr. have returned to their home in Belmont, Mass., following a winter vacation in Florida, during which they attended a "fabulous" New Year's Eve party at the St. Petersburg Hilton.

"You can't win", says Mrs. Young, the former Sally Early who is originally from the Bathurst area. "We thought we were getting out of the snow and cold weather when we departed for the south in search of warmth and sunshine."

As it happened, however, only cool and wet weather prevailed all the time they were away. The only glimpse they got of sunshine was when they landed close to home again at Logan Airport.

Mrs. Young's advice to others going south: Take along some warm clothing, just in case.

Yuletide At The Complex

Christmas and New Year's seasons were celebrated at the Dennis Fournier complex on Demorengie Street by Rev. J. Emile Fournier and the small recreation hall was filled to capacity on both occasions.

The senior citizens' choir, under the direction of Mrs. Sylvia Lavergne who resides nearby on the same street, was accompanied by organist Mrs. Linda Crippa, president of the senior citizens' club.

In his parting words, towards the close of the New Year's service, Father Fournier extended wishes for good health during the year 1977 to all members and said he expected to see the senior familiar faces together again next Christmas. He also asked for a round of applause from everyone for a job well done on the part of the choir, its director and the organist.

On New Year's Eve, a gathering of 46 senior citizens, friends, relatives and neighbors enjoyed a happy evening at the senior citizens' complex.

The party included dancing, refreshments and photo taking, followed by a delicious buffet lunch prepared by Mrs. Estelle Cormier, a resident at the complex.

In traditional manner, Old Lang Syne, led in the singing and accompanying by Mrs. Sylvia Lavergne, was joined in hearty renditions by those who dropped in at the complex before the heralding of the old year out and the new year in for 1977.

Members of the clergy who celebrated mass and worship every weekend at the complex, also called and joined in the festivities and wished everyone a Happy New Year.

Mrs. Linda Crippa, president of the group's Maple Leaf Club, welcomed all visitors to the complex in her usual charming manner.

PET NEWS

Training Your New Puppy

By Marguerite Morrison

Dogs are like human beings in one important respect: Things that are cute in the very young, are intolerable in the adult.

Such as a shrill puppy barking is rather entertaining, but an adult dog who barks for nothing important is a nuisance.

Puppies who are allowed to jump up on people to draw attention, will go on doing it when mature and people won't like it. So check your puppies' actions from the first with firm, loving commands.

Be sure only one person trains the puppy, the person he belongs to, so he will not become confused. Love your pet and let him know, and his training will be a game of pleasure for him, and he'll be more anxious to please you.

Dogs are very knowledgeable, and learn quickly and the inflections of your voice means a lot in his training.

MONTICE PET OWNERS

Please check your car motors each morning before starting your car, as several cats have been injured by the turning of the fan belt.

The cat will jump up on the motor to get warm, so please don't let your pets outdoors too long in this cold weather.

DON'S KNOCK

Paying income tax may be tough, but not half as bad as having nothing to pay taxes on.

Advanced Arts Students Aided

An expanded bursary program for students entering advanced studies in the arts will take effect this year, it was announced Jan. 10 by Jean-Pierre Ouellet, minister of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources.

Eligible promising amateurs in the fields of drama, dance, visual arts or creative writing will now be as eligible as music students for financial assistance beginning this fall.

To be eligible applicants must have completed their secondary schooling and expect to be registered this fall for full-time studies with a renowned teacher or at an approved institution either within or outside the province.

The amounts of the bursary will be determined by the number of applicants. The program will be administered by the department's cultural development branch.

Applicants must also submit evidence of considerable past training and exposure in preparation for advanced studies in their chosen field. They must also provide confirmation of pending or actual enrolment for the coming year in a full-time course in one of the eligible areas of the arts.

Only those students whose parents normally reside in New Brunswick will be eligible for consideration under the bursary program.

All applications and supporting documents must be received by one of the department's regional offices by April 30.

Application forms are available from the following regional office of the department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources:

Bathurst: P. O. Box 545, Bathurst, N.B. E2A 3Z4. (Tel: 546-9971)

VON Donations Appreciated

The Bathurst branch of the V.O.N. at its monthly meeting January 11, reported a total of approximately $3,000 had been received in its financial campaign.

The V.O.N. provides a unique personal home visit nursing service which these contributions make possible.

The branch wishes to extend its thanks to all donors and canvassers and a special appreciation to the student nurses who helped in the canvassing.

The head nurse reports 168 visits in December, twelve for homecare. In addition the nurses worked in the schools and participated in the swine flu clinic.

The branch welcomes a new nurse, Mrs. Jo-Anne Cottell, (nee Cook), to replace Mrs. Claudia Doucet who resigned in December.

NEW SLATE OF OFICERS ELECTED BY LOCAL FARMING GROUP

Bathurst Agricultural Society No. 3 elected a new executive and board of directors at the group's general meeting January 11. Seated from the left are: Allison Branch, secretary-treasurer, William Oliver, president, Arthur Ronalds, 1st vice-president, and Bud Kenny, 2nd vice president. Standing: Donald Ellis, Gerald Duivenvoorden, Sanford Smith and Kenneth Vance, directors. Missing is Douglas Jennings, director. Approximately $350,000 worth of business was transacted by the organization during the past year, it was noted from the financial statement presented during the session.

More Recipes For Canadian Cooks

By MARY HIGBY

One audience that is unfailingly served by book publishers is people who love to cook.

Each year brings collections of new recipes, or new collections of old recipes.

In such a competitive market, most cook-book editors are tending to specialize. This year's favorite area of specialization, to judge from some of the newly published titles, is Canada's past.

At some points, however, users of these cook-books might wish for less history and more recipes.

The Prime Ministers' Cook Book, by Susan Cartwright and Alan Edmonds (McGraw-Hill Ryerson Ltd., 181 pages, $7.95) delves into the past only as far as 1882, when Louis St. Laurent and his wife moved into 24 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, and made it the official prime ministerial residence.

The collection contains nearly 100 recipes from the kitchens of that imposing 16-room mansion, interspersed with dozens of anecdotes relating to the hospitality that visitors have found there.

In the usual "appreciation" at the beginning of the volume, the authors thank Olive Diefenbaker and Maryon Pearson — only for their co-operation.

Elsewhere, they write: "Pierre and Margaret Trudeau are singularly settering when it comes to divulging what happens in the kitchens of the prime ministerial residence."

The Trudeaus have an annual food budget of $34,000, they report, including $200.35 for something presumably useful called a Nutone food centre.

When Jackie Kennedy came to lunch, Mrs. Diefenbaker served cheese fondue and tossed green salad, the dressing for which is described here.

Princess Margaret, we learn, made her own bacon and eggs. The recipe, included here, shows that she prepared the bacon in a mixture of evaporated milk, Worchestershire sauce and cornmeal.

The Old Ontario Cook-Book, by Muriel Breckenridge (McGraw-Hill Ryerson, 241 pages, $14.95) is subtitled "Over 450 delicious and authentic recipes from Ontario country kitchens."

Many of them, are, in fact, from the collection of the author's late mother, Edna Magee Vannest of the old Loyalist town of Bath, near Kingston.

Just as architects might read the history of a community in its buildings, Mrs. Breckenridge traces Ontario's social history in its food and cooking.

Although most of the recipes she offers can be described as traditional, they can generally be prepared with ingredients that are readily available today.

In a few cases, where the author has adapted an old recipe to new ingredients, she says what the original ingredient was.

In all cases, she has meticulously provided metric measurements in addition to the conventional "cups" and "spoons."

Equally meticulous is her eight-page index, an indispensible but often neglected adjunct to a good cook-book.

Just one short-coming: Out of 21 apple recipes, there is none for apple dumpling.

Out of Old Nova Scotia Kitchens, by Mary Nightingale (John Wiley and Son Canada Ltd., 204 pages, $6.95) is similar in approach, but vastly different in content.

First place in this collection goes to chowders and fish, which formed a major part of the early settlers' diet.

"If it had not been for the abundance of the many varieties of 'fin, scale and shell,' it's doubtful that the settlement of Nova Scotia could have come about when it did," Mrs. Nightingale writes.

Each of the many ethnic groups that were represented in Nova Scotia's early history are represented here in recipes — the haggis of the Scots, the boiled dinner of the New Englanders, the potato cakes of the Irish, the Happee Pie of the French, the Kohl slaw of the Lunenberg Germans, the Sailly Lunns of the English and such indigenous Nova Scotia fare as blueberry grunt (a type of dumpling).

On the whole, the author presents the recipes in their traditional form, with little concession to present-day techniques and none to the metric system.

Jehane Benoit has provided the introduction to this 1976 reprint of a cook-book that first appeared five years ago.

Craig Claiborne's Favorites From the New York Times, Vol. II (Prentice-Hall of Canada Ltd., 416 pages, $12.50) is a chronological collection of Mr. Claiborne's food columns published in 1975.

Unlike the other three recipe collections discussed here, it is extremely wide-ranging in its scope.

One valuable feature of this volume, not found in the other three, is its use of photographs to illustrate how to open clams, for instance, or how to identify the various kinds of sushi (raw fish and rice) served in a Japanese restaurant.

Mrs. Egan is an inveterate collector of recipes.

PET NEWS
Sad Story Has Happy Ending

By Marguerite Morrison

This is a true story. About three weeks ago, in a certain part of the city, a car stopped at a driveway, deposited a tiny little puppy into the cold, and drove off.

By chance, the lady of the house saw this happening, but was unable to get the license plate number of the vehicle. However, the family pet, a German Shepherd, also saw the episode and after a couple of barks of welcome, took the small pup into the house where he shared his food and his warm body heat.

That puppy has found a good home. However, how many other dogs and pups are left out in the cold, and never find a home? As for the guilty person or persons who abandoned the pup, was this a kind act? Humans are supposedly superior to animals, but surely not in kindness.

By the way, a kitten was dropped at the same home a week before. Some people sure know where to find others who will care about our animal friends.

As for our feathered friends, don't forget to feed the birds on these cold days. They like seeds, bread or suet.

Land Projects Receive Loans

Approval of four federal Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation loans totalling $286,825 to the New Brunswick Housing Corporation for residential land assembly projects in Bathurst, Woodstock, Chatham and Fredericton were announced January 13 by Urban Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet.

One loan of $213,845 was for the acquisition and servicing of nine acres in the north sector of Fredericton, formerly known as Marysville.

The other three loans, totalling $172,980, are for the purchase of 77.9 acres of raw land for land assembly projects in Bathurst, Chatham and Woodstock.

All four loans are provided under the National Housing Act.

What To Look For In Pure Bred Pups

Contributed by the Miramichi Kennel Club

Every breed of dog has its individual standards. These are designed to help prospective dog owners to determine what is expected in the breed he chooses to buy.

When a dog is fully grown, it is very easy to tell at sight whether or not it meets the set standards, and whether it has what the owner is looking for.

However, these standards are not as helpful when a person is buying a puppy, simply because it is difficult to tell what the animal will look like when mature.

It is important, therefore, to buy from a reputable breeder and to get the following information from him:

1. Ask to see parents and grandparents — if only in picture. This will give some idea of what the dog will look like.

2. Examine the pedigree (listing of the dog's ancestors).

3. Ask to see the registration papers of both parents of the litter registration. This will ensure that the pup can be registered.

Without papers, a dog is not recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club and will be unable to enter dog shows. Also, the pup's progeny (offspring) will not be eligible for registration even if the mate is.

All reputable breeders should guarantee the animal against birth defects and anything hereditary in breeding, especially if sold as show quality. The guarantee should be agreed upon by both the purchaser and the seller, written and signed by both. Insurance is the only protection against anything outside of these two.

A temperament can easily be determined through parentage. Do not mistake a timid dog as a watch dog. A watch dog protects only his property and family; a crazy dog is unpredictable, and owners are responsible for damages and/or injury.

Beware of people who experiment with rare pure breeds. The results can be very harmful to the animal, and may produce a dog both unpredictable in appearance and temperament.

Be watching next week for information on dog diseases.

Anyone interested in dogs, pure bred, or otherwise, or who wishes to join the Miramichi Kennel Club, is asked to call Jim Whalen at 346-3287.

Potato Agency Is Proposed

The N.B. Potato Advisory Committee has prepared a proposal for establishing a producer-run organization which would deal with marketing opportunities and production problems.

The proposal, briefly described in a letter sent out to producers last week, calls for the formation of a New Brunswick Potato Agency under the Agricultural Farm Products Marketing Act.

According to Murray McIntosh, Glassville potato grower and chairman of the committee, "The industry does not have an organized representative group that can speak for the needs of all producers... collective action is required to deal with: potato promotion, quality, research, markets information and marketing methods."

He went on to say that he hopes all those involved in the New Brunswick potato industry will support the idea of producers establishing an organization to speak for them on production and marketing matters.

Copies of the proposed plan in its entirety will be distributed to more than 600 producers before information and discussion meetings begin on January 24.

Mrs. Paquet rested at St-Jeremie Church, Shippegan, where the funeral mass was followed by entombment in the parish cemetery.

POLITICAL SCENE

Action Will Benefit PM

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

When Prime Minister Trudeau decided to eliminate those "Scrums" with reporters and replace them with structured news conferences, it was explained that the change was made largely for the benefit of journalists who now would have a greater opportunity for in-depth questioning.

It might work out this way. It's still too early to know. But there is no doubt that the change will benefit the prime minister, who enjoys national television coverage every time he holds a news conference in Ottawa.

Furthermore, it gives him an advantage over other political leaders who do not have regular news conferences, and would not receive the same attention even if they did organize such events.

It is not insignificant that Mr. Trudeau decided on his new relationship with the media after the Nov. 15 election of a separatist government in Quebec. His news conferences, with their simultaneous translation, permit him to talk directly with Canadians, in both languages, on a regular basis.

And Mr. Trudeau plans to do a great deal of talking with Canadians during the next year as he tries to keep the country together. National unity can only be achieved if the people in all parts of Canada want it, he said recently. It cannot be achieved by governments alone.

PLANS CAMPAIGN

And his advisors say that the prime minister will be taking advantage of every opportunity to use the direct-sell approach to offset the sales campaign of Rene Levesque's Parti Quebecois.

As he said recently: "Suddenly there is a government in place which has all the tools of a government and there is 70-odd members of the legislative assembly of Quebec who are paid, as it were, to preach separatism every day of the year and try to prove that federalism doesn't work."

The prime minister has made it clear on several occasions that his main assignment is to prove that federalism does work. And there is no doubt that television is his greatest ally.

When he held his first of these new press conferences, Mr. Trudeau appeared relaxed and chatty, moving comfortably from English to French for 50 minutes as he made his sales pitch.

"In a democratic society, what holds it, the country, together is the will of the citizens to live together in a way that is prosperous, harmonious and free and advances everyone's own personal fulfilments.

"This is not only a task for Pierre Trudeau or the Liberal party or the federal government, and I hope Canadians will realize that. They should not turn to us or to Joe Clark and say 'save the country'. Canadians will save the country."

GOOD COVERAGE

..The prime minister's remarks suddenly appeared on the front pages of virtually every newspaper in Canada. He was featured in all television newscasts and his voice was heard on radio stations from coast to coast.

It's perhaps understandable that Mr. Trudeau's officials would suggest that the news conferences are being held for the benefit of journalists. And considering the inefficiency of those old corridor scrums, when reporters chased Mr. Trudeau like defensive linemen after a loose football, it isn't difficult to convince people that the new arrangement benefits reporters.

The only real losers are the leaders of other parties. As long as Mr. Trudeau was speaking to the nation through those little 20-second film clips from corridor scrums, Conservative Leader Joe Clark and New Democratic Party Leader Ed Broadbent could expect reasonably equal treatment. Reports were glad to get their 20-second comments on the same subject.

TOYOTA CANADIAN $3148.*

THE TOYOTA CANADIAN ...A SMART IDEA FOR THIS COUNTRY.
TERRIFIC!

For years now, Toyota has been coming to Canada to test its cars. Tests in the far north at temperatures of -40° fahrenheit, cold weather starting and driving, heater capacities, windshield defrosting action, electrical systems, extreme winter driving and handling tests and overall mechanical component performance. Plus tests in Canadian cities for corrosion and humidity problems, and extensive winter stop and go driving.

EQUIPPED FOR CANADA.
With the knowledge gained over these years of research Toyota proudly announces a special automobile...one that's built to take on the worst weather this country can dish out. And win.

The Toyota Canadian comes with a gutsy 1200 cc proven engine, a heavy duty battery, power front disc brakes, a powerful electric rear window defroster, side window defoggers, MacPherson strut front suspension, a heavy duty heater, 4-speed fully synchronized transmission and styled steel wheels.

The Toyota Canadian uses some very advanced rust inhibitors including plastic front fender liners, zinc coated rocker panels, corrosion and dampness resistant engine fittings.

TESTED TO TRANSPORT CANADA SPECIFICATIONS.
51 MPG HIGHWAY
33 MPG CITY

The Toyota Canadian is rated at an estimated 51 miles per gallon on the highway, 33 in the city, based on TRANSPORT CANADA approved test methods. Of course, the actual mileage you get will vary according to the kind of driving you do and your driving habits.

SERVICED IN CANADA.
Backing the Toyota Canadian are over 230 dealers right across the country and a sophisticated computerized parts system to ensure the immediate availability of virtually any part, anywhere.

PRICED FOR CANADA.
And now the big news. The price for this remarkable automobile is only $3148.00.* That low price makes it the lowest priced popular automobile† ...a good reason why you should test drive one soon.

The Toyota Canadian...born out of exhaustive research in this country and now part of the world's number one selling car model line... lives up to its name...terrific! TOYOTA

Ploughing Program In Step With Season

The foreman of the city works department, Roger Picot, said last week that despite the heavy snowfall so far this winter, works dept. employees are "doing a first-class job" of keeping roads open and disposing of the white stuff.

According to Mr. Picot, priority is given to opening up the main arteries and other city streets following storms. To accomplish this task, the city utilizes its own snow-removal equipment -- a blower, truck plough and two graders, as well as equipment hired from local contractors.

If a storm begins towards evening, a patrol plough is put on the streets to keep them passable until about 3 a.m. Then at 4 a.m., the remainder of the equipment is put out in full force in order to have all roads clear by 8 a.m.

In addition to equipment already mentioned, the city has smaller machines for sidewalk clearance. Although nothing was added to the complement of equipment this year, one blower was ordered to replace an older one and is expected at any time.

All machinery was functioning properly at the time of this writing, but as Mr. Picot pointed out, "We can never tell when things are going to break down. Next week, we could have three pieces of equipment in the repair shop.

Salt is being applied to the roads as needed but Mr. Picot says cold weather lessens its effectiveness. "In below zero (Fahrenheit) weather, the salt does not do a very good job of melting unless the sun is out to help the process along. We have used a fair amount of salt to date, but so far we are within our budget."

The city has, however, used a lot of sand mixed with salt. Although sand is not normally used on streets with storm sewers (it may block the system), it is necessary to use it to prevent accidents.

"These men have been at this type of work for a number of years, and are therefore familiar with it. In my opinion, they're giving a top-rate performance", he stated.

The department head noted that city police are also aiding clearing operations by enforcing the bylaw which prohibits overnight parking on city streets.

ART COLLECTION MAKES FAVORABLE IMPRESSION

The official opening of the CIL Art Collection showing Tuesday evening added still more color to the pleasant atmosphere of Nepisiguit Centennial Library.

Close to 300 people attended the function, which took the form of a cocktail party hosted jointly by Canadian Industries Ltd. and Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd., sponsors of the project on the local level. The hangings occupied the entire mezzanine floor and all who viewed it were impressed with the presentation.

J. R. Miller, assistant manager of operations for the latter firm, who with Mrs. Miller received the guests, introduced Lew Pryce of CIL's Montreal head office. The latter reviewed the Collection's establishment and its progress and development to the present.

Many interested citizens visited the Library Tuesday afternoon and evening and a steady flow of viewers is expected for the remainder of the showing which continues through Saturday, February 4 at the following hours: Tuesday to Fridays 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.; Saturday 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The CIL Art Collection was founded in 1962 to mark the 100th year in business of Canadian Industries Limited. Dr. Evan Turner, then Director of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, assembled, at the Company's request, a group of contemporary Canadian paintings from which a predominantly professional jury picked 40 works to form the original Collection. These were first exhibited at the Montreal Museum of Fine Art in March, 1962.

At that time, the Company stated that the Collection would be nurtured and expanded as opportunities occurred in order to reflect, as much as possible, new trends and styles in the art of painting in Canada.

Accordingly, some works were sold, and others bought, with the result that today the Collection consists of 52 examples of contemporary Canadian art, the work of 72 artists.

Russell Harper, a leading authority on Canadian art, serves as professional advisor to the Collection, a role earlier performed by Dr. Turner.

From the outset the paintings were made available for public exhibition in the hope that this would bring to more and more people an appreciation of the achievements of present-day Canadian artists. The Collection as a project has been well received.

Exhibitions have been held in over 90 different cities, and towns throughout Canada. In addition, small groups of paintings, and single works, have been shown at special exhibitions in Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom and continental Europe.

The Company's engineers faced with the problem of moving the paintings over great distances in all kinds of weather, worked with experts on art conservation to develop an improved shipping case which has won recognition in art circles for its protective qualities, and through the years it has proven its value many times.

The Company is very pleased with the public interest in the Collection, here and elsewhere, and with its acceptance as a practical way of encouraging Canadian artists, and making their work better known to their fellow countrymen.

In the Collection are the following paintings: "76138" by Glenn Adams of Montreal; Anglos series, Leon Bellefleur, Montreal; On the Fence, D. P. Brown, Collingwood, Ont.; Sunflower No. 5, Ghitta Caiserman-Roth, Montreal; The Winner, Yehuda Chaki, Montreal, Three Sisters Waiting, John Chambers, London, Ont.; Milk Truck -Children in a Tree, Alex Colville, Wolfville, N.S.; La pendule, Reynald Connolly, Montreal, The Sentinel, Kenneth Danby, Guelph, Ont.; Peinture, Marcelle Ferron, St. Lambert, Que.; Composition with Two Forms, John Fox, Montreal; Fields, Claude Gauvreau, Montreal; Chevron No. 2, Lawren P. Harris, Ottawa; Rose Rose, Jacques Hurtubise, Terrebonne, Que.; Hauling Sheaves, William Kurelek, Toronto; Solstice d'Hiver - La Soeur Blanche, Jean-Paul Lemieux, Quebec; Fungi, Ernest Lindner, Saskatoon; Red Pile, Kenneth Lochhead, Ottawa; Transitory Clay, The late Jack MacDonald, Toronto; The Window, Vickie MacLean, Cape Breton; Rotation asymetrique rouge fence, Guido Molinari, Montreal; Three Planks, Kazuo Nakamura, Toronto; Mirage, Toni Onley, Vancouver; Phase One Act, Page 2, Col 5)

NEW SERVICE

A poison control centre, one of several established in the province by the Dept. of Health, is now a going concern at Chaleur General Hospital.

It's designed to supply information on the proper antidotes to give or take for other substances) in the event any type of poison is consumed, accidentally or otherwise.

The new service is being provided by the present personnel of the Emergency and Pharmaceutical Dept. and no additional staff is required.

The number to call is 66-5555.

RESIDENCE SCHOOL

Couples contemplating marriage in the near future or during the coming year, are invited to participate in an interesting preparation for marriage course.

Beginning Sunday, February 6, at 7:30 p.m., and continuing for eight weeks, the course will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Godbout, 310 Princess Dr.

The weekly meetings are centered around topics presented by guest speakers concerning the different aspects of marriage.

Interested persons are asked to call either Rev. Greg Reay (at 548-8181, or Rev. Ray Pineau, 548-8181.

OUT OF THE PAST

Remember the David Crosby article, popular residents of Bathurst who used to live in Apt. 2?

(See Rambling, Page 2, Col 6)

At a meeting held November 9, 1976, the Principals and Vice-Principals Association of School District 4 voted to separate along linguistic lines.

The association, formed in the early 1960's, had been a bilingual one up until recently, but developments in recent years have convinced the group that objectives of both parties can more effectively be reached in a unilingual setting.

One of the reasons put forward in support of separation was the inordinately amount of time spent in translation. Meetings were prolonged while unilingual administrators had views, ideas and opinions translated for them.

More importantly, however, each group felt they had distinct needs and objectives which could best be dealt with and resolved within their own respective associations.

Curriculum development, for instance, is one area where concerns are decidedly different for each group.

This viewpoint respects the Department of Education principle, where the appointment of French and English deputy ministers of education has been made for the express purpose of ensuring that both groups receive equal consideration.

The formation of two associations does not preclude the possibility of unified action in areas of common concern, however, and both groups have agreed to meet together at the invitation of one or the other.

To date the two Administrators' Associations have restricted their constitutions to complete the first of separation.

Officers elected for the English Association were: Albert Lavigne, Chairman; Roger Cloutier, vice-chairman; Emery Cormier, secretary-treasurer.

Officers in the French association include: president, Lionel Bossman, vice-president, Walter Burke; secretary-treasurer, Jacques Couillard; past president, Maurice Duval.

A la réunion du 9 nov. 1976 l'Association des directeurs et directeurs adjoints des écoles du district 4 est venu pour former deux groupes, francophone et anglophone.

L'Association formée en début des années 60 était bilingue depuis son origine. Cependant, de récents développements ont convaincu le groupe que les buts des deux groupes seraient mieux desservis dans un milieu unilingue.

Une des raisons en faveur de la séparation était le temps énorme passé à traduire. Les réunions se prolongeaient pendant que les vues, les idées et les opinions devaient être traduites pour le bénéfice des membres unilingues.

Plus important encore est le fait que chaque groupe a des besoins et des objectifs distincts qui peuvent se discuter plus effectivement dans leur groupe respectif. Le développement des programmes, par exemple, est un domaine définitivement distinct pour les deux groupes.

L'association unit donc cette démarche l'initiative du ministère de l'Education où on a nommé deux sous-ministres, un francophone et un anglophone dans le but de s'assurer que les deux groupes reçoivent les mêmes considérations.

La formation de deux associations n'exclut pas la possibilité d'actions conjointes dans les domaines communs et les deux groupes se sont entendus pour avoir des réunions communes sur l'invitation de l'une ou l'autre association.

A date les considérations ont visé leur constitution pour leur compte de la séparation.

Les officiers élus pour la section française sont: Lionel Bossman, président; Walter Burke, vice-président; Jacques Couillard, secrétaire-trésorier; Maurice Duval, président sortant de charge.

Le section anglise a élu: Albert Lavigne, président; Roger Cloutier, vice-président; Emery Cormier, secrétaire-trésorier.

CNIB Campaign Take Comes Close To $12,000

The annual CNIB fund-raising campaign in Gloucester County has realized a total of $11,700 for 1976, it is reported by A.A. "Tony" Boudreau, district administrator for the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, Maritime Division.

Campaigning got under way early in September with campaign chairmen and canvassers throughout the county working almost until the end of the year in some centres in Lower Gloucester.

Although 1976 receipts fell short by $300 of the $12,000 objective set for the year, Mr. Boudreau stated he is most pleased with the overall campaign in Gloucester.

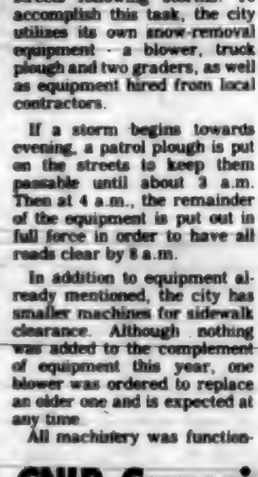
The district administrator also has expressed appreciation to all devoted and hard-working campaign chairmen and canvassers in the county to whom the success of these annual projects are due.

Following is a report on receipts for the county:

Bathurst	$7,012.65
Allardville	80.00
Bas (Lower) Caraquet	288.00
Belledune	268.50
Beresford	220.30
Caraquet	1,093.00
Grand Anse	220.00
Janeville and area	314.25
Paquetville	100.00
Petit Rocher	849.45
Pointe Verte	72.80
Robertville	210.00
St. Isidore	100.00
Shippegan	565.05
Tracadie	215.00

Mr. Boudreau expressed appreciation for the co-operation and interest shown by students and other young people in CNIB work. This assistance is especially evident during campaigns, as well as during regular meetings of the Gloucester County Advisory Board, all of which is very encouraging to the district administrator.

A noteworthy new contribution in 1976, amounting to $50, came from the C. G.I.T. in the Downshore area.



CST. SUSAN FOOTE

Policewoman Also Teacher

The only female member of the Bathurst City Police Department, Cst. Susan Foote, is 23 years of age and hails from Mahone Bay in Nova Scotia.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Foote, Susan graduated from Chester Municipal High School in 1972, then attended Nova Scotia Teachers College, receiving her degree in 1975.

Cst. Foote enrolled in the Atlantic Police Academy Charlottetown, on January 12, 1976, and graduated on Dec. 10. She received on-the-job training during the summer months with the Charlottetown force.

Cst. Foote enjoys skiing in winter, and hopes to join a softball team when the warmer weather rolls around.

Protem Move Of Foyer Patients

The initial parts of the renovation at Foyer Notre Dame de Lourdes now completed, the final phase is about to commence.

Within the next two weeks, therefore, 26 of the 35 patients will be transferred to nearby Chaleur General Hospital. They will be occupying beds on third floor there, it is expected, for a 4-to-5 month period.

Contractors for the alterations, Connolly Construction Ltd., has been on the job since last March. Completion will provide the institution with additional and improved facilities and accommodation for five additional patients.

THEIR'S IS A VERY BORING JOB

In order to determine whether or not Harbourview Boulevard is suitable for the new 6-to-8 storey Unemployment Insurance building slated for Bathurst, sounding has been underway for a week or so and is expected to continue for a similar period. Two holes have already been drilled by Sub-Surface Surveys Ltd. of Fredericton, and there are three more to go.

The reclaimed land section back of Main St. has been selected in principle by both federal and civic authorities from among several alternatives as the preferred site.

Fishermen Now More Satisfied

Members of the New Bandon Fishermen's Assn. held an amicable meeting last night in the Anglican Church Hall, Clifton, with Regional Federal Fisheries Officer Wm. Baskin, of Newcastle. Most of them came away reasonably satisfied with the discussions.

Previous changes in the fisheries regulations had been a bone of contention since their institution, and recent adjustments, many of them the result of recommendations and briefs from the fishermen, were recently adopted by Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc.

There was an attendance of 50 at Tuesday night's meeting and Mr. Baskin explained the new rules to the satisfaction of most of those present. Under the new setup only three fishermen out of approximately 100 will be deprived of their rights, it is estimated.

Association President Frank Pettigrew presided at the session which saw many questions asked and answered.

The group's treasurer, Sherwood Good, thanked Mr. Baskin for his forbearance during last year's sit-in at the local fisheries office which was a demonstration of disapproval of ministerial action.

Music Workshop Here Thursday

Nepisiguit High School will be the scene Thursday, January 27 of a bilingual music workshop directed towards the teachers of special children in School Districts 4, 5 6 and 7.

Directed by Lorne Poitras of Bathurst, the workshop will look at the use of music as a tool to teach other subjects. The concepts of co-ordination, left and right, high and low, etc. will be presented both visually and audibly. Assisting Mr. Poitras will be personnel from the districts involved.

The principal of the Newcastle Kinsmen School, Wilma Vye, and teacher Joyce Eason will elaborate on music as a mood changer, and this idea will be demonstrated by a class from the Newcastle school.

A District 4 special education class demonstration by Maude Smyth, assisted by Sr. Helen Martin and Connie Pelham, will show correlation of music with spelling as well as with numbers.

Mrs. Vye will then speak on the response of the special child to music, which is similar to that of other children.

The nature and needs of special children will be explained by Robert Gagnon and/or Pierre Dumas, and followed by a question period.

An address by Mr. Poitras will conclude the day-long workshop.

Team To Study Cirtex Plant

The New Brunswick government has hired a highly experienced team of consultants to study and evaluate the Cirtex Knitting Mill in Caraquet, an official of the province's commerce and development branch said last week.

Deputy Minister J. P. Blanchard said the consulting firm has agreed to do an independent study of the ill-fated textile plant, with the report to be completed within one and a half months.

Established early in the 1970s with the assistance of the provincial and federal governments, the Cirtex plant was the scene of a labor dispute and a strike which lasted over a year. It was finally reopened but had to close down in December on a decision from the majority Japanese shareholders. About 100 jobs were lost as a result.

The provincial government has an estimated $5 million

In Bathurst this week to promote the upcoming festivities, Mr. Groundhog chats with, from left, Bridgette LeClair and Donald Pitre, Grade 8 and Ruby Hachey, Grade 9, all students at LeBlanc Junior High School.

Beresford Carnival Begins Sunday

A variety of sports activities as well as dances for young and old, an art exhibition and the crowning of a festival queen are just some of the events scheduled to take place in Beresford from January 30 to February 6 during the third annual Groundhog Carnival.

The opening night of the festivities will see the crowning of the Groundhog Queen, followed by a dance at Chalet Sportif. Opening ceremonies, set for 8:30 p.m., will also include a show by the Beresford Baronnettes.

Candidates for queen this year are Suzanne Boudreau, Nicole Frenette, Gloria Doucet, Denise Comeau, Madelaine Godin, Marie Comeau, Solange Frenette, Pierrette Boudreau and Suzette Boudreau.

January 31 will be broomball day at the Beresford Arena, with young girls on the ice from 4 - 6 p.m., women from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. and girls from Nepisiguit High School from 9 - 11 p.m. Finals for all three groups will take place the following night as well as a show by Rheal Roussel, hypnotist at the Carrefour Etudiant in Beresford.

Wednesday, Feb. 2 sees a hockey tournament for Old Timers from 7 - 9 p.m., followed by men's broomball from 9 - 11:30 p.m.

On Feb. 3 at 8 p.m., the Dalhousie Rangers will be at Beresford Arena for a contest with the Junior Beavs.

The Kentucky Fried Chicken hockey tournament gets underway on Friday, February 4 and continues until Sunday when winners will be determined. Moonlight skating will also be featured Friday night from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Sunday will see a costume ball for children up to 12 years from 7 - 8 p.m., and a similar event for those 13 - 99 immediately after. At 9:30 p.m., Cornelia nd Billy will entertain at a dance at the Chalet Sportif. During this event, a drawing for two flat coats will be held.

An art exhibit at the Beresford Arena as well as a snow and ice sculpture contest will be ongoing for the duration of the festival.

Congratulations have been extended to the carnival committee, headed by President Roger Pitre, by the village administration and council as well as by the directors of the Beresford Sports Association for an excellent job in organizing the yearly event.

All are invited to join in the festivities.

SIX BATHURST DISTRICT SCOUTS RECEIVE HIGHEST DECORATION

In ceremonies held recently at Fredericton, six Boy Scouts from the Bathurst District received the Chief Scout Award, the highest recognition in the movement.

The decoration, introduced in 1973 by the then Chief Scout of Canada, Governor-General Roland Michener, to replace the former Queen Scout Award, was presented the local candidates by Lieutenant-Governor H. J. Robichaud.

Appearing in the picture, taken following the ceremony, which was also attended by the candidates' Scout masters and their parents, are front row, left to right: Joseph Eddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Eddy, New Bandon; Lt.-Gov. and Mrs. Robichaud; Tony Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nicholson, Manor Park. Middle row: Andy Hodnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodnett, Salmon Beach; David Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Good, 990 O'Neil Ave.; Andy MacLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacLean, 980 Meadow Ave.; Brian Daley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Daley, Sunnyside Park. Back row: Scoutmasters George Payne, (New Bandon Troop) and Terry Melanson, (St Alban's Troop, Salmon Beach); District Commissioner Michael Gallagher; and District Scoutmaster Derwyn Scott (also Scoutmaster for First United Troop).

Requirements for the Chief Scout Award are as follows: (1. Earn the Pathfinder Award; (2) Earn two of the following Achievement Awards at the Gold Stage: Anchor, Campcraft and Exploring; (3) Maintain one year's satisfactory participation in the affairs of his troop as judged by his fellow Scouts and Scouters. (4) Make and keep his promise and give a minimum of 50 hours of voluntary service to his community.

ENTRE-SIX: LE BALLET ET LA DANSE MODERNE

La Société Culturelle Régionale Nepisiguit présente "Entre-Six" le 31 janvier à 20h30 à l'école secondaire Nepisiguit.

Pour le public, la danse est un plaisir pour l'oeil, pour le danseur, c'est une conversation muette. Entre-six danse sur des mouvements qui réunissent le ballet et la danse moderne dans tout ce que chacune des deux disciplines a de sensible. Leurs chorégraphies ne racontent pas forcément une histoire, mais font vivre des sensations qui nous touchent parce qu'elles ressemblent étrangement à notre façon d'être avec les autres. La danse n'est plus seulement un ensemble de beaux gestes plastiques, elle devient comme le théâtre, le mime ou l'écriture une façon de nous révéler à nous-mêmes.

Lawrence Gradus, le Chrégraphe de la troupe dit: "En retenant un lien constant avec le public qui nous accueille sensible à son souci de communication franchement humaine, nous tentons de former avec lui un groupe familial électif. Mon désir est de transmettre à tous la chaleur de cette famille".

Il a crée, pour cette jeune compagnie, un style classique-contemporain, un répertoire à travers lequel chaque danseur est perçu par le public comme un individu.

Deux exemples très différents de ce répertoire se retrouvent dans le spectacle que vous verrez. "Variations de la reine" est un ballet satirique présentant trois caractères, le français, l'anglais et l'américain et où l'accent est mis principalement sur le côté comédie et pantomime. Par contre, "Toccata" est un exercice de pure chorégraphie sans thème ni scénario, conçu pour une fille et trois garçons. On y voit se déployer un ensemble fluide et compliqué de corps en motion continuelle. Les silhouettes donnent l'illusion de passer au travers et autour de l'une et de l'autre tout en glissant, s'élevant, se pliant et roulant en parfaite synchronisation. C'est tout comme si les danseurs étaient devenus des jongleurs chinois.

Entre-Six regroupe de jeunes danseurs animés du désir de présenter à leur public des spectacles de danse de haute qualité. Sous la fougue de Lawrence Gradus, leur directeur et chorégraphe, ils expriment avec originalité les différents traits, couleurs et rythmes des univers de la danse.

Entre-Six (ou sept maintenant) c'est Dominique Giraldeau, Roseline Forestier, Shelly Osher, François Beaulieu, Jacques Drapeau, Pierre Lemay et Ann Sprincis, qui dansent à partir d'un vocabulaire classique sur des idées actuelles de Lawrence Gradus. Ancien soliste de l'American Ballet Theatre à New York, ce dernier a conçu pour Entre-Six des chorégraphies qui reflètent exactement ce qu'il ressent.

C'est en juin 1974 que les danseurs de la compagnie Entre-Six pour la première fois montrent leur talent lors de la conférence "Danse Canada" à Montréal.

A TNB WORLD PREMIERE
The Dollar Woman
Why do none of our history books tell us the story of the Dollar Woman? Was she something to be ashamed of? Allen Rowden and Walter Learning (authors of TNB's [illegible]) have discovered a part of our heritage which seems to have been systematically kept from us. The playwrights dramatize, with humour and compassion, the death throes of a system so controversial that it became one of our history's best-hidden secrets - a 19th-century scheme to "help" the poor, which effectively made them the white slaves of New Brunswick.

KINSMEN BUILDING AVAILABLE TO COMMUNITY GROUPS

An off-ice training program for the Bathurst Figure Skating Club, conducted by Debbie Kent-Muteham, club professional, began last week at the former Boys' and Girls' Club. Since the club ceased operations several years ago, the building, which is owned and cared for by the Kinsmen Club, has been vacant. This year's project by the Kinsmen is to make the space available to non-profit groups and organizations in the community at no cost or for a very small charge depending on the situation. A spokesman for the club stated that the clubhouse had been built with community funds and that the community should be the first to make use of it. "Since we are paying electric and heating bills, we may as well have someone occupying the premises." Other groups to use the facilities in the near future are the St. John Ambulance Assn., Air Cadets, a Scout group and the 4-Wheel Drive Club. Anyone wishing to make use of the facilities are asked to contact any member of the Kinsmen club or call Ray White at 548-8804 (office), or 548-4942 (home); or Bob Liver at 546-5790 (office), or 548-3989 (home). In order to defray some of the expenses in the upkeep of the building, the Kinsmen plan to have bingos in the near future one night a week.

BRIDGE PLAYERS ELECT SLATE OF OFFICERS

The Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club recently elected their new executive and directors. Seated from the left are: Mrs. Phillip Chiasson, club manager; Mrs. Kay Dube, president; Mrs. Ivan Stairs; 1st vice-president; and Mrs. Percy Wedge, publicity chairman; standing: Robert Baker, chief director; Mrs. Doug Shirley, Mrs. Marg McBride and Mrs. Wilfred J. Bertin, directors. Missing from photo are: Mrs. Martin Hachey and Mrs. Pius Theriault, directors, and Ken Warren, past president.

Ability Fund Drive Now On

The 1977 Ability Fund Campaign on behalf on New Brunswick's physically disabled adults, which got underway on January 24th, runs to February 20th.

In New Brunswick the Campaign is run by the Canadian Rehabilitation Council for the Disabled in cooperation with the Canadian Paraplegic Association and the Canadian Wheelchair Sports Association.

Funds received provide for counselling, referral services, summer camping, recreation and transporation, prosthetic devices and orthopedic shoes.

National spokespersons for this year's Campaign are Bob Hope and Nancy Greene. New Brunswick Chairman is Council President, Paul Swim of Newcastle and Patron is Dr. Milton Gregg, V.C.

The Campaign Seal, as in past years, is the broken pine tree, with the slogan "Though much has been taken, much remains".

This year's Campaign goal in the province is fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00).

Campaign contributions should be sent to "The Ability Fund", Box 11,000, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5G4.

Many Jobs For Young Canadians

Details of a $95 million program expected to result in almost a quarter of a million jobs for young Canadians were announced January 18 by Manpower and Immigration Minister Bud Cullen.

The comprehensive interdepartmental program will continue to be known as the Student Summer Employment and Activities Program (SSEAP). This year it includes two new elements - the young Canada Works and Summer Job Corps Programs, part of the employment strategy outlined by Mr. Cullen in the House of Commons this fall.

By mid-February more than 300 Canada Manpower Centres for Students will be in operation throughout the country to solicit summer job orders from employers and accept registrations by young people.

SSEAP, last summer on a budget of approximately $24 million, placed about 200,000 young people in temporary jobs in the private sector and created 12,100 jobs in the public sector. This year, approximately the same number are expected to be placed in the private sector and around 37,000 students will find jobs with federal government projects.

Young Canada Works is a job creation program for students, patterned on the Canada Works Program. Funded at $30 million, it will provide funds for established organizations, partnerships and corporations to develop projects which will benefit communities and employ students during the summer.

The Summer Job Corps is a $10 million program through which federal departments and agencies will create about 6,000 short-term jobs to provide young people, primarily students, with challenging work experiences for career and educational development.

Job Exploration by Students, funded at $1.1 million, will again be conducted in co-operation with the Canadian Chambers of Commerce to provide jobs for potential high-school drop-outs.

"Our programs will provide work for many more students this summer than last," Mr. Cullen said, "but most of the jobs will be in the private sector. We help students find these jobs, but they will also have to work at finding them."

Mill Boiler Costs $6-Million

Babcock and Wilcox Canada Ltd. of Cambridge, Ont. has been awarded a contract in excess of $6 million to supply Fraser Companies with an MgO (magnesium-oxide) recovery boiler for installation at Edmundston, N.B.

The boiler, the world's largest of this type, is part of Fraser Companies' major modernization program announced in early 1976. Initially the pulp mill will be operated at up to 590 tons per day (tpd).

The recovery boiler will have a continuous capacity of 368,400 pounds of steam per hour at 1250 psig with a superheat temperature of 950 degrees F. The unit will be capable of handling 2,200,000 lbs. of red liquor solids per day.

Eighteen fi and W circular register burners will be arranged on the two side walls of the upper section of the primary furnace. There are ten red liquor burners and eight combination oil and liquor burners in the unit.

More Participated In Junior Olympic Year

New Brunswick youngsters' participation in the recently completed Junior Olympic Year surpassed every official expectation, according to figures released Jan. 24 by the Department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources.

They show that 88,256 youngsters, ranging in age from nine to 19 years, took part in the one or more championships held at the local, regional or provincial level last year. Only Ontario and Quebec had more youngsters participating. The total for all of Canada was 553,810.

"We had expected the participation level to be high, but not right off the scoreboard," said Jean-Pierre Ouellet, the minister whose department co-ordinated the program with the Canadian Olympic Association and the Royal Bank of Canada.

"We had anticipated that the Olympic Games would help to generate interest in the Junior Olympic program, but never to the degree that the participation figures show," Mr. Ouellet continued.

"Without doubt, if the figures are gauged against population, nowhere in Canada was the interest more greatly manifested than here in New Brunswick," said the minister.

The highest percentage of participation in the Junior Olympics program was at the community level, either through recreation departments or the school system. Through the employment of summer students, the Department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources was able to introduce and involve youngsters in the program from all regions.

As well, 23 olympic sport bodies (basketball, volleyball, wrestling, team handball, skiing, cross country skiing, equestrian, swimming, field hockey, rifle, soccer, sailing and gymnastics) conducted provincial Junior Olympics championships during 1976.

The program is to be continued this year according to an agreement between the Canadian Olympic Association and the program sponsor, the Royal Bank of Canada, who anticipate last year's enthusiastic response to spill over into this year's program.

For information on the Junior Olympics program contact the nearest regional office of the Department of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources, any branch of the Royal Bank of Canada or the Junior Olympics provincial coordinator, Phil LePage at P. O. Box 456, Fredericton, N.B., E3B 5H1.

Funeral Held At Robertville

The death of Mrs. Alphonse Doucet, widow of Valere Doucet, Robertville, occurred Jan. 19 at Chaleur General Hospital after an illness of 12 days. She was 78.

Born in Robertville, she was a daughter of the late John and Josephine (Frenette) Comeau. Her husband died six years ago.

Surviving are two sons, Theodore of Robertville and Lucien, Beresford; four daughters, Mrs. Omer Pelletier (Emilie) of Montreal, Mrs. Valmond Poirier (Marcella) of Bathurst, Mrs. (Jewell) Arseneau (Rosetta) and Mrs. Emilien Hachey (Gertine), both of Sudbury, Ont.

One brother, Theodore Comeau of Montreal; 31 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Doucet rested at Werner's Funeral Home in Nigadoo.

Rev. Ziad Saadeh and Rev. Honore Maurais officiated at the con-celebrated mass held at St. Theresa Church in Robertville Saturday at 7 p.m.

The pallbearers were Roland, Roger, Gilles, Lucien and Norbert Pelletier and Pierre Doucet, all grandsons.

Interment was in the parish cemetery, vault to await burial in the adjoining cemetery this spring.

Those attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Omer Pelletier and children Lise and Marc; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Comeau, all of Montreal; Mrs. (Jewell) Arseneau and Mrs. Emilien Hachey, Sudbury, Ont.

Talent Show Is Part Of Program

One of the popular features of the upcoming St. Anne Winter Carnival is a talent show sponsored by Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd.

This event is scheduled for the St. Anne Recreation Centre on Thursday, February 17.

All artists wishing to perform are kindly asked to register with Edmund Pitre, phone 548-3280 (after 4:00 p.m.), or Ronald Doucet, phone 548-8129.

Participants will be judged in two categories: age 12 to 17 and 17 years and over.

The competition offers three prizes: 1st $25.00; 2nd $25.00 and 3rd $15.00.

Opportunities For Students

The Canada-Mexico Exchange Program for Young Specialists and Technicians is seeking young Canadians interested in gaining practical career-related experience in Mexico for periods of four to 12 months, starting in late September, 1977.

Applicants in Canada must be Canadian citizens between 18 and 30 years of age. They must have a good basic knowledge of Spanish, possess a degree from a university or a diploma-certificate from an educational institution at the post-secondary level. Work experience is preferable though not essential. Applicants must also be in good health.

The major areas in which traineeships may be made available are: agriculture (seed production), soil technology (research), phytology (micro-organism control), plant genetics, anthropology (social and physiological), archaeology, architecture (urban development, conservation, cultural restoration), astronomy, biochemistry, biology, cardiology (high level research), demography (human geography), ethnology (high level research), journalism (communications science), museology, public finance, research in tropical medicine, social medicine (sociology); and tropical ecology.

The National Council for Science and Technology in Mexico will be responsible for selecting young Mexican specialists and technicians for training in Canada under the bilateral agreement. Canadian companies will be asked to provide training opportunities for suitable Mexican candidates.

The department of Manpower and Immigration, on behalf of the Department of External Affairs, is recruiting and selecting Canadians. Deadline for applications is February 11, 1977.

Bonneville, Bouchard Star In NSHL Action Last Week

Jean Marie Bouchard of the Campbellton Tigers has given the NSHL all star selectors some food for thought as he has scored six goals and assisted on six others in the games played since he was overlooked in the all star balloting.

He scored three and drew three assists last Wednesday when the Tigers subdued Bathurst Alpines 11 - 6. George Berube, Greg McCullough and John Wood added two each for the winners while Robert Allain and Dave Stevenson netted the others. Paul Ouellette, Jackie Roy, Lou Ouellette, Don Roy, Mike Brophy and Mike Morton scored for the Alpines.

Last Thursday, Bouchard scored another hat-trick but his performance was overshadowed by Luc Bonneville of the Dalhousie Rangers who mapped home five goals in sparking the Rangers to a 10 - 4 upset win over the Tigers. It was the first five-goal effort by any player in the NSHL this season and gives Bonneville a league-leading 30 goals for the season. John Harquail added a pair for the Rangers while singles came from Wayne Cameron, Gaetan Duguay and Conrad Drapeau who was brought up from Dalhousie's Junior B team. Dave Wisener tallied the Tigers' other goal.

500th Point

Jean Marie Bouchard contributed three assists Friday as Campbellton topped Chatham Ironmen 8 - 3. The assists gave Bouchard his 500th point in his less than six years in the North Shore Hockey League. Greg McCullough and George Berube scored twice for the winners with singles coming from John Wood, Dave Wisener, Sterling Lapp and Norman Maher. Walt McCarthy, Paul Findlay and Ed Russell counted for the Ironmen.

In Sunday's only game, Wayne Cameron's second of the contest late in the final period gave Dalhousie Rangers a 4 - 3 win over the Ironmen in Chatham. Ken Martin's Third of the Game tied the score at 3-3 midway through the final period only to see Cameron snap in the winner with just 38 seconds left to play. Ken Tait and Luc Gaudron scored the other Rangers goals.

Most excuses are little white lies wrapped in cellophane.

Tax-Trimming Time

If he or she hasn't done so already, some day between now and April 30, Bathurst area residents, like all other typical Canadians will clear off the biggest table in the house, spread out dozens of papers having to do with 1976 income, get out the pocket calculator, and then plunge into the task of completing their annual income-tax returns.

The job is sheer agony for most of us, the degree of torture depending upon how well financial records were kept last year, and how much attention was paid when mathematics were being taught in school.

What's worse, a substantial number of taxpayers inevitably make mistakes in the government's favor, because tax law is complicated and the Tax Guide (which accompanies every blank tax form) sticks only to the basics.

One way of making the task lighter, perhaps, is to find a way of approaching it with a positive, up-beat attitude.

In comparison with US taxpayers, Canadians do get one break: the major exemptions (personal, marital, dependent, aged, disabled) are increased each year in line with the increases in the consumer price index for the 12 months ending September 30. This gives the Canadian taxpayers the assurance that the percentage of income that's taken by taxes doesn't rise just because of inflation. It also makes inflation more acceptable and weakens the general will to control it.

In 1977, the basic personal exemption goes up to $2,270 from $2,086 in 1976. Married exemption rises to $1,990 from $1,830. exemption for the aged and disabled increases to $1,420 from $1,310.

For children under 16, the maximum exemption goes up to $480 from $396. For children over 16, it rises to $590 from $528.

Even if they don't have the advantage of indexing, however, married US taxpayers have one major advantage over Canadians: The family income can be pooled, and then split 50-50 (for tax purposes) between husband and wife. This means that the top marginal rate is likely to be much lower than if a working husband and non-working wife were to report individually - as they must here in Canada.

Under Canadian tax law, the "married status" exemption given to husbands who support their wives is considerably lower than the basic personal exemption. This inconsistency confers an advantage of families in which both husband and wife work to earn an income, over the family in which one works and one stays home.

Then there's the "equivalent to married" exemption - a major source of confusion. This applies in the case of taxpayer who supports a dependent living under the same roof, and related by blood, marriage or adoption. For example: a single parent, supporting a child, may claim this status instead of the normal deduction for a dependent child. But it can also apply in the case of grandchildren, or of sons-in-law and daughters-in-law and even of nephews and nieces who have no other means of financial support.

These are just a few examples that illustrate the range of possibilities for tax-trimming, for those who are diligent enough to seek them out and to keep adequate records.

Safety In The Snow

The evolution of the snowmobile and the resultant revolution in this type of enjoyment especially in parts like our Northern New Brunswick where winter is a prolonged season is a welcome innovation. Except for those people, of course, who sometimes seem to lose their senses when they mount their machines.

Members of snowmobile clubs, on the most part, seem to accept the obligation of behaving in a responsible manner when they head into the woods. The ones who cause concern, however, are those who drive on public highways or streets without any regard for normal vehicular traffic. Most of the fatal accidents involving snowmobiles have occurred because of collisions with cars, trucks or trains. No contest.

People who roar around on their snow machines without helmets are something else. Until a few years ago this type of protective headgear was not required for motorcyclists, but the increase in the number of fatal accidents helped push the government into passing a law making the wearing of helmets mandatory on motorcycles.

Now, the same situation is developing with snowmobiles, but in their case the Motorized Snow Vehicles Act doesn't provide for similar protection for drivers of snow machines. In other words, helmets aren't mandatory. In addition, there aren't any age restrictions, except one prohibiting owners from permitting persons under the age of 14 from driving on the highway.

Snowmobiles must cross a highway on a right angle, but this provision is often ignored by people who roar across in any fashion they think appropriate.

The time has arrived for the imposition of legal restrictions on the use of snowmobiles in order to protect the many from the irrational acts of a few.

Blindness More Difficult For Francophone Children

An Acadian official of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB) says blindness can be doubly hard on francophone children in the Atlantic Provinces because the region's only residential school for the blind is chiefly English-speaking.

Bruno Theriault of Moncton, president of the CNIB's new Brunswick branch, has been complaining for several years about the cultural problems of blind Acadian children, and authorities are starting to do something for them.

Mr. Theriault said the Halifax School for the Blind "has no provision whatsoever for French-Speaking children."

"They have to adjust to English. For a six-year-old child it's quite a traumatic experience."

Their trauma doesn't end with the learning of English, he said, because they have to re-adjust to French when they return home for vacations.

Of the 113 students at the school, eight are from francophone families, all in New Brunswick.

Officials of the school and the Atlantic Provinces Special Education Authority (APSEA), which finances it, say it would be uneconomical and ineffective to provide francophone education in Halifax. But APSEA is considering proposals to solve the problem.

Coming up for approval by APSEA's board of directors is a proposal to begin keeping as many visually handicapped children as possible in their local schools. To help them keep up with sighted students, APSEA would provide specially trained itinerant teachers to show classroom teachers how to accommodate blind students and perhaps tutor some of them. APSEA would also provide special classroom resource materials such as magnifiers.

The program would start in one French-speaking community in New Brunswick next September and would be extended to anglophone and other francophone communities in future years.

But even if it is a total success the plan won't be able to help every blind person. It is intended mainly for the substantial majority of the legally blind who have some degree of vision.

It could also serve a few totally blind children who are highly motivated and can get lots of help at home. But residential schools will always be needed for most of the totally blind and those with multiple handicaps.

Francophone children can get education in French at two schools for the blind in Montreal - the Institut Nazareth and the Institut Louis Braille. The financial arrangements are the same as for the Halifax school: APSEA pays the cost of schooling and room and board, estimated at an average $14,000 per year per child, but the family must pay for transportation.

The Montreal option is not new but Dr. Travis Cushing, superintendent of APSEA, says not all francophone families have been informed of it in the past. Henceforth, APSEA will see to it that francophone families know they have a choice.

But there are no plans to introduce francophone training in Halifax.

"It doesn't seem feasible to provide a French milieu in an English-speaking community", Dr. Cushing said. "We could provide French teachers but almost every contact to children would make outside of the school would be anglophone."

Don Hanover, superintendent of the Halifax school, explained that a large part of the function of a school for the blind is to teach children how to cope outside the school.

"Even if we were a French-speaking school, they would never practise it in any of the stores, where everyone else would be speaking English....

"It's not just academic subjects. You have residence situations. You have learning to look after yourself in the community, which means going to stores and other places.

"Nor are there enough children to warrant establishment of a francophone school for the blind in New Brunswick.

The Halifax school does provide special help for francophone students.

"Obviously it is harder for them initially so we try to give them special training in English to start with. We make sure our bilingual staff—and we do have some in all areas—handle the difficulties the children most must.

"But because we are basically an English school we are, of course, looking for them to learn English. The average child we get can learn enough basic English in about a month to start communicate with the other children. In about three months he can perform at grade level."

The school provides an enriched French program for francophone students so they can be orally bilingual and the partially sighted can do some reading of print in French.

However, for the two francophone students who are learning braille, the Halifax school provides instruction only in English.

The reason is that English braille and French braille are different. Braille uses contractions by which one written symbol can represent a whole syllable. Although the basic single-letter sounds are the same in each language, the problem is that the 200 or so English contractions are entirely different from the approximately 1,000 French contractions.

"To confuse a kid who is just learning to read in the first place by throwing those at him at the same time is asking for trouble," Mr. Hanover said.

Dedication Not Very Rewarding

Bathurst, N.B.
January 24, 1977

It is impossible to enforce qualities or to transplant a character. These are like the wind, we feel the effects but we cannot see it or grasp it. However, qualities and character can be abused to such an extent that you can no longer function to your full potential. The teaching and nursing professions are challenged "to be" or "not to be."

The saying is quite true that teachers and nurses are "born, not made", but, at the same time, they can be destroyed. What a "legal" abortion!

Who cares most for the students? The teachers usually. Who cares most for the patient? The nurse. Here I speak of course for the majority of those who aim or would like to accomplish much more if they could. It is a heartbreaking situation, but unless this affects us very closely, we (the public) move not.

This seems to be the trend of late: You, we shall give you higher salaries but we shall at the same time make the working conditions impossible or at least miserable.

To the public, please, before you comment in a detrimental way, make sure you know what it is all about. A teacher's job is much more than so many hours in the classroom. A nurse often feels that she works seven days a week.

The more we observe, the more we are aware that the idle are compensated and those who are willing to work are punished from the greatest height.

A constant struggle against injustice widens the road to the psychiatric wards. This is very expensive to us all. Soon you will have to provide more of these.

Thank you, all who are responsible.

Snow Clearance A Two-Way Affair

Campbellton, N.B.
January 13, 1977

(Editor's Note: The following letter appeared in the Jan. 13 edition of The Campbellton Graphic)

I read with interest items in the Graphic, one by the RCMP and a second by representation of the City Council, stating that residents may be fined $300 for putting snow on the streets and/or roads.

I am convinced that my following complaint does not apply to me alone because I have discussed the matter with several others.

We live in an area of the city in which we have a double parking area, off the street, to serve two families whose entrance onto the street is the only one in a block. We also maintain the sidewalk from the parking area to the residences as well as a walk-way to the street for the mailman.

On Monday night, 20 Dec. 76, Sunday night, 26 Dec. and Wednesday night, 29 Dec. 76, the driveway was cleared, the sidewalk was cleared and the walk-way was cleared. On Tuesday morning, 21 Dec. 76, Monday morning, 27 Dec. and Thursday morning, 30 Dec. 76, the walk-way and driveway were full of snow, piled high and packed in to a width of 10 to 18 feet, and one measurement of depth, taken of the first occasion, was 35 inches, actually taken with a yard stick which may never have reached bottom. (Metric reading equals 87.9 cm.)

It would appear from the irregularity in the framing, pushing, packing, piling that several runs had been made to get rid of the accumulated load before getting to the intersection of the streets. All of that packed ice, slush, snow, sand and salt accumulated for a minimum of a block, deposited in a matter of seconds, had to be hand-shovelled for hours. I stress that that stuff all came from the streets; it did not come from the driveway.

We can handle the snow that is put there by an act of God. We do not have the means for disposing of all the street's collections put there by the plow and its driver. Our only choice is to put it back from whence it came.

The newspaper article said that the ice chunks could damage the equipment. If those ice chunks can damage plow equipment what can they do to elderly men and women who must shovel them just to get out of their houses? I have never heard of a snow-plow having a heart attack yet!

So, the city has to clear its streets. It does not have to clear them into the walk-ways and driveways of its residents. We live on two-way streets in more ways than one. If they have the right to push the snow in, the residents should have equal rights to push it back out.

As a suggestion, with all the Unemployment, why doesn't the city set up a roster of all able-bodied men unemployed and use them to help shovel snow onto trucks? If their unemployment pay is less than snow-shoveller pay then the difference, hardly some arrangement could be made with the Unemployment Commission whereby these persons would not have their unemployment status when helping out in times of emergency as after or during major storms. I am sure many and more far-fetched ideas than that have been accomplished in the past and will be accompanied in the future.

The next time our driveway is packed full of snow to the extent it has been on these three occasions, I shall be looking for City Councillors and I shall expect them to come check that my complaints are legitimate.

The next step after that will be to send in a claim for the hours spent shovelling snow for the city at the going rate for snow-shovellers, of course, but I shall expect the claim to be paid.

Mrs. J. Johnstone

Commissioners Re-Appointed

The following commissioners of oaths in Gloucester County have been re-appointed, effective January 1, 1977, according to last week's edition of The Royal Gazette:

John F. Furlotte, Allow Bobby Albert Doucet and David W. Scott, William E. MacTavish and Roland Bernard, all of Bathurst.

Lorenzo Boudreau, Maisonnette; Philip Cormier and Rodolphe Roy, both of Petit Rocher; J. Gen de la Garde and Fernand J.Robichaud, both of Shippegan; T. M. Lacroix, Bellefonte; J. Elie Godin, Bertrand; Henri Mourant, Caraquet; J. E. Morais, Tracadie; Martin Paulin, Lamèque; Edmond Landry, Grand Anse.

Abner Anderson Dies In West

The death of William Abner Anderson, a one-time resident of Bathurst, occurred suddenly Jan. 5 in hospital at Grande Prairie, Alta. He was 78.

His wife, the former Bessie MacMinn of Bathurst, died 26 years ago. Mr. Anderson was born in Nova Scotia.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. William Brown (Dorothy) of Bathurst, Mrs. Gordon Newall (Gwenyth) of Grande Prairie, Alta. and Mrs. William Smith (Marjorie) of Saskatoon; and one son, Hugh of Grande Prairie.

One sister, Mrs. Neil Steel of Moncton and a brother, Adolph of Saint John also survive as do a number of grandchildren, nephews and nieces residing in the Bathurst area, and other points in the East.

Mr. Anderson rested at Oliver's Funeral Chapel in Grande Prairie where the service was held with Canon E. P. Williston officiating.

Hymns sung were What A Friend We Have In Jesus and Abide With Me.

Interment was in the Grande Prairie Cemetery.

Kennel Club Seeks Members

A meeting of the Miramichi Kennel Club will be held Sunday, January 30 at 2 p.m. at the Base River Adult Workshop. The club is looking for new members, and anyone interested in the well-being and proper care of dogs is invited to attend.

According to a spokesman for the club, it is not necessary to own a pure bred dog, or to even be a dog owner.

Upcoming activities planned for the group include a sanction match expected to be held in March, obedience classes in the spring, and an all-breed championship dog show set for September.

For further information on the club, call 548-3121 or 548-3287.

N.B. Election Appointments

Appointments and reappointments of returning officers for elections in the Province of New Brunswick are announced by the Department of the Provincial Secretary in the January 19 edition of The Royal Gazette.

The following officials have been named for the various regions of the Constituency of Gloucester:

City of Bathurst: James MacLaggan; Caraquet: Arthur Dugas, Jr.; Nepisiguit-Chaleur, Francis Blanchard; Nigadoo-Chaleur: Wilfred Poulain; Shippegan-Les Iles: Martin Gauthier. No appointment is listed for Tracadie.

Reappointed in Restigouche-East is Mrs. Anne Culligan, of R.R. 1, Belledune.

The Northern Light

Published every Wednesday at 355 King Avenue, Bathurst, N.B., by The Northern Light Limited. Yearly subscriptions: New Brunswick, $8.00; Other Provinces, $8.50; Foreign, $13.50. Single copy price 20c. "Second Class Mail — Registration Number 0085".

LIONS CLUB PRESENTS LEAGUE WITH TEAM SWEATERS

Minor hockey league players gather around Gary Draper (left in background), treasurer Bathurst Lions Club, as he looks on while Jack O'Neill (standing), rink supervisor Bathurst Minor Hockey League, receives one of the team sweaters presented by Jean-Marc Allard on behalf of the local club. The sweaters bear the Lions' crest and colors.

Student Employment Details Announced

Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde announced Jan. 19 details of two student employment programs to be undertaken by his department during the summer. As part of the federal government's Student Summer Employment and Activities Program, SSEAP '77, approximately 500 students will be hired at a cost of $1,340,000.

The Health Activities Summer Employment Program for Students (HASEPS) of the Health Programs Branch will provide funds to assist voluntary health and health related organizations in hiring students for health professions and other students who represent resources which are needed by the health field. The main objectives of the HASEPS program are to:

- provide students with a positive summer work experience in the health field;
- assist voluntary health and health-related organizations with the gathering of new knowledge that relates to substantive improvements in the health of Canadians. This would include improvements in lifestyle, environment, human biology and health organizations as elaborated in A New Perspective on the Health of Canadians.

The $748,000 program will create approximately 300 jobs for post-secondary students for up to 15 weeks work for each student. The program will be administered by the Health Programs Branch through the Canadian Public Health Association. Voluntary health and health-related organizations should submit applications to the Canadian Public Health Association, 1335 Carling Avenue, Ottawa, Ontario, K1Z 8N8, before March 15, 1977. After applications are approved, voluntary organizations will be required to contact Canada Manpower Centres to obtain candidates for projects. Students should apply through the Canada Manpower Centres.

Non-Medical Use Of Drugs Summer Recruitment Fund

This program is designed to involve students in the development and testing of more relevant community responses to problems associated with the use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs and to encourage research into specific problems surrounding the use of these substances.

The fund will provide employment for approximately 250 students at a total cost of $600,000. All projects must be sponsored by an academic institution or social services agency, or by a recognized community group. Applications and awards are normally filed through the sponsor, although students who wish to do research may apply directly, indicating their sponsor(s).

Nurses Could Vote This Week

Voting on a proposed contract settlement between the provincial Treasury Board and New Brunswick's 2,200 nurses could start Thursday or Friday.

A spokesman for members on the New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses said Monday that seven regional meetings had been held to outline the proposal to the nurses, and three more were to take place this week.

Results of the voting could be expected late this week or early next week. Details on the contract proposal will be released when the vote is known.

The proposed agreement was reached at a bargaining session December 22, 1976.

The nurses earlier rejected a conciliation board report which recommended 22.5 per cent in the first year of a two-year contract and six per cent in the second year.

The nurses have been without a contract since March 31, 1976.

Crime never pays, but we all have to pay heavily for it.

Appointed To Senior Posts

Allan E. Gotlieb, designated by the Prime Minister to be the Chairman of the proposed Canada Employment and Immigration Commission and Deputy Minister of the Department of Employment and Immigration, has announced appointments by the Public Service Commission to senior positions in the Commission and Department.

The appointments follow the Prime Minister's recent announcement designating John L. Manion to be the Vice-Chairman of the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission and Associate Deputy Minister of the Department of Employment and Immigration.

Legislation to integrate the Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration by the creation of a new Commission and an affiliated Department of Employment and Immigration is presently before the House of Commons. The appointments now being announced will take effect only with the coming into force of the legislation.

The designation of the senior executives for the new organization at this time will enable them to proceed with detailed planning so that, with the passage of the enabling legislation, the establishment of the new organization can be undertaken without disruption in the service to the public.

Mr. Gotlieb is pleased to announce that the present Chairman of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Cec Tuck, will play a key role in the organization of the new Commission. Mr. Tuck will be the commission's principal adviser on unemployment insurance matters.

In the capacity of Vice-Chairman, Benefits and Services, Mr. Tuck will also be responsible for developing the plans to combine the field organizations of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration.

The aim of the new Commission will be to have the complete range of services now provided separately under the Manpower and Unemployment Insurance programs available to the public in a network of "one-stop" centres.

Planning for the day you retire or buy your first home means having a master plan for your investment in the future. So we have two plans to help. A Retirement Savings Plan, and a Home Ownership Savings Plan. They both earn you valuable tax savings, and when you subscribe to either one, or both plans your contributions can be applied to any one, or a combination of these investment vehicles:

1. Royal Bank RSP and HOSP Deposits. Interest-bearing deposits with The Royal Bank of Canada, offering a high interest return, geared to the general deposit rate structure. Because of the long-term nature of these deposits, it is possible to pay a higher rate of interest than on conventional savings deposits.
2. Income Fund. High-yield bonds, deposit instruments and mortgages insured under the National Housing Act make up this portfolio which is actively managed by professionals. The policy is to achieve as high a current income as is compatible with maintaining reasonable price stability as well as moderate capital appreciation.
3. Equity Fund. Investment mainly in Canadian common stock portfolio which is actively managed by the same professionals. Long-term capital growth with reasonable current income is the objective of this fund.

It's all in how you plan your strategy.

Your Royal Bank manager can help you work out a master plan. Why not call or visit today. Now it's your move.

SNOWMOBILE CLUB OFFERS EMERGENCY ASSISTANCE

At a meeting last week of the Bathurst Snowmobile Club, snowmobile enthusiasts were requested to respect the rights of cross-country skiers by avoiding a five-mile long ski trail recently established in the area.

Beginning at the intersection of the bypass and the old golf course road, the trail, made and maintained especially for cross-country skiing, ends at the Boy Scout Camp at Middle River. Snowmobile Club members and others were asked to leave this trail for the exclusive use of skiers.

The committee meeting, held at the home of John Labonville, was called to discuss emergency search and rescue methods with RCMP Sgt. Sam Gauthier and members of the City Police and Natural Resources departments.

The club has offered its services in the form of volunteers, snowmobile sleds and other equipment for use in case of missing persons, downed aircraft and emergency snowmobile transportation. The club has gained the full support of law enforcement personnel in Bathurst in this and other activities.

Upcoming Snowmobile Club events include a general meeting on Feb. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, a snowmobile rally on Saturday, Feb. 12 followed by a dance, both at the Bathurst Fish and Game Lodge, and races on Bathurst Harbour, Feb. 24 (quarter-mile drags).

All club members are urged to attend these activities.

Says Economy Should Regulate Government

In a speech to the annual meeting of the Fredericton Construction Association Jan. 20, Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard said that demands for more government spending and higher wages must be moderated by the rate of growth in the economy.

Besides its difficult task in "charting a course for the health of our provincial finances," government has "an equally tough job in educating citizens to the financial reality of today," said Mr. Simard.

"Our collective impatience for more and better services from government must be tempered."

He noted that government spending, as a percentage of the gross provincial product, doubled from 1960 to 1975, to where it stood at just under 30 per cent. He said that government investment in hospitals, schools and highways will leave benefits for future generations.

But, said Mr. Simard, the healthy economic growth of the early sixties, which funded greater government spending, has been slowed by inflation.

He said that the financial troubles recently experienced in Britain and New York City indicate that "the time is long gone when government can react to cries for more services by turning on the cheque machine. If citizens want more, they must realize that they may have to give up something in another area."

Predictions for slow economic growth during the next year signal a reduced growth rate for government spending, Mr. Simard indicated. He said that this includes demands from unions and government departments, who will be treated "fairly and equitably," but "will not lead us to spend beyond our ability to pay". He said that self-control must be practiced after government controls are lifted, so that Canadians will become more productive and competitive in world markets.

Mr. Simard noted that the Hatfield government, despite some failures, has brought economic growth to all parts of the province and that many of its investment risks have paid off.

House Breaking Your Puppy

By Marguerite Morrison

The first and most important thing a dog should learn is to accept bathroom habits. This training should start at about three months, or, in other words, the first time the animal enters your home.

If you live in the country, it may be possible to train your dog to go outside every time. However, this is almost impossible as a puppy relieves himself about 12 to 15 times per day, so it is best to train him first on paper.

Always put the paper in the same room and in the same place. Have several layers of paper, and put the puppy on the paper every morning, after every meal and nap, and the last thing before going to bed at night. Wait for him to perform, then praise him and pat him, but not too loudly, but gently. Remove the the top layers of paper so that the next time he'll get the scent to remind him that this is his bathroom.

Of course, he may forget and change his bathroom. If this happens, only check the animal when you see it happen because scolding him after the deed is done will only confuse him.

At about six months of age, start to train the pup outdoors. At night, however, leave a paper in the house in his previous spot. Also, put an old piece of soiled paper outside so he'll get the idea for his toilet habits.

Quality, reliability and durability. The Ford Duraguard System has it all. Plus a no-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation.

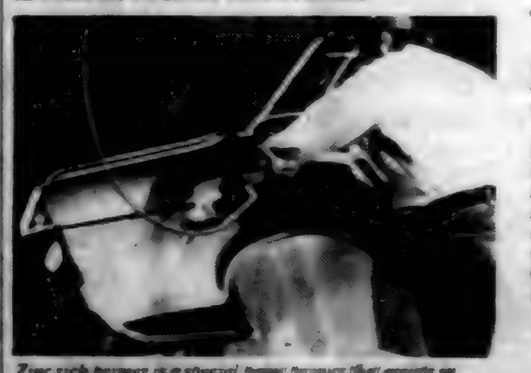
The salt truck is a familiar sight during Canada's winter season.

And while salt helps to melt ice and snow, it also creates a problem for automobiles.

Rust.

With more and more salt being used on our streets and highways, automobiles are exposed to more corrosive elements than ever before.

In order to cope with this environmental problem, Ford of Canada equips its 1977 North American built cars with the DURAGUARD SYSTEM.



Zinc rich primer is a special paint primer that assists in rust prevention.

The DURAGUARD SYSTEM is what goes into every 1977 North American built Ford and Mercury car to give you the most advanced corrosion resistance system we've ever offered.

It's built in at the factory, and it's standard equipment on every model.

The increased use of anti-rust processes has enabled Ford of Canada to offer an unprecedented no-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation.

In tests, at a Ford proving ground, individual test cars are subjected to prolonged exposure to a salty environment to simulate the kinds of conditions we experience in Canada.

Tough testing helps to determine the effectiveness of our anti-rust processes.

PRECOATED STEEL is one of our anti-rust processes that provides a defence against corrosive elements. We use more than twice as much precoated steel as in 1976.

VINYL COATING, a standard equipment feature on 1977 Ford and Mercury cars sold in Canada, is applied under the paint, behind the wheel openings, and helps to reduce the effect of stone chipping and road abrasives kicked up by the tires. VINYL SEALER creates a plasticized barrier against rust. ASPHALT COATING supplements the sprayed on vinyl sealer. GALVANIZED STEEL, a well-known rust inhibitor, is used in several extra-vulnerable spots. ALUMINIZED WAX is used in many places where moisture may accumulate, to further isolate the steel from corrosive elements. THE FINISHING TOUCH. The bare sheet metal of each car body has been dipped in a phosphate bath, and covered with a strong rust primer. For the final touch, three full coats of acrylic enamel are sprayed and baked into a durable, weather resistant, glossy finish.

All of these anti-rust processes combine to give you the most advanced corrosion resistance system we've ever offered. The DURAGUARD SYSTEM. And this system has its own special warranty. Only Ford of Canada offers a no-charge warranty like this. It goes along with every one of our 1977 cars sold in Canada, including taxis and police cars. And it goes to show just how good the DURAGUARD SYSTEM really is.

WARRANTY
No-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation on 1977 cars.

This warranty, which is exclusive to Canada, and is transferable to succeeding owners, covers the cost of both labour and materials for repair of perforation of parts caused by corrosion. The basic 12 month/12,000 mile warranty covers corrosion, other than perforations, that is due to defective factory materials or workmanship. Ask your Ford or Mercury dealer for details.

Coach Pouliot Completes North's All Star Roster

The NSHL's all-star coach Hubert Pouliot of the Bathurst Alpines added five players including two more from his own club, to complete his 18-man squad for this Saturday's 13th annual North-South charity all-star game set for the Aitken centre in Fredericton.

Pouliot, chosen to pilot the North for the second straight year, named rightwingers Lou Ouellette and Donnie Roy from his own Bathurst club to the dream team along with Wayne Cameron and Bruce Freese from the Dalhousie Rangers. He completed his roster with the selection of defenseman Stirling Loga of the league-leading Campbellton Tigers.

The selection of Ouellette marks the 10th time the clever rightwinger has made the squad. He is the second highest scorer in the 12-year history of the classic with nine goals and six assists.

The Alpines will be represented by seven players plus coach Hubert Pouliot and general manager Jack Furlotte.

Freese, Loga and Roy all made their debuts in the annual charity contest last year in Chatham while Wayne Cameron will make his first start in this year's event.

Following is the complete North Shore Hockey League All Star Team roster:

GOALTENDERS — Mike Frawley (Campbellton) and Glen Seperich (Bathurst).

DEFENSEMEN — Denis Langlais (Bathurst), Luc Tessier (Campbellton), Daniel Lessard (Chatham) Dave Lobban (Chatham) Sterling Loga (Campbellton) Bruce Freese (Dalhousie).

CENTRES — John Wood (Campbellton), Michel Hamel (Bathurst), Ken Martin (Chatham), Wayne Cameron (Dalhousie)

LEFTWINGERS — Jackie Ray (Bathurst), Dave Wismer (Campbellton, Lace Bonneville (Dalhousie)

RIGHTWINGERS — Mike Morton (Bathurst), Lou Ouellette (Bathurst), Donnie Roy (Bathurst)

COACH — Hubert Pouliot (Bathurst).

GENERAL MANAGER — Jack Furlotte.

Oil Kings Meet St. Thomas Tommies Here Feb. 13

Landry's Esso Oil Kings of the Miramichi Valley Basketball league will be hosting St. Thomas University Tommies Sunday, February 13 at 3:00 p.m. in a match-up that should provide the Bathurst club with its toughest competition of the 1976-77 season.

The game will be played at the Bathurst High gym and its main purpose is to promote basketball in the Bathurst area. Advance tickets are now available from team members, but hurry, only a limited amount remain unsold.

In last week's action, the Oil Kings won two more games to lift their record to 12 wins with no losses. In an exhibition game here last Wednesday, Landry's defeated Restigouche Senior High of Campbellton by a score of 87 - 71. John Farine paced the Kings with 24 points while Bob Sullivan and Dave Ross added 18 and 14 points respectively. Other scorers for the Kings were Mike Calnan with 10, John Nicholson 9, Jim Cormier and Mac Fraser 6. Greg Holten was high man for Restigouche with 22 markers. The game was tied at 42 all at the half.

Sunday afternoon, Bathurst topped CFB Chatham Golden Hawks 90 - 65 as the Kings' backcourt of Jim Cormier and John Farine netted 20 points. Stephen Ellis and Bob Sullivan added support with 11 each while Mike Calnan, John Nicholson and Marc Fraser each dropped in 6. Dave Ross and Steve Kelly had 4 each with Jim Nicol adding 2. Rod Pollock netted a game high 24 points for the Hawks who were well back at the half trailing 50 - 28.

Following are individual scoring statistics for members of the Oil Kings, including Sunday's game:

	G	Pts	Avg.
Mike Calnan	9	147	16.3

REPETITION

There's little new under the sun — the answers to the most pressing problems can be found in the book of experience.

28 Atlantic Skaters Advance To Nationals

When the final results of the first Atlantic Canadian Provincial Skating Championships were in a total of 28 figure skaters made up the team going to the National championships to be held in Calgary January 31 to February 6.

A parade of champions and an exhibition saw this three-day semi-national event come to an end at the Aitken Centre in Fredericton, N.B. on Saturday night, January 15th. Spectators were also treated to an outstanding performance by the guest skaters, Darrin Wighton and John Dowding. Senior Dance bronze medalists in the 1976 Canadian Figure Skating Championships.

The first four positions in each category qualify for nationals.

Mary Kelly of Fredericton who placed first in figures in the Novice Ladies Singles remained in first place after free skating to capture the gold medal. Another Fredericton skater, Vicki Caughey moved up from third place after figures to win the silver medal, while Jodi Carr of Dartmouth was the bronze medal. having placed second in figures, she dropped to third place in the final results. Valerie Power of Fredericton climbed to fourth spot after a superb free skating performance to complete the top six of 6th place after figures. The Novice Ladies event was made up of four skaters each from N.B., Nfld. and N.S. and one from P.E.I.

In the Novice Men's Singles event, Robert McCall of Halifax won the gold medal after his free skating moved him out of second place after figures. Andre Bourgeois of Moncton, who was in first place after figures, slipped to second spot after free skating. William McCloy remained in third place throughout.

The Novice Dance event was completed on Friday with Christine Pike and Dominic Pike, a brother and sister team from Stephenville, Nfld taking top honors and Suzanne Fleming and Bruce Langille of Halifax being runner-ups. The bronze medal when to Charlene Wiseman and Guy Theriault of Shippegan. Fourth place winners out of six were Krista Ross and Brent Anderson from Saint John, N.B.

Three couples were slated to participate in Novice Pairs and although all were guaranteed a place at nationals, they were to compete to determine the order in which they placed. Of the four, only two pairs competed on Friday night resulting in a first place win for Susan Green and Scott Pelley of St. John's, Nfld. with second spot for Maureen Ryan and Jimmy Downton also of St. John's. Lise and Bruno Bertin of Bathurst withdrew from the competition while Ruth Thorne and Chris Paulson of the Silver Jets FSC, St. John's, Nfld. lost a chance at the gold medal when Paulson took a fall after catching his blade in a rut in the ice resulting in pulled tendons in his left leg while getting in a short practice session before leaving Newfoundland. Paulson and Thorne placed in the top ten in the national championships last year.

After the completion of three categories in Junior Ladies Singles, Ann MacKay of St. Andrews captured the gold medal while Debbie Currie of Moncton won the silver medal and Kim Ridgway of Saint John took third spot.

The three Junior Dance teams ranked in the same order after both junior free dance and the compulsory dance which saw Marie McNeil and Robert McCall of Halifax in first place with Gina Ancoin and Hans-peter Punikan of the Heather Figure Skating Club in New Glasgow, N.S. as runners-Ups and third place went to Susan Sowerby and Terry Hale of Moncton.

PEE-WEES STORE UP ENERGY FOR TOURNAMENT

Mr. Grundleg recently visited the Kentucky Fried Chicken outlet on St. Peter Avenue and found three members of the Beresford Hockey Team enjoying a chicken snack. His tours around the city and area are to promote the Kentucky Fried Chicken Pee-Wee Hockey Tournament being held February 4 thru February 6. The tourney is held in conjunction with the Third Annual Beresford Groundhog Carnival (Le Carnaval du Siffleux), January 30 to February 6. Teams competing in Class "A" are from Beresford, Shippegan, Caraquet and St. Isidore. In Class "B", teams from Allardville, St. Isidore, Caraquet, West Bathurst, Beresford, Pointe-Verte, Nigadoo, and St. Andre will hit the ice. All games will be played at the Beresford Arena. Front row are: Michel Frenette, Marcel Pitre and Johnny Grant; back row: Col. Sanders in mannequin form; Paul Losier, president of the tournament; Jean-Marc Guitard, Manager House of Hay; and Mr. Groundhog.

Men's Curling Club News

By JOHN MARTIN

After two full weeks of curling in the Sweepers' Spiel, teams skipped by Larry MacDonald, Alvin Lavigne and George Crafoot lead Sections A, B and C respectively. Due to storm cancellations and ice repairs, this bonspiel will extend into next week.

The annual Brunswick Mining Employees' Association Bonspiel was held this past weekend with a rink skipped by Loretta Cormier emerging victorious, a foursome skipped by Mina Viennaau finished second. Completing Loretta's foursome was mate Brian Murphy, second Francine Pitre and lead Roger Legacy. Mona's team was rounded out with mate Omer Theriault, second Wayne Mallet and lead Rita Willet.

There will be a dance for all members and guests in the upstairs lounge on Saturday, February 5, dancing will be from 10 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. with the music provided by the Mystiks. Admission to this function will be 2.00 per person.

The December 50-50 draw was won by Robert Stever. The seller of the winning ticket was Clifford Thibodeau.

The next Men's Curling event will be the Men's Mate Series. The poster for this event, which will be 100 percent draw curling, is now up. All curling members are urged to participate.

The next mixed curling function will be the Mark Ten Bonspiel. The poster for this bonspiel is also posted.

Until next week, good curling!

Ladies Curling

By Joyce Cosley

A fun 'spiel is scheduled for Saturday evening, Jan. 29 when four-end games will be played. These mini-bonspiels are open to members and guests.

Playoffs for competitive mixed curling are scheduled for Wednesday evening, Feb. 2nd.

The Mark Ten poster is up for curling members who are interested in this mixed bonspiel. Games in the Mark Ten event will be scheduled for Wednesday evenings and are expected to begin in early February.

Music by the Mystics will be featured at a dance at the club on Saturday, Feb. 5. Members and their guests are welcome.

Although Lillian Lavigne has received enough Dominion Store slips to order the new stove for the club kitchen, members are asked to continue saving these cash sales slips, as the kitchen is still in need of other items.

Good curling, everyone!

Melvin Sparks Laser Triumph

Glen Melvin triggered four goals here Sunday afternoon to pace the Bathurst High School Lasers to a 9 - 3 win over Minto Miners in N.B. Interscholastic Hockey League play.

The victory extended the league-leading Lasers' winning streak to 12 in a row. Their only loss of the season came in their opener when they were downed by the Fredericton Black Cats in the Capitol city.

Luc Coughlan fired a pair for the winners in the choppy game which saw the Lasers pick up 23 of the 40 penalties assessed. Rick Coulombe, Bruno Aubie and David Burke tallied the other Bathurst High goals while Ron Roy, Dan Myer and George Fanjoy replied for the Miners.

Lasers built a 5-1 lead in the opening period and increased their margin to 8-1 with three unanswered goals in the second.

Beresford Bees Whip Caraquet

Roger LeBlanc triggered three goals to spark the rampaging Beresford Bees to 12 - 3 romp over Caraquet Acadiens in North Shore Junior B Hockey League action Monday night at Beresford.

The win lifted the Beresford club into second place in league standings, one point ahead of the Acadiens.

Freddie David and Charlie Viennesu each netted a pair for the winners with the other goals coming from Rolland Frenette, Mario Doucet, Michel DeGrace, Terry Thibodeau and Jean-Marc Fournier.

Victor Gionet counted twice for Caraquet with Marcel Hache netting the other.

Beresford has a chance to gain on the league-leading Shippegan club when the Merchants visit the Bees tonight for an 8:30 p.m. contest.

Win Sunday

Beresford moved to within a point of second place on Sunday when they downed the Beaudoin Juniors 6 - 3 in Dalhousie.

Terry Thibodeau and Mario Doucet were the big guns Sunday with a pair of goals each while Roland Frenette and Roger LeBlanc fired the others. Dalhousie led 3 - 1 after the first period before the Bees stormed back with five unanswered goals.

LABATT OLAND'S BREWERY TROPHY PRESENTED

The Bay of Chaleur Intermediate "C" Hockey League was presented a new Championship Trophy by Oland's Brewers (1971) Ltd., Sunday, January 16. Joe Comeau (left), president of the league accepted the trophy from Jack Furlotte, special events coordinator; and Denis Langlais, sales representative for Oland's.

LEO GODIN

Was Veteran Of Second War

The death of Leo L. Godin, 860 Vanier Blvd., occurred Jan. 23 at Chaleur General Hospital after a long illness. He was 63.

Born in Bathurst, he was a son of the late William and Celina (Landry) Godin.

Mr. Godin was a cook by trade and was employed on the Irving Oil Co. Ltd. vessels for many years. He retired eight years ago, due to ill health.

Mr. Godin served overseas with the Royal Canadian Armed Forces during World War Two.

Surviving are his wife, the former Delia Daigle; one adopted son, Maurice Daigle of Saint John; five brothers, Rudolphe, Edmund, Benoit and Herman, all of Bathurst and Nicholas of Toronto; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Legacy (Cecile) of Bathurst and Mrs. Alphonse St. Laurent (Emma) of Atholville; and many nieces and nephews.

Another brother, Terrence, died in Saint John six years ago.

Mr. Godin rested at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

A Legion service was held at Elhatton's Monday at 7:30 p.m. with Harry W. S. MacLean officiating.

Rev. J. W. Roche officiated at the funeral mass held at Our Lady of the Rosary Church Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The pallbearers were Maurice Daigle, four nephews, Livian Godin, Roger Legacy, Roger Godin and Gilles Godin and a grandnephew Michel Godin.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Avenue, to await spring burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Those attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Daigle, Omer Daigle, Saint John; Mrs. Doreen Churchill and son Kenneth from Chatham; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Henry and daughter Marie-Rose, Dalhousie.

Gerard Arseneau Dies, Aged 34

The death of Gerard Arseneau of Petit Rocher occurred Jan. 20 at Chaleur General Hospital after a long illness. He was 34.

Born in Montreal, he was a son of Edgar and Albina (Arseneau) Arseneau.

Injured in a highway mishap seven years ago, Mr. Arseneau had not been able to work since that time.

Surviving besides his parents are three brothers, Alvin of Robertville and Roland and Denis, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Roger Hache (Jeannine), Mrs. Francois Roy (Diane) and Mrs. Clarence Aube (Simone), all of Petit Rocher as well as several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Arseneau rested at Veret's Funeral Home.

Rev. Claude Pinet, assisted by Rev. David Boudreau, Capucin, Bathurst, officiated at the con-celebrated mass held at St. Polycarpe Church in Petit Rocher Sunday at 3 p.m.

The pallbearers were Renald Arseneau, Yvon Arseneau, Alvin Doucet, Guy Doucet, all cousins, Ralph MacDonald, an uncle, and Normand Brideau.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault pending burial in the adjoining cemetery at Petit Rocher in the spring.

Attending from a distance was Mrs. Emma Roy, Campbellton.

Services Held At Holy Family

The death of Walter Lapointe, 500 Hornbrook Ct., occurred suddenly Jan. 22 at his residence. He was 77.

Born at Belledune, he was a son of the late Frank and Agnes (Landry) LaPointe.

Mr. LaPointe came to Bathurst over 50 years ago and was a carpenter employed by C. Smith and Sons Limited. Prior to his retirement in 1970, he worked for K. C. Irving Ltd. in Saint John.

His wife, the former Cecile Legacy, died in 1968.

Surviving are one son, Harvey LaPointe, Bathurst; seven daughters, Mrs. L. P. Anderson (Lovena), with whom he resided in recent years, Mrs. Adelbert Bourdage (Claudia) of Saint John, Mrs. Owen Brown (Antoinette), Mrs. William Schoolcraft (Patricia), Mrs. George Galliah (Florence) and Mrs. Donald MacLean (Alice), all of Bathurst and Mrs. Maurice Parker (Ardith Anne) of Campbellton.

One brother, Raymond La-

November Fish Landings Down

Figures released Jan. 19 by Fisheries Minister Otner Legge show that New Brunswick's commercial fishermen landed 30,457,000 lbs. of fish valued at $1,700,234 in November. Both figures represent a slight decline from the same month a year earlier.

For the 11-month period ending Nov. 30, however, the total volume and value of the commercial catch was up from the same period in 1975 by four percent and 14 percent respectively. So, too, was the average price of the catch - by 10 percent.

Excluding December, the 1976 catch totalled 394,596,925 metric tons and was valued at $23,487,476.

Of the five species represented in the latest figures (groundfish, estuary fish, mollusks, crustaceans and miscellaneous fish), only estuary fish and crustaceans registered a decline - the former dropped two tenths of one percent in cumulative weight and the latter fell 10 percent in average price over the Jan. - Nov. period in 1975. The remaining species all registered increases in weight, value and average price.

By cumulative weight, value and average price, the November statistics showed the following:

Cumulative weight: groundfish, mollusks, crustaceans, and miscellaneous categories registered increases of seven, 11, 25 and 15 percent respectively.

Cumulative value: all species registered an increase - groundfish was up 10 percent, estuary fish, 8 per cent; mollusks, 44 percent; crustaceans, 38 per cent and miscellaneous fish, up 25 percent.

Average price: groundfish, estuary fish, mollusks and miscellaneous fish increased by 12, 3, 31 and 15 percent respectively.

With each species, reel fish (groundfish) accounted for a 109 percent increase in weight, a 194 percent increase in value and a 42 percent increase in average price. Likewise smelt (estuary fish) increased in weight, value and average price by 34, 32 and eight percent respectively. Squid catches improved most in the mollusk category, while shrimp (crustaceans) increased in all categories by 163 percent (weight), 249 percent (value) and 34 percent (average price).

BATHURST CONNECTIONS

Linda Blair, star of "The Exorcist", the motion picture which has been playing at the local theatre, is shown with Bathurst friends, Mrs. Arthur Langston (left) of 110 Notre Dame St., and her daughter Suzanne, Mrs. Ego Nitschmann, a Cote Bleu. The picture was taken in California last year at "Show Biz", a Hollywood nightspot operated at the time by Entertainer Murray Langston and members of his family, which the young actress frequented. The Bathurst-born comedian has established quite a reputation on television. Formerly with Sonny and Cher, he has appeared more recently on the Merv Griffin Show and in the Bobby Vinton series as late as last Sunday.

Bayview Baptist Special Services

The Pioneer Girls of the Bayview Baptist Church will conduct the evening service in the church at 780 O'Neil Ave. on Sunday, Jan. 30.

The service commences at 7:00 p.m. and special music will be provided. Mrs. Esther Cooke will be the special speaker. The public is cordially invited to attend.

On Sunday, Feb. 6, the Atlantic Baptist College Ladies Chorale from Moncton will conduct the morning worship at Bayview Baptist Church, and the college principle, Dr. Stuart Murray will bring the message.

The public is invited to attend this special musical service.

HELLO!!!

My name is Duplex. I'm brand new and I'm looking for someone to live with me. I have appealing shades of quality carpeting throughout with carlon covering in the kitchen and dining room area.

You'll have to share my kitchen with Gregg, though, that's the name of my kitchen cabinets. He'll behave. He has lazy Susan's to keep him in order.

Oh Yes! I also have two baths living with us. One is called full bath and lives upstairs and the other is called split bath and lives on the main level.

But don't think it's crowded. There's still lots of room to get around in and we promise never to get in your way, except when you need us.

SURPRISE!!!! We don't mind children either. One or two would be good company.

There's more yet and all we are asking is $300.00 per month.

Policy Pending On 2nd Language

New Brunswick's first policy on total immersion education will be announced January 27 by Education Minister Charles Gallagher at the opening here of a two-day conference on immersion.

Mr. Gallagher said the new policy will give official recognition and direction to the immersion approach to second language learning.

To be held at Keddy's Motor Inn, the conference is expected to attract school trustees, school district superintendents and their second language support staffs, and principals of schools where immersion is now, or may become, available.

The conference's resource experts will include representatives from the Ontario ministry of education and the secretary of state's department.

Experimental immersion classes, which began nearly 10 years ago in New Brunswick, have developed and grown at the initiative of individual school districts. The new policy will make the immersion method an official part of the education department's curriculum program.

Mr. Gallagher said the decision on whether or not to offer immersion classes will remain one for each school district to make. He stressed, however, that they should weigh the decision carefully and follow the department's new guidelines.

Seven of the province's 33 school districts now offer immersion courses, with 2,320 pupils enrolled in 110 classes.

THE WORLD OF BOOKS is the most remarkable creation of man; nothing else that he builds ever lasts. Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die out. After an era of darkness new races build others, but in the world of books are volumes that live on, still as young and fresh as the day they were written, still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead.

SEMI-ANNUAL HIGH AVERAGE TROPHY PRESENTED

The Legion Auxiliary Bowling League recently presented the Schooner Trophy to the person with the highest bowling average. The trophy is awarded semi-annually and first to win it this year was Carmel Hachey (centre), who attained an average of 94.4. Mrs. Wayne Miller made the presentation. Runner-up was Fran Daley with 92.2. Both bowlers received individual keeper trophies.

Transfer Rumour Is Denied "For Present"

According to Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau, the provincial government has no plans "at present" to transfer much of his department's Campbellton offices to Bathurst.

Mr. Boudreau, speaking in response to charges made by St. Quentin Liberal MLA Fred Roussel, said a chart showing the proposed set-up of the department in another year is "a proposal only". Asked if the scheme would be approved next year, Mr. Boudreau declined to speculate.

Mr. Roussel had stated the natural resources department in Campbellton would be reduced within the next 18 months to a staff of five wildlife protection officers and several clerks. This would mean, the MLA said, that as many as 30 staff members would be transferred, along with the garage, many vehicles and storehouse.

The minister said the chart containing the details of the future set-up had been prepared by staff members and he was not fully aware of the details. "I can assure you, however," he asserted, "that there will be no cutback in the Campbellton establishment for the present."

He said an appointment of an area resources manager is to be made soon, but denied the job has already been allocated to Yvon Maresult of Bathurst. Other sources in Fredericton, though, have indicated Mr. Maresult is slated for the new job. The area manager will direct the department for both Restigouche and Gloucester Counties, as well as additional areas of the northern part of the province.

Mr. Boudreau said that transfers of biologists or other staff members now in Campbellton, if they are made, will be replaced by other appointments.

He said the proposed new resource will be located in the Nigadoo area, and not near Bathurst. Grant, and will be located in an enclosed building with controlled atmosphere to protect the growth until development of trees from leaves from the Bathurst nursery.

The possible transfer of resource officers is causing widespread concern in Campbellton, and if no new orders are forthcoming or approved yet, will be strongly protested by municipal and business leaders of that city.

Mayor William McKee has sent off an angry telegram to Premier Hatfield in which he "demanded an explanation" of the announced move. He indicated Campbellton's shock to hear of the proposal.

Purchase Offer Is Reconfirmed

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau declined last week to comment on reports that Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. has made a purchase offer on Brunswick Mills.

"Many New Brunswick companies are interested in purchasing Brunswick Mills", said the minister, who said he couldn't confirm or deny the rumour. "So far we haven't commented any deal."

Boudreau was "skeptical" of some offers made to purchase the shutdown mill, adding "nothing concrete" has developed.

"We will eventually work out a deal", he said. If Consolidated-Bathurst (Limited announced that it was purchasing the mill, he said he would look upon it as "very good" news.

Tolerance And Respect Urged

The chief of defence staff says Canadians must learn to stop complaining all the time and to tolerate and respect each other whether they are French or English-speaking.

Gen. J.A. Dextraze, a francophone who is known in Bathurst, where he visits periodically, told the Conference of Defence Associations annual in Ottawa January 14, that "we must insist that the country remains together."

It was important that Canadians practice tolerance and that the English and French understand each other's aspirations, he said.

People have a right to be different as long as it does not jeopardize the country, he said.

Gen. Dextraze said that if there is criticism there also has to be constructive suggestions.

"There is so much criticism in our country", he said. "How can we raise our children to replace us with the example we give them? We criticize everything.

The general was answering questions from the floor of the meeting of 120 representatives of 25,000 persons who belong to various military organizations across the country.

On other matters he rejected widely-discussed proposals from conference members that the armed forces formulate a mobilization plan for use in emergencies.

A resolution at the meeting complained that 78,000 regular forces personnel and 30,000 militia and reserves are inadequate to meet Canadian and international needs in civil and military emergency.

It called for a plan to raise the armed forces to 100,000 and eventually 250,000 persons in a war.

The general acknowledged that under present conditions it would take months for Canada to raise a large armed force but he questioned whether there was need for anything more at present.

Canadians Ignorant About Nuclear Power

(Contributed by the Chaleur Environmental Protection Association)

Last year the Canadian Nuclear Association sponsored a study into the attitudes of Canadians to nuclear power and their knowledge about it. The study, set up and carried out by the Behavioral Institute of York University in Toronto, was in two parts.

Part One sampled 2000 Canadians from all walks of life to learn their attitudes to and knowledge about nuclear power. The findings of that part of the survey were that average Canadians knew every little about the subject. The result (of Survey Part 1) was released in June 1976, at the joint meeting of the Canadian Nuclear Association and American Nuclear Association in Toronto.

As expected, the news that Canadians didn't know very much about the subject was the very cue the nuclear industry wanted as an excuse to step up public relations programs about nuclear power production. The industry and the federal Department of Energy Mines and Resources, which is the government department responsible for nuclear power development through Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, leaped into print and onto the airwaves with promises of greatly expanded spending programs to teach Canadians about this technology. Both the industry and Energy Minister Gillespie promised "greatly expanded public information programs." More and better P.R! And more public relations material stressing the presumed need for and the safety and acceptability of nuclear power has been showering down upon us since that time.

Part Two of the York University-C.N.A. survey consisted of hour-long personal interviews with people in what was called "the elite sample". The so-called elite sample was made up of "decision makers" in government, business, the civil service, the universities, and citizens' environmental groups. The attitudes to and knowledge about nuclear power were tested in this sample which was made up of 200 politicians, civil servants, academics, business men, and environmentalists. The results of this part of the survey were released just before Christmas; reports of the survey results are supposed to be made available in major libraries across the country.

The startling finding (startling to the public, that is) is that those who know the least about nuclear power are the most in favor of it. The environmentalists ranked at the top in knowledge about nuclear power; academics came in a poor second; and business men, civil servants, and politicians were at the bottom of the ranking according to knowledge of nuclear power. In fact, business men, civil servants, and politicians were almost in a tie for "least informed."

And the results showed that the wish to "go nuclear" was in inverse proportion to the knowledge held. Businessmen were most in favor (97 per cent of them); civil servants were next (85 per cent of them); politicians third (75 per cent); academics were more wary (59 per cent); and environmentalists and conservationists were least in favor of building nuclear plants (only five per cent of them).

This is even more startling when it is realized that many of the most active and best-known anti-nuclear environmentalists across Canada refused to take part in the survey. Seven citizens from the Maritime Energy Coalition were asked to participate (one each from the following groups - Chaleur Environmental Protection Association of Dalhousie, South Shore Environmental Protection Association of Barrington, N.S., Ecology Action Centre of Halifax, Pollution Probe of Moncton, Citizens Against Nuclear Power of Saint John, Fredericton Nuclear Hazards Committee, Concerned Citizens of Albert County). They refused en bloc after a copy of the questionnaire came into their hands, and a reading of it revealed the personal and prying nature of some of the questions (sections of the survey were filled with questions in no way related to nuclear power).

The Canadian Coalition for Nuclear Responsibility also refused to take part, for the same reasons. C.C.N.R. shares the Maritime Energy Coalition's deep distrust of the Canadian Nuclear Association, which is the prime promotional arm of the nuclear industry in this country.

Had these anti-nuclear environmentalists taken part, the results would have been even more startling, it may be assumed, for the most informed and most against citizens absented themselves from the survey.

It is crucial that Canadians understand that those most in favor of following the nuclear option are those in power in this country, and they are the ones who know the least about this unforgiving technology.

CCB Club Elects Slate

Mrs. Henry Levasseur was elected president of the Canadian Council of the Blind, Bathurst Club, at the annual meeting of the group held in the lounge of the Knights of Columbus Hall, Douglas Avenue on Jan. 19.

Other officers include: John Bullen, immediate past president; G.E. McLellan, treasurer; and Mrs. N.A. Higgins, secretary.

A.A. "Tony" Boudreau, district administrator for the CNIB presented Mrs. Levasseur with her gavel of office.

Mr. Boudreau and James DeWolfe, a member of the Bathurst Lions Club, acted as scrutineers for elections.

The 21 persons present included 16 voting members.

One member asked if he could obtain an old radio, or old radio parts from persons in the city. Persons having such items to donate are asked to phone 546-3851.

An executive meeting will be held at a time to be announced.

Pleasure was expressed for the use of the K of C Hall, and to Les Dames d'Acadie of Bathurst who had prepared the lunch which was served by members at the close of the meeting.

Chaleur Villa Rates Lowered

After due consideration by the Board of Directors, the rental rates at Villa Chaleur Villa Inc. have been substantially lowered, according to an announcement by Rev. R. A. Francis, chairman.

Effective in February, the rates for a one-bedroom apartment will be $190 per month, down from $226. Bachelor units will be $175 ($216) while single and double hostels will be $100 and $90 (per bed) respectively, down from $138 and $118.

Apartments feature fridge and stove, carpeting, electricity, heat and hot water, TV antennas and telephone hook-ups, enterphone security system for controlled visitor access and individual thermostat heat control.

Hostels feature all of the above with the exception of kitchen equipment. Cafeteria service is available for these residents.

Also provided is a laundromat and lounge on each floor, elevator service, a grocery store, beauty salon, barber shop, chapel, cafeteria, garbage removal, outdoor parking with some plug-ins and snow removal services.

Units are available for immediate occupancy. The premises may be visited Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and evenings and weekends by appointment. For further information, call 548-3338 or write to Claude Frenette, administrator.

Price Variance Scored By MLA

Premier Hatfield's refusal to do anything about different oil and gasoline prices within New Brunswick shows his enthusiasm for protecting the big interests, Liberal MLA Frank Branch said last week.

"The differentials in prices for these two essential products is shocking," said Mr. Branch. "Between Fredericton and Bathurst there are nearly a dozen different prices for gasoline...from a low of 86 cents in Fredericton to 97 cents in Bathurst. The farther north you go, the higher prices get."

Mr. Branch, MLA for Nepisiguit-Chaleur, said that if the Premier had the interests of the average New Brunswick citizen at heart he would introduce legislation requiring the oil companies to justify their prices for petroleum products.

"It is ridiculous for the Premier to protect his inability to do anything when in our neighboring province of Nova Scotia the oil companies have to have their prices approved by the Public Utilities Commission.

"He is more interested in keeping the big interests happy than in protecting the New Brunswick taxpayer from discriminatory prices."

JUDY CHASE

BHS Teacher Wins Degree

A city teacher, Judith Arlene Chase, was among the 364 graduates to be awarded degrees when the University of New Brunswick held its 202nd convocation recently.

Miss Chase, who teaches home economics at Bathurst High School, was granted a bachelor of teaching degree.

She is originally from Fredericton, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Chase, reside on Clark St.

Hearing Set

The Legislature's Select Committee on Fisheries will hold seven public hearings around the province to study and discuss the briefs and oral presentations submitted to it.

Committee Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard notes that the committee has received more than 30 briefs dealing with the fishing industry and the current concerns of fishermen.

Public hearings will be held in Bathurst, Monday, Feb. 7, and in Caraquet, Tuesday, Feb. 8. The exact times and locations of the hearings will be announced shortly.

Any individual or group wishing to make an oral presentation or to discuss the briefs submitted on the future of the provincial fisheries is invited to the hearings.

Mr. Simard said the hearings should permit the committee to make certain recommendations to the Legislature during its next session.

"You are granted three wishes!"

1. A richer retirement
2. An immediate tax deduction of up to $5,500.
3. A guaranteed rate of interest

Registered Retirement Savings Plans (RRSPs) are designed to encourage you to save for your retirement. That's why the Government has proposed to increase your maximum allowable yearly deposit to $5,500 (or 20% of earned income) if you are self-employed and up to $3,500 (or 20% of earned income) if you are a member of a registered pension plan.

If you make your deposit by March 1, 1977, you gain an immediate tax deduction on 1976 income equal to the amount you deposit to the plan.

But that's not all. Unlike many other plans, our "Guaranteed Fund" RRSP means your money can be earning a high rate of interest, compounded half-yearly and guaranteed for a full 5 years. And there are no administration fees.

So if you're shopping around, or considering a change, contact us now. We'll be glad to give you the full story on our "Guaranteed Fund" RRSP. It can make all three of those wishes come true!

Region Will Sponsor Float

The four ministers of tourism for the Atlantic Provinces Jan. 18 announced that Atlantic Canada will sponsor a float in the night parades of the 1977 Quebec Winter Carnival on Feb. 5 and 12.

Details of the four-unit float were given in a joint press release issued by the ministers: Maurice DeLory, Nova Scotia; Fernand G. Dube, New Brunswick; Gilbert Clements, Prince Edward Island, and Thomas Hickey, Newfoundland.

The four ministers plan to be in Quebec City during the last weekend of the festival. They will be guests of the Carnival for the Feb. 12 parade, and will further promote the Atlantic region by attending several functions and taking part in interviews.

The ministers will meet Quebec's tourism minister, Yves Duhaime, and attend a reception given by Quebec City mayor, Jules Lamontagne.

The 90-foot float sponsored by Atlantic Canada will depict the marine life of the region. A sailboat, seagulls, a lobster trap and a giant lobster, all linked by a multitude of sixwatt light bulbs, will be used to represent some of the many things a vacationer can see and enjoy in Atlantic Canada.

The parades annually attract thousands of spectators along the streets of Quebec.

Appointed To Liquor Board

John G. Lamey, a native of Fredericton and former special assistant to the minister of supply and services, has been appointed director of licensing for the New Brunswick Liquor Licensing Board.

As such Mr. Lamey will be responsible for the board's day-to-day administration, including the preparation of liquor permit and license applications for the board's consideration.

Prior to entering government service, Mr. Lamey had been engaged in business, including the presidency of Atlantic Fire and Safety Equipment Ltd. of Fredericton.

He is a graduate of Stanley High School and is presently a part-time student in the senior year of the business administration degree program at UNB. He holds a certificate in public administration and has completed levels one and two of the business management certificate at the same university.

Mr. Lamey is active in community affairs as a minor hockey league coach and as the chairman of corporation donations for United Way campaign. In addition he is a past president of the Fredericton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is married to the former Shirley Jean Foreman of Stanley and the couple has four sons.

Logan Pledges Participation

Labour and Manpower Minister Rodman E. Logan, QC announced Jan. 20 that New Brunswick will participate with the Federal Government in the Canada Works and Young Canada Works programs.

Mr. Logan, whose department will be responsible for these programs, pledged to work closely with Canada Manpower to ensure that they are of maximum benefit to New Brunswickers.

Canada Works will be a year-round program while Young Canada Works will be directed specifically toward student employment during the April to September period. Both programs are designed to alleviate unemployment while providing worthwhile services to the community. Projects under the programs will be sponsored by recognized and established organizations.

Mr. Logan said he has assurance from Bud Cullen, the federal minister responsible for Manpower, that while projects under these programs will be of benefit to the community, they are designed not to interfere with the activities of existing organizations or to create long-term community dependency on them.

In line with these objectives, the minister noted, and because of his department's close understanding of the special requirements of the provincial labour force, it will endeavour to ensure that the national program is tailored to local needs within the province.

Applications for both programs are now available at Canada Manpower centres throughout the province and must be submitted no later than February 4, 1977.

NEWEST EDITION TO SKI-DOO SNOWMOBILE LINE

The 1977 line of Ski-Doo Snowmobiles by Bombardier offers the widest selection of snowmobiles to the consuming public in the entire snowmobile industry.

In-season introduction of the Everest Liquid-Cooled 440 and the new concept Elite Liquid-Cooled increases the line from 16 to 18 models to suit every conceivable requirement of North America's three million snowmobile users.

The Elite, referred to as a new concept in snowmobiling, stands up to that definition. Its passengers sit side-by-side surrounded by a revolutionary body-styling that maintains the traditional yellow and black colouring highlights made famous by Ski-Doo.

Passengers are moulded into the comfort of two bucket seats and are powered over the snow by a liquid-cooled, rear-mounted 440-engine.

Increased stability is offered to the machine with an exceptional ski-stance of 38½ inches (center to center) and twin 15-inch rubber, with imbedded fiberglass rod, tracks to provide all the traction needed.

Additional standard features on the luxury unit include: full instrumentation, speedometer, fuel and temperature gauges, cigarette lighter, heated handlebar grips, electric start, forward-reverse gear shift lever, passenger seat belts and grab handle for added safety, radiator and fan cooling.

Optional equipment that can be easily installed includes CB Radio, AM/FM radio, cross-country ski rack, passenger heater and directional signals.

Sports Fishing Figure Dies

The death of Frank T. Fitzgerald of Matapedia has removed from the scene one of those who helped shape the sports fishing industry of the Restigouche into one of the world's finest.

Mr. Fitzgerald died at the Soldiers Memorial Hospital in Campbellton on Monday, Jan. 10 at the age of 73. He had been stricken a short time earlier by a heart seizure.

Mr. Fitzgerald was born at Matapedia, the son of the late Dennis Fitzgerald and Margaret (Ryan) Fitzgerald. He spent his entire life in the region where he was known as a leading sports figure and woods worker.

He began work in 1920 as the caretaker of the Grog Island Fishing Camp, owned at the time by the famed Pulitzer publishing family. He held the post until his death despite the fact that the fishing camp was sold several times during that period.

New Business Service In City

If an owner or operator of a small business in New Brunswick wants to know whether there is a government program that may be applicable to their business, they can now obtain this information readily from Lionel Bosch at the Federal Business Development Bank, 270 Douglas Ave., Bathurst, or telephone 548-3565.

This new Federal Business Development Bank Service is aimed at assisting smaller enterprises by providing a "one-stop" source of information on Government programs.

At the present time, there are over 100 government programs which provide assistance to small business. Of these, approximately three are of a financial nature.

Business persons wishing to learn which Government programs might possibly assist their businesses are invited to write or telephone Lionel Bosch at the Federal Business Development Bank in Bathurst.

He will then advise them on what programs to apply for, and will also make the necessary arrangements to put them in touch with the appropriate government officers.

Dig up the facts – that way there's no room for doubt.
